

Representative Cannon and Miss Cannon Are Honor Guests of Mr. and Mrs. Elliott Woods. Mrs. Daniels Receives for D. A. R. Delegates

Other News of Society at the Capital

Mr. and Mrs. Elliott Woods were hosts at dinner last evening at the Chevy Chase Club, entertaining in honor of Representative Cannon and Miss Cannon. There were eighteen guests.

Mrs. Daniels, wife of the Secretary of the Navy, entertained at a reception yesterday afternoon in compliment to the North Carolina delegation to the D. A. R. Congress. The wine-rooms were charmingly decorated with spring flowers and the tea table had a centerpiece of the same blossoms.

Mrs. Daniels was assisted in receiving by Miss Lida Rodman, State regent; Mrs. Morrison, vice regent; the wives of Cabinet officers who are in town, the wives of the Senators and Representatives from North Carolina, and a number of North Carolina women who are in Washington. Other guests were Mrs. O. M. Green, Mrs. Mary Ann Irlie Pou, Mrs. Adelaide Worth Bagley, and the Misses Bagley.

Col. and Mrs. W. W. Haris were dinner hosts last evening.

The members of the D. A. R. Congress will be the guests of honor at a reception which the Southern Society of Washington will give this evening at 9 o'clock in the large ball room of the New Willard. The reception by the Southern Society to the D. A. R. Congress is an annual event and is invariably one of the most brilliant and distinctive social parties of the season. On this, as on all previous occasions, the guests will include distinguished representatives of official and residential society.

In the receiving line will be the president of the society, Gen. William C. Gorgas; Mrs. William Cumming Story, president general of the National Society; D. A. R., the vice president of the Southern Society, the Secretary of the Navy and Mrs. Daniels. Mrs. Champ Clark, Mrs. O. M. Green, Mrs. Mary Ann Irlie Pou, Mrs. Adelaide Worth Bagley, Mrs. Frank P. Greenwald, Mrs. Samuel Spencer, Mrs. Claude N. Bennett, and Mrs. Milton W. Johnson. Dr. Clarence J. Owens, secretary of the Southern Society, will make the introduction.

Dr. Gustavus Weber is chairman of the reception committee; Mr. Claude N. Bennett heads the floor committee and the executive committee is composed of Mrs. C. Calhoun, chairman; Gen. Frank McIntyre, Mrs. Maude Howell Smith, Rev. J. Henning Nelms, Mrs. William L. Marshall, Hon. Robert W. Wooley, and Mr. Samuel Spencer.

Mrs. James M. Thompson, formerly Miss Genevieve Clark, will arrive in Washington tomorrow to be the guest of her parents, Speaker and Mrs. Clark, for a week and to attend the National Business School at Chevy Chase for the first fortnight in May.

Miss Constance Wickersham, daughter of former Attorney General Wickersham, who will be accompanied by Miss Corneil Brandreth, Elizabeth N. J., will also come to Washington in time to attend the encampment at Chevy Chase under the auspices of the woman's section of the Navy League.

Miss Kathryn Hitchcock and Miss Marie Peary are arranging a benefit for Friendship House to be given at Gunston Hall, 196 Florida avenue, Saturday, April 29, at 3 o'clock, when the children of Friendship House will present "Alice in Wonderland."

Mr. and Mrs. John Parkin Gilford and their daughters, the Misses Lenithon and Amy Gilford, arrived yesterday from St. Augustine, Fla., where they have been occupying their villa for two months. Before returning to their home in New York they will be the guests for a few days of Mr. Walter De C. Foulney in Baltimore.

Mrs. Frederick Tyson has come over to Washington for a few days from her home in Baltimore, and is stopping at the Shoreham.

Mrs. M. G. Gill of Baltimore, is also at the Shoreham.

A few changes have been made in the plans for the wedding of Miss Barbara Thaw, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Blair Thaw, to Lieut. Scott B. Macfarlane, U. S. N., which will take place April 28 in the Church of the Heavenly Host, New York. Miss Katherine Thaw will be her sister's maid of honor, and the bridesmaids will be the Misses Eunice Clapp, Candida Bartolucci, Anna Ballard, Adeline Hotchkiss, Mildred Sawyer, and Mary Lee Turner. Lieut. Alger H. Dressel will be Lieut. Macfarlane's best man, and the ushers will be Lieuts. Walter Davidson, Richard Elliott, Dean Causey, Edwin S. R. Brandt and L. W. Comstock, U. S. N. After the ceremony a reception will be held at the Cosmopolitan Club.

A wedding of interest took place at Leesburg, Va., in the M. E. Church south at 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, when Miss Mable Brown, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Luther A. Brown, was married to Mr. Joseph Burton Carr, of this city, the Rev. Hubert Sydenstricker officiating.

The engagement of Miss Gertrude M. Tomes, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Alexander Tomes, of 293 Park avenue, New York, to Maj. R. D. Crawford, of the British army, has been announced. Miss Tomes, after a course in nursing, went abroad and offered her services as a nurse, and has been at the Connaught Hospital at Aldershot, England.

The Misses Hetty E. and Elsie P. Tomes are her younger sisters, the latter now being at Ellerslie, Malvern, England, and Messrs. Alexander H. Tomes and Francis Tomes are her brothers.

The Washington Wellesley Club met yesterday afternoon at the home of Miss Mary Riley, 3141 Le Roy place.

Suffragists are entertaining on an extensive scale this week at the national headquarters of the Congressional Union, on Lafayette Square, in honor of the out-of-town members who are in Washington attending the annual congress of the D. A. R. The quaint old house which lends itself so well to artistic decoration is ablaze with spring flowers, purple, white and gold, the union colors, being the predominating colors.

Mrs. Hortense McDonald entertained at dinner Tuesday evening in honor of Mrs. C. Huntington and Miss Mary Brabson, Littleton, of Chattanooga, delegates from Tennessee to the congress. Other delegates who were guests at dinner parties given in the tea room were: Mrs. H. J. Hoerner, of New York; Mrs. H. L. Felix, of Newark, N. J.; and Miss Viola Cameron, of New York.

Miss Frances L. Evans has as her house guest this week, Miss Mildred Newcomb Wilson, Miss Wilson, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis

TAN FAILLE AFTERNOON FROCK

Faille is one of the most popular of silks for afternoon and evening wear, and its effectiveness is shown in this chic model in a soft tan shade. The trimming consists of narrow plaitings on the skirt and bodice. The vest and flaring collar are of cream lace.

HOUSEWIVES DAILY

ECONOMY CALENDAR

By FRANCES MARSHALL

Easter Flowers.

The custom of sending flowers at Easter is very widespread, which accounts for the vast number of posies we see at this time, and also for the rise in flower prices, and, strictly speaking, flowers are not considered presents. Then, it is by no means necessary to send everybody posies at Easter, and the custom anyway is most commonly reserved for men, who take this opportunity of showing the girls of their choice how much they like them. But sometimes a woman to whom a man sends a flower to some other woman at Easter time, and one of these occasions is when she feels herself under obligations for hospitalities and has no home, in the sense of the word, in which to return them. But why fret over the cost of this one gift, when Jonquils can be bought at five cents apiece and there are pots of bursting tulips and primroses which cost no more than thirty-five? Spend the money, send the gift and be sure that its recipient will regard you as a very well-bred person, for flowers themselves are a refinement and a compliment. Business women who live in boarding houses often spend considerable sums for flowers at Easter when they can return social favor in no other way. Little boxes of cream peppermints or chocolates, or some other inexpensive sweets, bridge the way out of difficulty with other presents, if one decides at last upon a smart and at Easter the clever confectioner now puts these up with the Easter card which will be needed.

(Copyright, 1916.)

TOMORROW'S MENU.

BREAKFAST.

Omelet and Cream. Soft Boiled Eggs. Hot Cross Buns. Coffee.

LUNCHEON OR SUPPER.

Oyster Omelet. Fried Potatoes. Wafers. Tea.

DINNER.

Liquid Cream Pot Soup. Crab Curry. French Fried Potatoes. Creamed Spinach. Lettuce Salad. Gingerbread with Whipped Cream.

Hot cross buns—Into a cupful and a half of scalded milk sift four cupfuls of flour, and add a quarter of a cupful of butter, very soft, and a third of a yeast cake dissolved in a little milk. Mix well, cover and let rise all night. In the morning add half a cupful of sugar, half a cupful of currants and half a teaspoonful of grated nutmeg. Shape into buns and let rise. When the buns are nearly done, mark a cross on them with thin sugar frosting.

Oyster omelet—For every six oysters use one egg. Slimmer the oysters until the edges curl. Drain and chop fine. Heat the whites and yolks of the eggs separately, and add a tablespoonful of Seasoned Cook in cream pan and add the oysters just before turning.

Crab curry—The canned fish is not objectionable with this preparation as the seasonings are the chief thing. Ingredients are one pound of the shellfish, one-half can of tomatoes, a little chopped powder, two tablespoonfuls of butter and the same of chopped onions, one tablespoonful of chopped green pepper, one cup of cream, two teaspoonfuls of curry powder and one tablespoonful of flour. Brown the butter and add the onions and let them cook until soft; then put in flour to cook, but not brown; add the chutney and curry, then the tomatoes and green pepper and then the cream; let thicken in boiling. When the sauce is done, put in the canned fish, letting it get hot through only before serving.

Prof. H. S. Coolidge, of Harvard College, is in Washington for a few days and is stopping at the Shoreham.

Mrs. Loring Drouet, of Philadelphia, arrived in Washington yesterday for a visit and is stopping at the Shoreham Hotel.

Mr. F. Ambrose Clark, of Westbury, L. I., who played in the polo tournament yesterday, is stopping at the Willard. Other interesting arrivals there of yesterday were: Mr. and Mrs. Hudson Maxim, of New York; Mr. and Mrs. Hale Holden, of Chicago; Mr. Charles R. Wheeler, of San Francisco; Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Griffith, of Mexico, and Mrs. George Edgemoore of Summit, N. J., who is here for the D. A. R. Congress.

SEEN AND HEARD BY GEORGE MINER

CONTINUED FROM PAGE SIX.

was ungettable, happened very soon after.

The Carranzista commander had too little force to try to capture Oaxaca, and he should have guarded his rear and kept a way for retreat open. But he didn't.

The Oaxaca commander heard of his defeat and let him come. He withdrew his army to the hills and kept it hidden until the Carranza troops were comfortably settled and felt secure. Then he closed down on them from all sides and killed every mother's son that was left.

No Need of Caesar. It wasn't that the Oaxaca commander wanted their lives as much as it was that he didn't want to run the chance of any one escaping and carrying the tidings of the after climax of his triumphant entry. He wanted his little army intact, and he was all the more anxious to get it back to the Mexican war office as much as any—why there wasn't some more news. Mr. Adams was the first one to bring word that the Oaxaca commander wanted the store of ammunition that the Carranza troops were lugging. It was quite a lot, for each Mexican soldier carries three fully loaded cartridge belts, one over each shoulder and one around the waist, besides what was in the munition magazines. Carranza's ridges are the one useful thing they can't get in Oaxaca.

A few days after he had buried these Constitutional troops, that commander had the Asensio street with 49 more Carranza soldiers on the broad line across the isthmus of Tehuantepec. Not a man escaped. These two commands are now entered as "missing" in the war records. They won't be found either.

Incidents of this kind occur quite frequently in Mexico and not even the Mexican public knows anything of them. Of course, the newspapers in Mexico do not print the news, at least not all of it. There are two mighty good reasons for that. One is that they can't get it and another is that it would be very dangerous to print it if they did not.

The paper might be suppressed or if the news were particularly objectionable the staff might be imprisoned or possibly face a firing squad. Consequently, the newspapers in Mexico print and in the capital amount to little more than official decrees, promulgating orders and orders. A newspaper man's life here is not an enviable one, for he has to walk on eggs all the time.

By the way, Mr. Paul Hudson has not yet been able to start up his paper, the Mexican Herald—again here. Mr. Hudson is still in Washington, I am informed, but Mrs. Hudson is at their home keeping an eye on the plant in case there is any attempt to confiscate it.

Mr. Hudson, I am sorry to say, is not in high favor with this government. At the time of the Vera Cruz affair, he moved his paper down there, presuming that the Asensio street with 49 more Carranza soldiers on the broad line across the isthmus of Tehuantepec. Not a man escaped. These two commands are now entered as "missing" in the war records. They won't be found either.

Incidents of this kind occur quite frequently in Mexico and not even the Mexican public knows anything of them. Of course, the newspapers in Mexico do not print the news, at least not all of it. There are two mighty good reasons for that. One is that they can't get it and another is that it would be very dangerous to print it if they did not.

The paper might be suppressed or if the news were particularly objectionable the staff might be imprisoned or possibly face a firing squad. Consequently, the newspapers in Mexico print and in the capital amount to little more than official decrees, promulgating orders and orders. A newspaper man's life here is not an enviable one, for he has to walk on eggs all the time.

By the way, Mr. Paul Hudson has not yet been able to start up his paper, the Mexican Herald—again here. Mr. Hudson is still in Washington, I am informed, but Mrs. Hudson is at their home keeping an eye on the plant in case there is any attempt to confiscate it.

Mr. Hudson, I am sorry to say, is not in high favor with this government. At the time of the Vera Cruz affair, he moved his paper down there, presuming that the Asensio street with 49 more Carranza soldiers on the broad line across the isthmus of Tehuantepec. Not a man escaped. These two commands are now entered as "missing" in the war records. They won't be found either.

Incidents of this kind occur quite frequently in Mexico and not even the Mexican public knows anything of them. Of course, the newspapers in Mexico do not print the news, at least not all of it. There are two mighty good reasons for that. One is that they can't get it and another is that it would be very dangerous to print it if they did not.

The paper might be suppressed or if the news were particularly objectionable the staff might be imprisoned or possibly face a firing squad. Consequently, the newspapers in Mexico print and in the capital amount to little more than official decrees, promulgating orders and orders. A newspaper man's life here is not an enviable one, for he has to walk on eggs all the time.

By the way, Mr. Paul Hudson has not yet been able to start up his paper, the Mexican Herald—again here. Mr. Hudson is still in Washington, I am informed, but Mrs. Hudson is at their home keeping an eye on the plant in case there is any attempt to confiscate it.

Mr. Hudson, I am sorry to say, is not in high favor with this government. At the time of the Vera Cruz affair, he moved his paper down there, presuming that the Asensio street with 49 more Carranza soldiers on the broad line across the isthmus of Tehuantepec. Not a man escaped. These two commands are now entered as "missing" in the war records. They won't be found either.

Incidents of this kind occur quite frequently in Mexico and not even the Mexican public knows anything of them. Of course, the newspapers in Mexico do not print the news, at least not all of it. There are two mighty good reasons for that. One is that they can't get it and another is that it would be very dangerous to print it if they did not.

The paper might be suppressed or if the news were particularly objectionable the staff might be imprisoned or possibly face a firing squad. Consequently, the newspapers in Mexico print and in the capital amount to little more than official decrees, promulgating orders and orders. A newspaper man's life here is not an enviable one, for he has to walk on eggs all the time.

AMUSEMENTS.

NATIONAL PRICES

Twice Daily at 2:15 and 8:15. Seats on Sale Seven Days in Advance. No Telephone Orders.

D. W. GRIFFITH'S MASTERPIECE

Two Performances Sunday Matinee 3 o'clock Evening 8:15

18,000 People 3,000 Horses 8 Months In the Making Cost $500,000

Founded on Thomas Dixon's "The Clansman." IT IS ALMOST A MIRACLE!

Aunt Chatty's Mothers' Club

Conducted by Mrs. Charity Brush

COMPANY MANNERS.

THIS is a real Mothers' Club, for the benefit of mothers everywhere who are struggling with questions of discipline, training, education, clothing, for the children. Write to Aunt Chatty of problems which are vexing you, and she will advise and help you to a solution of them. Write to her, too, of your own discoveries, of methods you have found successful in smoothing the rough paths of life for the tender, childish feet, that through the Mothers' Club your experience may be of benefit to other mothers who are still tangled in the web of perplexity you have so happily unraveled.

Co-operation is the secret of success in any business; so why not in the business of motherhood, that highest and holiest calling which always has been and always will be woman's crown of glory, no matter what other avenues of usefulness may be opened to her? Address Mrs. Charity Brush, care of this paper.

Not long ago, I spent three or four hours in the home of a well-to-do family living in a small town where I had gone to attend a meeting of a mothers' club. I went home with the mother of the family to stay for supper and wait for the train that was to take me back to the city, and while I was there I found much material for a talk.

My hostess was the wealthiest woman in the village and she wanted her children to show her that they were being well brought up. Fortunately for me, I was saved the necessity of reply by the entrance of the caller. After I had been presented, my hostess brought the children forward and prompted them in honeyed tones to shake hands and to curtsy to the "pretty lady like a little lady and gentleman." This was really accomplished, and the children retired in relief to the back of the room where they took possession of a big sofa and kept up a byplay of nudging and surreptitiously pinching each other. The mother was unable to divert her whole attention to her talk with us, for she was constantly obliged to turn and shake her head at the children, trying always to do so when she thought the little lady was engaged in her talk with me and would not observe the reproof of the children. When, to the relief of us all, the caller finally took her leave, the mother reprimanded the children sharply for their behavior. What she said to them was:

"Aren't you ashamed to behave so before people? Mrs. Helms is a rich lady and we all have to put on our company manners before her. She will think you mother never taught you how to act when people are around!"

A little later, just before supper time, my hostess went into the pantry to complete some preparations for our evening meal and her little daughter followed her out.

"Mother," I heard the child ask, "why do we have to behave nicer before people than when we are alone?"

"Why of course I want you to behave all the time," the mother impatiently replied.

"But you said we had to put on our company manners before the rich lady," the little girl persisted.

"Keep quiet or I'll box your ears!" the mother then exclaimed. "Sh-sh-sh," she went on in a lower tone, evidently remembering that I was within earshot. "Mrs. Brush will hear you, and what kind of a child do you think she will say you are?"

Always that reiteration of "What will people think you are?" My heart was filled with pity for children who had no motive for good behavior held up to them by the fear of the impression they might make upon others. Those two poor infants are well-trained in the mere outer forms of politeness. The small boy shook hands with Mrs. Helms in perfectly good form. The girl made a wholly acceptable curtsy. But neither of them had ever been given the first idea that true politeness consists in unselfishness and thoughtfulness for others. It was not suggested to them that their squabbling on the sofa while her mother was trying to talk was wrong because it was an interruption to our conversation. I do not suppose that mother herself had the remotest idea that mere forms are not essential to true courtesy. She could not be made to believe that a gentleman may be a gentleman and still be ignorant of all social conventions. Her one thought was her fear that her rich neighbor might think she was not a lady!

And then the talk with the child in the pantry! There she revealed the whole secret of her failure to teach her children to distinguish between true politeness and "company manners." She herself was far from polite in her ordinary dealing with her child. She was more rude to the little girl than she would have dared to be with her servant or to any guest she might have in her house. Unless we are courteous with our children, dear mothers, we can never hope to teach them even good company manners. Without politeness in dealing with them, all manners that we give them are a very thin veneer that cracks and wears off at the first rub. To require from them a politeness that they do not receive from us is nothing short of a crime against them—a crime that they, in good time, will punish, too, by their terrible arraignment of us for committing it against them.

Answers to Correspondents.

Mrs. Melvin C. writes: "Please tell me where I can find a good domestic science school for my daughter. She wishes to train herself to teach that branch."

There are a number throughout the country, but nearest to you would be Pratt Institute, Brooklyn; Columbia Teachers College, New York City; Albany Normal School, or Swarthmore, Pa., than any others I recall now.

Mrs. J. C. K. asks: "Do you think I would injure my hair by dyeing it to hide the gray hairs?"

I think you would be very foolish to do that. I admire gray hair, and when it comes it suits the lines of the ageing face far better than any harsh dark tint can. Don't do it.

Mrs. T. S. writes: "I was much helped by your article on 'Honoring a Child's Individuality.' I wish you could reach more mothers with that kind of talk. Most of us never think of our children as separate human beings. We think they are just puppets to do as we tell them until they surprise us by rebelling and then we say, 'They're grown up!'"

(Copyright, 1916.)

Easter Gifts. Our stock contains hundreds of suggestions for pleasing gifts—Dainty China, Cut Glass, Sterling Silver, Flower Baskets, Fern Dishes, Etc., at prices from the least expensive to as elegant as may be desired.

Easter Gifts in Rich Cut Glass. Bonbon Dishes, from $1 to $5. Flower Vases, from $1 to $40. Fern Dishes, from $1.50 to $12. Cut Glass Flower Baskets, from $2.50 to $12.00.

Imported Glass Flower Baskets and Vases. Iridescent Sweet Pea Vases, 25c, 50c, and up. Glass Flower Vases, with Low Shape Flower Vases, with glass stem supports, from 50c. Tall Crystal Vases, 15c, 25c, 35c, and 50c.

Sterling Silver Novelties from $1.00 Each. Bonbon Spoons, Olive Spoons, Picture Frames, Lemon Dishes, Perfume Bottles, Lemon Forks, Cream Ladles, Sugar Tongs, Etc.

Duffin & Martin Co. Pottery, Porcelain, China, Glass, Silver, Etc. 1215 F St. and 1214-18 G St.

AMUSEMENTS. BELASCO. "Following the Flag in Mexico" With NORMAN I. SPER, the Big Animal, and HAMILTON WALTON, Lecturer.

NEXT WEEK—SEATS NOW SPECIAL ANOTHER "BOOMERANG" IMPORTANT SPRING PRODUCTION DAVID BELASCO

THE LUCKY FELLOW. A New Comedy by BOB COOPER. REORIENT. With a Cast of Washington Favorites, including FRANK CRAVEN, CAROLINA, MARY ANN, OTTO KILGARD, ANNE MARELLI, and others.

B. F. KEITH'S. Twice Every Day. Tonight's Challenge, Houdini.

HEAD DOWNWARD AND HANDS MANAGED IN WATER-TIGHT TANK. WILL THEY "GET HIM" HERE? CLAUDE GILLINGWATER, EDITH LYLE & CO. Perform at 8:00, 9:00, 10:00, 11:00.

POLI'S. Tonight, 8:15. MARY ANN EXCEPT MONDAYS. "The Yellow Ticket" With A. H. VAN HAREN.

Lyceum Burlesque. GIRLS FROM PARADISE. LOEW'S COLUMBIA. NOW PLAYING JOHN BARRYMORE "IN THE RED WIDOW" Grand Pipe Organ, Symphony Orchestra.

BASEBALL-TODAY 2 P. M. GATES OPEN AT NOON. WASHINGTON VS. NEW YORK. Downtown Ticket Office, 613 11th St. to 12:30.

ELK GROVE BUTTER. The Butter that pleases old and young. It is wholesome, satisfying and absolutely pure. At All Grocers'. Golden & Co. 922-928 La. Ave. Wholesalers Only.

GAETY. LEW KELLY. And Bohemian Show in HELLO, NEW YORK. Next Week—"THE TOURISTS."

The House Electric. Chatham Courts, 1731 Columbia Road. Exhibit of Electrical Appliances and practical demonstrations of the use of Electricity in Cooking, Ironing, Cleaning, Etc. 1 to 10 P. M. Daily and Sunday Except April 25. Music Every Evening. Admission Free.

DELIGHTFUL SPRING TRIPS. OLD POINT COMFORT NORFOLK, VA. WAR VESSELS at Navy Yard and Hampton Roads.

Modern Steel Steamers. Daily Service from Washington, 6:45 P. M. New York and Boston by Sea. City Ticket Office, 721 15th Street, (Woodward Bldg.) NORFOLK & WASHINGTON STEAMBOAT CO.

Demons. NEW AMERICAN ICE CREAM-WATER ICES For Your Easter Party Only 50c the Quart. Phone N. 1547. Conn. Ave. at M.

BEAUTIFUL HAIR THICK, WAVY, FREE FROM DANDRUFF. Draw a Moist Cloth Through Hair and Double Its Beauty at Once.

Save Your Hair! Dandruff Disappears and Hair Stops Coming Out. Immediate—Yes! Certain!—that's the joy of it. Your hair becomes light, wavy, abundant, and appears as soft, lustrous, and beautiful as yours did after an application of Danderine. Also try this—moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt, or excessive oil, and in just a few moments you have doubled the beauty of your hair. A delightful surprise awaits those whose hair has been neglected or is scraggy, faded, dry, brittle or thin. Besides beautifying the hair, Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff, cleanses, purifies, and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair, but what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use, when you will see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair growing all over the scalp.

Danderine is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them, producing exhilarating, stimulating and life-producing properties cause the hair to grow long, strong, and beautiful.

You can surely have pretty, charming, lustrous hair, and lots of it, if you will just get a 5-cent bottle of Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter and try it as directed—Adv.

Alumni to Visit Tome School. Much interest is being taken in the plans for the alumni reunion for the Tome School, Port Deposit, Md., to be held in connection with the founder's day celebration on May 12 and 13. The various Tome clubs at Yale, Princeton, Cornell, Johns Hopkins, the University of Pennsylvania and in Chicago, Pittsburgh, Philadelphia, Washington, and Baltimore will send delegations.

Five Druggists Licensed. Five practices yesterday were licensed to practice pharmacy in the District as a result of the regular quarterly examinations of the Board of Pharmacy of the District, held April 13 and 14. Successful candidates are: Santa Piraceli, Albert Weil, Andrew Jackson Brown, Allan Randolph Burley and Archie Carlyle Painter. The next examinations of the board will be held July 12 and 14.