

President and Mrs. Wilson Attend Christening of Baby Sayre.

The President and Mrs. Wilson arrived at the White House yesterday for the christening of the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Bowes Sayre.

The ceremony took place in the afternoon and the President acted as godfather for the baby, which was named Eleanor Arson, for Mrs. Sayre's mother.

The Presidential party, which also includes Miss Margaret Wilson, Miss Helen Woodrow Bone, and Dr. and Mrs. Cary T. Grayson, will leave Washington this afternoon, making the trip from Rhinecliff to New York aboard the Mayflower.

Rear Admiral and Mrs. Richardson Clavin were hosts at a large dinner party last evening at their residence in New Hampshire avenue, entertaining in compliment to the wedding party which will attend their daughter, Miss Beatrice Clavin and Miss Thelma Holcomb, Jr., at their marriage today.

Maj. Gen. and Mrs. George Barnett entertained at a luncheon yesterday at the commandant's residence at the Marine Barracks in compliment to Miss Beatrice Clavin and her fiancé, Maj. Thomas Holcomb.

The luncheon was served at small tables, each decorated with a centerpiece of white lilies. The Marine Band played during the luncheon and during the informal dance which followed.

The engagement was recently announced of Miss Beatrice Clavin, daughter of former Senator and Mrs. Marion Butler, of North Carolina, to Capt. Thomas Dupuy Woodson, Medical Corps, U. S. A.

Miss Butler, who was presented to society at the Capital two seasons ago, is a great favorite and one of the most attractive girls of the younger set.

Mr. and Mrs. Edson Bradley will return to Washington today and will spend several days at their home in Dupont Circle, en route to North Carolina.

Mr. and Mrs. Willard Saulsbury, of Wilmington, Del., have arrived in Washington to spend a few days and are stopping at the Shoreham.

Others at the Shoreham are: Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Jenkins, of Philadelphia; Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Balinger, of Pittsburgh; Mr. J. E. Harlow, of Newport, R. I.; Mr. J. E. Ferguson, of Roanoke, Va.; Mr. C. C. Crawford, of Martinsburg, W. Va.; Miss Louise Quinn, of Wheeling, W. Va.; Miss Jean Bowers, of Martinsburg, W. Va.; and Mrs. Mary Knox, of New York.

Mrs. Samuel Mulliken and Miss Helen P. Mulliken of Washington, have returned from Connecticut and are stopping at the Wolcott Hotel in New York City for a few days before returning home.

Miss Edith Gracie will entertain fourteen guests at dinner this evening in compliment to her house guest, Miss Esther Jean Bochman, of Philadelphia.

THOMSON SCHOOL LEADS IN PAPER COLLECTIONS

Children Gather 690 Pounds for Week. Carberry Second. The Thomson School, with 690 pounds of paper collected by the children, took the lead this week in the paper-gathering campaign conducted by the public school children.

Those winning second and third places are the Carberry School, with 556 pounds, and the Seaton, with 556 pounds. The total amount for all schools is 6,798 pounds of paper.

One of the schools that contributed a very large amount last week is not in the list this week. Making allowance for this, the amount collected on Thursday is greater than that collected on Thursday of last week.

The following list gives the number of pounds of paper collected by the public schools visited yesterday: Gates, 57; Ketcham, 555; Buchanan, 649; Hilton, 427; Van Buren, 375; Arthur, 268; Payne, 351; Wallach, 318; Abbott, 187; Edmonds, 174; Bryan, 151; Birney, 141; Maury, 113; Blake, 109; Peabody, 109; Cranch, 92; Lovejoy, 83; Franklin, 79; Tyler, 41; Webster, 36, and Towers, 35.

HOROSCOPE.

"The stars incline, but do not compel." Saturday, November 11, 1916. This should be a lucky day, for Neptune and Venus are strongly benefic in aspect.

It is a time in which all love affairs should prosper, which encourages the sentimental and poetic influences to give impulse to romance. It is a favorable time for weddings and social entertainments that bring men and women together.

Plans through dealings in clothing, millinery, jewelry, paintings and whatever pleases the tastes of women should be profitable under this leading of the planets.

The drama has the best possible influences today. Success through a serious play is prophesied. Young actresses and singers come into a channel of success in this period, which eliminates the old and established in art as well as business.

Severe losses are prophesied for a New York theatrical manager, who has made a fortune in some outside venture. Toronto and Winnipeg as well as other cities in Canada will experience a winter that is eventful and on the whole rather fortunate in unexpected benefits, the seers predict.

Extraordinary changes and shifts in population are indicated for certain Eastern cities. There is a sign indicating that Japan will meet with present new problems within the year.

Again danger on the high seas is presaged. Shipwrecks and heavy losses are indicated for the United States. Scandals in regard to the maintenance and management of railroads are predicted.

Waste of funds raised for relief in Europe will cause a sensation, according to an English astrologer. Severe exposures of a conspiracy may cause a world-wide scandal in 1917.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the forecast of good fortune and with care they will attain success. Children born on this day probably will enjoy life. They will be favored with persons of opposite sex.

GROTTO PLANS CEREMONIAL.

Neophytes to Be Admitted on Night of November 27. So successful was the October ceremonial of Kallipolis Grotto that in compliance with numerous requests Monarch George H. Emmons, Jr., has consented to hold another on the night of November 27.

Monarch Emmons, with the assistance of his officers and workers, is completing an elaborate program. A strong plea is made for a large class of candidates with the assurance that the evening's entertainment will fully justify the effort, and that the amount of good things will be largely measured by the number of petitions.

The wise automobile buyer is the man who places his order now, even though he does not wish his car until spring. Day by day cars are getting harder to get and from reports that are current there is very apt to be another increase in price by the first of the year if not before. In fact most of the manufacturers, even though they are not, made one advance in price, are contemplating another boost. Raw material is going up and contracts are expiring. The market is becoming more open, and buying at advance prices now does not mean that one has to take a car right away. Delivery dates can be specified far in advance if one so wishes.

Of late there has been a large number of tourists passing through Washington on their way South. In former years these people shipped their cars, being afraid to chance the Washington-Richmond Highway, especially the Champagne Swamp district. This stretch is now passable and the Touring Bureau of the A. A. A. is routing on an average of 100 parties a day over it. How many more make the trip without the objections of the bureau is hard to figure. When this road is finished, which will be the first of the year, it is estimated that it will mean the bringing of a large number of eastern people through Washington who want to see the South, but now go via the Valley road. These people, it is conservatively estimated, will spend in the neighborhood of $50,000 annually in Washington, quite a neat sum.

Folk We Touch in Passing THE IMPEDIMENT.

Discouraged that her adherence to right-living, right-thinking—the career, sweet decency of life—had brought her no meteoric success in her career, she turned her feet into The Eastward Way.

Whereupon she found the path blocked by habits of honor that through the years she had woven like golden threads into the warp and woof of her life.

"Yes," commented The Gossip, "little Marie Bainbridge has come right along. Why, a year ago Broadway had never heard her name. Now see it flashing its message of brilliant accomplishment to every passerby from the big electric sign over the theater."

The wandering thoughts of The Girl came back with a jerk to her caller. So accustomed was she to The Gossip's laudatory verbal ramblings that she felt it quite safe to give liberty to her own cogitation over personal perplexities while her caller talked, but the twist of comment to the little star, who had suddenly electrified the gay metropolis in the season's biggest dramatic hit quickened The Girl's brain to attention.

"And who would have thought she had it in her?" The Gossip wanted to know. Whereupon The Girl kept her peace, for she, like everyone else, knew just where and how the new luminary had won her chance of fame and fortune. The Gossip laughed at her silence as she rose to take her leave.

"Isn't the most unsullied topic for conversation of which I know, but then, my dear, Marie's success is everybody's secret," she declared.

Along The Girl tried to turn her attention to her own difficult problems, but somehow or other her tired brain kept visualizing the schoolmate in whom a great producer had recognized charm and ability, giving his master direction to its development. And it had come to pass that nobody made any bones about the manner of the recognition. It had come to the great genius of stage craft through a personal attraction for little Marie Bainbridge, who had accidentally flitted one day across his path. And now she enjoyed the homage of the world because of her rare gift of entertainment and the exquisite artistry which her teacher had injected into it. Marie enjoyed apartments in a magnificent hotel, and her liaison with the man who was enjoying the artistic triumph seemed in no way to trouble her blunted conscience to deprive her of any whit of the world's adulation.

In vivid contrast the life of The Girl rose in her mind.
