These Suits Have the Value That Should Sell for $30 and $35

There is really a wonderful opportunity in our store right now for men who wish the highest class of clothing that can be produced.

We except no manufacturer and no line of clothing when we say that the suits offered here today at are simply unbeatable in style, in the quality of materials, and in their hand-tailored making.

You may put on one of these Suits with absolute certainty that you are wearing garments having a recognized $35 value, and the garments will show it in every line and feature.

It's the clothing for those who want the best—the highest quality at a very moderate price.

The different models are appropriate for both the young and the older men, but we wish to mention in particular the latest two-button, double-breasted style which can be found in but very few, if any, other shops.

Then a Wonderful Value in Overcoats for $15.00

First, remember that these are our own regular $20 and $22.50 Overcoats—selling regularly at those prices since the season opened, but we have nearly 400 of them still in stock and the low price is to bring a rush.

This particular model is the best all-round, medium priced Overcoat shown in Washington.

It has the snap and style demanded by the young man—but it's not a freak model, and is perfectly appropriate for the older men.

It's a wonder for giving good lines to the figure of the man who is heavy set, or even unusually stout.

The style is a straight hanging back—but not full—just roomy and comfortable—a model that will not be out of style in a year or two.

It is made of handsome materials—strong faced goods from which the finish will not cut off and show signs of wear.

You buy it with a heavy velvet collar, but there's also an extra collar of the same material to replace the velvet when it's worn.

You'll admit it's a coat that looks like $25—and the $25 value is there. We save you just $10 at this reduced price.

CO-EDS DON PANTS AND FROLIC AT UNIVERSITY

Mother Goose Party at G. W. U. by Girls of Senior Class Great Success.

Dressed in grotesque costumes of many unique designs, girls students of the arts and sciences department at George Washington University last night held a Mother Goose party in the Arts and Sciences Buildings, 223 G street northwest.

It was a great frolic, and as the gathering was composed solely of co-eds, there was a spirit of abandon on every side. Some of the girls were arrayed in men's attire. They romped around the building, leaped over chairs, slid down the balustrades, and fish-walked in and out of corridors and class rooms.

The party was given by the girls of the senior class in honor of the other co-eds at the institution. Miss Margaret Knowles was chairman of the general committee; Miss Mulla Ruff was chairman of the committees on refreshments, and Miss Margaret Brown was at the head of the committee on games.

ZEALANDIA WAS OWNED BY GERMAN COUNCILOR

Lansing Admits He Was Unofficially Advised of This Fact Some Time Ago.

Secretary of State Lansing admitted yesterday that he had been unofficially advised some time ago that the steamer Zealandia, which was recently seized by a British cruiser off the port of Progreso, Mexico, was owned by Dr. Heinrich Albert, a privy councillor of Germany, who was at one time charged with being the directing head of the German conspiracy to tie up the munition factories in this country.

Mr. Lansing was unable to recall the source of his information, but said it was a private individual. He could not remember whether he had turned the information over to the Department of Justice, but indicated that no investigation was being made to determine its accuracy.

WOOLEY FUNERAL TODAY.

Civil War Cavalry Officer Will Be Buried in Arlington.

The funeral services for Maj. George Cleveland Woolley, 75, captain of the watch in the Postoffice Department, and a member of the G. A. R., who died Sunday evening at the family home, will be at Lee's Chapel, 322 Pennsylvania avenue, at 2 o'clock this afternoon. Rev. Lewis E. Purdum, pastor of the Ingram Methodist Congregational Church, will officiate. Interment will be in Arlington Cemetery. Military honors will be paid by the firing of a squad from Fort Myer.

He returned here twenty years ago and was captain of the watch in the Postoffice Department until incapacitated by illness. Maj. Woolley was a member of the G. A. R., Union Veteran Legion, Loyal Legion, and Army and Navy Union. He is survived by Mrs. Woolley, formerly Mary J. Gordon, of Durand, Wis.

Mrs. Churchill Not to Run. Mrs. Winston Churchill, chairman of the local committee on arrangements for the forty-seventh annual convention of the National American Woman Suffrage Association, has announced that she will not be a candidate to succeed Dr. Anna Howard Shaw as president of the organization. She believes Dr. Shaw should be persuaded to accept another term.

SUBPOENA TORN UP BY SOLDIER

District Guardsman Alleged to Have Treated Summons as "Joke."

FIFTEEN MEMBERS FINED

Summary Court Reprimands Militiamen for Absenting Themselves from Drill Without Excuse.

About fifteen members of the Third Regiment, District National Guard, were tried last night at the armory for being absent from drill without excuse. With one exception, they were given small fines and a severe reprimand.

Private John W. Frasier, of Company K, an employe of the Navy Yard, was fined ten dollars. He was brought to the armory in the custody of the United States marshal, who apprehended him following the issuance of a warrant sworn out for his arrest by the National Guard authorities.

Testimony was introduced to show that when Frasier was served with a subpoena by a noncommissioned officer, he tore the paper up and treated the matter as a joke. In passing upon Frasier's case the summary court officer said that in some manner employes of the navy yard had formed the idea that because of their connection with the yard, they would be permitted to be in their duties to the National Guard. He said that hereafter when navy yard employes are brought before a summary court charged with violation of the regulations, the matter will be called to the attention of the navy yard authorities.

Col. Glendon B. Young, commanding the Third Regiment, returned yesterday from a visit to his brother at Stafford, Va., and Lieut. Col. Anton Stephan, who was in charge in his absence, will now be able to act as a summary court officer with Maj. Hodgskins, Maj. McCarthan and Maj. Summers.

The ten remaining cases will be heard at the armory tonight.

RANSDELL IN FAVOR OF ENLARGING NAVY

Louisiana Senator Thinks Waterways Be Bettered to Afford Better Chance to Mobilize Army.

"Military preparedness is essential to National security and the safeguarding of the national honor, and I am heartily in favor of a reasonable increase in our army and especially in our navy," said Senator Joseph E. Ransdell, of Louisiana. "As a necessary auxiliary to the 'armed forces of the United States,' there must be adequate facilities for the speedy mobilization of men and munitions in event of war, and the best, cheapest and most permanent means that can be provided is to be found in properly improved inland waterways.

"I denounce as false the charges that river and harbor appropriations are wholesale uses of extravagance, and am convinced that they are not only wise expenditures, but safe and sound investments, which will pay substantial dividends in cheapening transportation charges, thereby lowering the cost of many staple commodities to the ultimate consumer."

The next convention, which meets in Washington, December 8, 9 and 10, will tend to crystallize the sentiment, which is being aroused throughout the country against the groundless charges of " pork barrel," which reached a climax in the filibuster resulting in the defeat of the last two Rivers and Harbors bills. The opponents of waterway improvements have made the welkin ring with their charges, and the advocates of waterways have not sufficiently taken the offensive and refuted these slanders, many well-meaning people have been misled."

HARRY COOPER'S COMEDY DELIGHTS

German Dialect Artist, Young and Talented, Promises Soon to Become World-famous Star.

The old Telegraph Hill district in San Francisco has a new attraction in the person of Harry Cooper, a young and talented German dialect artist, who has become a star in the theatrical world.

It is two years since Mr. Cooper has played Washington and he has not been idle in that time. His work today is more finished and shows more of the artist and finished performer than before. If he keeps on progressing as he has in the past, it will not long before he is recognized as one of the leading German dialect comedians of the stage.

Mr. Cooper's first broke into the limelight as a black-face artist, but soon observed that there were fewer good German dialect artists, and so turned his attention to a great while ago a performer on the stage who is not featured in the program, whose name is not on the bill, but who is a high, thin, who has "class" written all over him, who you know is going to make good and be a star in a very short time.

Mr. James Barton, of the Twentieth Century-Maid company, is one of those fortunate entertainers. Nature has made him a natural comedian; he can make you laugh with the flip of a hand and a look of the eyes, and he is only 25 years old, having been on the stage only a few years. He excels in pantomime work and his dance in the second act in the Apache Den is a work of art. If you want to enjoy a good hearty laugh, don't miss him. And you will enjoy the beauty of his dancing, which has been the best balanced crowd of young women that have been at the Gayety this season.

TRADE BODY NAMES DELEGATES

Rep. representatives to U. S. Commerce Chamber Sessions Appointed.

E. C. Brandenburg, president of the Washington Board of Trade, yesterday announced the personnel of the delegation to represent the board at the annual meeting of the Commercial Chamber of the United States, February 8, 9, and 10. The delegates are John L. Weaver, W. F. Ham, D. S. Porter, Carl Depp, M. J. Fisher, and J. A. Hanna. Alternate delegates are C. J. Gockeler, Holcomb G. Johnson, John G. Capers, John C. McLaughlin and S. B. Hoge. A special committee of the board to cooperate with a committee from the national chamber of commerce on the drafting of legislation for the development of the merchant marine service of this country also has been appointed. It is composed of Morris F. Frey, McCarthy Hanger and Joseph B. Stephenson.

Violet Asquith Is Married To Her Father's Secretary

MRS. BONHAM CARTER.

Special Cable to The Washington Herald.

London, Nov. 26.—Miss Violet Asquith, daughter of the premier, and her father's secretary, Bonham Carter, were married at St. Margaret's, Westminster, this afternoon. The wedding was a brilliant society event, being attended by members of the diplomatic corps, members of the cabinet and the society leaders of England.

As the bridal party entered the church it passed through a lane made by young girls carrying large bouquets of flowers. Premier Asquith gave the bride away. She wore a "Juliet" gown made of white satin, cut square at the neck, with a broad band of real lace around the collar.

ELECTRICAL PAGEANT THRILLS GREAT CROWD

probably gave the final touch that settled on it the prize for brilliant lighting. They led the procession with three small motor cars. The three prizes, all electric, consist of a tall mahogany lamp, valued at $100, a motor car, valued at $100, and a motor car, valued at $100.

The three prizes, all electric, consist of a tall mahogany lamp, valued at $100, a motor car, valued at $100, and a motor car, valued at $100.

Miss Edith Warren, of 1214 Tenth street northwest, was the heroine of the affair. Last week, when Warfield & Sanford, motor repair specialists, of 89 E street northwest, were planning their part in the big display, it was decided that Miss Warren should pose on the front of the float as the Goddess of Electricity carrying out the design of the official poster of Electrical Prosperity Week. Miss Warren entered in the scheme heartily.

But it was warm weather then. The Goddess' costume was made. It provided no warmth for arms or throat. Last night, when the time for the parade arrived and with it winter weather, Warfield & Sanford were withdrawn from their part of the show. But not Miss Warren. She had her way. Arms bare and low neck, she rode with flowing white robes above the machine and at its front like the Winged Victory. She was seated. At her feet was an electric motor which manufactured current for the powerful electric light above her head.

Miss Warren shivered on the whole trip from Sixteenth street to the Monument, she did not show it. But when the long trip was over she lost no time in burying herself in robes.

Gude Brothers, florists, with their five cars, occasioned much favorable comment. One striking design of their exhibit was "Flowers by Telegraph," displayed as a motto and carried out by a miniature pair of telegraph poles with bright tinsel strings between, glittering under the lights on the machine. The rest of the float was a mass of flowers and artistic greenery.

The Potomac Electric Power Company had a number of trucks entered. One represented a giant flat iron, on the rear of another was a stereopticon screen, upon which many different messages and pictures describing electric devices were thrown. Their trucks were decorated under direction of Mr. Swope.

Berberich's float was notable for its effective lighting and decorations. It embodied the idea of footwear. The Seabright Jewelry Company, of 80 F street northwest, created a stir with their "National Preparedness" armored car. From a turret at the top protruded two cannon and the whole car looked the part of boiler steel and large rivets as thoroughly as of feet.

The Government Printing Office displayed, among other things, a complete page and across the front panel below the waist. It had a loose, flowing back, finished with a short, round train. The sleeves were of chiffon, hanging loosely from a band of lace well above the elbow. Most Rev. Randall Thomas Davidson, Archbishop of Canterbury, officiated at the wedding.

Among the guests were United States Ambassador Walter Hines Page, Lord Kitchener, Lord Roseberry, Baron Reading, Sir Edward Grey and Gen. Sir Ian Hamilton, recently commander at the Dardanelles.

A number of army officers who are in London owing to wounds were also present. They attended in full uniform.

"I'M THROUGH," MOTHER SAYS OF KELLY GIRL

Special to The Washington Herald.

New York, Nov. 30.—"I am through," Mrs. Helen M. Kelly made this statement today in her apartment in East Sixty-third street.

"I have done all a mother could," Mrs. Kelly's voice was quivering with grief. "I failed. Eugenia must go the rest of the way alone. I shall not fight against her coming into her inheritance in a few months. She wanted to live her own life her own way, and she now shall have her wish. I am through."

printing press at work, with four women busily engaged in feeding and tending it. The paper dodgers manufactured by it were thrown to the crowd as souvenirs.

Three cars were entered by the National Electric Supply Company, of 1230 New York avenue. One carried out what the electrical supply men know as a "flasher." It represented, in white lights, a fountain of water.

Both Wells-Fargo and Adams Express companies were represented with their full quota of electric trucks.

The Silverberg Electric Company was represented by an electric truck, dressed in the parade were the Washington-Laboratory, Chapin & Seick Manufacturing Company, Dullin & Martin, National Electric Supply Company, Carroll Electric Company, Berry & Whitmore, Navy Yard, Loose-Wiles Biscuit Company, Harry A. Seabright, Southern Building Supply Company, Wilson & Rogers, O Street Market Company, Hartman Garment, Hirsch's Shoe Store, American Express Company, Sanitary Grocery Company, Kincaid & Co., Exile Battery Depot, Incorporated, E. F. Prosser, Thompson's Dairy Company, Postoffice Department, Federal Taxicab Company, O. R. Evans, G. G. Cornell & Son, and Frazer, Potomac Laundry Company.
