SUFFRAGISTS MAY INVADE SESSIONS

Women's Auxiliary to Scientific Congress Likely to Battle Over Votes Issue.

RESOLUTION PREPARED

Indorsement of Suffrage Probably Will Be Sought Today—Question Has Been Utterly Ignored.

TODAY'S PROGRAM. Memorial Continental Hall, 1020 a'clock. (Open to the Public.) Presiding: Mrs. Albert S. Burleigh. "Public Libraries," Mrs. Philander P. Claxton. "Nursing in Cuba," Miss H. Eugenia Hibbard. "The Community's Duty to the Child," Dr. Adah McMan. "Education for Homemaking," Mrs. J. H. Stannard. "Standards of Living," Mrs. Virginia Meredith. "Tomorrow," Miss Zona Gale. Inspection of Washington post-office from 8 to 9 p. m.

The tranquil course of the Women's Auxiliary conference of the Pan-American Scientific Congress is threatened with a rude disturbance at today's session or shortly thereafter. Despite the denial of one high authority that any such course would be permitted, it is known that a strong suffrage demonstration is in prospect, and that those behind it are merely perfecting an organization competent to push a pro-suffrage resolution through before starting the rumpus.

Suffrage was coldly frozen out of the conference by those who made the preliminary arrangements, despite the fact that a large majority of those attending it are believers in woman suffrage. Mrs. Lansing, wife of the Secretary of State, is an anti-suffragist, however, and her influence is blamed for the absolute omission of suffrage discussion from the program. Resolutions Delayed.

Sizing up the lay of the land, Mrs. Jesse Harding Stubbs Mackay, one of the most aggressive of the organizers of the Congressional Union, started in today to meet the well-laid plans to freeze the suffrage question to speechlessness. She has prepared a resolution committing the conference to woman suffrage, and had planned to present it at yesterday's session. Yesterday, however, it was determined to postpone the issue until today, in order more fully to insure favorable action.

Nothing further was heard yesterday of the plan to organize the conference on a permanent basis, but this is expected to come out in a comprehensive resolution later in the session. Very much interest is being shown by women of all the Americas in the conference, and expressions of hope that the meeting will find issue in a permanent organization are common.

A program of prepared papers on subjects of particular interest to women was commenced at yesterday's session. Miss Elizabeth Colton spoke on "The Changing Emphasis in the Education of Women in the United States." Mrs. Herman Collett delivered a paper on "The High Education of Women."

John Bartram, who represents the Baker and Rauch & Lang electric in this city, is a great believer in the idea that the electrically-propelled car is the machine of the future. He is going to the New York Motor show primarily to see the new Over Magnetic car, which has an electric transmission that is manufactured by the company he represents.

M. E. Bayles, manager of the Record Auto Service, is of an ingenious turn of mind. He has invented a demountable rim and is now working on a new anti-skid device for motor cars. He expects to have both of them to New York with him tomorrow for exhibition at the big show.

Stanley Horner, manager of the Buick Motor Company, has one more request to make of his factory for the New Year. That is that they supply him with sufficient cars to fill all the orders the local branch can get.

Dr. W. B. Carr, like many other automobile owners, is a most enthusiastic fan. He says that all automobiles are good, but that his Dodge is just a little bit better than the rest.

It is estimated that during the year 1915 there will be 1,200,000 motor cars in use in the United States. During the year just closing, there were 820,000 machines built.

The National Automobile Chamber of Commerce is sending out letters to all the dealers in the United States urging that they write to their representative in Congress to support a measure whereby the Federal government will annually appropriate a sum of money for road maintenance, this amount to be apportioned among the States on the basis of population, and also to have each State appropriate an equal amount. At the present time there are 2,22,000 miles of public roads in the United States and there is an automobile in use for each mile of that road, with the number fast increasing.

With the increase in capitalization of the Chevrolet Motor Car Company from $20,000,000 to $50,000,000 and the merger of this company with the General Motors Company, it is intimated that an active campaign will be started for supremacy in the low-price car field. This rumor is given color by the report that James Cousins, generally credited with having been the dominant factor in the success of the Ford Motor Company, but who resigned after a disagreement with Mr. Ford on the latter's stand on preparedness, has become one of the largest stockholders in the new company and will have an active part in the direction of its affairs.

Photo Company Incorporated. The Commercial Photo Company, Inc., was incorporated to carry on a general photo business and to deal in photo supplies yesterday. The capital stock is $1,000,000, in shares of $10 each. The office of the company will be located at 1403 H street northwest. Incorporators are Edwin J. Ryan, Arthur W. Marks, and Margaret M. Cook.
