ENGLISH MILITANT'S COMING IS ADVOCATED. Washington Suffragists Favor Admission of Mrs. Pankhurst.

Despite the flurry of rumors of the effect that plans for the exclusion of Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst from this country is now in the making, the suffragists of Washington refuse to show agitation, excitement, or worry. They say that the peerless leader of militant Englishwomen will not be denied entrance to the United States. They say that they do not believe that the country would disgrace itself by refusing her admission. They say that the number of political offenders that have sought admission here and obtained it would make a very respectable host; and, they conclude, the offenses of some of these political refugees, who sought and found asylum here, would make those of Mrs. Pankhurst pale in contrast.
