THE WAR DAY BY DAY Fifty Years Ago.

June 13, 1864—A Federal Expeditionary Force of 18,000 Men, Marching on Lynchburg, Was at Lexington, in the Valley of Virginia, the Home Town of "Stonewall" Jackson—Burning of the Virginia Military Institute.

(Written expressly for The Washington Herald.)
Fifty years ago today a Federal expeditionary force of 18,000 men under Gen. David Hunter, which was marching on Lynchburg, was at Lexington, in the valley of Virginia, the home and last resting place of Stonewall Jackson. A result of his presence there the buildings of the Virginia Military Institute, the institution that had sent out that great soldier as an obscure private, coming from the vicinity of his brilliant tactics, had been destroyed by fire.

The flowers of a year had bloomed and faded on the grave of Jackson when the Federal advance force of 18,000 men under Gen. David Hunter, which was marching on Lynchburg, was at Lexington, in the valley of Virginia, the home and last resting place of Stonewall Jackson. A result of his presence there the buildings of the Virginia Military Institute, the institution that had sent out that great soldier as an obscure private, coming from the vicinity of his brilliant tactics, had been destroyed by fire.
