

SCOUTS OFF ON LONG RELAY RUN

Fred Reed Handed Message to Mayor Harrison by President Wilson.

BOYS GO ONE MILE EACH

Sixty-seven Washington Lads Participate in Race to Frederick—Dues in Windy City Saturday.

The longest relay event in which the boys of this country have participated was started yesterday by President Wilson from the spacious portico of the White House...

The relay presented yesterday on the White House porch when President Wilson delivered to Scout Reed the message...

Reed received the message from President Wilson at 9:30 o'clock, and, with no other reply than a salute to the President's "goodspeed," lost no time in starting the message on its long journey to Chicago...

Sixty-seven Washington boys participated in carrying the message to Frederick. Each one was posted along the route to Frederick, and as he received the message at the relay point he hurried off at top speed to deliver it to his relief at the end of a mile.

Boy scouts of Frederick, under the direction of Harry Zeigler, director of the Y. M. C. A. there, and Paul Taylor, physical director, received the message and started it off toward Emmittsburg, a distance of twenty-eight miles.

The message will be carried day and night. The distance to Chicago is 775 miles. The message is due in Chicago Saturday at noon. This allows ninety-eight and a half hours for the journey.

An average of a mile in six minutes will require only seventy-eight hours for the delivery of the message in Chicago and it is expected that many of the scouts will slightly better this record.

The greatest distance any one lad will carry the message will be one mile. In some of the larger cities the distance each boy will run has been cut down to as low as an eighth of a mile. It is expected that the message will have changed hands more than a thousand times before it reaches Mayor Harrison.

Mayor Will Open It. The message is sealed and will be opened by Mayor Harrison before the assembled multitude at the Olympic games in Grant Park on Saturday.

The message contains an expression of approval of athletic contests, and the American games in particular.

The first official news of the relay was flashed to Chicago as Scout Reed left the White House porch. It contained a brief statement to the effect that everything had started according to program and was directed to the officials of the games. Messages will be sent from every point along the route.

Among those associated with the President when the message was delivered were Colin H. Livingston, president of the National Boy Scout Council; Ernest Thompson Beton, chief scout; John H. Web, chief scout executive; E. H. Martin, scout commissioner for the District; Dr. P. J. H. Farrell, director of the Olympic games at Chicago; and other government officials.

FORESTRY MEASURES PLEASING TO PINCHOT

Expresses Gratification Over Three Taxation Bills Recently Passed by Pennsylvania Legislature.

Gifford Pinchot, who has been appointed chairman of the committee which is to investigate forest taxation problems for the coming session of the Pennsylvania Legislature, is gratified over the three forestry taxation bills recently passed by the Pennsylvania State Legislature and signed by Gov. Tener.

Mr. Pinchot said of these bills: "The friends of forestry in Pennsylvania are to be congratulated that after working through four successive Legislatures they have succeeded in having passed three bills on forestry which mark a real advance. These bills, drawn by the Pennsylvania Forestry Association and the Pennsylvania Conservation Association, embody the results of the study made by the subject of forest taxation during recent years. The policy these bills enact into law includes a low annual tax on private forest lands voluntarily put under the supervision of the State, coupled with a deferred tax on the value of the timber, to be assessed and paid when the timber is cut on the basis of a percentage of the yield."

Mr. Pinchot said that the bills are gratifying to him because they represent a real advance in the treatment of forest lands. He said that the bills are a real relief to the owners of forest lands, and that they will result in a more efficient management of the State's forest lands.

The bills are: 1. A bill providing for a low annual tax on private forest lands voluntarily put under the supervision of the State. 2. A bill providing for a deferred tax on the value of the timber, to be assessed and paid when the timber is cut. 3. A bill providing for a percentage of the yield as the basis for the tax.

PLAN TO PREVENT SHOOTING IN COURT

Defendants Who Have Been Out on Bail Will Be Searched Before Being Sentenced.

To prevent a repetition of the shooting up of a court room in Washington, as occurred Monday afternoon in Criminal Court, No. 1, when Ray M. Stewart pulled a revolver from his pockets and began to shoot, all defendants who have been out on bail and are about to be arraigned for sentence will be searched. This was learned yesterday.

Had Stewart been searched before he entered the court room he would not have been able to use a revolver so freely. No trouble is expected from prisoners taken from the jail to receive sentence, but those who have been out on bond and hailed into court for sentence must be searched. This play will go immediately into effect. It is learned. The case has aroused considerable interest in putting a bill through on record to break up the "lotting" of concealed weapons in the District of Columbia. Representative Sims of Tennessee, will make an endeavor to have a bill introduced last session making the carrying of concealed weapons a felony re-introduced. The bill got through the House, but was pigeon-holed by the Senate.

As it is today the criminal element, according to Maj. Richard Sylvester, superintendent of the Metropolitan Police Department, and other officials of the force, does not fear the present law against carrying unlawful weapons. Maj. Sylvester is in favor of any bill that will give the Police Department more scope. According to Matthew E. O'Brien, attorney for Stewart, the young man is not very hopeful of completing their work on the bill in caucus before the end of the week, and it will probably extend over into next week.

The tobacco schedule also was taken up at the session of the Democratic caucus. The tobacco schedule was approved as originally written in the Underwood bill after a few moments' consideration.

Some attention was given yesterday to the agriculture schedule and the caucus approved the sections practically without a change. Last night the majority of the Finance Committee met to consider items referred back to it by the caucus. There are not many of these and they are not very important.

Democratic leaders in the Senate are not very hopeful of completing their work on the bill in caucus before the end of the week, and it will probably extend over into next week.

FINANCE COMMITTEE REPORTS INCOME TAX

House Provision is Changed in Many Respects—Exemptions Fixed at $3,000.

TEXT OF THE MEASURE GIVEN

Fixing the exemption under the proposed income tax law at $3,000, instead of $4,000 as it was in the Underwood bill as it passed the House, taxing the incomes of both husband and wife, and providing that obligors under contracts that require a certain interest rate free from taxation, should not be compelled to pay on the income thus passed over to the obligor the duty of the Finance Committee of the Senate perfected the income tax provision of the measure yesterday and made public the substance of the changes it has made.

The provision was almost entirely rewritten. In addition to the features heretofore mentioned the law gives an exemption to the individual tax payer of $500 on account of each dependent child and $1,000 on account of a dependent husband or wife as the case may be. But in the case where both the husband and wife have income in excess of $3,000 neither shall receive exemptions on account of dependent children.

The question raised by the Interborough Company of New York that it was compelled to turn over a certain percentage of its profits to the Goulds, and that this return under the contract was to be from taxation, was met by the committee in a way that it believes will be satisfactory to the Interborough. It does not require the company to deduct the tax before making its report, the income turned over to the obligee under its contract.

An important feature of the bill requires that persons, firms, or corporations, who are in the business of collecting foreign payments by means of coupons, checks, or bills of exchange, must take out a license from the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, and be governed in their collection of foreign payments by the regulations of the Secretary of the Treasury.

The income tax feature of the bill has been made much clearer by the Finance Committee. The exemption of $3,000 has not been changed. The Senate adopted the House provision which directed the withholding of the tax at the source.

The section of the bill which fixes the new exemption limit at $3,000 and the new basis for deductions on account of a dependent wife or children has been added by Section 13 of the bill.

It reads as follows: "That there shall be deducted from the amount of the net income of each of said persons, ascertained as provided as herein, the sum of $3,000, plus the sum of $1,000 additional if the person making the return be a married man with a wife living, with and dependent upon him and being herself not taxable under the income tax law, or plus the sum of $1,000 additional if the person making the return be a married woman, with a husband living, with and dependent upon her, and not himself taxable under the income tax law; but in no event shall this additional exemption of $1,000 be deducted by both a husband and a wife. If the person making the return shall be a married man or a widow with a minor child or children shall be added dependent upon the taxable parent; Provided, That the total deduction on account of children shall apply to a widow or a widow with a minor dependent child or children: Provided, further, That where both parents are taxable under this act because of having more than $3,000 of net income each, the deduction on account of children herein before provided for, shall not apply to either."

VIRGINIA CONTEST EXCITES INTEREST

L. H. Machen's Announcement Against Lieut. Gov. Elyson Surprised Old Dominion.

Interest in the campaign for Democratic nominations for State offices in Virginia is beginning to center about the race for Lieutenant Governor, in which State Senator Lewis H. Machen, of Alexandria, is a candidate again. J. Tyler Elyson, the present Lieutenant Governor, who is serving his second term.

Mr. Machen's candidacy, recently announced, created a good deal of surprise, as it had been anticipated that Mr. Elyson would be re-elected.

Within the past few years Mr. Machen's name has been often mentioned in connection with various public positions, although this is the first time he has ever appeared before the people as a candidate for a big State-wide office. He served one term as State Senator from Alexandria, and is nationally known.

INDIANAPOLIS ASKS FOR NEXT CONVENTION

Eaters Contest for Meeting of the Locomotive Firemen and Engine-men.

Interest in the convention of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engine-men centered yesterday in the announcement that Indianapolis wants the next convention of the brotherhood, and the development of strong opposition to the administration candidates for the newly created vice presidency.

The entrance of Indianapolis into the spot for the next convention brings the total of contesting cities up to five. Supporters of the Indiana city have been steadily pushing the interests of their city since the opening of the convention and the open announcement made yesterday is taken as an evidence that satisfactory progress has been made in her cause. Denver, St. Louis, Oakland and Cleveland supporters admit that Indianapolis is a favorite city with the brotherhood.

Forces that have opposed the administration all during the convention will enter their strength on the election of their candidate for the new vice presidency. The addition of a single vice president is in the nature of a compromise. Many of the delegates insisted upon two additional officers, while others held that the present officers were sufficient to carry on the business of the brotherhood.

There is had feeling between the two factions and each will try to throw the other. With the exception of the election of the new vice president no fight is expected over any of the other officers. It is taken for granted that all of the old officers will be re-elected without opposition.

Consideration of the reports of the ways and means and the magazine committee occupied the greater part of the day yesterday. Means of keeping track of the numerous changes in addresses of the members of the brotherhood, in order to insure them getting in the magazine regularly were discussed. It was finally decided to designate one local officer whose sole duty will be to keep track of the members of the organization.

It is expected that the selection of the next convention city will come up either tomorrow or Friday. There is a mass of routine business to be disposed of before taking up new business, but every effort will be made to finish this up before adjournment today, and leave the last business days of the convention free to the consideration of the convention city and the election.
