BRITISH MAY APOLOGIZE FOR ZEALANDIA SEARCH

U. S. Official Confident English Will Express Regrets that Vessel Was Boarded.

Formal demand for an apology is likely to be lodged with Great Britain by the United States government, it is reported here today by the State Department concerning the action of a boarding party from a British cruiser at Pagan, near the Hawaiian Islands, in searching the American steamer Zealandia. These reports, forwarded to the department from the American consulate at Pagan, agree in the particulars that the Zealandia when boarded was two and two-thirds miles off shore, or within the three-mile limit. A separate report from the commander of the Kestonky to the Navy Department adds that the Zealandia had been released by the British cruiser and had sailed Sunday afternoon for Honolulu.

State Department officials are confident the British government will disregard the statements of its own officers on the cruiser Kestonky to the effect that the Zealandia was three and a quarter miles off shore, and will express regrets, just as was the case when England apologized to the Chilean government for the action of the British warship which attacked a German vessel within the three-mile limit of the Chilean coast.

HENRY WILSON MAY SUE LIND FOR ACCUSATIONS

Former Mexican Ambassador Resents Alleged Charge He Had Foreknowledge of Plot.

Henry Lane Wilson, former Ambassador to Mexico, said before leaving for Indianapolis last evening that he will take legal action against John Lind if the latter confirms the accuracy of statements quoting him as having said that Ambassador Wilson had knowledge of the plot to assassinate Madero. Mr. Lind is said to have made the statements before a group of friends in a Minneapolis school, and he will be given the opportunity to deny the charges. Mr. Wilson dictated the following statement:

"I cannot do Mr. Lind the injustice of accepting as true the statements reflecting on me which have been accredited to him until I shall have received his written confirmation.

"If the story as printed is confirmed by him I shall immediately take steps to ascertain whether there is any protection in the courts against malicious and defamatory statements.

"It might be of some interest to say that this story was printed while I was still in Mexico, but has since been discredited by the press of the country, by the public statements of Mr. Lind, under whose administration the events referred to occurred, and even by a published interview with Mr. Bryan.

"There will be some slight difficulty in proving these charges to be without a shadow of truth, and that, on the contrary, as shown by the record and by the evidence of the entire embassy staff and American citizens, the story is a sensational fabrication, without the slightest basis, and that I made every effort possible to save the life of the unfortunate Madero, in addition to furnishing effective aid and protection to members of his family."

HOLIDAY ON THURSDAY FOR DISTRICT'S WARDS

Thanksgiving Celebrations Planned for All Correctional and Philanthropic Institutions.

Wards of the District in correctional and philanthropic institutions will be given special dinners next Thursday. The Thanksgiving program also includes features of entertainment to be handled principally by societies from churches.

The inmates of Occoquan and the jail will be given a holiday from work, and will be allowed to receive presents from friends. Devotional exercises will be held in the afternoon. Children in the industrial school will be given a turkey dinner, and in the afternoon will play at football with a team from the Standard Athletic Club.

A feature of the Thanksgiving program at the National Training School for Girls will be a baseball game between two select teams. Football will be played at the Training School.

Mr. E. R. Campbell, president of the board of managers of the Temporary Home for Former United Soldiers and Sailors, will address the Thanksgiving dinner which will consist of turkey and other customary viands of the day. A similar dinner will be given the patients of the tuberculosis hospital.

HEAD OF "AD" CLUBS WILL WAR ON FAKERS

Herbert S. Houston to Condemn Unscrupulous Advertising Before Trade Commission.

Herbert H. Houston, who is expected to appear tomorrow at the hearing on fake advertising before the Federal Trade Commission, is this year's president of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World. His entry into the advertising business was due to a "want ad." Mr. Houston was a "copyreader" on the telegraph desk of a big newspaper. Night work became trying and Mr. Houston decided the logical way to get a day job would be to watch the want ads. In his paper, one morning he saw an advertisement by a baking powder company for an advertising manager. He made early application, but it was several weeks before he received the appointment. He made a success of advertising baking powder and then traveled into other advertising fields, developing into the possessor of one of the most important posts in the publishing business in America.

Dan $ayles' Want Advertising Talk

MR. ROSS, WHY NOT TURN YOUR WASTE INTO PROFIT?

If you try to keep through the winter all the produce, apples and such you harvested this fall, some are going to spoil. You can turn this prospective loss into an immediate PROFIT by selling a portion of your farm products direct to the 100,000 readers of The Herald. The great majority of The Herald's readers cannot grow their own food-stuff for winter consumption. They must buy it. SOMEBODY is going to pocket the PROFIT—why not YOU? The preserving and canning season isn't yet over. Folks want grapes, peaches, apples, tomatoes, pumpkin, quinces—any fruits or vegetables of good quality. They are willing to pay a reasonable price for them. Suppose you get in touch with these buyers through a Herald Want Advertisement and save the time, trouble and expense of more round-about methods. A fifteen-word advertisement in the Want Columns will cost you only fifteen cents and I wouldn't be surprised if it brought you a profitable and permanent customer for every cent of cost. TRY IT! I'll write the ad for you. Just phone Main 230 and tell me what you have to sell. Dan $ayles
