

January Sale Prices Begin Tomorrow--Monday

Coats, Dresses, Suits

What these garments are NOT—not one a maker's mistake; not one a passe style; not one made for "a sale." Only the well-known regular stock of the Greater Palais Royal, known to a great army of patrons. Need another word be added?

Every Garment Reduced in Price

Every garment means that none are to be excepted. The new fur-trimmed suits, the last-moment styles are not yet in the store a month; these and the chiffon broadcloth suits, famous for immaculate tailoring and perfect fit; all the suits made especially to order are included. The list is given below:

Palais Royal
11th Street G Street

In All Departments

Visit all six floors tomorrow—seek the tables filled with left-over "Christmas Things"—and find real bargains. One reason why odd lots are at prices so greatly reduced is because "Stock Taking" occurs shortly and dollars are easier to count than merchandise.

Art Needlework—and Dolls

If you owe a few Christmas Presents—or wish something unique for yourself—visit the Art Needlework Department tomorrow—and find work of art at prices out of the ordinary. And dolls—with prices down to the vanishing point. Look for both Needlework and Dolls—on second floor.

The Sale Begins Tomorrow Promptly at 9 a. m.—On Third Floor

The Before-Christmas Price Mark Remains on Each Garment—The Reduced Price is Blue Pencil
