CLUB NOT SALOON IN LAW'S MEANING

Attorney Offers Novel Point For President Wilson, of Metropolitan Club.

CITES OTHER ARGUMENTS

Defense Claims That Accused Faces
No Penalty for Selling Liquor Under "Void" License.

The District Anti-Saloon League yesterday commenced its legal warfare on liquor establishments alleged to be operating in violation of law.
The league's first case was placed on trial in Police Court, Nathaniel Wilson, president of the exclusive Metropolitan Club, being called on a charge of selling liquor under a license which was void.

The action was brought by the District at the instigation of Andrew Wilson, president of the league. Assistant Corporation Counsel F. H.
Stephens appeared for the government, and Clarence Wilson, former United States District Attorney, represented Wilson.

Offers Four Arguments.
Mr. Wilson contended that the law makes no mention of any penalty for selling liquor under a license which is null and void. He would not concede, however, that the Metropolitan Club license was void.

He also declared that the District was stopped from continuing the prosecution as it had received a license fee of $1,500, and had so disposed of the amount that it would be impossible to refund it without a special act of Congress.

Mr. Wilson's third point was that the Excise Board was a quasi-judicial body and that its decisions, being final and conclusive, could not be attacked in a criminal proceeding.

The fourth point advanced by the defense was that the provision in the Excise Act prohibiting the issuance of licenses to places on streets where less than 50 per cent of the frontage represented business property applies only to saloons and not to clubs.

Washington yesterday on an automobile tour through Maryland, Pennsylvania, New York, and Massachusetts, at the conclusion of which he will spend a month at Woods Hole, Mass. He will be away from the city for six weeks.

District Commissioner Louis Brownlow left yesterday for Atlantic City on a three-weeks' vacation.

Brownlow as his private secretary to succeed Amos Steelt, recently chosen provisional officer of the District Superintendent of Schools.

Senator William H. Thompson, of Kan-days. He is selling tickets for the Chamber of Commerce outing to Chesapeake take the rest at Atlantic City.

The power launch Lady, owned by E. Wilson, which has been undergoing an overhauling for some days, river.

years in the office of Dr. Tindall, secretary to the board of commissioners,

U. S. OFFICIALS ACT IN STRIKE

Fear Is Felt That Workers May Take Advantage of Big War Orders.

BETTER PAY IS IN SIGHT

American Federation Expected to Organize Unskilled Girls Called to Work on Munitions.

Washington officials are wondering whether organized labor expects to take advantage of the abnormal conditions in factories producing munitions of war for the allies to add largely to its ranks and to exact better working conditions and higher pay from manufacturers who cannot afford, because of large contracts for war munitions to have any of their plants tied up.

In a number of big centers of munitions industries, the unusual demands for unskilled labor have been met by the employment of girls and women. The American Federation of Labor is watching these conditions, it is said, and planning to organize these girls and women.

General Walk-out Threatened.
National officers yesterday took a hand in the situation at Bridgeport, Conn., where about 40 millwrights and machinists employed in the construction of a new plant for the Remington-Union Me-tallite Cartridge Company, have walked out and where a general walkout of all munitions center in the world is threatened unless terms are reached before tonight.

The quarrel is not between labor and employer, primarily, but between the carpenters and machinists over a jurisdictional question involving the organization to which the millwrights should belong.
The Remington people have made the charge that German money and influence is behind the trouble and that the labor people are being used as catspaws to pull chestnuts for quarters which want to tie up the manufacture of munitions for the Entente allies.

While officials of the American Federation of Labor scoffed at the charge yesterday, they admitted that a jurisdictional fight between two organizations should not be permitted to throw thousands of men out of employment. President Williams, of the building trades council, and representative of the machinists' organization, left for Bridgeport in an effort to stop the trouble.

The machinists threaten to call out all machinists and toolmakers not only in the Bridgeport district, where there are thirty-two factories working on munitions, but in other localities. It is admitted that the fight should be carried to such extremes as dangerously to obstruct the shipment of arms to the allies. This, it is claimed, is the intent of influence directed responsible for the present trouble.

Labor leaders are watching carefully the progress of Representative Frank Buchanan, former Representative Fowler, both of Illinois, and other so-called "peace advocates," who under the name of the Labor Peace Council, are conducting a propaganda against the manufacture of munitions of war.

COL. HARTS RETAINS JOB.
Aid to President Will Not Be Sent Away.
Col. W. W. Harts, U. S. A., superintendent of public buildings and grounds, will not be "maneuvered" from his present position to duty with troops.

Col. Harts, who, in addition to the care of public buildings, serves as aid to the President, has completed the time a line officer is supposed to spend away from troops.

President Wilson asked Secretary of War Garrison if the "Manchu" law applied to Col. Harts. The Secretary decided in the negative. Col. Harts will remain.
