

FOSTER'S BAT TAKES SECOND GAME FROM PHILLIES IN THE NINTH

Cravath and Luderus Prevent Whitewash Proceedings by Cutting Loose Successive Two-baggers In the Fifth Session.

MAYER GRANTS FOE TEN HITS

Casualty List of Bostonese Is Five—Of Antagonists, Eight. Twists of Mayer Cause Adversary Batsmen to Look Foolish in Early Stages of Game.

By WILLIAM PEET.

Philadelphia, Oct. 9.—One mad spasm in the Phillies' fifth inning when Cravath and Luderus uncorked slashing two-baggers in succession robbed George Foster of a shut-out game in the second battle of the world series here this afternoon.

Foster's name is in everybody's mouth tonight, for he won his own battle with a stinging single to right center in the ninth inning.

For a team supposed to outclass the National Leaguers, the Red Sox did not loom up particularly formidable. Carrigan's gang batted Erskin Mayer hard enough to put over half a dozen runs, but were woefully weak in the pinches.

Cactus Cravath made good his reputation as a slugger, unloading a pretty double to left field as a fifth-inning starter. A smoking two-bagger by Luderus, who followed Cravath, gave the Phillies their only run.

Mayer's desperate attempts to keep the ball outside and low on such hitters as Speaker, Lewis and Hooper produced good results, but evidently Mayer had not been tipped off to the batting prowess of George Foster, or if he had, he held the little pitcher too cheaply. Foster rattled a double off the right field wall in the fifth, shot a single to left in the seventh and his clean smash to right center in the ninth broke up the old ball game.

For a club supposed to be composed of wise ball players Erskine Mayer had the Red Sox looking foolish during the early part of the game, making them fish after bad balls, striking out Lewis, Hooper, Barry and Scott by pursuing this method.

Ten Hits for Sox.

Foster fanned eight of the Phillies. Mayer made five Red Sox hit the dust but the Boston hurler did not issue a single base on balls, while Mayer walked two and one of this pair proved fatal, paving the way for runs.

Off Mayer's delivery the Sox collected ten hits and had eight men left on the bases.

Taking liberties with the throwing arm of Tris Speaker will probably prove costly to the Phillies if they continue to run wild as happened today.

When Luderus doubled in the fifth Speaker slipped while retrieving the ball and then pegged to Barry at second. Luderus arrived about the same time as did the ball. With firm footing Speaker would have thrown out the big fellow.

In the sixth Bancroft unloaded a single to right center, Speaker came galloping in, scooped up the ball and double crossed everybody by slamming to first base. The throw was a beauty and caught Bancroft flat-footed, but unfortunately Hobbs dropped the ball.

Loss of Pep in Boston.

For some reason or other the Red Sox do not look like the old smashing ball club of former years. There is an absence of dash and fight. They play about the same kind of a game that did the Athletics against the Braves last fall, and many are predicting the Phillies will win in the end.

Today's victory makes it necessary for a fourth game to be played here next Wednesday, all of which is high.

RECOGNITION OF CARRANZA URGED BY CONFERENCE

Pan-American Delegates Unanimously Decide in Favor of First Chief.

REPORT TO GOVERNMENTS

Latin-Americans Expected to Promptly Acquiesce in Recommendation.

RELIGIOUS LIBERTY PROMISED Official O. K. Follows Guarantee Given by Constitutionalist Officials.

The governments of the United States and the Latin-American republics probably will very shortly recognize Venustiano Carranza as the head of the only faction in Mexico possessing the essentials for recognition as the de facto government of Mexico.

Formal announcement of the selection of the Carranzistas as the faction to be recognized was made here late yesterday at the conclusion of a session of the pan-American conference.

Secretary of State Lansing, on behalf of the other members—the Ambassadors of Argentina, Brazil and Chile and the Ministers of Bolivia, Uruguay and Guatemala—made public the following statement:

"The conference, after careful consideration of the facts, have found that the Carranzista party is the only party possessing the essentials for recognition as the de facto government of Mexico, and they have so reported to their respective governments."

Another Conference Possible.

The next step is the decision by the respective governments as to whether they will acquiesce in the recommendation of their representatives in the pan-American conference at Washington. That they will promptly do so is accepted here as a foregone conclusion, and it is also taken for granted that President Wilson will give formal approval when Secretary Lansing reports to him upon his return the conclusions reached by the conference.

GIVES BLOOD TO SAVE LIFE

Miss Florence Maude Poast Comes to Rescue of Army Officer's Wife.

OPERATION PERFORMED IN G. W. UNIVERSITY HOSPITAL Woman Who Lay Near Death May Recover—Eight Students Volunteer.

Miss Florence Maude Poast, an employee of the Smithsonian Institution and a special student in the Department of Arts and Sciences at the George Washington University, yesterday afternoon gave between a half pint and a pint of her blood to save the life of Mrs. May Simpson, wife of an army officer, who lay near death in the university hospital.

Mrs. Simpson's condition late last night was reported as slightly improved, and it is believed that the transfusion of blood will bring about her complete recovery. Miss Poast is somewhat weak from the ordeal and is resting at the hospital, although she says she feels no bad effects from the experience.

The operation was performed yesterday afternoon by Dr. Dan L. Borden, son of Dr. William Cline Borden, dean of the Medical School of the university.

When it was discovered Friday afternoon that Mrs. Simpson's condition was critical notices were posted in the university building asking for volunteers for the blood transfusion operation. Eight students reported to Dr. Dan Borden. Miss Poast was selected because of her excellent physique.

BORAH MUM ON NOMINATION.

Wilson Stronger Than Democratic Party, Says Idaho Senator.

New York, Oct. 9.—Senator Wm. E. Borah of Idaho, arrived at the Vanderbilt today on his way to Boston where he will make an address tomorrow afternoon. The Senator, who has been mentioned prominently as a candidate for the Presidential nomination on a Progressive ticket to combine the Progressive and Republican tickets, would not discuss the nomination. However, he believes that President Wilson is stronger than the Democratic party and that without him the Democrats could be beaten easily in a Presidential election.

"A Capital Game," Says Wilson

President Wilson and his fiancée, Mrs. Edith Bolling Galt, arrived in Washington last evening at 7:22 from Philadelphia, where they attended the world series ball game today.

"It was a capital game," said the President, "and I enjoyed every minute of it." The trip homeward was made in record time, the special train making the run in two hours and thirty-five minutes, at the rate of about sixty-two miles an hour. The trip was without incident.

A dinner party was held at the White House last night, all of the guests of the President at the ball game being present.

No many letters have come for Mrs. Galt since the announcement of the engagement that an extra postman has been put on to deliver her mail. Much of it consists of appeals for invitations to the wedding, the writers basing their claims on the fact that they "voted for Wilson."

Blind Capital Hero Marries

Joseph Amar, of Washington, Who Enlisted in French Legion, Weds.

Paris, Oct. 9.—Joseph Amar, of Washington, D. C., who enlisted in the French foreign legion and lost his sight in the early part of the war, was married today to Miss Madeleine Roseau.

The ceremony took place in the mayor's office in the presence of a large number of sightless companions of the American.

Immediately afterward Georges Arlet, a hero of Les Esparges, and also sightless, married Miss Amelie Margosic. The ceremonies were followed by a luncheon and a concert.

Amar was at Lyons in connection with the exposition when the war broke out and he immediately enlisted. Since he has been at the Soldiers' Home he has learned to make trimmings for lace curtains.

MURDER MANIA KILLS THREE

Baltimore Man Kills Wife and Child Before Committing Suicide.

VICTIM'S BROTHER IS RESIDENT OF CAPITAL

"I Feel I Want to Kill Some One," Supposedly Insane Man Told Pastor.

Special to The Washington Herald.

Baltimore, Md., Oct. 9.—A whole family was wiped out this morning when Frank Grimes, aged 42 years, living in Highlandtown, shot and killed his wife, Mrs. Fannie Grimes, and his 8-year-old daughter, Gertrude, and then committed suicide.

Sudden insanity is the only known reason for the tragedy. Grimes had been under a doctor's care for nervousness for some time. He was visited last night by Rev. Frank M. Thompson, pastor of the Highland M. E. Church, who was probably the last person to see the little family alive. As the clergyman was about to leave the house, Grimes said to him:

"Pastor, I feel as though I wanted to kill some one, and I am afraid of myself. I don't know what I am to do."

Mr. Thompson looked upon this statement as a grim joke, but took Grimes back into the house and talked to him for some time, with the view of quieting his nerves and turning his thoughts into normal channels. The man seemed a little better and more composed when he left.

Mrs. Grimes is a sister of George Adams, 99 Seventh street southwest, Washington, D. C.

Mrs. Fannie Grimes, who, with her daughter, was shot and killed by her husband in Baltimore yesterday, was a sister of George Adams, proprietor of a small merchandise store at 609 Seventh street southwest. The Adams family was informed of the tragedy by a Herald reporter.

Mrs. Grimes was about 48 years old, Mrs. Adams, the sister-in-law, said. The Grimes had been married about twelve years, and, so far as her brother or sister-in-law know, conducted a harmonious household. Grimes was proprietor of a profitable tinning shop. They had lived in Baltimore since the marriage.

BELGRADE'S CITADEL STORMED BY HORDES OF TEUTONIC ALLIES

Serbian Unable to Hold Remaining Portions Of Peace Capital, According to the London Military Critics.

KAISER TO GO TO NEW FRONT

King Ferdinand to Be Commander-in-Chief of Bulgarian Army, Is Report—Germany Throws Fresh Forces Against Enemy Line in West.

Special Cable to The Washington Herald.

London, Oct. 9.—Belgrade, the peace capital of Serbia and the most important city in the country, was stormed and the greater part of it was occupied by Austrian and German forces last night and this morning.

There is no expectation that the small portion of the city still held by Serbian troops when today's official German statement was issued, will be able to hold out against the invaders. It is probable that the Germans and Austrians are tonight in full possession of the city and are consequently ready to begin their march along the Orient railway to Nish and the Bulgarian border, the chief object of their expedition.

This is the second time during the present war that the ancient and beautiful Serbian city at the junction of the Danube and Save rivers has been occupied.

Other Austro-German forces operating further east have crossed the Danube at four points below Semendria and are driving the Serbians southward. It is from Semendria that a branch of the Orient railway runs south to meet the main line some fifty miles below Belgrade.

Berlin reports state that the Kaiser is about to leave for the Serbian front and that King Ferdinand will take the field as commander-in-chief of the Bulgarian army. The bulk of the Bulgarian army is concentrated at Kostendil, fifteen miles from the Serbian border.

An unconfirmed dispatch from Bucharest says a Bulgarian force has invaded Serbia and, pressing forward with great rapidity has reached Demir Kapu and blown up the railroad bridge on the Saloniki-Nish-Belgrade railway at that point. There is no official news to confirm this report which, if true, is of the greatest importance, as it is over this line that the French and British re-enforcements to Serbia must pass.

The Austro-German invasion of Serbia continues over a front of 250 miles. The operations against Belgrade were directed from the southwest. After the main body of the forces had made good their crossing of the Save west and south of the capital, from the heights of which their guns readily dominated the citadel. It would appear from the meager information at hand that the Serbs were not able to make a very determined resistance and fell back quickly before the onrush of Austrian and German troops.

"After the army had captured the hill southwest of Belgrade," says the Berlin official report, "they succeeded in bringing the greater part of the city of Belgrade into the hands of the allies. Austrian troops stormed the citadel and the northern section of the city. German troops stormed the Royal Palace. The troops are penetrating further through the southern part of the town."

Speech Cabinet Silent.

Nish dispatches report that one French column has already reached Gernik (Serbia) and that heavy masses of Serb troops have been massed south of Nish to protect the Saloniki-Nish railway from attack by the Bulgarians.

Sofia advices state that Premier Radoslavoff, of Bulgaria, has intimated to the Greek minister that developments at Saloniki are not in accord with the minister's declarations and that unless Greece changes her attitude the Bulgarian cabinet will be unable to guarantee a continuance of the favorable sentiments of the Bulgarian people. The Greek cabinet held a three-hour session today, but no statement was forthcoming at its conclusion.

The Greek minister has informed the French government that the policy of the Zaimis cabinet will be based on the same essential principles as those Greece has followed since the beginning of the war. To better guarantee the interests of the country a policy of armed neutrality will be followed and the country will adapt itself to the course of events as they develop.

Germanies Are Repulsed.

Fighting of the most sanguinary and persistent character continues along the western front from the sea to the Swiss border.

Attacking with determination and with seeming disregard for losses of men the Germans, after bringing up great armies of reserves, have made desperate efforts during the past twenty-four hours to recover their lost lines.

Their chief efforts have been directed principally against Loos and the hills of Souchez, in Artois and Laubure hill in Champagne. In the northern fighting Paris says all German attacks were checked with terrific losses. The French admit the Germans secured a footing in one trench between Loos and the Lens-Bethune road.

The German troops are getting closer to Ypres, according to the German official statement issued today. It was noteworthy that no mention of the operations in this region was made by the Germans yesterday. After a day's silence the Berlin statement announces that the Russian positions along a front of four kilometers have been stormed and five officers and 128 men captured. Further captures of prisoners are reported by the Germans south of Wiscew.

PROTEST AGAINST BLASPHEMY

Flags and Banners Bearing Biblical Inscriptions Will Be Carried.

A procession of more than 15,000 members of the Holy Name Societies of the District and Maryland will march this afternoon up Pennsylvania avenue from the Capitol to the Monument Lot, where before an open-air altar will be celebrated the benediction of the Blessed Sacrament. It will be one of the biggest ecclesiastical pageants held in Washington in many a day.

The parade and the service following it will be a mighty protest against profanity and blasphemy—the two enemies against which the societies are pledged to wage everlasting warfare.

The procession will start from the Capitol at 2:30 o'clock and will pass along Pennsylvania avenue to the Monument Lot. It will be reviewed from the south balcony of the New Willard Hotel by high dignitaries of the Roman Catholic Church. Twenty-five bands will be in the parade and there will be marchers from Baltimore, Hagerstown, Cumberland and other Maryland cities and towns, and from Alexandria, Va., in addition to fully 5,000 local men and boys.
