

STREET WALL STREET IN WASHINGTON

STRENGTH TONE WALL STREET Considerable Irregularity Apparent, but Standard Issues Continue to Show Firmness.

New York, June 24.—In spite of considerable irregularity there was a somewhat better tone evident in the stock market today. This was not due to any overnight betterment in the Mexican situation, which, if anything, looked more serious today than on the day before. The week has been one of heavy declines, especially among the more speculative issues, and it is certain that some stocks which were overbought at the beginning of the break early in the week are now oversold. As a result there was some what of an evening up process today. Many speculators who have confidently believed that a bad break in the market was due once war between the United States and Mexico seemed assured, are now changing their minds. The reason for this shift being due to the stability shown by the standard stocks, such as Steel and the rails, and the fact that it is an open secret that not only is there a big short interest in the market, but there are buying orders of no inconsiderable amount under the market waiting to be executed in case prices drop to what might be termed bargain levels. The railroad shares were singularly inactive today, the turn over in many of the more popular issues in this class being lighter than for several Saturdays previous. United States Steel continued to display firmness and closed with a gain of 1-4 of a point above Friday's final price. Several of the munitions stocks show more firmness than they have heretofore displayed of late, and the behavior of the copper and other metal shares was more satisfactory than for any previous day this week. The motor shares were firm, Studebaker and Chandler each gaining more than a point. The bond market was quiet, though there was some selling in evidence, many of the banks preferring to cut down their remunerative bond investment to turn their funds into the money market which continues to show signs of tightening. The gold movement to this city continued today, $2,000,000 being received from Ottawa, bringing the total brought to New York on the present movement up to approximately $75,275,000.

Twelve-story Addition for St. Charles at Atlantic City

View of St. Charles Hotel on the Boardwalk.

Visitors to Atlantic City usually are impressed by the many up-to-date hotels, catering to the pleasure-seeking public. In America's greatest all-year-round resort. With the opening of the twelve-story addition to the St. Charles Hotel, another modern fire-proof hostelry is added to this constantly increasing list.

Situated on the famous Boardwalk at the corner of St. Charles place, the St. Charles represents the latest word in Federal reserve. The building is strictly fire-proof throughout, with steel and concrete columns. On the exterior the walls to the height of the first sleeping floor are of light gray terra cotta, above this rough texture brick, laid in cement. The work has purposely been kept plain and dignified, conveying the idea of a substantial building suitable for its purpose.
