Gentlemen know these Mushroom Pleated Shirts—both for dress and ordinary wear, in white and colors. Guaranteed $2.00 grade at $1.05 is a fleeting possibility for us and for you, so we advise an early call if you would be sure of your size.

ANACOSTIANS ASK HEARING.

Want to Force Street Car Company to Install Underground Power.

The Anacostia Citizens' Association of the Public Improvement Association of Congress Heights, and other civic bodies in the eastern suburbs of the District will endeavor to secure a hearing before the Commissioners on the proposal of the Washington Railway and Electric Company to obtain another postponement of a year before placing its power underground along Nichols avenue and the south approach to the Anacostia Bridge. The authorities recently ordered the railroad company to proceed with this work, but they have asked for an extension of time for another year.

Maurice Otterback, chairman of the committee on streets and highways of the Anacostia association pointed out in a letter to the Commissioners that Congress provided for this work in 1906 and since that time it has been postponed from year to year because of various excuses.

ORIENT DRILLERS CAPTURE TROPHY

Five Knights Templar Teams Compete for Honors in Annual Review.

WINNERS RECEIVE PRAISE

Field Day Sports, Preceding Maneuvers, Afford Amusement Ample for Sir Knights and Ladies Fair.

With flags and pennants flying, wives and sweethearts sighing, plumes nodding in the breeze, swords prodding the next man's knees, some desperately suppressing a desire to sneeze, Orient Commandery, No. 4, marched off with the silver loving cup presented to them as winners in the annual inspection and review held by the Grand Commandery, Knights Templar of Washington, held at the American League ball park yesterday afternoon. Washington Commandery, No. 1; Columbia Commandery, No. 2; Potomac Commandery, No. 3; and De Molay Mounted Commandery, No. 4, also took part in the review.

Columbia Commandery's drill team presented the drill which they gave at the triennial convulse in Denver last year with all its intricate maneuvers and formations. Under the direction of Eminent Sir Knight Frank E. Gibson, this team swung with mathematical precision into hollow squares, circles and triangles, ending with a Templar's cross, then kneeling with heads bowed on their swords while the band played "Nearer, My God, to Thee."

Silver Trophy Presented.

Eight Eminent Grand Commanders Charles T. Lindsay presented the silver trophy to Sir Knight Charles H. Squier, adjutant of Orient Commandery. The review closed with a dress parade, in which all five commanderies formed a diagonal line from one corner to the other of the big ball park facing the grand stands, while the Grand Commandery stood at attention. One knight in his enthusiasm took part in the drill, even though he had to be pushed in a wheelchair.

Field day sports preceded the drills. Plenty of amusement was afforded in the married women's race, when several entrants had trouble with their equilibrium; in the shoe race, when a No. 10 foot found it necessary to enter a No. 6 shoe, and in the fat men's race, when the ever-comical fat man tried hard not to be amused.

The results were as follows:

80-yard dash—For boys under twelve years: First, Harry Stange; second, David Bower; third, Harry Knack; fourth, Clyde Smith; fifth, William Sista; sixth, Donald Canada. The prize were football and theater tickets.
100-yard dash—For boys under twelve: First, E. O'Connor; second, Sallis Canada; third, Helen Tomblin; fourth, W. McCaskey; fifth, Wanda Pearson; sixth, Nora Swainston. The prize were Lowrey's chocolates and theater tickets.
200-yard dash—Open to all: First, J. F. Dowd; second, L. V. Myers; third, Hugh Subman; fourth, Albert McCurdy; fifth, Stanley Carter; sixth, Arthur Anderson.
Fat men's race—Minimum weight, 100 pounds: First, James Graham; second, H. H. Green; third, W. L. McCaskey; fourth, W. Wheeler; fifth, R. W. Pearson; sixth, George T. Miller; seventh, W. H. Shigman.

80-yard dash—For married women: First, Mrs. W. H. P. Jones; second, Mrs. W. H. P. Jones; third, Mrs. V. M. P. Jones; fourth, Mrs. D. Johnson; fifth, Mrs. F. K. Jones; sixth, Mrs. M. A. Jones; seventh, Mrs. F. K. Jones.
100-yard dash—For married women: First, Mrs. W. H. P. Jones; second, Mrs. W. H. P. Jones; third, Mrs. V. M. P. Jones; fourth, Mrs. D. Johnson; fifth, Mrs. F. K. Jones; sixth, Mrs. M. A. Jones; seventh, Mrs. F. K. Jones.

Grand Commander Lindsay thanked Sir Knight Charles H. Squier, chairman of the athletic committee, for his work following the presentation of the cup to Orient Commandery.

The Columbia Commandery drill team, which competed at Denver, was as follows: Frank E. Gibson, captain; Charles D. Shackelford, first lieutenant; C. Wallace Hoover, second lieutenant; Robert J. Bell, Charles E. Baldwin, Ralph E. Bihlman, John J. Crawford, Samuel H. Deckman, Salvatore Desio, Michael D. Manna, Colville E. Plath, Virgil M. Pooker, Percy L. Gladman, Harry L. Gordon, William J. Hill, Frank Hegner, W. R. P. Hines, George L. Iseman, Frank E. Koch, Thomas J. Robbins, A. A. Raley, H. A. Stacy, George J. Smith, Parker H. Sweet, M. D. Riley, A. Sweet, Robert E. L. Thomas, Robert L. Tiller, John H. Travers, George H. Whiting, Elmer C. Wood, Virgil C. Young.

The reason for the German's action in sending away the nurses was that the latter had discovered that many of the Germans killed and wounded had been shot by German bullets. It was also stated that at the examination of the body of the Kaiser's nephew, Count Schwin, the surgeons extracted eight bullets. Subsequently two more bullets were found and these had come from German rifles.

The Germans are preparing lists of all French citizens and English and Russian subjects in Brussels and within a few days these will be ordered to leave the city, and it is thought that all the men of the allied nations, capable of bearing arms, will be sent to Germany, while their families will also be compelled to leave Brussels.

In pursuit of their desire to make Brussels a German city, the invaders have issued instruction that all young Belgians are to be taught German in the schools. The first lessons in the language commenced Friday. On October 1 a German postoffice was started in the city.

On the first day stamps to the value of 100,000 francs were bought by collectors. Three men alone purchased 30,000 francs worth.

For the last ten days the bread has been getting blacker and blacker. The prices of foodstuffs are rising. There seems to be, however, plenty of meat available, and the poor are not suffering at all. There are more people in the streets and more signs of life. More shops are being opened, and during the past week the cinematographs have begun to reopen. No other places of amusement are allowed.

President Wilson indicated clearly yesterday that he is determined that all practicable haste shall be made in the organization of the system.

Considerable uncertainty has existed in some quarters as to what the real attitude of the reserve board was toward the early organization of the new system. A belief exists that among certain members of the board it was felt that it would not be wise to open any of the banks until all of them are fully prepared to begin operation.

The right of committees of either the Senate or House to compel witnesses to testify before them will be settled by the highest court in the land in an opinion expected to be handed down by the Supreme Court early in the term, which will begin next Monday.

On the first day the court will play the customary visit to the White House and administer the oath to former Attorney General McReynolds, a new member of the court.

The Monday following will be the first opinion day. Then or soon thereafter the court may announce its decision in several other important cases.

Director Harris, of the Census Bureau, in a statement issued yesterday, replied to criticisms made against his department that the results of the thirteenth census were late in coming out. The statement says that, with the exception of one volume and a few bulletins, the results were all out within a few days after the close of 1913.

THE BATTLE ALONG OISE RIVER, IN FRANCE

BRIDGE OVER OISE AT ST. MAXENCE DESTROYED—TRENCH ON THE RIVER OISE. Here are actual pictures made along the Oise River in France, on the banks of which the Germans have been battling for weeks against the French and English. AMERICANS HAVE EXPERIENCE

(Special dispatch to The Washington Herald and London Daily Telegraph.)
Brussels, Oct. 8.—There are very few German troops in this city, excepting those who march through on their way to other places.

A remarkable incident occurred on Monday. It had been arranged that 135 British nurses and forty American tourists were to be sent by German troop train to Aix-la-Chapelle and thence to Rotterdam. The Americans were placed in third-class carriages, and then it appeared that three or four of the nurses' names had been omitted from the list supplied to the German commander at the Gare du Nord. The American vice consul was present, and the German commander complained that the papers were not in order.

The vice consul attempted to argue the point, whereupon the German officer angrily tore up all the papers and flung them to the floor. He absolutely declined to allow the nurses to leave.

Subsequently the nurses had been transferred to second-class carriages and sent to Aix and thence to Rotterdam. Later the German governor of Brussels sent two officers to Dr. W. Wyle, who was in charge of the Red Cross work. The officers apologized for the conduct of the commander at the station.

The reason for the German's action in sending away the nurses was that the latter had discovered that many of the Germans killed and wounded had been shot by German bullets. It was also stated that at the examination of the body of the Kaiser's nephew, Count Schwin, the surgeons extracted eight bullets. Subsequently two more bullets were found and these had come from German rifles.

BANK HEAD PROPOSES STATE COTTON BONDS

Alabama, Admitting Failure to Relieve Situation in South, Puts Forward New Proposition.

Admitting the failure of the persistent efforts put forward by Senators and Representatives from the cotton-growing States, as well as their colleagues of the governors of the States, to relieve the situation with respect to the cotton crop, Senator Bankhead, of Alabama, came forward yesterday with an entirely new proposition. In a speech in the Senate, addressed to the people of Alabama, as an open letter, Senator Bankhead proposed the following solution of the problem:

"Let the governor call a special session of the legislature at once for the consideration of the cotton situation alone. Have the legislature submit to the people an amendment to the constitution authorizing the State to issue bonds in the sum of $60,000,000, in denominations of $10, $20, $100, and $1,000. The Alabama cotton crop this year will amount to 1,500,000 bales. The State should buy one-half of the crop of each Alabama producer at 10 cents a pound, and pay for it in bonds. It is impossible at this time to sell bonds in the open market, so that it would be necessary for the State to pay for the cotton with the bonds. The legislature should provide that the bonds be accepted for all taxes, State and county. It should provide a warehouse system for warehousing the cotton."

IMPORTANT DECISION PENDING.

U. S. Supreme Court Will Begin Its Fall Term Monday.

The right of committees of either the Senate or House to compel witnesses to testify before them will be settled by the highest court in the land in an opinion expected to be handed down by the Supreme Court early in the term, which will begin next Monday.

On the first day the court will play the customary visit to the White House and administer the oath to former Attorney General McReynolds, a new member of the court.

HARRIS ANSWERS CRITICISM.

Director Harris, of the Census Bureau, in a statement issued yesterday, replied to criticisms made against his department that the results of the thirteenth census were late in coming out. The statement says that, with the exception of one volume and a few bulletins, the results were all out within a few days after the close of 1913.

CONGRESS IN BRIEF.

SENATE.

The war tax bill was reported to the Senate from the Finance Committee. By unanimous consent it was made the unfinished business. Senator Townsend, of Michigan, attacked the bill and the Democratic administration, and Senator Ashurst, of Arizona, replied to him.

Senator Bankhead, of Alabama, and Senator Sheppard, of Texas, addressed the Senate on the cotton situation. Senator Myers, of Montana, gave notice that he would call up the conference report on the Alaskan coal lease bill today and seek to have it disposed of.

A resolution was adopted calling upon the Secretary of War to ascertain for what price the Chesapeake and Delaware Canal can be purchased by the government.

The Senate adopted a joint resolution authorizing the Secretary of War to use certain unexpended appropriations for the improvement of East River and Hell Gate, New York.

After passing a number of private relief bills, the Senate adjourned until 11 o'clock today.

HOUSE.

The conference report on the Clayton anti-trust bill was adopted by the House by a vote of 24 to 14. The vote followed five hours debate, and the bill now is ready for the President's signature.

A resolution was passed by unanimous consent authorizing the President to permit two naval officers of the United States to take employment as navy instructors in the recently established naval war college of Brazil.

The Banking and Currency Committee declined to report the Henry bill for an advance by the Federal government of $20,000,000 on the cotton crop. The bill was tabled by a vote of 19 to 3.

Representatives Carter, Edwards, and Vaughan introduced bills proposing systems of Federal loans on cotton.
