BLOOD GIFT SUCCESS.

Life of Patient Saved by Transfusion, Physicians Believe.

Physicians believe that Miss Florence M. Pount's sacrifice of nearly a pint of her blood will save the life of Mrs. Marie Simpson, to whom the blood was transfused at George Washington University Hospital Saturday.

The transfusion was made by Dr. Daniel L. Borden and his father, Dr. William C. Borden, dean of the George Washington Medical School, in hope that Mrs. Simpson might be strengthened so as to be able to undergo a serious operation. The operation was performed yesterday.

Dr. Borden said last night that Mrs. Simpson was improved, and that every one to be able to undergo a serious operation. The operation was performed yesterday.

LEAGUE RENEWS FIGHT ON CLUB

Anti-Saloon Forces Oppose Liquor License for Metropolitan.

EXCISEMEN HEAR FACTS

Question Whether H Street Is Business Thoroughfare Assumes Importance.

The fight of the District Anti-Saloon League against the liquor license of the Metropolitan Club was renewed yesterday at a public hearing before the Excise Board in the District Building.

Attorney Wilson stated that he would place before the board today a plan which he said would show that more than 20 per cent of the block is devoted to business. He contended that a house in which dressmakers and physicians conduct their business is not a residence if they live elsewhere.

Wilson Declines Invitation.

In response to a letter from the school children of San Diego, Cal., inviting him to attend the exposition in their city, President Wilson has written that it is impossible for him to do so at this time. It was announced at the White House yesterday. No definite statement as to whether he will visit the coast later was obtainable.

SUPREME COURT ADMITS THIRTY-THREE TO BAR

Highest Tribunal Resumes Sittings After Summer Recess—Will Hear Famous Cases.

The Supreme Court resumed its sittings yesterday after the summer recess, but transacted no business except to hear motions for admission to the bar. There was a large "run" of "professional fresh fish," as one old veteran of the Supreme Court has described them, coming back to his college days. Thirty-three in all were admitted to practice, representing fifteen States. The absence of Justice Joseph Rucker from the bench was quickly noted by the members of the Supreme Court bar in connection with the story in The Herald yesterday of his illness due to a paralytic stroke. There were many expressions of sympathy for the popular jurist and many anxious inquiries. Several cases involving the validity of the Federal income tax will be argued before the court, commencing today. These cases arose in New York, Boston, Detroit and Washington. The law is being attacked from nearly every point where attack is possible. The arguments on the New York alien labor statute cases are the first on call in the court. Following these the court will hear from lawyers on the Constitutionality of the Federal migratory bird law. An early case to be argued is the appeal taken by the government in the steamship cases brought under the Sherman law against the steamship companies, decided adversely to the government by the Federal Court for the southern district of New York. The charges were that the steamship companies conspired to restrain the business of carrying passengers from Europe to the port of New York. Following these in close order and involving even more popular interest will come the arguments in the Harvester Trust and Steel Trust cases, which will be heard on appeal. The Steel Trust case, which was decided against the government in the court below, has not yet been appealed, but will be. The Harvester Trust case will come up on an order for reargument. Decisions are not expected next Monday and may not come until later. The Webb-Kenyon "dry" law, which forbids shipments of intoxicants into dry territory, and the Oregon minimum wage law are among those under advisement.

MOB SEEKING THIRD VICTIM.

Negro and Chinaman Man-handled by Maddened Mississippians. Clarkdale, Miss., Oct. 11.—A mob of 1,000 men took a negro and a Chinaman from jail here today, beat them almost to death and left them hidden in a swamp near town. The two men were believed to have been implicated in the murder of A. H. Cage, cashier of a local bank, in his home here yesterday. A report that the two men could not be found led to the inference that they were lynched. The mob is now hunting for another negro, who is believed to have fired the shot that killed the banker.

Dan $ayles' Want Advertising Talk

PRAYER AND ADVERTISING

A reporter remarked the other day that "some people PRAY for what they would like to have and others READ THE WANT ADS." This reminded me of Napoleon's droll philosophy before one of his great battles: "Trust in Providence, but keep your powder dry." Both of which are just other ways of expressing what the Good Book teaches: "The Lord helps those who help themselves." It is pretty certain that we shall never get what we want in this world unless we make our wants KNOWN. And I don't have to tell you that making your wants KNOWN is ADVERTISING. You want a purchaser of your goods, your services, your farm products, etc. Others want to buy this, and the other thing. Then why don't you GET TOGETHER in the Want Columns, where 150,000 readers are accustomed to gather each day to SATISFY their wants? A fifteen-word advertisement in The Herald costs only fifteen cents. So, don't place ALL the burden on Providence—spend a few cents with The Herald now and then, and GET RESULTS. DAN $AYLES. The Washington Herald reaches three-fifths the homes of Washington bright and early every morning in time for results the same day.

The Nectar of the Gods Made Real.

Delicious brown apple juice gushing from the staves of a cider press is likely to appeal to the taste of anybody, even when made by crude country methods from wormy, unwashed windfalls, but when big, red Winesaps and York Imperial apples are carefully washed and inspected, are reduced to pulp in a modern electrically-driven crusher, the rich, sweet juice pressed out by a rock mangle hydrates and filters into cool, glazed stone jars. Then, indeed, does this mackerel cider take on the name of "the nectar of the gods made real." Four years ago Taylor Grimes, a merchant on Fourteenth street, at Thomas Circle, desiring some fresh, sweet apple juice for his own use, and being unable to obtain it, made a few quarts in a little hand press with such success that last year he found it necessary to make nearly 2,000 gallons to supply the demands of the cider-loving public. Mr. Grimes has found it necessary to install a specially constructed electric-hydraulic press, besides planting two new apple orchards to supply fruit for future seasons. Every gallon of Arcadian Sweet Apple Juice is made in a big show window in full view of the public, and each stage of the manufacture may be seen. Big crowds of office folk gather daily on their way home to see the pleasant process of cider making. Charlie Chaplin today, Virginia, 600 0th.

JAPS FIGHTING WITH CZAR.

Nipponese Guns and Officers in Defense of Drink. Berlin, Oct. 11.—Heavy Japanese guns manned by expert gunners from the Japanese army, are being used by the Russians in the defense of Drink, according to German correspondents at the eastern front. Japanese officers are also assisting the Russians. London Needs Anti-treat Law. London, Oct. 11.—The new anti-treat law which went into effect today was generally observed, although there were a few arrests. This was the most radical step taken by the military authorities to curb drinking, especially among soldiers. Any person convicted under the law may be fined 500 and sent to jail for six months.
