PROCTOR HANDS IN RESIGNATION

Office of U. S. District Attorney Loos Assistant—Enters Private Practice.

WILL ACT UNTIL OCTOBER

In Letter, Clarence R. Wilson, His Chief, Expresses Regret At Decision of Young Lawyer.

The first resignation in the District Attorney's office since the change of administration took place yesterday, when James M. Proctor, Assistant United States Attorney, tendered his resignation to United States Attorney Clarence R. Wilson. Mr. Proctor will remain in office until October at the urgent request of Mr. Wilson, after which he will embark in the practice of law for himself. It is expected that a Democrat will be appointed to succeed Mr. Wilson's term does not expire until April, and it is the general impression that he will serve out his term.

Mr. Proctor, who has worked himself up from a clerk in the office to ranking assistant, is recognized as one of the brightest younger members of the District bar, being particularly skilled in cross-examination and effective argument. Mr. Proctor was for several years an examiner for the Washington Title Insurance Company and subsequently secretary and reporter for Edward M. McCalmont. He also served as Secretary to Justice Gould.

Began as a Clerk.

After graduating from Columbia University in 1904 Mr. Proctor entered the office of the United States Attorney as a clerk and was made Assistant United States Attorney by Daniel W. Baker when he succeeded Mr. Beach. When Mr. Wilson became District Attorney he made Mr. Proctor his chief assistant and during his service in the prosecutor's office Mr. Proctor has been actively engaged in all branches of the work. As a government attorney Mr. Proctor has appeared before the United States Supreme Court, the Court of Appeals, the District Supreme Court, and Police Court.

Letter from Wilson.

Keen regret was expressed by District Attorney Wilson over Mr. Proctor's resignation yesterday. In a letter to Mr. Proctor accepting his resignation, Mr. Wilson said:

"It is with sincere regret that I received your letter offering your resignation as Assistant United States Attorney.

"Your industry and ability, both in the conduct of cases in court and in the varied office work that is always to be done in both criminal and civil cases, have made you invaluable as an assistant, and it will be difficult indeed for me to find one who can fill your place.

"Much as our associates and I will miss you, I am, of course, in your interest, constrained to accept your resignation, but as the resignation will not take effect until October 1, so that you can take charge of the office during my absence next month, when I expect to leave the city for my vacation, and so that you may give us your help in the preparation of the work for the fall.

"One of the most pleasant and satisfactory features of my incumbency of this office has been the friendship I feel we have formed."

NEW JUDGE TO TAKE JUVENILE BENCH TODAY

J. Wilmer Latimer, Now Out of Quarantine, Will Be Able to Take Official Charge.

J. Wilmer Latimer, recently appointed judge of the Juvenile Court, is expected to enter actively upon his duties at the tribunal this afternoon. Judge Latimer said last night he hopes to be on hand at 1 o'clock—the regular opening hour—ready to hear his first case.

Judge Latimer has been under quarantine at his suburban residence at Chevy Chase, Md., ever since he was sworn into office about a week ago, his daughter having scarlet fever. She is recovering rapidly from her attack, and Health Department officials have expressed an opinion that it will be safe for the judge to venture into the court today.

There will be no formalities in connection with Judge Latimer's assumption of his duties. It is expected, however, that a large gathering of his friends and persons interested in the work of the tribunal will be on hand to witness the manner in which the cases are handled. Judge Thomas H. Callan, of the Municipal Court, has been occupying the bench during the past week.

Judge Latimer will find plenty of work before him. The summer season is a busy one for the court, for the children of the city are out of school and are ever ready to get into trouble through their mischievousness.

MRS. MUSSEY HONORARY DEAN.

In New Place that She May Take Leave.

At a meeting of the board of trustees of the Washington College of Law held yesterday, Mrs. Ellen Spencer Mussey, founder of the college and its dean for seventeen years, was elected honorary dean, as she desired to be absent for the ensuing year on account of ill health.

Mrs. Emma M. Gillett, who has been associated with the school since its organization, was elected dean.

Letters were read from Mrs. Mussey stating that her health is greatly improved. The president, Stanton J. Peelle, Chief Justice of the United States Court of Claims, retired, presided.

MISSING WOMAN FOUND.

Mrs. Mary Lacey Discovered at Home of a Friend.

After a search of two days by friends and the police, Mrs. Mary Lacey, the aged woman who disappeared from her boarding house, 508 I Street Northwest, was found yesterday at the home of a friend in East Washington.

Mrs. Jennie Guldon, of 72 Tenth Street Northwest, with whom Mrs. Lacey formerly lived, had a warrant sworn out for her, charging non-payment of a board bill. Mrs. Plato, of 25 H Street Northwest, a friend of Mrs. Lacey, says the latter had no intention of beating Mrs. Guldon out of a board bill.

FOR SEPARATE POSTOFFICE.

Bristol (Va.) Residents Object to Going to Bristol, Tenn., for Mail.

Accompanied by fifty prominent business men of Bristol, Va., Senators Martin and Swanson of Virginia yesterday appealed to President Wilson to order the re-establishment of the postoffice at Bristol, Va., which recently was discontinued because of the existence of a postoffice at Bristol, Tenn.

Bristol is on the State line. The Virginians told the President that they did not like to have to go out of their own State to get their mail, even though the walk was only two blocks. The President promised to take up the matter with Postmaster General Burleson.

DOG DAYS ARE COMING; POLICE ISSUE WARNING.

Department is Anxious to Have Owners Abide by Canine Muzzling Law.

Dog days are coming, and with their arrival tradition has it that hydrophobia will be prevalent among canines, cats, and other animals, especially dogs.

The police urge the citizens of Washington, who own pets, to keep them in close confinement from now until the September 1.

"We are enforcing the dog-muzzling law to the limit, but would get far better results if the citizens would co-operate with us without being forced to do so," said Maj. Richard Bywater, superintendent of the Washington police department yesterday.

For the past three months more than seventy-five persons have been attacked and badly bitten by dogs supposed to be suffering from rabies. Of this number many have been sent to the Marine Hospital for the toxin treatment, while others have gone to Baltimore for the Pasteur treatment as a precaution.

Had the people of Washington carefully tried to comply with the police regulations in muzzling dogs none of the seventy-five persons attacked would have been injured.

CLUB LOSES PRESIDENT.

Commissioner Siddeon Quits Monday Evening Presidency.

Commissioner F. L. Siddeon yesterday announced his resignation as president of the Monday Evening Club. Mr. Siddeon still will retain his membership in the club. It is thought that his resignation was submitted because of his appointment as a Commissioner.

Charles F. Nesbit, first vice president of the club, will serve as president until the October meeting, when it is probable that a special election will be called to determine a successor to Mr. Siddeon.
