

GUARDSMEN AT CAMP RADIO WILL RECEIVE VISITORS THROUGH DAY

Today will be visitor's day at Camp Radio. From sunrise until 10:15 o'clock tonight the camp will be open to sightseers, and thousands are expected to visit the militiamen.

It will be the first real opportunity for the Capital to inspect the camp, for though visitors have been permitted within the camp limits after 5 o'clock every night since the camp was established, the sightseers have had little chance to see all the interesting points.

both Twelfth street and Pennsylvania avenue near the postoffice, and from the station in Virginia on the other side of the Aqueduct Bridge. From the postoffice station, the schedule will be every fifteen minutes, starting at 9:45 a. m., and continuing as long as the demand, and the cars will be marked "Fairfax," "Falls Church," and "Arlington."

HEALED BY CUTICURA SOAP AND OINTMENT

"My trouble started with little red pimples breaking out all over my fingers which cracked open and bled. In a short while they spread all over both hands. My hands were much inflamed and the little red pimples soon became a solid scale. Soon my hands became such sights that I was ashamed to let any one see them, and they itched and burned so that I could not sleep but scratched all the time."

COOPE SOME WORKER AT MILITIA QUARTERS

Harry Coope, major, and adjutant general, receiver of complaints, and right-hand man of the brigadier general, is a very important man at Camp Radio, the headquarters of the Washington Guardsmen. In the wall tent to the rear of brigade headquarters line, where the crowd of civilians, officers, orderlies, and sometimes a mother, is always standing in his office. A hand-drawn clock takes his orders, typewrite his letters and listen to the music of work.

Just Published A Diplomat's Wife In Mexico

By EDITH O'SHAUGHNESSY (Mrs. Nelson O'Shaughnessy) Here for the first time—written from the inside—is the truth of what went on behind the scenes before the breaking off of relations between the United States and Mexico. What Americans in Mexico feared; a country in revolution; what diplomats thought of the United States policy; gossip of drawing-rooms and accounts of personal relations with statesmen, soldiers and sailors, with Huerta, Lind, Admiral Fletcher and others, in hours when a diplomatic slip might mean war—all these make the book, written at the time the events took place by the wife of the American Charge-d'Affaires, a contribution to American history, a book to arouse much discussion.
