public schools whose parents are taxpayers in the District. From the present temper of the various conferees, almost anything may happen to the District bill. One conferee said yesterday that unless there was more of a spirit of concession on the part of the Senate, he would not be surprised to see the bill fail permanently. On the other hand, the decision of Chairman Page to ask the House to agree in advance to a modified form of the Borland amendment, augurs a belief on the part of Mr. Page that a satisfactory settlement may be reached at the next meeting.

Employee's Item Tied Up. The item for the payment of $4,150 to Thomas W. Kellar, an old Senate employee, at present bears all the earmarks of a deadlock proposition. The Senate conferees feel a strong personal obligation to go the limit on this item, and the House conferees are adamant in their contention that the payment at this time of more than the claimant ever asked for his property would be indefensible. There is a very strong feeling in the House against this item. The Borland amendment modification proposed by Mr. Page and which he will present to the House will call for a three-way division of the expense of street paving. Under the Page proposal owners of abutting property each would contribute an equal share of the expense and the remainder would be met from the joint fund of the District and the United States.

Realizing that a number of appropriation bills will be in disagreement at the beginning of the new fiscal year, tomorrow, Chairman Fitzgerald, of the House Appropriations Committee, yesterday introduced a joint resolution extending the existing appropriation laws for fifteen days where new laws have not been enacted. Senator Martin introduced a similar resolution and both houses passed the measure without delay.

In addition to the District bill, which carries approximately $1,000,000, the sundry civil bill, $108,000,000; the legislative, executive and judicial bill, $38,000,000; and the Indian appropriation bill, $10,500,000, have not yet been enacted.

On the Dolphin the body will be escorted by a committee from the Pan-American Union, Senator Calvo, Minister from Costa Rica; Senor Pezet, Minister from Peru; and Senor Cordova, from Ecuador. At Hampton Roads the battleship Kansas will take on the body of Senor Rojas, and convey it to La Guayra, Venezuela. From there it will be taken to Caracas, the capital by rail.

The President, members of the Cabinet, the Supreme Court and the Diplomatic Corps will attend the funeral. The pallbearers will be the Ambassador from France, M. E. Church, the director of Costa Rica, Senor Calvo; the Minister from Bolivia, Senor Calderon; the Minister from Colombia, Senor Belandier; Senor Storer, director of the Pan-American Committee on Foreign Relations; Representative Flood, chairman of the House Committee on Foreign Affairs; the Assistant Secretary of State, Mr. Joyce, and John Barrett, director of the Pan-American Union.

A special meeting of the governing board of the Pan-American Union was held yesterday afternoon, attended by Secretary of State Bryan, all the Latin-American diplomatic representatives in Washington and the director general and assistant director of the Pan-American Union, to take action upon the death of Minister Rojas. Secretary Bryan made a brief address.

Under the Capitol Dome.

Representative Lord, chairman of the Committee on Accounts, of the House, when asked about the report of the Joint Commission of Congress of the subject of railway mail pay, stated their report had not yet been agreed upon, nor are the provisions of any proposed bill ready. He said further any statement made by Jonathan Bourne, Jr., chairman of the commission, was made on his own responsibility.

MONEY FOR CROP MOVEMENT.

In order that the department may determine to what extent it will be necessary to deposit government funds in national banks throughout the country for the movement of crops, the Secretary of the Treasury has addressed a form letter to the president of each national bank asking for answers to questions, as follows: If the bank expects an extra demand for money, how much and for what purposes? To what extent will extra funds be needed in each vicinity? During what months between now and January 1 next will funds be needed? When would deposits, if needed for crop moving, be returned to the Treasury Department conveniently by the banks? What security can be offered?

SALE OF FIREWORKS BARRED.

The sale of fireworks, firecrackers, or other explosives is prohibited in the city. Fireworks only can be set off at public celebrations. These facts were called to the attention of the public yesterday when the Commissioners issued their annual proclamation in reference to a safe and sane Fourth celebration.

Senator Henry S. West, of Georgia, was painfully but not seriously injured when he slipped and fell on the tiled floor of his hotel here yesterday. The Georgia Senator was instructed by his physician to remain in bed for several days, but it is thought that his injuries, which include a strain of the right hip, will be cured within the week.

Representative Richard Austin, of Tennessee, who is suffering with appendicitis at his apartments in the Brighton, was much improved yesterday. An operation will not be necessary.

Under the Capitol Dome.

By a vote of 84 to 21 the House yesterday passed the Lever bill to regulate speculation in cotton futures as conducted on stock exchanges. The bill provides a standardization of the various grades of cotton and prescribes that in all sales of cotton the actual grade contracted for shall be delivered. During the debate on the bill Representative Murdock, the Bull Moose leader, voiced the objection that the bill does not go far enough in curbing gambling in cotton futures. "The cotton exchange in New York," said Murdock, "is composed of two or three hundred kid glove gentlemen and the producers of the country lose about $10,000,000 a year through their machinations."

A Senate resolution authorizing the appointment of a Congressional committee of ten to attend ceremonies in Richmond, Va., incident to the unveiling of a monument to John Tyler, former President of the United States, was reported yesterday by the House Judiciary Committee.

Three of the principal counties of Colorado, rich in mineral wealth, will be withdrawn from the general land entry if a bill introduced yesterday by Senator Thomas, of Colorado, becomes a law. The three counties included are Grand, Larimer and Boulder.

HOLDS COURT IN AUTO; 'ARRESTS' 3 MOTORISTS

Justice Joyce Collects $15—'Robber,' Cries Woman, Who Had No Maryland License. Holding court in his automobile in the middle of the road, Justice Boylston Joyce, and Deputy Road Commissioner Wildman yesterday held up three Washington motorists and collected $15 from each for not having Maryland drivers' licenses. One of those "arrested" was Mrs. L. P. Jones, of 1311 Wyoming avenue northwest, who was still indignant last night. The others were William Neal, of 1201 Sixth street northwest, and H. E. McCosmas, of North Carolina avenue. An old Maryland law requires nonresident owners who drive their cars to take out a driver's license, costing $2. The law has seldom been enforced, it is said. Mrs. Jones says Justice Joyce was in his automobile and the motorist with him was riding a motorcycle. It was the justice himself who stopped her, she said. "And I just told me he was a robber," said she. "He told me I could either pay him $5 or go to jail, and I decided to pay him."

While filling a clerical position at the Boston navy yard, young Glaburne lived with relatives in Quincy and it was there that he enlisted in the navy. He will return to his home in Washington in the fall.
