

PINDELL WINS HIS FIGHT FOR POST

Senate Finally Confirms Him as Ambassador to Russia.

DENISON IS ALSO VICTOR

Political Battle Over Naming Him as Philippine Commissioner Is Ended.

The nomination of Henry M. Pindell as Ambassador to Russia was confirmed in the executive session of the Senate yesterday afternoon. Mr. Pindell was one of the "original Wilson men" in the prevention fight in Illinois.

His nomination had been held up on account of disclosures in a letter alleged to have been written by Senator James Hamilton Lewis, which the Senator afterward declared to be a forgery. There was an unconfirmed report that Mr. Pindell had agreed to resign after he had held the office for one year, and enjoyed its emoluments and opportunities for social diversion in Europe.

In addition to these complications, Representative Stone, of Florida, a Democrat, held certain letters written by Mr. Pindell concerning the patronage in that Congressional district. There was no roll call on the motion to confirm yesterday. Senators who had been opposing Mr. Pindell concluded that after matters had been thoroughly thrashed out before the Foreign Relations Committee.

Winifred T. Denison was also confirmed as commissioner to the Philippines and secretary of the Interior for the Philippines. There was a determined fight on the nomination of Mr. Denison, led by Senator Reed Smoot, of Utah. Mr. Denison was formerly assistant United States District Attorney for the Southern district of New York, and later Assistant Attorney General in Washington. He was holding the latter office at the time he was recommended to the President for the work in the Philippines.

Waged Strong Battle.

Up to the last campaign Mr. Denison was a Republican, but in the midst of the Presidential campaign he avowed himself a Progressive. But political considerations did not enter into the fight against him. He was attacked because of a fight he is alleged to have waged against former General Appraiser of Customs Sharrett, of New York, which led to the removal of Sharrett. The vote on a roll call disclosed about twenty votes in opposition to confirmation, mostly Republicans. The nomination was confirmed by about 2 to 1.

The nomination of Mr. Denison was sent to the Senate before the holidays. He immediately left for the Philippines and got as far as San Francisco, when he learned that his confirmation had been held up. He has since been waiting for the outcome, and has been compelled to cancel his reservations for sailing four times since he first engaged passage. Mr. Denison will succeed Dean C. Worcester, resigned.

DEWEY TOO ILL TO APPEAR.

Cannot Go Before House Naval Affairs Committee.

Admiral Dewey yesterday sent word to the House Naval Affairs Committee that he is too ill to appear today in favor of a larger appropriation for the navy. He intimated he would not appear before the committee at any time. Members of the committee representing the "greater navy" faction had hoped by bringing the hero of Manila Bay out of retirement, to make a strong impression on the House.

EAT

What You Will—When You Will—Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets Will Digest the Meal Easily and Surely.

Food in itself is harmless. The reason stomach troubles arise is due to faulty digestion brought about by overworking the body or brain, sickness, overeating, late hours, &c.

"Eat! Why That's My Middle Name Now, But I Always Take a Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet After Meals to Play Safe."

The only way to correct faulty stomach troubles and digestive mistakes is to do what nature wants. All that nature needs is a little assistance to do this work. This is why doctors tell you to diet. By not eating nature is compelled to aid herself. You do not then overwork her when she is already exhausted. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets go into your stomach just like food. They help digest this food. Then they enrich the blood, and thus when the next meal is eaten the system is better prepared to do its work without assistance or at least less harmfully.

PEACE PLANS CONSIDERED.

Committee Postpones Action Pending Department's Information. The House Committee on Foreign Affairs at its executive session yesterday held under consideration the recent resolution of Representative Bartholdt, of Missouri, calling upon the State Department for information as to what steps, if any, have been taken by the United States looking to the assembling of the third Peace Conference at The Hague. Under the conditions originally established and governing these great international peace assemblies the third conference should be held in the Dutch capital in 1915. The committee received word from the State Department that on Friday a representative of the Department would appear before the committee and lay before it the department's intention to American participation. Consideration of the Bartholdt resolution was therefore suspended until that time.

NEW "SPOILS" PLAN SEEN IN MOON BILL

Measure Requires that All Assistant Postmasters Be Required to Take Examinations.

Democratic spokesmen who want the offices of assistant postmasters made available for the party's faithful followers are not a new task yesterday, following the passage of the bill authorizing the appointment of assistant postmasters without regard to the rules governing the classified service. The House, of Tennessee, offered a bill providing that all postmasters be required to take examinations to determine their fitness for public service. This proposed bill is regarded by Republicans as a subterfuge. They charge that if passed practically all assistant postmaster positions will be turned over to Democrats. Mr. Moon, in the debate on the postoffice bill, said that the Democrats were entitled to these offices, and he only withdrew the amendment to the postoffice bill when it became apparent that it would be defeated as a result of influence exerted by the administration. In proposing that assistant postmasters be examined Mr. Moon is following the precedent established by Postmaster General Burleson in the case of fourth-class postmasters. Mr. Burleson refused to take these offices out of the classified service, but prescribed examinations that accomplished results, it is said, entirely satisfactory to Democratic members. Mr. Moon proposed to apply the same principle to assistant postmasters. It is understood that the Moon bill has the approval by Postmaster General Burleson.

RECOMMENDS BRYAN PLAN.

Senator Norris Proposes Publicity in Judicial Appointments.

Senator Norris, of Nebraska, adopting the recommendation made by William J. Bryan, proposed to the Cabinet yesterday to require the President in submitting judicial nominations to the Senate to make public all the indorsements filed in support of the nominees. Mr. Norris' suggestion took the form of a motion to instruct the conferees of the two Houses to add this provision to a bill providing an additional district judge for the Eastern district of Pennsylvania. When the bill passed the Senate and went to the House, authorizing the additional judge, the House passed it with an amendment providing that the President should make public the names of indorsees of every candidate for a Federal office. The Senate refused to concur in this amendment. A point of order was made against Senator Norris' proposal, on the ground that it was new matter, in the nature of legislation on a conference report, and Vice President Marshall sustained the point of order. Senator Norris probably will renew the suggestion later, and give Mr. Bryan as his supporter of his plan. The Senator yesterday quoted from the Democratic platform, in support of it, and many other Democratic authorities.

URGED FOR JUDGESHIPS.

Attorney General Makes Recommendations to the President.

President Wilson received recommendations from the Attorney General regarding candidates for Judgeships in the Municipal Court yesterday, but no announcement is forthcoming from the White House that one of the nominees, the name of Judge Robert H. Terrell, colored, was submitted to the President last week by the Attorney General. Should his nomination be sent to the Senate it will be opposed on the floor by Senator Vardaman, of Mississippi.

Former Senator Shelby M. Cullom is much weaker and his physicians do not expect him to live through the day. He was practically in a coma all yesterday.

Under the Capitol Dome.

The bill authorizing the Secretary of the Navy to lease at not to exceed $50,000 a year, dry docks at Hunters Point, San Francisco, was passed by the Senate. The bill provides that one of the docks shall be large enough to accommodate the largest vessel which may pass through the Panama Canal and that the United States shall have first rights to the use of the dock in time of war.

Senator Martine introduced a bill providing for an appropriation of $10,000 for a monument to James A. Garfield at Long Branch, N. J., on the condition that the Garfield Monument Association raises a like amount.

President Garfield was taken to a cottage in the Elberon Section of Long Branch, after he was shot at Washington. He died at Elberon, September 19, 1881.

Former State Representative O'Connor, of Lowell, Mass., who was at the Capitol on an immigration matter, announced his candidacy for Congress for the district represented by Representative John J. Rogers. Mr. O'Connor is a Democrat.

Senator Shaforth, of Colorado, presented to the Senate Judiciary Committee a brief in favor of his Constitutional amendment to convene Congress and inaugurate the President in January instead of March. He claims that this course would do away with possible political tangles and eliminate the short Congressional session.

A favorable report was ordered by the Senate Committee on Postoffice and Post Roads on Senator Norris' resolution calling upon the Postmaster General to send to the Senate the data on which that official made his recommendation for government ownership of telephone and telegraph lines.

Representative Kennedy, of Iowa, introduced in the House a bill appropriating $100,000 for a postoffice building at Fairfield, Iowa.

Purchase of land within the first and second battle fields of Bull Run in order that the battle monuments may be preserved is provided in a bill offered in the House by Representative Carlin, of Virginia. A $50,000 appropriation is called for. The War Department caused a survey of these lands to be made last year.

PROMINENT MEN ARE TO TESTIFY

Hearings on Anti-Trust Program Begin This Week.

TO BE READY IN MARCH

Committee May Refer Bills to Caucus to Expedite Passage Through the House.

Men distinguished in industry, agriculture, and labor are expected to discuss the administration anti-trust program at hearings before the House committee that has jurisdiction over this proposed legislation. The hearings on the subject, which will run for a month or more, will begin this week. Tomorrow the Judiciary Committee, of which Representative Henry D. Clayton, of Alabama, is chairman, will begin hearing witnesses on the interlocking directorates, and the bill that attempts more clearly to define the terms "monopoly" and "monopolization." On Friday the Interstate Commerce Committee, of which Representative William C. Adamson, of Georgia, is chairman, will institute public hearings on the bill proposing the creation of an interstate trade commission, and another bill providing government supervision over the issuance of railway stocks and bonds.

Present indications are that the administration anti-trust program will be submitted to the House for consideration early in March. At least that is the hope of Representative Adamson and Clayton, the leaders who will handle the bills in the House. The bills will be subjected to the test of a Democratic caucus remains to be determined. Such action was taken in the case of the tariff bill, and the banking bills also were passed upon by the caucus before they were presented to the House. Difficulties in the way of expeditious action on the trust bills may force the leaders to refer the anti-trust bills to a caucus before the House is called upon to act on them.

While neither committee yet has made up a list of witnesses that will appear there is a general expectation that such as H. Gary, of the United States Steel Corporation; Seth Low, of the Civic Federation; George W. Perkins, of the Harvester Combine; J. P. Morgan, and others equally as prominent will be given an opportunity to present their views on the anti-trust bills. Samuel Gompers will be asked to speak for labor, while the various agricultural associations will be invited to appear.

Meetings of the Interstate Commerce and the Judiciary committees were held yesterday. It was decided that the administration bills should be given precedence and that full opportunity should be given all concerned to appear for or against the measures. Chairman Clayton and Messrs. Carlin and Floyd, a subcommittee named for the purpose by the Judiciary Committee, will report on the provision prohibiting holding companies and what are known as "voting trusts." This provision may be incorporated in the trade relations bill, or prepared as an independent measure. This point will be decided upon the presentation of the subcommittee report to the full committee.

SIGNAL WAS CAUGHT BY MANY.

Satisfactory Results Received from New Year's Time Flash.

Reports received at the Navy Department show that the New Year's time signal sent out by the radio station at Arlington, Va., was received by stations throughout the United States as far west as Colorado. It is believed that the signal was received by other stations at much more distant points, but no reports have been received to that effect. It has developed that a great many amateurs caught the New Year signal. One operator who heard the signal in South Dakota wrote that he had formerly been a wireless operator in the navy.

WHALEY IS CLEARED OF ELECTION "FRAUD"

Charge of Charleston Mayor Not Substantiated and He Will Keep Seat in House.

By a vote of 27 to 9 the House yesterday refused to investigate charges that Representative Richard S. Whaley, of the First South Carolina District, attacked his election to Congress by fraud. Whaley's right to a seat was questioned by Mayor John R. Grace, of Charleston, S. C., who charged that Whaley had expended money in excess of the limit prescribed by law and that therefore his election was invalid. The Committee on Elections No. 1 made an investigation and reported to the House that the charges against Mr. Whaley were without foundation.

Representative Freer, of Wisconsin, a Republican, presented a minority report in which he alleged that the committee had not made a thorough inquiry and he offered a resolution directing such an investigation by the committee. The case was debated for about three hours. Mr. Whaley thus retains his seat in Congress.

LOOKING FOR GIRLS' ASSAULT.

Two Attacks on Women in Pennsylvania Town.

Sharon, Pa., Jan. 27.—Police today are scouring the country for a man who attacked Jennie Pascher, nineteen years old, of Farrell, while she was on her way home from work last night. The attack occurred a short distance from her home. She was passing a dark corner when the man jumped out and grabbed her by the throat. A gag was thrust into her mouth and the assailant then attempted to drag her into an alley.

The girl worked the gag from her mouth and yelled for help. Her brother heard her cries and his appearance caused the assailant to drop the girl and disappear. An attempted assault on another girl also was reported to the police this morning.

HOUSE TO PROBE LABOR TROUBLES

Keating Resolution to Investigate Michigan and Colorado Strikes Passes.

TO BEGIN IMMEDIATELY

Committee Will Have Power to Subpoena and to Hold Hearings Anywhere.

The House of Representatives yesterday, by a vote of 151 to 15, passed the Keating resolution calling for an investigation of the strike situation in the Colorado coal fields and the Michigan copper mining region. This vote was forced by the recent action of the Democratic caucus which, after the majority of the House Committee had decided unfavorably upon the desirability of reporting the resolution to the House, voted overwhelmingly in favor of bringing the matter to the floor.

Regardless of the constitutional arguments of the opponents of the resolution, only the scant fifteen could be mustered against the measure. This situation was presented in the face of the fact that the House Committee had decided unfavorably upon the desirability of reporting the resolution to the floor, but only to bring it up for consideration.

Representatives Garratt and Hardwick, both Democrats and members of the Rules Committee, opposed the resolution on the floor. Both made constitutional arguments insisting that the situation in Colorado and in Michigan, as well as an occasion only for State correction and not one in which the Federal Government was concerned.

Mr. Garrett charged the proponents of the measure with striving to create a public sentiment that was unjustified. He protested with great vehemence at the Federal interference, in Michigan in particular, with a situation where a Democratic governor—the first in fifty years—had uttered a earnest protest.

Representative Lewis, Democrat of Maryland, made the most important, and the shortest speech, in favor of the measure. He took the ground that the resolution was framed to guarantee humanitarian consideration to the case of the workers. He told the House that if situations similar to those existing today in Michigan and Colorado should spring up coincidentally in every one of the forty-eight States the Federal Government would be confronted with revolution.

Under the terms of the resolution the investigation will be started immediately. The House Committee on Mines and Mining, which will make the investigation, is empowered to subpoena witnesses and to hold hearings wherever they may find it necessary.

GUAM GOVERNOR NAMED.

Capt. Maxwell Selected Because of War College Experience.

Capt. W. J. Maxwell, U. S. N., has been designated by the Navy Department to be governor of the Island of Guam. Capt. Maxwell has been selected for this assignment because of his experience at the War College, on the general board of the navy, and at Panama. Guam is soon to be the scene of advanced base exercises for marines, and is regarded by naval strategists as the site of an important naval base of the future operations of the United States in the Pacific.

Capt. J. L. Jayne has been transferred from command of the Naval Observatory, Washington, to command the battleship New Jersey; he will be succeeded by Capt. J. A. Hoogwerf, now stationed at the War College. Capt. P. K. Hill has been detached from command of the New Jersey and placed on waiting orders.

HAMLIN TO SUCCEED IN WILLIAMS' BERTH

Will Be in Charge of Fiscal Bureau in Treasury Department After February 2.

Announcement was made at the Treasury Department yesterday that Assistant Secretary Charles S. Hamlin, in charge of customs, had been chosen to succeed Assistant Secretary Williams as First Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, in charge of the fiscal bureau.

It was announced also that Mr. Williams will take the oath and assume the duties of Comptroller of the Currency and ex-officio member of the Federal reserve board, February 2. On that date Mr. Hamlin will become Acting Secretary of the Treasury, to serve until the return of Secretary McAdoo, February 15. Mr. Hamlin served as Assistant Secretary of the Treasury in charge of customs under President Grover Cleveland.

It is said that Secretary McAdoo had some difficulty in persuading him to take his present position at the outset of the Wilson administration, and that he yielded with the understanding that promotion eventually would come in his way. He is regarded as one of the most efficient officials in the Federal government, and persons affiliated with the administration anticipate that he will gain high praise for himself as First Assistant Secretary of the Treasury.

Secretary McAdoo caused it to be announced yesterday that Mr. Hamlin's successor will not be chosen until the latter part of February.

New Missile for Aeroplanes.

Paris, Jan. 27.—A petrol arrow, cylindrical in shape, weighing two pounds and containing a quarter of a pint of petrol, has just been invented for use as an aeroplane missile by an engineer of Lyons named Guerre. When the missile strikes the object a special igniting apparatus fires the petrol. The inventor says a fleet of aeroplanes armed with these will be able to blow up a powder magazine or fire a town.

COLLECTION AT SOURCE IS CAUSING TROUBLE

Representative Cantor Seeking to Repeal Income Tax Law Provision.

TO CONFER WITH UNDERWOOD

A movement was begun in Congress yesterday looking to the repeal of that provision of the income tax law requiring the collection of tax at the source. It was inaugurated by Representative Jacob A. Cantor, of New York, a Democrat, who has received many communications from New York City and elsewhere complaining that the requirement that tax shall be collected at the source is impracticable and likely to lead to great confusion.

Representative Cantor presented a bill proposing the repeal of the provision in question. The measure was referred to the Committee on Ways and Means and Mr. Cantor believes that hearings on it will be given for the benefit of all interested. Mr. Cantor is convinced that when the committee is apprised of the difficulties that attend the collection of income tax at the source it will favorably report his bill.

The income tax law has now been in operation for six months. The feature of the law that Mr. Cantor seeks to have wiped from the statute books has aroused more complaint than any other section of the law.

Representative Cantor will have a conference some time this week with Representative Underwood, chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, with a view to having early hearings on the repeal bill.
