Little of Interest Developed at the Trial of the Accused Polio Lieutenant.
New York, Oct. 21.—The lawyer defending Police Lieut. Charles Becker, on trial for the murder of Herman Rosenthal, in a desperate effort to avoid the necessity of placing the silent on the stand in his own behalf, called twenty-one witnesses in the past two days.

DEFENSE IN A QUANDARY
The sum of results obtained from this testimony was so unsatisfactory that by the close of the day no one connected with the defense would venture to say that more would be heard from any witness.

Becker's nerve has not failed him. He wants to testify. He told the newspaper men to-night he believed he could convince the jury that he had no part in the conspiracy which resulted in the assassination of Rosenthal.

Seven Police Officers Testify
Seven of the witnesses called to testify for Becker to-day were policemen who had been associated on the strong arm squad and in other work; one police inspector; one police clerk; two convicted burglars; one in the Tombs; one prisoner who has been in prison so often that he can be identified as a jail bird; four character witnesses who have known Becker since he was a boy; one theater treasurer introduced in an unavailing effort to break down the testimony of Morris Lubank; one county clerk, and two keepers from the Tombs.

Duggan Best Witness.
The strongest witness was Detective Lieut. William Duggan, who swore "Bridgely" Webber once told him that Rosenthal had employed "Tough Tony" Ferracci to rob Vallon's house and also to assault him (Webber) with brass knuckles. The witness also testified that Webber claims "Spanish Louis" and "Boob" Walker had also been interested in the robbery and assault.

COMPLAIN ON CAR SERVICE.
Takoma Park Citizens Condemn the Method in Force at Terminal.
A resolution condemning the method of handling cars at the Takoma terminal was discussed at the meeting of the Takoma Park Citizens' Association last night. Complaints embodied in the resolution were that cars often stopped before reaching the park terminus; that conditions at the terminus were inadequate, and that there is no provision made for the cars when they stop, forcing them to eat their lunches in the cars and in neighboring lots.

$108.00

Rich Mahogany Dresser and Chiffonier
In type and construction both of these pieces are of the highest class. The careful handwork is in evidence in every detail. Refined in design, rich in material—elegant in finish. The natural grain of the Mahogany is accentuated by the rich dull finish. The carving in the supporting columns is in harmony with the design. Nothing more effective has come into the market.

East Washington Citizens Adopt Report Which Will Be Sent to the Commissioners.
Recommendations of the Washington Asylum and adjacent buildings, with the exception of the jail, be condemned, and that the plot be converted into a public park, was originally intended, were contained in a report submitted to the East Washington Citizens' Association last night by Capt. W. M. Potter and Dr. Charles M. Emmons, who were appointed to investigate the condition of these government institutions.

Alert in Carriage.
Mr. Roosevelt was attired in a dark cutaway suit—not the same he wore when he was shot in Milwaukee—his familiar long flowing military coat and the characteristic broad brim hat. As he walked up the steps to the private car the colonel's face was in the flush of health, his eye keen and his carriage alert. He looked far different from the colonel who clambored laboriously down from his private car a week ago on the way to the hospital.
