SCHOOLS READY FOR OPENING TOMORROW

Superintendent Thurston Expects 50,000 to Register by End of October.

"A good start is half the battle, and we are opening the schools tomorrow with the best start we have ever had," said Superintendent Thurston today after a night spent in watching how the artists and artesses from Greenwich Village and Washington square bohemian.

The majority opinion had it that Rogue's Ball, first costume wriggle of the season, had furnished just about all the snap and verve the laws of this State permit. The title lured them. One could see the rogues glint in their eyes as the boys and girls and parents and grandparents of other girls and boys climbed to the party landing as early as midnight.

It is possible, according to the superintendent, that supervision of study in the class rooms will be adopted. "This is really an important thing and a progressive measure," he said, "and would render unnecessary home study for most of the pupils."

REPUBLICANS PLAYED BY PRESIDENT WILSON

that they never succeeded. Because the people of the United States are an inquisitive people and if you ask them to entrust you with the great power of their government they really want to know what you are going to do with that government if they entrust it with it.

"For a little while, I myself expected that this campaign would be an interesting, intellectual contest; that on both sides men would draw upon some of the essential questions of politics in determining the predominance of parties, but I am sorry to say that I have found nothing to interest me, and I am a little bit ashamed of myself that I should have expected it, for I should have known better."

"The Republican party as now constituted and led believes in government by the attorneys of special interests. "One of the things that they are most constantly talking about is the protective tariff, and there was a time when a very wide talking of counsel entered into the formation of our tariffs but toward the end then a small group of selected counsellors always determined what the items of the tariff should be. The only persons heard were the attorneys for the special interests and the attorneys for the people could batter at the door as they pleased and never get a hearing."

"The end of such a party was foredoomed, and now the party that believes in the people and tries to do things for the people has been in power for four years. And what has happened? It has redeemed some of the promises falsely made by the attorneys for the special interests. And it has done something more interesting than that."

"This country is progressive, and if you youngsters are going to be in the running you will throw in your fortunes with the party of which the progressives have control. "I am a progressive. I do not spell it with a capital P, but I think my pace is just as fast as those who do."

"Over the ranks of the supporters of the Republican party did you ever see a more motley company in your life. If they moved in any direction, they would have to move in many directions. Back of that party are those who want to inject into our politics the politics of Europe, but not all who have that purpose in mind are on the same side."

"Am I not right in saying that we must draw the conclusion that if the Republican party is put into power at the next election our foreign policy will be radically changed? I cannot see any other inference. All our present foreign policy is wrong, they say, and if it is wrong, and they are men of conscience they must change it. And if they are going to change it, in what direction are they going to change it? There is only one choice as against peace, and that is war."

"War Only Alternative. "The certain prospect of the success of the Republican party is that we shall be drawn in one form or another into embroilments of the European war and that to the south of us the force of the United States will be used to produce in Mexico the kind of lawless order which some American investors in Mexico consider most to their advantage."

"From this time until the 7th of November it is going to be practically impossible for the present administration to handle any critical matter concerning our foreign relations because all foreign statements are waiting to see which way the election goes and in the meantime they know that settlements will be inconclusive. The conference which is being held with regard to Mexican affairs is embarrassed every day by the apparent evidence which is being produced that hostility to Mexico is being traded upon by one of the great political parties."

"The one thing I want to lay emphasis upon in this connection is this, that a great fundamental, final choice, with regard to our foreign relationships is to be made on the 7th of November. Men who love to see peace and peaceful force expended by America for the service of the world ought to be interested in that."

"Then, changing his line of attack, the President said: "Controlled Treasury. "Until the present administration, Wall Street controlled the actions of the Treasury of the United States. When I say 'Wall Street' I mean some parts of Wall Street, and I leave you to select the part. Why? My fellow citizens, it even had a desk in the Treasury Department. Many of these gentlemen honestly believe that only they understand the interests of the country and they were uneasy to have the Treasury conducted without their consent."

"And again I have received intimations from these quarters that they would very much like to be consulted and I have invariably returned the answer that if these gentlemen have any advice to give, I should be most glad to receive it. But they would not accept that kind of an invitation. They wanted to be sent for, and they wanted to be reasonably certain before they went that their advice would be taken. So, since that they would not volunteer to come here, we have an ability to conduct the Treasury of the United States without their assistance."

BOHEMIANS REVEL AT COSTUME WRIGGLE

Nature, Smeared with Paint, Makes Up for Lack of Draperies.

New York, Sept. 30.—Bohe-e-mians from Harlem, Brooklyn and the Bronx left Webster Hall in East Eleventh street along about sun-up today after a night spent in watching how the artists and artesses from Greenwich Village and Washington square bohemian.

The majority opinion had it that Rogue's Ball, first costume wriggle of the season, had furnished just about all the snap and verve the laws of this State permit. The title lured them. One could see the rogues glint in their eyes as the boys and girls and parents and grandparents of other girls and boys climbed to the party landing as early as midnight.

It is possible, according to the superintendent, that supervision of study in the class rooms will be adopted. "This is really an important thing and a progressive measure," he said, "and would render unnecessary home study for most of the pupils."

SPITE FENCE TO GO

Chicago, Sept. 30.—A fence two city blocks long and said to be the longest spite fence in the world, will be torn down to make room for an apartment building.

The fence, eight feet high, was built years ago by Thomas E. Wells, because he wanted to shut out from his sight the B. Barry, Henderson Cornett, Carl E. Andreen, Fred M. Nesler, and William R. Pherson.

AGED WOMAN KNOCKED DOWN BY AUTO TRUCK

Knocked down by an automobile delivery wagon while crossing the plaza at Union Station late yesterday afternoon, Mrs. Catherine Marquard, 66 years old, of 642 F street northeast, was taken to Casualty Hospital suffering from concussion of the brain and shock.

According to witnesses of the accident the aged woman was about to cross the plaza and had just stepped from the curb at First street and Massachusetts avenue northeast when an automobile of the Eagle Bedding Company, driven by Abraham Krupaw, of 737 Twenty-first street northwest, struck her and knocked her to the street. The woman fell in such a position that the automobile passed over her without any of the wheels touching her.

TROWEL CLUB ADDRESSED BY REV. D. H. MARTIN

Deploing the fact that the District lacks the franchise, and that there are "few able men to guide the country's future," that our flag has been "insulted and spit upon," but extolling our "from of government and stating that if "Europeans had the same government as the United States, there would have been no war," Rev. D. H. Martin, of Dumfries M. E. Church, made a ringing address to the members of the Trowel Club of Master Masons, of the Interior Department, at the New Ebbitt Hotel last night.

It was "Land Office" night for the Masons, who enjoyed a program arranged by Cyrus Root, of the Land Office. H. F. Hildebrand, of Baltimore, gave a monologue and ventriloquist entertainment. In the absence of President Phillip Rieflin, W. T. Paine presided.

German Flier Killed

London, Sept. 30.—Lieut. Muizer, one of the leading German aviators, has been killed in an air battle on the western front, according to a Central News despatch from Amsterdam.

KNITTED NIGHTIES NOT NEEDED ALONG BORDER

Red Cross Asks Sister Susie to Turn Efforts to Comfort Kits.

No more knitting knotty "nighties" for the soldiers on the border! Sister Susie, please stop sewing shirts that fail to fill the order. Typhus bags and dust protectors merely take the "Com. Sarge's" time. Comfort kits are what are wanted for the boys who guard the line.

And so one might go on if he had the words to rhyme through the whole list of articles sent by wives and sweethearts to the men doing border duty. A dispatch from El Paso to the Red Cross headquarters asks that friends and admirers cease sending goggles, abdominal bands, typhus bags, shirts, sweaters, and other such things and devote their energies to the making and equipping of common kits, which the soldiers can use and actually need.

All other articles are well supplied by the War Department. Officers have been embarrassed by the quantity of useless donations and have in many instances been obliged to give them to the civilian needy near the camps. Surgical dressings and hospital supplies, which have inundated the Red Cross stations, are not needed, according to the director of the bureau of supplies, Surgeon T. W. Richards, of the department of military relief of the American Red Cross.

"IL TROVATORE" ENDS ABORN'S FIRST WEEK

At the National Theater last night the Aborn Opera Company closed the first week of its engagement with "remarkably good presentation of Verdi's popular opera, 'Il Trovatore.'"

Edith Helena as Leonora, Lillian Eubank as Azucena, Giuseppe Agostini as Manrico, and Milio Picco as Count di Luna, all gave excellent vocal and dramatic renderings and were recalled by prolonged applause after many of the familiar arias. The stage settings for the eight scenes were notably handsome for a production at popular prices.

DISTRICT EMPLOYEES HONOR MAJ. SCHLEY

"Send My Pork and Beans to New Orleans," sang Henry Lewis at Keith's Theater, "rendering" a song dedicated to Maj. Julian T. Schley, who was the honor guest last night of a group of District officials and employees at a box party, preceding a smoker, on the eve of his departure for New Orleans for duty as engineer in charge of the engineering corps office in the Crescent City.

From Keith's the party of a hundred or more of Maj. Schley's associates in his four years of service as Assistant Engineering Commissioner of the District went to the oak room at the Raleigh for a social session. There was an assemblage of these same friends of Maj. Schley in the District Building before the performance at Keith's, when a number of talks were made.
