IN AND OF CHILDREN'S HOME. The Damsel to Be Held Next Monday Afternoon. The young society folk are looking forward to the damsel to be given at the New Willard next Monday afternoon from 4 to 7. The proceeds from the sale of tickets will be devoted to the Episcopal Home for Children.

The institution, formerly the Bell Home, was founded by the late Alexander Melville Bell, and shelters seventy homeless children. Some are without a relative in the world. Some have mothers who are earning a little for their support. Others often seek temporary shelter for their motherless little ones. They receive careful Christian training.

The home is supported by yearly subscription and donations, but these are inadequate to meet all expenses. Many resident women are patronesses.

The committee in charge from St. Thomas' Episcopal Church consists of Mrs. A. A. Birney, Mrs. William K. Ellis, Mrs. William D. Hoover, Mrs. W. Aspinwall, and Mrs. Joseph R. Johnson.

URGES CITY BE MADE MODEL. Herbert R. Sands Addresses the Twentieth Century Club. Herbert R. Sands, of the Bureau of Municipal Research of New York, addressed members of the Twentieth Century Club at All Souls' Unitarian Church, Fourth and L streets northwest, yesterday. Mr. Sands urged that Washington be made a model city, and said that the vote of women would help in bettering all cities and their forms of government.

It was suggested by Mr. Sands that the Twentieth Century Club finance a budget exhibit, such as was conducted in New York, where many instances of waste in the administration were disclosed.

Mrs. Woodrow Wilson was present at the meeting as the guest of Mrs. Thomas W. Sitwell, of the club's president. At a business meeting, the club approved the Peters-La Follette eight-hour bill for women.

Mr. Sands spoke for Dr. Henry Buere, of New York, who was unable to be present.

OVER-ORGANIZATION DEPLORED. Mr. Burleson Discusses Tendency Among Postal Employees. A tendency toward over-organization among postal employees was claimed yesterday by Postmaster General Burleson in reply to an inquiry of Senator Bacon, of Georgia, who wished to know the Department's attitude toward conventions of postmasters.

Mr. Burleson said he did not refer to official purposes, but to the number of "national, sectional and State associations of postmasters, clerks and rural and city letter carriers.

Conventions of the several associations, Mr. Burleson said, forced the attendance of many efficient employes for several days each year. This, he said, interfered seriously with the plans laid out for the betterment of the Postoffice Department.

No great amount of "constructive endeavor," Mr. Burleson said, would be promoted this year by conventions. This he ascribed to the fact that the department "is in the midst of a searching investigation into organization and methods of all postoffices."

ACTORS INCORPORATE CLUB. New York, Feb. 5.—The Sixty Club was incorporated today in the Supreme Court by permission of Justice Giegerich. The purpose of the club is to promote social communion among members of theatrical profession by holding Saturday night entertainments.

ZEPPELIN HAS HERALD'S PANAMA CANAL VOLUME

German Aeronaut Highly Praises Copy of Book Sent Him by Alois Schlachter.

Count F. von Zeppelin, the great German military balloon expert, has been presented with a copy of The Washington Herald's book on the Panama Canal, and in his letter of thanks to Alois Schlachter, of 807 Fourteenth street northeast, the count said the volume proved of great value and unusual interest to him as during his sojourn in this country he had a number of interviews with an admiral of the American navy regarding the canal.

Mr. Schlachter, formerly a trooper in the Dragon Regiment "Koenig," stationed at Stuttgart, highly treasures the autograph letter of Count Zeppelin. The book was sent by him to the German Consul in appreciation of an autographed photograph of himself, which Count Zeppelin sent to Mr. Schlachter to be hung upon the walls of the Schwaben Verein club rooms, where it attracts universal attention. Mr. Schlachter, while in the army, served under Count von Gemmingen-Guttenberg, a nephew of Count Zeppelin, who during the civil war was attached to the Federal army, and who since then has made a number of visits to this country.

THOMAS RUSSELL PUTS PAINTINGS ON VIEW

Collector Opens Exhibition of Some Fine Canvases at the Verboort Galleries.

Thomas Russell, a noted collector of paintings, has opened an exhibition of important canvases at the Verboort galleries, 120 F street northwest. The paintings are to be sold, and they form an exhibit that should be attractive to lovers of art.

Mr. Russell recently closed an exhibition at the Bellevue-Stratford, in Philadelphia. The paintings he offered caused wide comment. Many of them are included in the exhibition here.

In the collection of Mrs. Russell there are included paintings by noted artists and great paintings by ordinary artists. This, critics have said, is a feature of the collection. Mr. Russell has gathered great paintings regardless of the signatures they bear. His fearlessness in this respect has aroused the wonder of critics.

HOSPITAL REMOVAL PLAN TO BE FOUGHT

Columbia Heights Citizens Name Committee to Take Steps in Matter.

Action to prevent the proposed removal of the Northern Dispensary and Emergency Hospital, at 312 Fourteenth street northwest, was decided on last night at a meeting of a committee of the Columbia Heights Citizens' Association appointed to fight the removal.

The board of directors of the hospital will be urged by the committee to maintain the hospital. This was decided when the motion of Dr. Benjamin F. Gibbs, founder of the dispensary and hospital, was carried.

Reconsideration of the decision to remove the hospital will be asked. If necessary the committee decided to test the legality of the proposed removal. A determined fight for the hospital is to be waged, according to committee members. The committee is composed of Dr. Gibbs, Dr. L. F. Kahler, E. E. Hamey, S. E. Kramer, and Commander George H. TEDDY DELIGHTED BY SNAKE FIGHT

Colonel Picks Up One Combatant by the Neck to Horror of Brazilian Hosts.

Buenos Ayres, Brazil, Feb. 5.—Col. Theodore Roosevelt is giving South America as many thrills and surprises as South America is giving him.

Residents of the states of Sao Paulo and Minas, in the fervor of their welcome during his visit there, planned an entertainment which they thought would be absolutely unique and thrilling.

They invited him to watch a combat between a nonpoisonous South American cobra and another snake, a tarantula.

To their surprise and consternation Col. Roosevelt became so much interested in the combat that when the cobra won and began to swallow its opponent he seized the victor, evidently in the interest of fair play, and lifted it up. Then he gave the entertainment committee a short lecture on snakes, their habits and their poisons.

Col. Roosevelt's guests were alarmed by his unexpected display of nerve, but they were greatly delighted by the interest he showed in their entertainment, and most surprised to discover that he knew more about South American snakes than they did.

Myer Davis' orchestra played for the dancing. A buffet supper was served later in the evening, after which dancing was resumed.

Among the twenty-five or more guests were the Assistant Secretary of War and Mrs
