

RUBLEE'S APPOINTMENT SUSTAINED BY DAVIES

Chairman of Federal Trade Commission Cites Legal Decisions to Support President's Right.

Joseph E. Davies, chairman of the Federal Trade Commission, defends the right of George Rublee to serve as a member of that body in a letter to President Wilson last night, in which he fortifies his opinion by a large number of legal decisions.

The document is in answer to the Senate resolution offered by Senator Gallinger, requesting by what authority Commissioner Rublee is now acting. Some time ago the senior New Hampshire Senator blocked the confirmation of Rublee by stating he was "personally objectionable."

Chairman Davies, for the commission, declares that the President has constitutional authority to make recess appointments, notwithstanding that the vacancy first happened when the Senate was in session.

Opinions are cited to sustain the belief that the work of Mr. Rublee is not a "voluntary service," even though the controversy develops he has not been paid any money since his incumbency on the board in March, 1915.

Commissioner Rublee has a rough road in his efforts for confirmation. First nominated on February 22, 1915, the Senate adjourned without action on the appointment. On March 5 he was given a recess appointment by the President. On December 10, 1915, his name was again sent to the Senate, and it was rejected on May 15, 1916. On August 1, 1916, Rublee filed his resignation with the President, but the latter asked him to continue to serve.

M'LEAN CASE SET ASIDE

Justice Continues Hearing on Suit Over Late Financier's Private Letters Filed by Son.

Justice Stafford, of the District Supreme Court, yesterday signed an order continuing until today the hearing on the motion to dissolve the temporary injunction instituted by Edward B. McLean, son of the late John R. McLean, against Francis T. Homer, of Baltimore.

The injunction was for the purpose of restraining Homer from surrendering certain private letters and personal papers of the late publisher and financier to the American Security and Trust Company, executors of the McLean estate.

Young McLean is also given until today to file his answer to that part of the answer of the American Security and Trust Company setting up new matter.

The hearing on the motion originally was set for August 9, but was postponed to give McLean an opportunity to answer to the charges of the trust company. Mr. Homer filed his answer by mail. The action yesterday was asked because of the absence from the city of members of McLean's counsel. Counsel for both parties involved agreed to the continuation.

CAUGHT IN VICE RAID

Philadelphia, Aug. 22.—Alice Allen and Reba Haines, two young women who were arrested in the vice resorts last month, were arraigned today before Judge McMichael in Quarter Sessions Court and both pleaded guilty to frequenting a disorderly house on North Eleventh street, near Fairmont avenue.

The court was informed that neither of the young women was known to the police and in the case of Alice Allen an aunt of the young woman appeared and said that she had had a good religious training and it was a great surprise to her when she heard that her niece was in such trouble.

The young woman said she had visited the house with a male companion for the first time three weeks before her arrest. She tearfully expressed her sorrow and begged to be given a chance to reform. The judge allowed her to go on probation.

TRAINEN SAY GOLDEN GOOSE ISN'T MENAGED

Officials of the four railroad brotherhoods yesterday, in a published statement, paralleled the situation to the title of the Golden Goose. The statement follows:

"Don't Kill the Goose That Lays the Golden Egg!" "Every day or so this old bromide is bandied to the railroad men and, reduced to a 'basic' proposition, what does it mean?"

"We remember the old story of the chap who found out one morning that his goose had laid a golden egg. "Being an avaricious fellow, he wanted all out of that goose he could get, and he wanted it right away. So, he beamed the goose, and thereby closed down the works. The inference is that he lived poorer, wiser, and unhappier the rest of his days."

"This is old stuff; it used to be good stuff, but it is not good stuff any more. We have been feeding this goose until it has become so gorged; where it has not been squeezed too much, it is a healthy goose, so there is not much alarm over its general state of health."

"It is also a fat goose, and, viewing all the phases of the situation, railroad men believe the admonition 'not to kill the goose,' means keep on, feeding the goose ten hours a day and let the bosses gather the eggs, which may not hold to the high pressure average if the goose is fed eight hours a day."

ASKS CATHOLIC CHURCH TO GIVE UNITED VOTE

(By the International News Service.) New York, Aug. 22.—Roman Catholics of the United States were urged to organize and make their influence more strongly felt in national politics, at a mass meeting of the German Catholic Central Verein at Cooper Union tonight.

The main address was made by James F. Zipt, of St. Louis, head of Gonzaga Union.

Although the speaker asked that the 2,000,000 Roman Catholic voters of the country utilize their suffrage for the advancement of the work of the church, he made it clear that he was opposed to a religious party for the purpose. He said in part:

"The Catholic cause demands a full, conscious participation in the rights and duties of citizenship and the duties of civil life. The true Catholic is always an ardent patriot. Citizenship and the Catholic cause demand that we do not pass up lightly the privilege of suffrage; that thereby we may assist in bringing about proper conditions in public life."

"That very number places in our hands a power to be used in works of civic betterment, in works of mercy and of peace. When the Catholic army is uplifted, let it be for construction, and never for destruction."

STREET ORATOR'S CASE POSTPONED ONE WEEK

The case of Julian Pierce, Socialist orator, who was arrested a week ago for speaking on the street without a permit, was continued for another week yesterday when it was brought up in the Police Court.

Mr. Brashear, chief counsel for the Socialist Party, which has taken over the defense of Pierce, said that a continuance was obtained with the consent of the Corporation Counsel in order that Pierce and other counsel might confer and elect the manner of trial to which Pierce will submit.

"If we lose our case in the Police Court next Wednesday morning," said Mr. Brashear, "we will carry it to the District Supreme Court. This is a free speech fight, and if we do not win the case earlier I think we have good grounds for carrying it to the Supreme Court of the United States."

E. Hilton Jackson will aid Mr. Brashear in the case.

RUSSIANS REST IN EAST AS ALLIES BEGIN BALKAN DRIVE

London, Aug. 22.—Coincidentally with the news of the landing of Russian troops at Saloniki for co-operation in the ensuing campaign in Macedonia, official and unofficial dispatches from the eastern front during the last twenty-four hours report a lull along the whole battle line, with local fighting still under way in Volhynia, forty miles north-east of Kovel, and in the Carpathians.

The belief prevails among some military experts here that the Russians are content with the successes achieved up to date by Gen. Brusiloff's great offensive in Volhynia, Galicia, and the Carpathians and have decided to reap the fruits of the weakening of the Austrians during the last two and a half months by withdrawing strong forces from the eastern frontier for the Macedonian campaign.

BED PROVES POOR BANK.

Baltimorean Deposited $235 in It, But Cash Is Gone.

Baltimore, Aug. 22.—That a mattress is not as safe a place as a bank to keep money was learned by Michael Konlock yesterday. Michael, his eyes filled with tears, called at detective headquarters this morning and said he had been robbed of his savings amounting to $235.

Michael used a mattress as his place of deposit, and every week would place away so much money. He left his house at 7 o'clock yesterday morning and when he returned at 11 o'clock the money was gone.

MOVEMENTS OF VESSELS. Annapolis sailed for maneuvers, Aug. 21; Annapolis sailed for maneuvers, Aug. 21; Annapolis sailed for maneuvers, Aug. 21.

he may be required by the board for examination to determine his fitness for transfer to the Field Artillery.

Where eight men used to sleep now ten cots are placed. The new pyramidal tents have much more room than the old style conical tents, many of which have been condemned.

It is a most unusual thing to get ten days' leave, even after pleading with the captain, and when the first sergeant of Company D handed Private W. L. Harris, who had not even suggested that he wanted leave, a pass for ten days he was astonished. It is all very mysterious but Private Harris will take the leave without any questions asked.

Joseph A. Furbershaw, of Company D, has just been promoted to a sergeant. He recently constructed a chair for the parking in front of his tent out of a two-by-four post, an old plank and some saplings from the wood nearby.

Wagoner Charles L. Sincow, of the supply company, is on duty in the Y. M. C.

A. tent from 7 to 10 o'clock each evening, answering the telephone and helping Chaplain A. L. Smith in other ways.

The quartet that sang at the recruiting vaudeville performance in the northeast was from Company I and was made up of Sergt. Frank Fogarty, Privates Ernest Luskey, Frank Esher, and Howard Cole.

Sergt. Milo Atkinson and Corp. Jimmy Quade, of Company D, gave their sharpshooting exhibition.

Sergt. J. E. Taylor, at the expiration of his enlistment three weeks ago, decided to re-enlist for the fourth time. He did so under one condition, that he was to have three weeks' furlough. He spent the leave at Atlantic City and swam in the surf while his companions were drilling in the hot sunshine.

Guidon Daniel Herzog, of Battery A, who runs the canteen, has decided upon the capacity of the battery for ice cream. It is one quart per man each time the canteen buys ice cream. There is usually a rush and the supply is quickly sold out. The battery has a regular tent store with a tent fly in front for the men to loiter under while a phonograph plays.

Corporal William Ahern is the subject of a cartoon publicly posted on the bulletin board of Company H, and he does not like it. It shows him with a swollen jaw, and the legend tells that he went to the city to see a dentist about the swelling. Off to one side is a picture of a private drilling hard and saying "Pretty soft, Ahern." This is what Ahern objects to. L. Fowler is the name signed to the cartoon.

Company E now has W. H. Cummings, formerly sergeant gunner in the Coast Artillery at Fort Monroe for six years for its first sergeant. He has started his administration by posting a terse sign: "Notice—Keep out, attend to business and depart."

When Troop A was having horse equipment issued to it the other day Private J. B. Mulford came hurriedly to Capt. J. H. Washburn and complained of receiving two left-handed stirrups. Sergt. Bebout registered a complaint a little later that his left stirrup was longer than his right. Capt. J. H. Washburn says that the ordnance department continually is making these mistakes and that he had similar trouble with his last issue of tent anchors, other tent line, saber ammunition and other purely mythical supplies.

Because a playful artilleryman emptied the powder from a .45 caliber pistol cartridge onto a candle, Private H. D. Robertson nearly lost the sight of an eye when he lighted the candle. The powder flamed up and burned his eye. His injury is improving now.

Private William Deffer, of Company C, used to be motorcycle orderly to the regiment. He isn't any longer. The other night while running along Canal road, near Georgetown, he and his passenger, David C. Chesedine, crashed into a Ford automobile and his motorcycle was put out of commission. Neither of the motorists were hurt.

David H. Blakelock, sergeant in the Machine Gun Company, who has been nominated for second lieutenant, has decided that if the District Guard does no more than stay in camp at Fort Myer, he would rather be colonel of cadets at Cornell and finish his college education. He also will take an examination for second lieutenant in

HART-BELL CARBON REMOVER
CARBON REMOVED BY LIVE STEAM
Loss of Compression—sooted cylinders—oil—these are some of the results of carbon deposits in your engine.
The Hart-Bell is easily attached—safe—and cleans every particle of carbon out by introducing live steam into the firing chambers while the engine is running. The carbon is loosened and blown out through the exhaust.
Carbon Cannot Be Dissolved
That is pretty generally established—no solvent can remove carbon from the use of the Hart-Bell. Let us show it to you.
