

'SEA WOLF' KEPT CREW IN TERROR

Former Members of Bark Manga Reva's Crew Tell of Treatment.

BOY SCRUBBED WITH LYE

Sailors Forced to Paint Side of Ship in Gale While Captain Threatened to Cut the Ropes.

New York, Jan. 15.—Rivalling a sea tale by Jack London is the story of brutality, drunkenness, starvation, and abuse aboard the American sailing ship Manga Reva, bound from San Francisco to New York, around the Horn.

In a revolting and revolting details the voyage was related today before United States Commissioner Shields when Henry C. Townsend, captain of the vessel, was arraigned upon a charge of assault upon the high seas. The captain denied the charges and blamed the International Longshoremen's Union for his troubles.

How an insane cabin boy, named Harry Wallace, suffering from Spanish cholera, had his bare back scrubbed with sand and lye water until it was bleeding raw, was related in a sworn affidavit in possession of United States Assistant District Attorney Stanton.

This affidavit, by Paul Leep, one of Capt. Townsend's accusers, told how the captain kicked and beat Wallace, how the lad was forced to kneel with arms folded to avoid orders, how he was refused medical attention and was made to eat pieces of bread from a garbage can.

That the captain forced men to paint the outside of the ship during a gale, swinging out on a scaffolding, and then amused himself by torturing them with a threat of cutting the ropes and drowning them, is told in Leep's affidavit.

That a German sailor named "Jack" was doped with whisky and "disappeared" overboard at midnight the first day out, is another allegation.

John Shay testified he was continually beaten and kicked by the captain. He accused the first and second mates of being continually drunk, and said the captain had been drinking for two months. Shay produced a broken club, with which he said he had been beaten. Leep told further of a carpenter, sixty years old, whom the captain beat and knocked down.

On the return trip a new crew of the Manga Reva mutinied. Seven of that crew were given three years each in Wilmington on Wednesday. The charges against Townsend will be used to secure them a new trial.

COMMITTEE PROBES UNREST OF LABOR

CONDITIONS NOW ARE BETTER

New York, Jan. 15.—A national Federal investigation of labor unrest in the United States was inaugurated here today by the government Commission on Industrial Relations, when it took up the garment workers' situation.

Sessions will be held throughout the United States, where various phases of labor troubles will be investigated. The commission will make recommendations to Congress based on its findings.

Although there are nine members of the commission, only four were present at the first hearing which took place in City Hall. They were John B. Lennon, of Bloomington, Ill., chairman; Mrs. J. Borden Hartman, of New York; S. Thurston Ballard, of Louisville, Ky., and James O'Connell, of Washington, D. C.

Ever since the garment workers' strike, which tied up the industry in this city, the relations between employes and employers have been strained, and recently there have been rumors of another strike.

The employes, many of them women and girls, went back to work under an agreement called a protocol.

In addressing the commission, Abraham Rosenberg, president of the International Ladies' Garment Workers' Union, denounced the protocol system.

John A. Dwyer, secretary-treasurer of the Garment Workers' Union, told the commission that the industry had improved since the strike, the employes now earning on an average $2 a week, whereas the average wage previously had been $1.

BONAR LAW PREDICTS CIVIL WAR IN IRELAND

Negotiations for Peaceful Settlement of Home Rule Controversy Is Broken Off, He Declares.

London, Jan. 15.—Andrew Bonar Law, in a speech at Bristol this evening, exhibited the worst phase of the Ulster imbroilings yet seen. All sides had hoped that negotiations between Premier Asquith and Law for the temporary exclusion of Ulster, coupled with additional religious safeguards, would lead to an amicable solution.

Consequently, politicians were staggered tonight when Law declared negotiations had broken down. He added: "We are drifting inevitably, if nothing is done to stem the current, to civil war."

This is the first time such a statement has been made by a politician of the responsible position of Law, and coupled with his official promise to give help to Ulster, commits the Tory party to a policy of resistance.

At the same time he was careful to add that the government really and earnestly desired a peaceful solution and it is possible as soon as a Parliament meets, a fresh attempt at compromise will be made the government, in the meantime endeavoring to obtain a reduction of the hitherto irreducible minimum of the Irish demands.

Wool Growers Flay Tariff

Head of Association Complains, but Calls for Better Methods.

Salt Lake City, Jan. 15.—The new tariff placing wool on the free list was held up by the delegates of the National Woolgrowers' Association marked the fiftieth year of the association's existence at their annual convention here today.

President of the organization, Frank J. Hagenbarth, pointed out that for the "third time in a century of national progress the flockmaster faces free and unlimited competition in the production of wool against the whole world."

Opposition developed at the convention to the proposed leasing of public lands, as provided in bills now before Congress. Speakers, however, generally urged the sheep men to adjust themselves to existing conditions and "act as cattle men would in a stampede—ride in front of the herd and guide the rest out of danger instead of merely opposing."

Ever Hear of Such Things?

Atlantic City, Jan. 15.—Mayor Riddle demanded a kiss as fee for the eugenic marriage of Miss Aurora Borrero and Dr. John Bruent. The fee was paid.

Tarrytown, N. Y., Jan. 15.—With the mercury ten below zero, crickets chirped so loudly in the local jail that the lodgers could not sleep. The crickets were killed.

Springfield, N. Y., Jan. 15.—Peter Linder, a carpenter, declared that children were added to his family faster than he could add rooms to his house. He has thirteen children and an eight-room dwelling.

Ridgewood, N. J., Jan. 15.—Burglars who visited W. C. Andrews' home made a fire in the kitchen range, cooked food, ate, drank, and were merry. They took only silverware and tied the watch dog to the leg of a table when they departed.

NO HITCH, DESPITE THEFT OF TURKEYS

But for Timely Discovery by Woman Conference Program Might Have Been Lacking.

Notwithstanding the circumstance that somebody stole ten of the fifteen carefully selected turkeys that were to form the gastronomic feature of the conference of the Sunday School Institute at Trinity parish hall last night, there was not a hitch in the program. One of the women of the church discovered the shortage in time to replenish the larder.

More than 300 prominent Episcopal clergy and laity of Washington gathered for the meeting, which was called to arouse the men of the Episcopal Church to a realization of their responsibility to keep the boys within the church.

Bishop Harding presided, and addresses were made by Right Rev. D. S. Tuttle, Bishop of Missouri and presiding Bishop of the Episcopal Church; former District Commissioner Henry B. F. Macfarland, Right Rev. Frederick Bingham Howden, newly elected Bishop of Mexico; R. F. Finney, field secretary of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew; Dr. William H. Jeffrey, and Henry P. Blair, president of the board of education.

The committee in charge was composed of Eugene E. Thompson, secretary of the Sunday School Institute, chairman; Canon De Vries, Rev. C. R. Stetson, of St. Mark's Church; Rev. C. T. Warner, of St. Alban's Church; Rev. George F. Dudley, of St. Stephen's Church, and W. S. Hutchinson, superintendent of the Epiphany Church Sunday school.

TAXICAB COMPANIES FILE COURT APPEAL

Protest Made in District Supreme Body Against "Common Carrier" Decision.

The first step in what is expected to be a protracted legal battle in the District Supreme Court in the matter of regulating and controlling charges of taxicab companies, was taken yesterday when the Federal Taxicab Company, represented by Samuel V. Hayden, and the Terminal Taxicab Company, represented by George T. Dunlop, filed an appeal in the District Supreme Court from the recent decision of the Public Utilities Commission, holding the taxicab companies in question to be "common carriers."

Notice that this appeal was forthcoming was announced exclusively in The Washington Herald last Sunday. Judge Ashley M. Gould, of the District Supreme Court, late yesterday afternoon issued a rule asking the Federal Taxicab Company to show cause January 29 why an injunction should not be issued against that concern from infringing against the Public Utilities Commission's ruling that the two companies in question are "common carriers."

Justice Stafford, after hearing the petitions of the two companies, issued a rule asking the Public Utilities Commission, requiring that body to show cause January 29 why the restraining order and injunctions should not be issued as prayed.

VACANCIES ARE FILLED

New Haven O. K.'s Peace Plan

New York, Jan. 15.—The plan for the reorganization of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad, agreed upon a few days ago by officials of the railroad and Attorney General McReynolds was approved unanimously today at a meeting of the railroad's directors.

The disposition of the Long Island Sound steamship lines are still in abeyance. Unless the Interstate Commerce Commission exercises the power given it under the Panama Canal act to divorce railroads and competing steamship lines, the New Haven road will continue after July 1, 1914, to control freight rates between this city and New England points.

THE OLD METHOD—THE NEW METHOD—AND THE MUNICIPALITY

THE disposition of the dead is a matter that has ever given the governing bodies of our various municipalities great concern.

IT is a problem difficult to deal with. Particularly is this the case where cemeteries have in a measure fallen into partial disuse.

FOR EXAMPLE:

CIVIC improvements may be contemplated, which, directly or indirectly, affect a cemetery; the city fathers must deal with some one in authority; years may have passed since the cemetery association was organized; through the fault of no one in particular vacancies on the board of trustees may not be filled; gradually the board or governing body of the cemetery may become extinct, passed out of existence, leaving numerous lot owners to their own devices as to the future care and protection of their dead.

THIS CONDITION IS NO MERE PICTURE OF THE IMAGINATION.

UNFORTUNATELY it is but the recital of actual facts as they have occurred in almost every center of population. In this very city, the capital of a nation, scarcely a century and a half old, entire cemeteries have been exhumed and the remains disposed of with scant reverence for the dead and little consideration for the living.

THIS STATE OF AFFAIRS WILL CONTINUE AND INCREASE UNTIL WE CEASE TO INTRUST OUR DEAD TO THE UNCERTAINTIES OF EARTH BURIAL.

THE remedy lies in entombing the departed in structures not only imperishable, BUT ENDOWED IN A MANNER THAT GUARANTEES THEIR PERPETUAL PRESERVATION AND MAINTENANCE, UNDER SANITARY CONDITIONS THAT FOREVER PRECLUDE THEIR BECOMING A MENACE TO THE LIVING, REGARDLESS OF THE LAPSES OF ANY INDIVIDUAL OR GROUP OF INDIVIDUALS.

SUCH a means is found in the COMMUNITY MAUSOLEUM.

From every standpoint, sanitary, sentimental, and economic, the crypt of the MAUSOLEUM is the logical successor to the unprotected grave.

ADAPTABLE to the use of the individual, the family, the fraternal organization, or the religious denomination, giving to each security, protection, and an exclusiveness impossible in the cemetery, meeting these requirements at a cost in most instances below that of earth burial, THE COMMUNITY MAUSOLEUM is about to take its place among the epoch-marking achievements of the present century.
