The First Spring Hats for Little Girls up to 6 Years of Age

NOW BEING DISPLAYED IN THE BABY STORE.

In making this announcement of the early display of Spring Millinery Modes for the little girls, we feel certain that mothers will justify our action by their interest as they have in the past. The shapes, colorings, materials, and trimmings that will be most in demand during the spring months are here brought out in an unusually attractive and extensive variety. In the completeness, as well as beauty and style, the display is of surpassing excellence.

Even if one does not intend purchasing now, time spent in viewing these modes, and the accurate knowledge thereby gained will prove valuable throughout the coming season.

WE CAN ONLY HINT OF THE STYLISHNESS, BECOMINGNESS, AND BEAUTY IN THESE BRIEF DESCRIPTIONS.

Panamas are perhaps the leading straw, and they differ so much in size and trimming that every one is individual, mostly sailor effects. They have colored silk hands resembling somewhat Roman designs; plain colored bands; more bands, with white edges and simple rosettes to match above; white and blue grosgrain and plain ribbon bands; Black Velvet bands are particularly rich.

Collapsible White Felt Hats are new and novel; may be folded up in a shape small enough for the pocket; they have a navy blue straw facing, and are trimmed in black velvet ribbon and figured silk rosettes. Another collapsible model is of Soft Braid, with silk poplin brim and facing.

Large, Flat, Sailor-like Leghorns, with round crowns, abundantly trimmed in velvet ribbons and wild flowers. One of the prettiest Leghorns has the crown almost covered with beautiful laces, which extend down around the brim, and pretty ribbons and small colored flowers give a most original trimming.

Stiff and Soft Straws, Milan Braids and Hemps, in white and colors, with crowns of fancy Dresden and other beautifully figured silks are a feature of the new modes which has not been seen before; and many of them have ribbons, velvet, or rosettes to match. All colors are shown, including the new sand, covert, and putty.

Prices range from $2.25 to $10.50 each.

Hand-Made French Dresses

(Sizes 2 to 6 years.)

The Baby Store takes particular pride in the fineness of materials and exquisitely appropriate styles which it shows in French Dresses. We do not believe that any of our preparations or selections of apparel for the tiny baby folks are so well known and admired as our French Dresses.

In the present showing there are square and high neck effects in every possible style theme; every dress handmade throughout, from the sewing of the hems and fastening the sleeves to the making of dainty tucks and doing of beautiful hand embroidery. The lace edges and insertions are all put on by hand.

We call special attention to the Empire and Long-waist models, so pretty in their graceful lines, and this beauty much accentuated by the softness of the sheer materials; finished with ribbon trimmings, some in girle forms, others simply stitched around, while some are laced through handmade eyelets, $5.50 to $15.00 each.

The simple yoke styles in Handmade French Dresses are very pretty, and not expensive, ranging in price from $2.25 up.

been hopelessly thrown back by the war. We women must start the work of preventing war."

Dr. Shaw Pleads Horror. Dr. Shaw brought tears to daughters, mothers, and grandmothers when she pictured woman's interest in the war.

"I have been asked if a woman can understand war. We cannot understand it. I cannot understand 200,000 splendid, strong, virile men being killed. I can picture one man being killed, though if I saw one man die on a battlefield, I would see, too, his mother, as she was years before, braving an open grave, her heart throbbing at the thought that she was to bring into the world a man. I can hear her cry of love and pain as she passed the grave and held in her arms the babe of human life.

"I can see her as she gave up her own ambitions and ideals to give her life to the life she had brought into the world. She built herself into her babe as he grew and became a man, until she looked into the face of that greatest of God's miracles, a splendid, strong, human being.

"I can see her son called out to die. I can see him as he lies on the battlefield, dead, his life and the life that his mother brought into him, dead.

"It is the mother of war? They are leaving the old, the crippled, the unit and the degenerates to be the fathers of the generations to come. They are robbing the mothers of the fatherhood worthy of them, and they are robbing unborn generations of the kind of fatherhood they ought to have. Women are the greatest sufferers, and they have a right to a voice as regards their lives."

Says Soldiers Hate War. Mrs. Bethick Lawrence said: "It is the sacred duty of every woman to protest against this war. The soldiers hate war, bloodshed, cruelty and the waste of life that is utterly useless. They wouldn't shoot at each other if they could help it."

"It is a lot of rot to talk about Christ-

STOPS RUNAWAY; SAVES CHILDREN

George Ryder Makes Thrilling Rescue in Massachusetts Avenue.

MANY WITNESS THE FEAT

Beats Horse Over Nose with Crop and Halts Refractory Animal Drawing Station Wagon.

Massachusetts avenue between Dupont Circle and the Naval Observatory was the scene of a sensational runaway and rescue shortly after noon yesterday when a pair of small cobs attached to a station wagon driven by William Cairns were stopped by a series of blows from a heavy riding crop in the hands of George W. Ryder, proprietor of Dupont Riding School.

Cairns, with two small children in the station wagon, lost control of the horses when one of them bolted on turning west in Massachusetts avenue at Twentieth street. As the pair swung up to Sheridan circle all four hooves of Cairns' pair of clever handling drove the rig directly across the circle, taking curb, sidewalk coping and lawn, and barely missing the refractory horse's series of blows on the sharp swing around the circle.

Ryder Goes to Aid. Mr. Ryder, mounted on "Annie Russell," a steeplechaser, and his party, riding east on Massachusetts avenue, extended the refractory horse's series of blows on the runways to overtake him. As the team came along side, Ryder grasped the bridle of the near horse, only to learn from Cairns that the other animal was causing the trouble. Spurring ahead to the rescue, Mr. Ryder swung to the left, making an impression on his mouth, he dropped his own reins and working at the bit with one hand held the refractory horse's head over the bridge of the nose with his heavy hunting crop, finally bringing him into hand and stopping the team.

Cairns, who was braced in front of the box with the reins wrapped from elbow to wrist, quieted the horses and the children, and drove the team out of the home, deeming the assistance of Dudley Field Malone, who saw the start of the trouble and drove up in his machine. A quacking attempt to a motorist's policeman to assist in the rescue added thrills for a large number of Sunday strollers who witnessed the feat. The rig was undamaged but the tough going across Sheridan circle.

URGES PURE ENGLISH IN GOSPEL MESSAGES

Rev. Dr. U. G. B. Pierce Does Not Mention "Billy" Sunday in Plea for Dignity.

The name "Billy" Sunday was not mentioned by Rev. U. G. B. Pierce in his sermon before the congregation of All Souls' Episcopal Church yesterday morning. He had been emphatically urged the necessity of preserving the dignity and purity of the English language, especially as spoken in the pulpit.

Stated the speaker, who composed the language of the streets, he said, and the English language in its unadorned form should be used in delivering the message of the gospel.

Dr. Pierce has not placed himself on record as favoring or opposing "Billy" Sunday. He has not been led into a statement of his opinion publicly. He does admit, however, that "Billy" Sunday may have been in the background during his sermon yesterday morning.

BRITAIN WOULD AID AMERICAN COMMERCE, SAYS GREY IN NOTE

government must bear some of the responsibility for delay of neutral shipping because of its action in prohibiting the publication of its report thirty days after they have left port, the effect of which has been, the note declares, to retard the movement of more ships than would have otherwise been necessary.

Finally, Sir Edward Grey declares that His Majesty's government would be pleased to enter into some sort of an arrangement with the United States by which the United States would be authorized to make preliminary observations in the case of British and American vessels.

Note Given in Embassy. The complete note follows: "The British Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs to the American Ambassador, "Foreign Office, Jan. 7, 1915.

"I have the honor to acknowledge receipt of your note of the 28th of December. It is being carefully examined and the points raised in it are receiving consideration. It is not possible to reply in detail with the issues raised and the points to which the United States government is referring, but it is necessary to state that the United States government is not prepared to accept the proposal that it should be necessary to require some time, and I therefore desire to send without delay a note to you in reply to the points which will, I trust, help to clear the ground and remove some misconceptions that seem to exist.

Franklin Is Always Best. "Let me say at once that we entirely recognize the most friendly spirit referred to by your excellency, and that we desire to reply in the same spirit and in the same good faith. It is our policy, frankly and best serve the continuance of cordial relations between the two countries.

"The United States government cordially concurs in the principle enunciated by the government of the United States that a bilateral, in dealing with trade between neutral countries, and we are ready, whenever our action may unintentionally exceed this principle to make redress.

Gives Export Figures. "We think that it is to be regretted that the extent to which we have, in practice, interfered with trade, your excellency's note seems to hold him responsible for the present condition of trade with neutral countries, and it is stated that, through the action of his Majesty's government, the United States have been denied long established markets in European countries, which, though neutral, are contiguous to the United States, and are far from being the intention of his Majesty's government, and they would exceedingly regret that it should be so. It is our policy to be able to obtain complete or conclusive figures showing what the state of trade with these neutral countries has been, and I can therefore only ask that some further consideration should be given to the question whether United States trade with these neutral countries has been seriously affected. The only figures as to the total volume of trade that I have seen are those for the exports from New York for the month of November, 1914, and they are as follows, compared with the month of November, 1913:

"Exports from New York for November, 1913, and November, 1914, respectively:

Denmark	250,000	2,300,000
Sweden	27,000	2,500,000
Norway	67,000	2,300,000
Italy	2,910,000	4,300,000
Germany	1,300,000	1,300,000

"It is true that there may have been a falling off in cotton exports, as to which New York figures are not given, but it is not true that the United States government has been most careful not to interfere with cotton, and its place on the free list has been scrupulously maintained.

Figures Not Conclusive. "We do not wish to lay too much stress upon incomplete statistics; the figures above are not put forward as conclusive; we are prepared to examine any further data which may be submitted to us in regard to the state of trade with these neutral countries, which may point to a different conclusion of what it is the action of his Majesty's government, and we are ready to make such adjustments as may be necessary to the existence of a state of war and consequent diminution of purchasing power and shrinkage of trade, which is responsible for adverse effects upon trade with the neutral countries.

"That the existence of a state of war on such a scale has had a very adverse effect upon certain great industries, such as cotton, is obvious; but it is submitted that this is due to the general cause of diminished purchasing power of such countries as France, Germany, and the

SCOTT REPORTS NAÇO

Tribe Is Seized Says Villa Promised to Neutralize City.

Villa Victory Over Carranza Near Saltillo Reported.

So far as promises are concerned, the troublesome situation at Naco, Ariz., in Mexico, according to reports received by Secretary of War Garrison yesterday from Brig. Gen. Hugh L. Scott, who had a conference with Gen. Villa at El Paso Saturday.

Gen. Scott reported that Villa had given assurances that he would instruct Maytorena, his chief lieutenant in Sonora, to refrain from any further action in the neutralization of Naco by which it has been hoped to put an end to firing across the international boundary.

Gen. Scott going to Naco at once, with the expectation that by the time he arrives there Maytorena will have received his instructions and will be content to act accordingly. Gen. Hill, the Carranza commander at Naco, had already signed the agreement.

Laredo, Tex., Jan. 10.—According to reliable information brought by American passengers from Monterey, today the battle near Saltillo, which Carranza and Villa forces has resulted in a great victory for the Villistas, who repulsed Carranza's forces in a battle which broke out Saturday two days of hard fighting.
