ELEVEN LOSE LIVES WHEN LIGHTER SINKS

Tramp Steamer Strikes Wyckoff, Near Governors Island, Cutting Her in Twain. ONLY ONE PERSON RESCUED

New York, March 12.—In a collision with an unidentified steamer, believed to have been a tramp, the steam lighter, Wyckoff, bound from Perth Amboy to some point up the sound, was sunk about 600 feet off the south end of Governors Island to-night. Eleven members of a crew of twelve are believed to have been lost. The accident occurred shortly after 10 o'clock. The one man rescued was a negro deck hand. He is suffering from immersion and is in a hospital in Staten Island.

The steaming, outward bound, was in the center of the stream when the lighter, it is said, endeavored to cross her bow in the buzz that hung over the water. There was no time for those on the lighter to jump, even, according to Jefferson Byston, the one person known to have been rescued. The steamship struck the wrecked boat amidship, practically cutting her in two. Most of the crew were asleep and those probably never knew what had happened, as the water rushed in upon them and they sank with the wrecked lighter. Capt. Brunt ran the Queen near enough to the steamship that was standing by to understand the catastrophe: "I have been in a collision and sunk another boat. Will you put overboard and pick up what you can. I am outward bound and my boats are lashed." Capt. Brunt replied that he would do so. Mate Alfred Squier and Thomas Meehan, a seaman, were sent toward the scene of the collision in a piece of a boom that had been part of the lighter. Royden, the negro, was found.

On board the ferry there was the greatest excitement, and many men offered to man another boat. In the meanwhile a Lehigh Valley boat which had come in response to the calls put over a boat. It was at first said she had rescued several of the crew, but at midnight it was ascertained by the police they had no record of any rescue by the railroad tug.

Va., March 12.—The military commission to-day reviewed the evidence preparatory to making its findings against the forty-nine prisoners being tried as a result of recent rioting in the coal regions of West Virginia. It was expected that the commission would be unable to report its findings to the Governor before to-morrow. BOSTON TOURISTS MEET PRESIDENT

New Englanders, Who Propose Going to South America, Interview Government Officials. The delegation of Boston business men representing the Committee on South American tour of the Boston Chamber of Commerce concluded their two days' session of the State Department and South American diplomats by meeting President Wilson yesterday afternoon.

Although it was the time of the public reception, the members were given the opportunity to state briefly the object of their visit and received from the President assurance that he will take the matter up with the Secretary of State.

The committee, which consists of Henry L. Kincaid, Robert J. Bottomly and Herman L. Dillingham, secretary, accompanied by Senator Lodge, had an audience with the President at the White House yesterday afternoon. Mr. Bryan expressed great interest in the tour, telling the committee of his own experience on his recent visit to the principal countries of South America. He assured the attention of the committee to the fact that the State Department had designated a representative to accompany the pioneer tour of Pacific Coast business men through the far East.

Wilbur J. Carr, director of the Consular Service; W. T. S. Doyle, chief of the Latin-American division; Herbert C. Hoegstler, and Messrs. Pierrpont, Peper and Chandler, of the State Department, talked over the tour with the members of the committee, giving much valuable advice.

Arrangements had been made, by the Director General John Barrett, of the Pan-American Union, for interviews with diplomatic representatives. The committee visited Domingo da Gama, Ambassador of Brazil; Dr. R. Naun, Minister of Argentina; Dr. Carlos Maria of Peru, Minister of Uruguay, and Secretary Lefevre, of the Panamanian Legation.

At the White House the committee conferred with American Minister to Argentina, Garrett. In the evening they saw Roland R. Harvey, secretary of the American Legation at Santiago, Chile. The committee departed for New York at midnight.

WOMEN'S MICHIGAN CAMPAIGN IS AIDED Mrs. Champ Clark and Senator Thomas of Colorado Address Equality Association. SUCCESS IS PREDICTED

"On to Michigan" was the battle cry raised yesterday at an enthusiastic meeting of the Federal Woman's Equality Association in the rear parlor of the New Exhibit. Mrs. Champ Clark, wife of the Speaker; Senator Thomas of Colorado, and a number of local suffragists delivered addresses urging the women to concentrate their efforts on gaining the ballot in Michigan. The suffrage amendment will be voted upon by the State Legislature on April 2.

Previous to reading her original proposal, entitled "Here to the Friends We Love," Mrs. Clark predicted that woman suffrage would come in her own State of Missouri in 1914, and before another Presidential election many new States would be added to the list where women enjoyed equal rights.

"The only argument which the anti-suffragists advance against woman suffrage," said Mrs. Clark, "is that we can't carry a gun and fight, and I am not convinced that we can't fight. We are fighting for a cause now and I am sure that we will win. No party or candidate can afford to ignore the claims of three million voters and denounce woman suffrage."

The poem read by Mrs. Clark was written by her while on the way to Panama with the Congressional party during the Christmas holidays. No one connected with the party, from the President down to "Nell," the Speaker's messenger, were forgotten.

Senator Thomas in a stirring speech declared that universal woman's suffrage was inevitable. He told of his success in Colorado and urged the women of the country to concentrate their efforts on gaining the ballot in Michigan.

"Woman suffrage is just as sure to come as is the law of gravity to continue until the end of the world," said he. "Much needed legislation in many States will never be enacted until after women are given the right to vote."

"We are on the road for universal woman suffrage. It may carry us to destruction, but we are sure to travel it. I for one believe that the salvation of our country lies in giving the ballot to women."

More than $250 was raised at the meeting yesterday for the Michigan campaign. Mrs. Anson Mills, contributed $100 and her daughter, Mrs. Catharine Mills Overman, contributed $50.

Announcement was made of two meetings to be held next Thursday morning and evening at the Exhibit. A number of prominent speakers have promised to address the meetings.

South Side Mill Workers of Pittsburg Plead for Enough Money to "Stay Straight."

Pittsburg, Pa., March 12.—Eight hundred girls joined the strikers to-day at the South Side mills. There are 1,000 out now. Two hundred remained at work. "We want to live—and be good," is the message the girls sent to the mill owners to-day. This plea concludes the requests the girls make for an increase of 2 cents a thousand on threading bolts. The girls say few of them make more than $15 a week, and some only 25 cents a day. They say it is not enough to enable a girl to live decently. The strikers have no leader. They are not organized. Most of them are Slavs and Poles. Mary Dravak, one of the most intelligent of the strikers, addressed the communication to the company. She told why the women had revolted.

"We cannot live on the $1 a week that we earn by very hard work," said Mary. "We asked for just a little more, that we might live—and stay good. They refused us, so we had to strike. The company must give us more, for we cannot go on living as we have. So many of our girls, in despair, have gone away—and never come back. They chose that other life. I'll starve first."

The company has refused to make any statement. In reply to a story published concerning a strike of girls employed at the mills of the Oliver Iron and Steel Works in Pittsburg, in which the name of Senator George T. Oliver was used as being owner, the Junior Senator from Pennsylvania last night issued the following:

"This statement is erroneous in every respect. I disposed of all my manufacturing interests in Pittsburg more than ten years ago and am not now connected with any of the industries of that city except the newspapers of which I am publisher. As a matter of fact, I never had any interest whatever in the plant where this trouble exists. It was established more than fifty years ago by my elder brother and is now owned and operated by their children. Since the publication above referred to I have talked with the president of the company over the telephone and he informs me that the girls on strike earn from a minimum of $1.25 per day up to $2.00, and that the published statements about the conditions under which they work are absolutely untrue. In fact, I know so little about the works that I was not aware that girls were employed there until I read the papers this morning."

PRESIDENT PUTS BAN ON DINNER PARTIES Mr. Wilson Will Accept No Invitations to Society Gatherings for the Present.

Consistent with the determination to devote his time to the public business, which he announced in declining an invitation to become a member of the Chevy Chase Club before the inauguration, President Wilson has decided he will accept no invitations to public functions or private dinners until after the extra session of Congress.

It was learned at the White House yesterday that Mr. Wilson also is considering discontinuing the custom of the President attending Cabinet dinners. These dinners are held, however, in the spring, so it will not be necessary for him to make a decision for several months.
