Notes of Camp Ordway

Sergt. Bernard Rome, of Battery B, has been honorably discharged to permit him to accept a commission as second lieutenant in the Second Field Artillery of the New York militia.

A friend of Lieut. George A. Bonnet, of Battery A, sent him a large quantity of writing paper, with a printed heading, "Camp Ordway," and a corresponding number of envelopes.

The Supply Company now has a mess tent all its own, and a kitchen presided over by Cook John Wolenski. Heretofore the teamsters have been eating with the machine gun company.

Jeremiah O'Hare is a crack teamster of the Supply Company. He expects to enjoy breaking in the new mules that the company has received.

Battery B has a cook force that is hard to beat. The men get enough to eat, and Mess Sergeant Kelley sees that nothing goes to waste. He even preserves the rind of a watermelon that the men had at a feast, and the product was delicious, the men say.

After one of Kelley's dinners an artilleryman was heard to say that he was hungry and that they would not give him "O'Connell's" until they had heard him and told Kelley. The growler was taken into the mess tent, and made to clean a heaped plate of food. He never complained again.

Some visitors have exclaimed, "What a cute little artilleryman." Barry Helwig, 13, Boy Scout, and wearing a regulation artillery uniform, red hat cord and all, is frequently seen in the street of Battery A with his father, Trumpeter A. P. Helwig.

Peter Rockwell, Hugh Robey and Edward Downs, who have had the pleasure of doing kitchen police together in Battery B kitchen, went on guard together the other night. They say the chances of getting extra "eats" are better in the kitchen than in the guard house.

Secretary A. L. Smith, of the Y. M. C. A., sent, has his outfit so that it can be packed and moved by the "motor" machine and electrical generator is part of the outfit. He intends belting power from the rear wheel of his auto to the dynamo, if he is able to take the machine to the border.

Every five days Sergt. Edward Roche's work starts all over again. He is the man who issues "chow" to the Third Infantry.

In addition to the many enlisted men in the batteries who have seen active service in previous years, there is a veteran horse, Belton, No. 50, more commonly called "Old Major." No longer is he the active charger that he was when he pulled a big gun in Porto Rico during the Spanish-American war. He is 22 years old, and entered the service when he was 8 years old. Up to this year he was in active service in Battery E, at Fort Myer, but in January he was condemned and mustered into militia service as a practice horse.

Dr. George J. Allen, who gave up a Washington practice and enlisted as private in the Third Infantry sanitary troops, has been made a sergeant.

Sergt. James F. Kelley, of the sanitary troops, has been made sergeant, first class.

Private James F. Fitzpatrick has been made sergeant in the sanitary troops.

Dr. Lyle C. White, Medical Corps lieutenant, who is assigned to the mounted troops, has established a model infirmary at the end of the B Battery street. Much treatment, up to now given at the post hospital, will be administered there.

Sergt. Guy Hopper, a former regular hospital steward, is assisting Dr. White. He obtained his sergenty when he transferred to the mounted troops from the Third Infantry sanitary troops.

Private George Wiles, of Battery B, has been made second mechanic. There are two more men needed in the Battery B mechanical force. Charles Keefe is acting chief mechanic, and A. F. Bernau is second mechanic.

Aquarium Society Attendance Slim and Speaker Shortens Remarks.

The paper of Dr. R. W. Shufeldt, which was to have been read at the meeting of the Washington Aquarium Society, last night, was given only in outline because of the small attendance. The monthly field days, however, will be held the last Sunday of each month as usual. The destination of the open meeting for July has not yet been decided upon.

GUARDSMAN ON BORDER KICKS TO CONGRESSMAN

Finds Mexican Campaign "Getting to Be Serious Thing"—Working to Death.

Judging from the contents of a "confidential" letter received by a New York member of the House of Representatives in yesterday's mail, the boys of the National Guard are receiving a taste of real soldiering on the Mexican border.

"Doing patrol duty along the border in this Mexican campaign is getting to be a serious thing. Ever since leaving home we have been traveling in old day coaches, with no place to sleep or wash, and are being fed on canned corn beef and hard tack up to the present day.

"The water supply is very bad and getting no water at all for several days is not unusual, let alone a chance to bathe. The army officers are making death as human life means nothing to them.

What to Avoid In Hot Weather

Carelessness Causes Many Ills.

Avoid iced drinks, impure water, unripe food, and eat sparingly of meat. In hot weather excessive thirst causes many people to indulge in iced drinks and other iced liquids injurious to the delicate tissues of the stomach. Physicians are unanimous in declaring that iced drinks, impure water and unripe food cause the major portion of such distressing ills as Diarrhoea, Cholera, Morbus, Typhoid, Cramps and Stomach Aches prevalent at this season.

If you would avoid these distressing complaints begin at once the use of Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey. It is conceded by many physicians to be a most valuable disease preventative. If taken in tablespoonful doses in equal amounts of water or milk before meals and on retiring you can be reasonably sure of protection from disease incident to summer weather. Don't fail to have Duffy's at hand at all times. It is your nearest doctor in case of emergency. Follow the example of thousands of others. "Get Duffy's and Keep Well."

Duffy's is sold in bottles only, $1.00 a bottle, and in a most delicious, palatable and nutritious form in the form of Duffy's Malt Whiskey Co., Rochester, N. Y., Adv.
