

Harvard Slightly the Favorite Over Yale in Gridiron Classic

HARVARD ELEVEN FAVORITES TODAY

Big Crimson Has Best Chance of Winning the Gridiron Classic from Yale.

LARGE CROWD EXPECTED

Dave Dunn, the Old El Full Back, Will Not Start the Contest. Alumni on Hand.

By C. W. SWAN.

Boston, Nov. 21.—The Hub City is football mad tonight, for tomorrow Yale and Harvard will clash on the gridiron, and one of the hardest fought games in the history of football is expected.

Yale opened the season with a poor outlook, the poorest in any recent years, but the XV has been coming strong for the past two weeks, and are counted upon to make the Crimson play its best to win.

Coach Percy Haughton, of Harvard, when seen tonight, said:

"We do not expect an easy game; in fact I know that Yale will make us play our best, but I expect Harvard to win. The team is ready to play its best game, the men are in good condition, and the boys realize that they have a chance to do what no other Harvard team has done, namely: Defeat a Yale team two years in succession, and this feat tomorrow will be accomplished."

Seats for the game are selling at a premium, a pair of good tickets bringing a small fortune. The biggest crowd which has ever witnessed a Harvard-Yale game is expected to see the battle tomorrow.

Harvard has never yet defeated Yale in the Cambridge Stadium. For that matter, Harvard has rarely defeated Yale anywhere. History informs us that in all the games played between the colleges since 1828, Yale has won twenty-two, Harvard has taken six, and, and old grads of Yale still contend that there must have been something wrong in those six years. Five graphics resulted in ties.

Harvard won the first tussle in 1875. Moreover, Harvard won the last one in 1912. Between those years, however, there was a protracted famine up Cambridge way in point of victories for the Crimson, and the New Haven bulldog was the big gruel in the college world. Yale became so accustomed to beating Harvard at football that it came as a great shock to Yale whenever Harvard turned and fought back.

Until very recently these turnings were never taken very seriously at New Haven, as they came at infrequent intervals. The real springing against the Blue was elicited at Cambridge a couple of years ago by Mr. Haughton, whose first name is Percy, although we mean that without malice. The setback culminated in the 20 to 0 defeat of Yale last fall, and since then Yale has been in a state of coma. It can hardly realize even now that the 20 to 0 really occurred.

An examination tonight of the knee of Dave Dunn, the Yale full back, led Trainer John Mack to advise against starting that player tomorrow, and Otis Guernsey has been practically selected in his place. Dunn's injury has come some time ago at Cambridge, but Mack decided not to settle the matter till this evening, when he tested the member in quick starting and found lameness. Both Guernsey and Dunn were used at full blue only slowly at Cambridge last night, but this evening only Guernsey was tried. Dunn may get into a small part of the game.

Yale-Harvard football enthusiasts came into Boston yesterday by the hundreds and the hotels will have to turn the late comers away. The man who had not engaged his accommodations in advance found himself up against it last night when he tried to locate a room in a Boston hotel.

The booking of football enthusiasts for Friday and Saturday night actually began two years ago, when many patrons, arising on a Monday morning after the Harvard-Yale game of 1911, paid their bills and immediately signed on for this year. Not only are the regular business and society hotels filled to the brim, so are also crammed full of Harvard and Yale enthusiasts.

Rooms have been engaged for patrons by hotel managers as far out of the city as Newton. An equally difficult task is presented to those who want dinner after the game Saturday night. Here, too, the hotels have had their hands full trying to take care of all orders. Most houses have arranged for a regular table d'hôte service at a set price in order to facilitate serving and making the handling of the crowds quicker and more convenient.

Although most of the bets made in connection with the Harvard-Yale game are straight-win-or-lose propositions, with the preponderance of Harvard money winning, the Crimson seems a slight favorite, a number of freak wagers have been made, especially among Harvard men. One of these made in Harvard Square tonight by a couple of juniors coming away from the mass meeting was a bet of $25 to $20 that Brickley would score one-half or better of the field goals attempted by him from within the 40-yard mark, with goals from beyond the 40-yard mark to count in the bet only when they are successful. There was a "rider" attached to the bet, which gave the long end man the option to call off the bet.

ROYER ELECTED WESTERN CAPTAIN

Karl Royer was last night elected captain of the Western High School football team for next year. His choice was unanimous. Royer played quarter back early this fall, and later replaced Taggart at left end. He also covered second base on the baseball nine last spring. It was Royer's drop-kick that scored for Western a clean-out victory over Central, and he has been one of Western's stars during the season which, for the Georgetown school, closed yesterday. Royer is also popular with his classmates and stands high in his studies.

provided rain or snow fell at any time during the game.

Nobody on the present Yale squad has had the agreeable sensation of playing on a championship team, for Yale hasn't had a championship team since 1909, at least not one which went through its season without a defeat. Capt. Ketcham, a player who ranks with the best turned out at New Haven, seems destined to go through his varsity career without having played on a championship eleven, which is a rare experience for Yale captains. Several things would have to happen for this year's Yale to have a claim on the championship, and even then the title wouldn't be clear.

GALLAUDET ELEVEN TO CLASH WITH FARMERS

Maryland Aggies and Kendall Green Teams Are Ready for Game at College Park Today.

OFFICIALS DEFINITELY NAMED

What should be the most exciting and lively fought game seen at College Park, Md., for some time will be played this afternoon, when the Aggies tackle the eleven from Gallaudet College. The battle will start promptly at 2:30 o'clock. The referees have been definitely decided upon, and are as follows: Magoffin, Michigan, referee; Land, Navy, umpire, and Garzan, Georgetown, head linesman. Both the Farmers and the Buff and Blue are in readiness for the game. They only wait the call of the referee to start the encounter. For the first time this season all the regulars of the Aggies will be seen in the line-up. Gallaudet, as usual, will have her first-class men. One of the largest crowds of the year is expected to be on hand. The colleges that clash this afternoon have been rivals for a long time, and each team will do its level best to win.

The two special cars which Manager Patterson has arranged to carry the Gallaudet team and rooters will leave Florida Avenue near the Baltimore and Ohio freight depot at 1:15 P. M.

CENTRAL TEAMS CLASH

1913 Eleven to Meet with 1914 Team at Vigilant Park Today.

The graduating members of the Central High School football squad will line up against the members of the 1914 team this morning at 10 o'clock at Vigilant Park. This game is expected to be closely contested throughout as the two teams seem to be about evenly matched with the same number of this season's regular team playing against each other. Today's battle will lead to getting a line on the ability of the men who did not participate in any of the games of the present high school series. The line-up:

TEAM	POSITION	1913 TEAM	1914 TEAM
McKinnon	P	C. Richards	W. Smith
McKinnon	Q	C. Richards	W. Smith
McKinnon	R	C. Richards	W. Smith
McKinnon	S	C. Richards	W. Smith
McKinnon	T	C. Richards	W. Smith
McKinnon	U	C. Richards	W. Smith
McKinnon	V	C. Richards	W. Smith
McKinnon	W	C. Richards	W. Smith
McKinnon	X	C. Richards	W. Smith
McKinnon	Y	C. Richards	W. Smith
McKinnon	Z	C. Richards	W. Smith

FIGHTERS ARE PRIMING

Thomas Lowe and Kid Sullivan preparing for Thanksgiving Day.

Tommy Lowe, the well-known lightweight pugilist of the District, is fast rounding into form for his bout with Kid Sullivan Thanksgiving night, before the Ardmore Club, and at this early date a confident of having the one-time top-notch a trimming.

Vigilant Juniors Ready

The undefeated Vigilant Juniors held their final practice last night in preparation for the game with the strong Southern Athletic Club eleven. The Juniors have been working hard for the contest, and expect to come out of the game victorious. The game will be played at Vigilant Park Sunday morning at 11 o'clock.

Defeat Seneca Quint

The first team of the Garfield Athletic Club defeated the quint from the Seneca Club yesterday in an interesting game by the score 20 to 12. The all-round playing of the winners and the individual work of Verstin and Pugh for the losers were features of the game.

C. W. SWAN TO REPORT HARVARD-YALE GAME FOR HERALD READERS

Charles W. Swan, of the sporting department of The Washington Herald, is in Cambridge today, where he will report for the readers of this paper the big football game of the year, between Harvard and Yale.

WESTERN WINS FROM BUSINESS

Failure to Kick Goal Costs Stenographers Chance to Tie the Score. FINAL COUNT IS 7 TO 6

Capt. Harris, of Orange and Blue Team, Easily the Star—Western's Touchdown Flaky.

By "BUCK" HOWARD,

Captain of Western's BE Eleven.

In the hardest fought game of the present interscholastic football campaign, Western triumphed over Business yesterday by a one point margin score, 7 to 6. The Stenographers were beaten when blue "Jack" failed in an attempt to kick goal after a touchdown, but the Orange and Blue put up a grand exhibition of football and with Capt. Harry Harris at the helm looked better than at any time this season, while Western did not play its usual good game owing to a number of injuries which handicapped the West Enders with a telling result.

Although coming out of the fray with the short end of the score, a great deal of credit must be given to the Business team for its fine work, and when summing up points the Orange and Blue outplayed the Business team during the greater part of the game.

Business showed more ground than did Western, gaining more offensive strength than any other team this season with its second forward passes and long end runs by Capt. Harris. The Stenographers also played well on the defense in that Western did not gain with consistency, registering but four first downs throughout the game.

The Red and White warriors, while not as impressive as heretofore, did play well in the emergency, and whenever their goal line was in danger forced their opponents to play conservatively.

Western started the scoring in the third quarter. After being held for downs in midfield, Peck, of Western, punted to the Stenographers' 35-yard line, and when Wise dropped the ball James recovered it and ran it over the line, but when tackled he fumbled, only to have Nicholson, another Western man, fall on the oval for a touchdown. Royer kicked an easy field goal.

Business counted a little later in the same period. Western kicked to Business, and on long gains by Harris and Lloyd, also a field goal, landed the ball on Western's 20-yard line. At this point the Stenographers executed a perfect forward pass, Harris to Wise, which netted a touchdown. J. Wise failed to kick a field goal.

Harry Harris, the plucky little Business captain, was the real star of the game. "Harry" gained more ground than any man on the field and aside from that was the big factor in the Stenographers' open style of play, throwing forward passes accurately in the waiting arms of Peck, who figured in all but one of the passes. His performance was noteworthy from every standpoint, and without him the Orange and Blue would hardly have put up the excellent showing in yesterday's engagement.

The meeting usually is held in February for the purpose of passing on the league's playing schedule, but will be postponed owing to the absence of President Conroy, of the Chicago club, and McAlister, of the Boston club, who will be due in New York March 6.

AMERICAN LEAGUE MEETING

Regals to Assemble in New York Early Next March.

Chicago, Nov. 21.—The annual spring meeting of the American League will be held in New York until March 7, according to an announcement by Ban B. Johnson, president of the league. The meeting usually is held in February for the purpose of passing on the league's playing schedule, but will be postponed owing to the absence of President Conroy, of the Chicago club, and McAlister, of the Boston club, who will be due in New York March 6.

Norfolk, Va., Nov. 21.—Linbrook won the fourth race, the best on today's card, beating Altamaha, a prohibitive favorite, by a length. The judges did not say anything to the owners of Altamaha, although the horse on class and dope stood out the best thing in the race. Jimmy Butwell proved himself a jockey in the third race when he brought incision under the wire half a length in front of Fluvius. Incision was interfered with, bumped and otherwise mistreated on the way around the five and a half furlongs, but Butwell held in check and brought him home in front. He did not make any kick and his work was highly praised by turf followers who witnessed his excellent exhibition of good riding.
