"MAN OF PEACE" SHOUTS HUGHES

Candidate Denies Vigorously He Favors Entering War.

(By the International News Service.) Lincoln, Neb., Oct. 14.—From dawn until far into the night Charles E. Hughes stumped the broad prairies of Nebraska, telling the farmers he was "a man of peace" and denouncing the administration for "having gotten us into several petty, indefensible, inexcusable wars."

He declared only careful application of the Republican protective tariff doctrine could save American business from ruinous depression after the war. He told other men at the junction point, at Wyoming, that they were handed a "cold brick" in the eight-hour law. He kept pounding home the cases of inefficiency and extravagance of the administration.

He talked his greatest applause when he talked of peace.

Vice President Marshall has just preceded Mr. Hughes through the State, declaring that election of a Republican administration this fall meant war. The governor took occasion to answer the charge of his speech at Fairbury.

"I have heard it said since I came into Nebraska that some one has been going through the State saying that a vote for me meant a vote for war," he said. "Did you ever hear a more preposterous proposition to present to men? I am a man of peace. I have been spending my life in maintaining the institutions of peace. I desire in my way to promote international peace. Who can think without horror of the ravages of war? Who can desire war? I do not desire petty wars. I do not desire war in Mexico to satisfy a personal vindictiveness against a disliked ruler. I do not like that kind of war."

After reviewing the administration's course in Mexico, he continued: "Do not talk to me of a policy of peace in the face of a record like that. That is war, ignominious war. I believe in peace, in peace maintained with honor. I believe in peace that is maintained with self-respect. I believe in peace in a world where we desire the friendship of all, and all desire the friendship of this nation; a peace which recognizes and maintains the dignity of American citizenship."

"That is the right course of prosperity and stability. It is a great mistake to depart from it. We have had no situation in which responsible and careful conduct could not easily keep us out of war. We have had in Mexico a situation where we set into a policy of war and as I have said, an ignominious war."

ALLEGED OPIUM QUEEN KEEPS IDENTITY SECRET

Once Beautiful White Girl Arrested with Chinese Deft.

(Special to The Washington Herald.) San Francisco, Cal., Oct. 14.—Grace Le Marr, formerly a girl of remarkable beauty, but now a pitiful human wreck through opium, is to be sent to a hospital instead of to prison. It was determined by the Oakland police. Miss Le Marr was arrested in a raid on an opium den at No. 1038 Webster street, Oakland. She was in company with Lung Jew, a Chinese whom Federal authorities claim to have been connected with a big opium syndicate involved in opium smuggling.

The girl admitted to the police that she is Irene Gibson, known to traffickers in opium as "The Queen of the High-Siders." Her life amid the evil customs of the notorious high-sider means brought on consumption, and so hastened the ravages of that disease that she is now in its last stages.

"Yes, my name is Irene Gibson and I have been arrested before by Federal authorities in an opium raid," she said. "I care not if you call me Irene Gibson or Grace Le Marr. Those are assumed names. No one will ever know my real name."

The Oakland police have learned the girl's family is prominent in Sacramento.

U. S. CLERK HELD

Treasury Employee Charged with Stealing Bank Notes.

Mark Laetham, 36 years old, a clerk in the Treasury Department, yesterday was released on $10,000 bond, following his arraignment before United States Commissioner Isaac R. Hitt on the charge of violating Section 7 of the United States Penal Code, prohibiting the purloining of United States property.

The charges were made by W. H. Moran, assistant chief of the Secret Service. Two $2 notes found at his home at the time of his arrest were all that remained of $50 worth of unsigned bank notes said to have been appropriated by Laetham.

Laetham, who lives with his family at 111 U Street northwest, pleaded not guilty before Commissioner Hitt, and his hearing was postponed until Tuesday to enable him to obtain counsel. Assistant District Attorney Charles W. Arth is prosecuting the case. It was learned last night that the charges will be broadened to include the full scope of the act alleged to have been committed.

Evidence was produced by Moran tending to show that Laetham, an employee of the Auditing Office in the department, while detailed on special work as a clerk, stole five sheets of unsigned bank notes, each sheet containing one $20 and three $10 notes, and after signing fictitious names for the officers of the banks on which they were drawn, disposed of the notes for his own benefit.

The warrant, issued by the District Attorney, Helan and Pratt, of the Central office, who arrested Laetham at the Treasury Department.

Federal officials believe the notes were drawn on the Sheffield National Bank, but they are not certain of the name or location of the bank. The names used in forging the notes were not disclosed. It is believed that the officers will press the prosecution of Laetham. It is the first case in years where such a bold attempt has been made to remove money or notes from the Treasury.

CLUB HOUSE PLANNED BY CAVALRY SQUADRON

Structure to Cost $10,000 Will Be Erected by "President's Own."

A club house, to cost $10,000, is being planned for the First Cavalry Squadron, Federal Reserve National Guard. Every recruit signs over his government pay to the treasury of the squadron. The money thus realized will be used for the expenses of the outfit and to furnish a sinking fund for the construction of the club house.

The announcement of the building of the clubhouse is expected to add further impetus to the recruiting, which already has been phenomenal in number and quality of members secured. Club features which are advertised are attractions which few can resist.

Troop A of the squadron now is on the border; Troop B has already signed seventy-one of the eighty-eight men required after only four days of recruiting. Troop C will begin organization this week, and Troop D composed of local young men without college or business affiliation, will be formed when the other troops are completely recruited.

The entire squadron will be part of the District National Guard and will serve as an escort for the President on State occasions. It has already been dubbed "The President's Own."

Capt. E. M. Nevils, of Troop B, says every man will be expected to drill at least twenty-two hours every year. Enlistments are for a period of three years with three years in the reserve. Service uniforms will be furnished by the government.

The troops will be provided with 22 horses, and arrangements are being made now for winter quarters for troops A and B. Congress is expected to provide an armory for the squadron as soon as recruiting is completed.

A SUGGESTION FOR NEUTRALS.

Might Use Interned German Ships to Replace Those Torpedoed.

London, Oct. 14.—Neutral nations are offered the suggestion that they use German ships interned in their ports to compensate them for submarine losses by the shipping correspondent of the Times. Discussing the world shortage in tonnage, the correspondent says: "There are ninety German ships in the Chilean harbors. Chile, like all neutrals, is suffering from lack of tonnage. Therefore, in the view of British ship-owners, Chile, if she will not use these ships to export her products to Europe, should be asked to lease them to a power which can employ them and who will indemnify her for any loss in port and harbor charges."

While the Germans were being hampered south of the Somme, the French launched successful attacks against the Teutons north of the river, in the vicinity of Bouchavesnes.

The official night report from Paris follows: "South of the Somme our troops made two brilliant attacks. One attack north-east of Belloy-en-Santerre, put us in possession of the first German line on a front of two kilometers; the other resulted in the capture of the hamlet of Guermont and the sugar factory 1,200 meters northeast of Ablaincourt. We have counted up to now 800 un wounded prisoners, of whom seventeen were officers. "There was only intermittent cannonading on the remainder of the front."

ROUMANIA HOLDS TEUTONS AT BAY

Desperately Defends Own Soil from Invasion.

(By the International News Service.) London, Oct. 14.—The Rumanian first and second armies, beaten and torn all but annihilated in their attempted invasion of Transylvania, have turned at their frontier and, at bay and desperate, are fiercely resisting the Teutonic invasion of their soil.

Their heroic effort to repel the forces of the Central powers is to be led by King Ferdinand himself, according to a report from Bucharest. Russian reinforcements also are being hurried forward.

Berlin, while admitting that at one point west of Vulcan Pass the Rumanians have gained a foothold on the line of the ridge of hills which form the commanding position in that sector, reports that on the eastern Transylvania front the Rumanians are still in retreat and are being hard pressed by the Austro-Germans.

Northeast of Kronstadt, where the Rumanians suffered their most disastrous defeat a fortnight ago, the troops of King Ferdinand have recaptured a village on Rumanian soil southeast of the town of Buzova, in the region of the capture up to now, on all its fronts, of 15,000 prisoners.

The report issued at Bucharest says: "The enemy has retired at Predeluz. At Predeluz we repelled two attacks. Our troops have been obliged to retire from Gualva to Rucur." In the region of Jul we have captured by assault Mount Sigulella and Lunelunare. The enemy suffered heavy losses and withdrew in disorder."
