PANIC IS BALKED, ITALY INSISTS

Says Congress, by Emergency Legislation, Has Routed All Fears.

GOLD TO BE HELD HERE

Secretary of Treasury Declares Crisis in Domestic Situation Has Been Passed.

Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo last night issued a statement upon the passage of the amendments liberalizing the Aldrich-Vreeland currency act, in which he said he had been but upon any question that might have existed as to the ability of the banks of the country to take care of the financial situation. He added that the situation throughout the country is excellent.

Earlier in the day the Secretary had reported to the President that the bankers had succeeded in halting the exportation of gold, except for the comparatively small movement to Canada.

Crisis is Passed.

This information, together with the progress of the administration emergency legislation, convinced the President that the crisis in the domestic situation growing out of the war had been passed. Secretary McAdoo's statement follows:

The passage by unanimous vote of the House and Senate of the amendment to the Federal Reserve act, whereby the Secretary of the Treasury is vested with power to issue additional national bank currency in such amount, exceeding even $500,000,000, as in his judgment, may be necessary to protect the business situation in this country, puts at rest any question as to the ability of the banks to take care of the situation.

The Secretary, in his discretion, to permit national banks to have outstanding a maximum of circulating notes equivalent to 125 per cent of their unimpaired capital and surplus, will enable the national banks which have now outstanding circulation equal to their capital stock, to secure a large amount of additional currency.

"Applications have been received from a number of national currency associations throughout the country for additional currency, and these applications are being promptly responded to. Already $100,000,000 of currency has been shipped to the subtreasuries in New York, Chicago, St. Louis, Cincinnati, San Francisco, Boston, and Philadelphia, in order that the needs of the banks may be promptly supplied. In many cases banks have applied for additional currency merely as a precautionary measure.

Situation is Excellent.

"The situation throughout the country is excellent, and no greater testimonial to the inherent strength of our financial and economic position and condition could be given than the way in which the country has withstood the shock of the greatest European disturbance that has occurred in the last hundred years.

"The unanimous vote in the House and Senate is an inspiring evidence of the patriotism of the representatives of the American people, who, whenever there is a threatened danger, forget party lines and present a solid front in support of the common interest."

PRECAUTIONARY MEASURES AND DEVELOPMENTS HERE

Both the Senate and House yesterday adopted the conference report on the Aldrich-Vreeland emergency currency bill. No dissenting votes were registered. The bill provides for the immediate issuance of over one billion dollars for the relief of the threatened financial crisis.

No Belgian Money Orders.

The Postoffice Department yesterday announced that the international money order service to Belgium has been suspended at the instance of the government of Belgium.

Would Purchase Liners.

Legislation allowing the government to purchase a number of trans-Atlantic liners during the present European trouble was brought in a bill introduced in the Senate by Senator Williams of Mississippi, this afternoon. The Secretary of the Treasury in the State Department shall inform European nations that the United States considers the conflict which now threatens to spread all over Europe to be "idiotic and senseless."

Will Not Change Tariff.

That there is no immediate need of amendments to the tariff laws to take care of prospective falling off in revenues on account of the decrease in imports from Europe was asserted yesterday by House Leader Underwood, author of the tariff bill. Mr. Underwood said the European war might continue for several months without causing any serious disturbance of the customs revenues, although admitting that there necessarily must be a decrease in the importations from Europe.

Permits President to Mediate.

Declaring that the United States is practically the only power not involved in the present European crisis, Senator McCumber, of North Dakota, yesterday introduced a resolution in the Senate authorizing President Wilson to offer to settle the European war by mediation.

All Shops Closed and Business Is at Standstill in French Capital.

FEAR GERMAN INVASION

Heavy Forces of Kaiser's Soldiers Lining Up Along Frontier. Battle Believed Near.

Special Cable to The Washington Herald.

Paris, Aug. 4.—Immediately upon the official announcement here of Germany's declaration of war, reports poured in from all directions of immense masses of German troops advancing toward the French border.

An official statement, issued by the war office, asserted that "the first act of the Germans after the declaration of war was to execute M. Samain, president of the French War Society, who lived in Metz, and imprison all members of the society."

Invasions at Three Places.

Aerial scouts who had been operating in German territory, reported officially to the war office that 100,000 German troops in three columns were advancing from Luxembourg toward Longwy, eight miles south from Luxembourg, the second toward Villars, eight miles east-south-east of Longwy, and the third toward Thionville, in the Lorraine, sixteen miles north of Metz.

Simultaneously with this report came news of the German troops crossing into France near Mars-La-Tour. This is a place where one of the bloodiest battles was fought during the last Franco-Prussian war. The Germans then scoring an important victory.

French troops are moving up all German frontier stations. The Germans are wrecking French posts.

War is Declared.

"The German Ambassador has demanded his passports, and diplomatic relations between France and Germany have been broken off. War is declared."

This was the brief statement issued by the war office immediately upon the news of Germany's declaration of war. The American Ambassador, in charge of the American Legation, in Paris, at midnight, leaving Myron T. Herrick, the American Ambassador, in charge of the Legation, and the war continues. United States Consul Generals will act for the German consul there.

Early this morning reports of a German cavalry squadron having been pushed north of Nancy were officially confirmed. The German Uhlans met a terrific attack by French soldiers. Fifty were killed and thirty-five captured.

The commander of the German soldiers blew out his brains rather than yield his sword.

Raiding the town of Lepoux, the Germans seized all food supplies and horses they could find. The inhabitants, left without food, have taken refuge in the fort, where women and children were compelled to walk sixteen miles in a heavy storm.

All the farms about St. All, near Briey, have been looted by the German killing and carrying away all the cattle and sheep.

No business was transacted in Paris today. Every shop except those where provisions are sold is closed, because the assistants have gone to war. How newspaper staffs have been depleted is best shown by the fact that the Matin, with normally 70 employees, is now left with only three.

The House of Commerce remains open, but payments are suspended. Many banks are temporarily closed.

All gatherings in the streets are prohibited. Any one guilty of pillage or violence is liable to a term of imprisonment. Places immediately will be court-martialed.

Every newspaper today deplored editorially the sackings of the shops and many French shops mistaken for Germans by disorderly bands. The police are stamping out this movement with the utmost care. At least 200 youths are about to be court-martialed.

Grande Taverna, the best restaurant and cafe in Faubourg Montmartre, was stoned, but the arrival of a strong body of police prevented serious damage.

The windows of the Hotel Maurice were battered in today because it was suspected of having a German directorate.

The biggest institutions have warned their depositors that they can draw up to $50, but on any deposits they draw over $500 a per cent interest will be charged. Food prices remain steady, with no abnormal rise. The water supply is fully assured, and measures have been taken to insure an undiminished gas supply for a long time.

UNCLE SAM'S PRESSES GRIND OUT SPOILS

Director Ralph Has Shifts Working Day and Night to Get Out $120,000,000 to Meet Demand.

HALF-HOLIDAYS CURTAILED

President Wilson issues orders yesterday to Joseph E. Ralph, director of the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, to discontinue the Saturday half holidays of the clerks at that department until the rush money-making order is filled. The clerks also will work in shifts all night and on Sundays.

The Director has been pleased of all available master printers who have taken the civil service examinations for work on the $100,000,000 gold and silver bill currency order at the Bureau of Engraving and Printing.

Yesterday 100 extra men and women were put on the payroll by Director Ralph to fill the order sent in by Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo, for the big amount which will be sent immediately to New York and a surplus of $20,000,000 in gold. The late night shift money-making order is filled. The clerks also will work in shifts all night and on Sundays.

The Secretary yesterday asked for an emergency deficiency appropriation of $20,000,000 to meet the demands of a sufficient fund to execute the additional work.

The biggest force of printers in the history of the bureau is at work on the new gold and silver bills. The machinery in the perfectly equipped building is in use. The currency notes are crowded with men and women, white and colored, working side by side. The United States in all notes from the green $10 bills to the less familiar $10,000 note bills.

The printers are paid by the piece, earning 50 cents a side per hundred on gold notes, 70 cents a hundred for faces, and 87 cents a hundred for backs in the silver currency. Three shifts of clerks and printers have been arranged to get the money out on time. The regular day shift starts work at 8 a. m. and stops at 5 p. m., followed by the evening shift, which works until 11 p. m. The late night shift goes in then and stops at 7 a. m.

Director Ralph declared yesterday that inside of thirty days the Bureau of Engraving and Printing will be able to fill orders of any size in currency that may be demanded from any section of the United States, after having filled the big orders in money on which he is now working.

VICE ADMIRAL JELICOE TO DIRECT BRITISH NAVY

He Has Been Called "Most Diminutive Admiral in the World" and Is Fifty-five Years Old.

London, Aug. 4.—King George has addressed the following message to Sir John Jellicoe, in supreme command of the British fleet:

"At this grave moment in our national history, I send to you, and through you to the officers and men of the fleets of which you have assumed command, assurances of my confidence that under your direction they will revive and renew the old glories of the royal navy and prove once again a sure shield of Great Britain and of her empire in her hour of trial."

Rear Admiral Charles S. Madden was appointed chief of staff.

Vice Admiral Jellicoe, called "the most diminutive admiral in the world," has been second sea lord of the admiralty since 1912. He was born in 1859, and entered the navy at the age of thirteen. He served with high honor in the Egyptian war of 1882 and was conspicuous in the Chinese war, taking an important part in the rescue work. The German Emperor conferred upon him the order of the Red Eagle, in appreciation of his services in Chinese waters. He was made a rear admiral in 1907.

Rear Admiral Madden has been commander of the third cruiser squadron since 1912. He was fourth sea lord of the admiralty in 1910-11, and commanded the home fleet in 1911-12.

SWEDEN NEUTRAL, BUT WILL OPPOSE GERMANS

Stockholm, Aug. 4.—Germany and Russia both made inquiries on Sunday as to whether Sweden would remain neutral in the present war crisis. The German note was brief, demanding to know just where Sweden stood. The ministers today declined to say whether they were given, but they are preparing to defend the nation's neutrality. Sweden, it is believed, would follow the example of Belgium in refusing to aid Germany if she received an ultimatum similar to that addressed by Germany to Belgium.

Unable to Sleep at Night Itching So Severe. Broke Out as a Rash. Turned to Boils. Clothes Irritated. Used Cuticura Soap and Ointment. Completely Healed.

221 Lee St., Hampton, Va.—"In July of last year the eruptions were first on my fingers and before the last of August my body was completely covered. I was unable to sleep at night the itching was so severe. I had to take sleeping medicines several times a week to get any sleep at all. It broke out as a rash and some of the eruptions turned to boils. My skin was covered and I had several boils on my face. My hands looked so that I had to stop school and my clothes irritated the eruption so much that it kept me scratching all the time. I could not stay in a warm room and I could not put my hands in warm water, at all.

"A friend advised me to try Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I sent for samples and then bought a box of the Cuticura Ointment and Cuticura Soap and I am completely healed. My skin is as smooth as it ever was. I use the Cuticura Soap all the time for it is the best I have ever used." (Signed) Miss Dudley Trueblood, Jan. 28, 1914.

Kaiser Declares War on Britain

Tense silence reigned as Premier Asquith arose to make his long-expected statement, and no sound was heard in the hall until the Premier had stated that an ultimatum expiring at midnight had been sent to Germany.

The premier stated that Sir Edward Grey, the Foreign Secretary, had sent to the British Ambassador at Berlin a telegram informing him of the appeal from King Albert of Belgium for diplomatic intervention. He proceeded to state that Belgium had categorically refused to sanction a "flagrant violation of the law of nations," and then announced that the German government had been asked to give an satisfactory reply by midnight on the question of neutrality.

After making his statement, Premier Asquith produced the King's proclamation calling for the aid of the patriots, including reserves and territorials.

At this point Chancellor Lloyd George asked if the question of the unemployed was receiving government attention. To this the Premier replied that the government was preparing a scheme for the distribution of food and hoped it would be completed in a day or two.

Indemnity is Sought.

Continuing, the premier said that Germany had assured Belgium that it would compensate her for any damage she might suffer by the movement of troops across Belgian territory.

"The British government cannot regard this as in any way satisfactory," said the premier. "We must protect Belgium's neutrality to prevent what means to her a question of life or death—the advance of German troops into Belgium."

Mr. Asquith then read a telegram from the German foreign secretary to Sir Edward Grey, which stated:

"Please dispel any anxiety that may exist on the part of the British government regarding our intentions by repeating most positively the formal assurance that even in case of armed conflict with Belgium we shall not cross the frontier whatever annex Belgian territory."

The reading of this telegram brought shouts of derision from the whole house. In conclusion, the telegram stated that Germany could not be expected to place her army in a position to be attacked by French troops which might cross Belgium and Germany, and therefore, disregard Belgium's protest.

YOUTHFUL JINGLES

King George, after declaring that there must have been some misunderstanding, wrote:

"I make a personal appeal to you to remove the misapprehension and leave open ground for negotiations for possible peace."

The fact that Germany had declared war, the Emperor said in his reply, made it impossible for him to comply with King George's request. He wrote:

"Germany showed no disposition to mediate, and her preparations and those of Austria made it imperative that Russia should mobilize, but I gave most categorical assurances to the German Emperor that the Russian troops would not move so long as the negotiations continued."

"I trust that your country will not fail to support Russia and France. God bless and protect you."

King's Declaration.

The London Gazette tonight published a special edition containing the following declaration of martial law in the Satillo, Mexico, Aug. 4.—Gen. Carranza has notified the peace commission by Provisional President Carbalja that he will confer with it only if it is empowered to surrender the government, army, and state unconditionally. The constitutional leader made this announcement today, and issued a long statement, saying that the government would not accept any form of ending of the war.

Mexico City, Aug. 4.—Provisional President Carbalja has begun active preparations for war with the constitutionalists. The Mexican government, it was announced today, has been notified that Gen. Carranza will refuse any guarantees whatsoever of life or of private property as a condition to the peaceful occupation of the capital by the patriots, as requested by the Carbalja peace delegates. Accordingly, the Carbalja government will defend the city.

It is understood that the Washington government has advised the unconditional surrender of Mexico City to the constitutionalists, but Carbalja has spurned this suggestion. A cabinet meeting has been summoned to raise the necessary funds for the campaign to prevent the taking of the capital. The situation was never more critical than at this moment.

TU-BO-LAX

Keeps us well

TU-BO-LAX CORRECTS CONSTIPATION

Corrects CONSTIPATION in 2 MINUTES

Adrienne, the Editor of "Health & Beauty" page in The Philadelphia Inquirer, gives Mothers this very sensible advice:

"Try to do without drugs. I say this, not from any dislike to the use of medicines in treating children, but because we are here dealing with a function that persists throughout life. If we control that function by drugs we injure the intestines in their action, so that larger and larger doses must be taken, and in the course of time nothing short of giant doses of the most powerful purgatives will effect the result desired, and as such drugs when habitually used injure the system—the condition of the sufferer is pitiable."

Had she written a whole volume she could not have said more. Only she might have added—that where children or grown folks are constipated they should—by all means, be treated with Tu-Bo-Lax. This laxative ointment, which is inserted in the rectum, brings immediate relief without disturbing the stomach, intestines or any part of the body, and soon habituates the lower bowel to act regularly without assistance. Treating Constipation through the mouth in any shape will soon be tabooed by the Medical Profession. We want everybody to realize the fact that the lower bowel is nothing more or less than a sewer pipe, and when it becomes clogged or fails to evacuate the refuse matter—it upsets digestion, creating dyspepsia, nervousness, liver ailments, sick headache, and general debility.

If you are constipated—try TU-BO-LAX, and in 2 MINUTES you will be grateful for this advice. You will have no more use for Cathartics. TU-BO-LAX is as pleasant and easily used as taking a swallow of water. It gives you one complete evacuation, and avoids the weakening effect of Cathartics that may operate a half dozen times, just when it is most inconvenient.

All druggists sell it—or upon receipt of 25 cents we will mail you a package.
