Devoted to the Household, the Fashion and the Activities of Women. MARY MARSHALL, Editor. DAILY DEPARTMENT OF THE WASHINGTON HERALD.

Walking a la Mode.

Can you do the new walk, the walk that went out with the yard-and-a-half skirt and came in with the suggestion of crinolines? We have been saying a great deal lately about the passing of the debutante or ingenuous slouch, and the tendency to droop the shoulders and the hips, but until now there have been few suggestions about the sort of walk and carriage that was to take its place.

Now the women of France have stepped to the front as usual, in spite of wars and wounded soldiers and general depression resulting. No one but a French woman, and a Parisienne at that, could invent a new way to walk. It was first seen at the Riviera, at the Casino at Monte Carlo, and the Promenade des Anglais at Nice, and it is so different from the Japanese gait that women have accustomed themselves to for the last six or seven years that it cannot be learned in one day. It takes diligent practice and rehearsal to become a master of this new gait.

The fact that the skirts are much fuller is not the only one that has to be taken into consideration in this new walk. The skirts are also very short so that much more attention has to be paid to the feet and to the grace with which the foot is placed on the ground in walking. A recent dispatch from the other side described the walk in this way:

"The body is held very erect and the knees kept tight and what the dancing mistress calls 'turned out.' The steps must be medium in length and slightly springy. But care must be taken not to jerk, or the skirt will not hang well, and there must be no suggestion of dancing in the movement. Also the arms must be in no way allowed to swing."

How long before we shall see this walk in vogue on Connecticut avenue and Sixteenth street?

$20,000 RAISED BY NEEDLEWORK GUILD

Fund Is to Be Used in Lyons to Aid Victims of the War. The Needlework Guild of America has succeeded in raising a fund of nearly $20,000 since the first of the year for relief work in Lyons, France, where there is a branch of the guild. The District of Columbia branch raised $20 of this fund, the remainder coming from the many branches in all parts of the United States.

M. Jusserand, the French Ambassador, is deeply interested in this relief work, as he is a native of Lyons, and his sister is a member of the Lyons branch. The practical nature of the work appeals very deeply to both M. and Mme. Jusserand, as it does to the members of the guild, who have contributed to its funds. One-third of all amounts received is reserved for "imbursements" meaning the war-waves of 1 franc (20 cents) per day to each of the seventy-five women now employed in the guild work-room in Lyons. The rest of the money is being expended in this country for serviceable materials, which are shipped to France free of charge by the Fabre Line, and by special order of the French minister of finance, admitted at Marseilles duty free. The shipments then go to Lyons, where they are made into garments for the men in the trenches or for wounded in the hospitals, and for the French and Belgian refugees, of whom there are thousands in Lyons.

The details of purchasing and shipping in this country are personally attended to by the founder of the guild, Mrs. John Wood Stewart, of Glen Ridge, N. J., who also presides at the annual distribution of garments last November 2, 89 new garments were distributed to the poor and the charitable organizations of Washington. The officers of the local branch are: Mrs. Henry Arnold Peckham, president; Mrs. Oscar Underwood, Miss Mabel T. Boardman, Miss Anna B. Abbott and Mrs. A. F. Hanson, vice-presidents; Mrs. Thomas Dunlop, treasurer, and Mrs. Richard B. Watrous, secretary. From the time of making up her residence in the White House until her death Mrs. Woodrow Wilson was honorary president of the District branch of the guild, having been for many years previously an active member of the Princeton branch.

Increasing use of the United States national forests by local farmers and settlers to supply their needs for timber is shown in the fact that small timber sales in the forests numbered 5,238 in 1914, against 4,112 the previous year.

FAMOUS WOMAN HER BIRTHDAY AND YOURS

March 26—Margaret Davidson, Caroline Bonaparte.

Margaret Miller Davidson, who was born March 26, 1823, is remembered as one of the most remarkable child poets in the history of literature. Her home was in Flatbush, N. Y., where, encouraged by her parents, she early showed signs of poetic ability of a remarkable sort. However, she never outgrew a naturally frail constitution and died at the age of fifteen from consumption. Her poems, which were extravagantly admired at the time of her untimely death, were published in a complete form.

THERE'S A TAG FOR EVERY ONE TOMORROW

Day Nursery and Dispensary to Be Benefited by Tag-Day Campaign.

Bright and early tomorrow morning the women who are conducting the tag-day campaign for the Day Nursery and Dispensary will be at their posts, and the boys will be out early on the streets—twenty-five of them ready to provide you with a tag that will make you immune from the advances of the next "tagger." The women will be in the lobby of the hotels and theaters and the big shopping centers, and the boys will be all over town. You can't dodge them. On the little red hearts which are to be used as tags are printed these words:

"HAVE A HEART" and help the Day Nursery and Dispensary."

The poets for the sale of tags have been distributed to the following women interested in the work of the nursery, each of whom will be assisted by a group of young women of her own sex. Woodward & Lothrop, Mrs. C. Taylor, Mrs. E. H. Fisher and Misses Holden and Peckham; Palais Royal, Mrs. G. L. Peckham, Mrs. J. E. Finback and Miss Jane Fishback; Willard Hotel, Mrs. B. A. E. HOUSE-WIVES DAILY ECONOMY CALENDAR

Simple Spring Desserts.

VELVET CREAMS—Soak a half box of gelatin in a half cupful of cold water for half an hour. Add to this a cupful of sherry, and set the dish containing the mixture in boiling water over the fire. Heat this till the gelatin dissolves and add a teaspoonful of lemon juice and a half cupful of sugar. Stir for a few minutes. Strain through a cloth into a pan set in a dish of cracked ice and water to cool. When it starts to jelly add one and a quarter cupfuls of cream and stir till it thickens. Pour into cups from which it is to be served.

CHICK FRUIT DESSERT—Peel three yellow bananas, scrape them and cut in thin slices; peel two sweet oranges, remove all the white, and delicately shred up the oranges, then put the two fruits in a bowl in layers, with sugar and a squeeze of lemon juice between each one. Put sugar and more lemon on top, and then over the top a tablespoonful of maraschino cordial and set the dish on the ice to blend. With the addition of grated coconut this dessert is called "Tropicana." The cordial may be left out or a small quantity of rum substituted.

TAPIoca PUDDING—Soak a cupful of tapioca overnight in water to cover. Drain it and put it in a quart of milk with a pinch of salt; cook until the tapioca is transparent. Then add the yolk of one egg, sugar and vanilla to taste; then take from the fire and turn in the whites of the eggs, beaten to a stiff froth. This dessert is called "Tropicana." The cordial may be left out or a small quantity of rum substituted.

THIS IS GOOD HOT OR COLD, and tapioca being very digestible, such a sweet is especially adapted to the needs of invalids and children three or four years old.

RHUBARB PIE—Rhubarb is now plentiful in all markets and the head of the family is pretty sure to ask for the sort of rhubarb pie "that mother used to make." Here is a good recipe for it: Two and one-half cups flour, one-half cup butter, one-half cup lard, one-half cup water, one-fourth teaspoon baking powder. Sift flour with powder, rub in lard and water, add the water; mix into a smooth dough. One and a half bunches rhubarb, one and one-half cups sugar. Cut fruit in small pieces, mix with sugar and cook it very fast in shallow stewpan, with sugar. Line pieplate with the p. te; wet rim and rub with cold; lay the rhubarb in, add the sugar and the end; lay three more across, forming diamond-shaped spaces; lay around a rim, wash over with egg, and bake in a quick oven for 45 minutes.

HOROSCOPE.

Friday, March 26, 1915. According to astrology, the morning of this day is exceedingly unlucky since Mars and Saturn are both adverse planets, and the day is unfavorable for the Sun rules strongly for good. The stars indicate a decided revival in business and manufacturing in the West will be greatly developed. Strikes are indicated in several big industries. One of these will cause loss of life. Mars foreshadows disagreements among the organized welfare workers of the United States. Scandals and unpleasant revelations are prognosticated. Municipal organizations for the relief of the poor will multiply within a few days. These will be novel and successful, owing to their scientific management. Women today are subject to a sign not favorable to their romance. Many in high positions, however, will find employment in public work that uplifts humanity. This prophecy is made by a seer who declares that old systems of philanthropy will be superseded by new methods of relief. The planets today are favorable for those who seek positions or promotions. Socialistic aggression and activity will be widespread this spring. Illness and deaths among persons who are distinguished in public affairs is again foreshadowed. The loss of a statesman will be mourned by the President of the United States. Places which have suffered for several months, it is said. This is one cause for the gloomy prophecies concerning Portugal. Violent storms, rioting and religious disturbances are probable in ninety degrees west longitude. Mexico will continue to be a disturbing factor in diplomatic circles. President Wilson's foreign policy probably will be justified by an incident which will take place next month. Those whose birthday it is probably will have a fortunate and successful year. They should be exceedingly cautious where the possibility of a quarrel is concerned. Those who are employed probably will be promoted. Children born on this day may have much mentally. These subjects of France are at their best when they are superintendents or managers. Both boys and girls are subject to the best away of the stars. (Copyright, 1915.)

MYSTERY THAT PUZZLES CONGRESSMAN'S WIFE

Mrs. Robert N. Page Wonders How Any Woman Can Be Indifferent to Y. W. C. A.

"How any woman in Washington can be indifferent to the Young Women's Christian Association," says Mrs. Robert Page, wife of Representative Page, "and the great work that it is doing for young and older women, of your age, in the face of the conditions and circumstances, is a mystery to me."

"The association here is eight years old and has a membership of 300. It is one of the largest in the city. The general membership fee is $1 a year. Are you a member—helping in community service in the nation's capital—or are you one of the great number that compose my mystery?"

"About 5,000 persons come into the Y. W. C. A. rooms every week, and it is one of the largest places, where we, whatever our sphere or station, can be helped, heartened, and find recreation and companionship."

"Classes are open for Y. W. C. A. members in domestic art, English, foreign languages, physical education, current events, basketry, first aid, chorale club, and dancing, hygiene, home nursing, medieval history, social problems and shorthand. There is also an employment bureau, with free registration board and rooms director, good cafeteria service, and last, but not least, the 'travelers' aid' at the Union Station. Two hundred and ten members are in the Bible and mission study classes, 105 in education classes, 257 in self-governing classes, and 89 in the Young Business Girls' class."

"May we soon have our own building—City Hall and worthy of our women. The Y. W. C. A. has $5 per cent self-supporting. It depends upon its friends for the remaining 15 per cent ($2,000). A campaign to raise this amount was begun on last Monday. A great many of us are going to share in this most important, far-reaching service, or better still, bring your contribution to the Y. W. C. A. At 'four o'clock' we are to meet northwest and see for yourself where it is, what it is doing—for the half has not been told—and you will be helping 'somebody' who is to help and solve, do away with my mystery."

Whether or Not Women Are to Vote Will Be Settled by Men

So Said Mrs. A. J. George, of Massachusetts, at Baltimore "Anti" Mass Meeting.

Mrs. Joseph M. Stoddard, the second vice president of the Association Opposed to Woman's Suffrage, is back from Baltimore, where she attended a mass meeting of the "Anti" suffragists, which she attended last week but was postponed till Wednesday night.

"The Maryland State Association Opposed to Woman's Suffrage held an enthusiastic meeting in Baltimore," she told a representative of the Woman's Herald yesterday. "Mrs. A. J. George, of Massachusetts, was the speaker, coming from a campaign state where the question of woman's suffrage will be voted on some time this coming year. Her remarks were eagerly listened to by every body present. She dwelt especially upon practical politics and the new distribution of duties which would necessarily fall upon women with the vote. She especially urged the men, who comprised a quarter of the audience, at least to weigh carefully and to ponder deeply the advisability of such a sweeping revolutionary movement, for the sake of the men who will finally decide the question. It must not be given through mistaken chivalry, neither through weariness of soul or through too great hectoring and harassing."

"Mrs. George said that the suffrage would mean a new distribution of duties, a change from the established order and former traditions which have brought our present government to its high state of efficiency. 'Western States' said Mrs. George, 'scarcely populated and under entirely different conditions, are no guide to accept for densely populated States. The population combined of Nevada and Montana is equal only to two-fifths of the population of Rhode Island. The fact has not yet been made in a densely populated place, except in San Francisco, which still clings to 25,000 women, and Chicago, where the present results of woman's voting were negative and unconvincing. If the men have been a failure in voting in the past, it is their duty to correct that unfortunate event, is it not equal to saying, 'Give us the vote for women who have trained you men to have failed to make good voters?' As a prominent man once remarked: 'Women, you may do with us what you will, only you must catch us when we are young.' The biggest scare you can give a suffragist is to ask for a vote of the women. In 1857 Massachusetts suffragists had a referendum on this question and only 47 per cent of the women went on record for votes for women. In 1875 the suffragists of Massachusetts pleaded with the legislature of their State to give them the school vote as a test for full suffrage. It was granted. Out of Boston's 200,000 women of voting age in 1914 less than 400 voted on the school question. The same result has been found in other cities. One-tenth of 1 per cent of the women of voting age voted in Hartford, Conn., at the last school election."

"The professions are all open to women—educational, philanthropic, religious, industrial—with the exception of nine, which are the most hazardous occupations. They are an open door to her while political activity is not a door which may be opened and closed at will like the other activities which she may accept or reject any time she may choose. But if she once opens this door, she must never close it if she lives up to the pledges and responsibilities which it entails. 'The cartoons of the suffragists are generally composed of the most impossible looking men—thugs and brutes putting their hands to prevent some young college girl in cap and gown from depositing a ballot in the voting box or some weak-minded, inefficient, under-sized man, sitting in a chair under the influence of liquor while beside him on his knees scrubbing the floor is a strong, husky, and capable woman, and under the same old story, 'He votes and she can't.' 'Society is not composed of brutal thugs, or weak-minded, intoxicated men, or young college girls, or strong-minded scrubwomen. The woman to be considered is the plain, normal, average woman. Will she be better off with the vote or without it? Will she be a better woman in industry or the taxpaying woman or the woman who stands out from the crowd—she is not the average woman.'"

In an article on Dutch shipbuilding the Shipping World points out that, in spite of five months of war, Holland last year launched 53 vessels of 28,224 tons, or over 27,000 tons above the output of the previous year, 1913. The number of vessels under building in a yard was 100 less than in 1913, although the tonnage was greater, and this fact indicates that a larger type of vessel is now being constructed in Dutch yards.

BRIDE OF DAY SEEKS FREEDOM Will Never Live with Boy Husband She Married Here, She Says. Baltimore, March 25.—Efforts are being made by Mr. and Mrs. C. Edward Major, 314 North Judson street, Philadelphia, to annul the marriage of their daughter, Mrs. Madge Major Jackins, "bride for a day," to Paul R. Jackins, son of Harry B. Jackins, proprietor of Hampton Court Hotel of this city. Young Mrs. Jackins was visiting here when she and Jackins, who at the time was a student at St. John's College at Annapolis, decided to elope. They went to Washington on February 8 and were married. The next day the 16-year-old bride and the 19-year-old bridegroom returned to their respective homes. "Immediately after the ceremony I regretted what I had done," said Mrs. Jackins. "I married to spite my parents, and I only spilt myself. I will never live with Paul Jackins. At the time I married him I was engaged to another man."

FIND "BROTHER'S" BODY ON ICE. Discovery of Corpse in Dissecting Room Arouses Fraternity. Philadelphia, March 25.—The Phi Kappa Sigma fraternity of the University of Pennsylvania was stirred up today by the discovery of marks on the arm of a body that had been in ice at the medical school dissecting room. The marks were the signs of the fraternity and an investigation is being made. Efforts to keep secret the finding of the body were made today.
