SCIENTISTS TO MEET HERE.

Scanning the program of the National Academy of Sciences for its annual meeting at the National Museum on April 16, 17 and 18 is enough to give devotees of scientific spelling an awful shock. Such subjects as the "Sporosony of Malarial Parasites," Photomicrographs of Infected Anopheles, and other subjects of interest to scientists are on the list for discussion. Among those who will tell of the work of the National Research Council will be George E. Hale, chairman of the National Research Council; Charles D. Walcott, chairman of the military committee of the National Research Council; Robert Andrews Millikan, of the physics committee; Marston Taylor Bogert, of the chemistry committee, and Victor Clarence Vaughn, of the "committee on medicine and hygiene."

URGES T. R. AS RECRUIT CHIEF.

New York, April 14.—R. G. Cholmeley Jones, of New York, today telegraphed President Wilson urging that Col. Theodore Roosevelt be appointed chief recruiting officer of the Federal government. Having made a study of the recruiting situation over a period of several months, he believes organized recruiting is greatly needed and points to former President Roosevelt as the greatest individual recruiting force in the country.

GREAT TRUST LAWYER DEAD AT AGE OF 75

John G. Johnson, Philadelphia Corporation Attorney, Succumbs. Philadelphia, April 14.—John G. Johnson, one of the greatest corporation lawyers in the United States, died at his home here early today. Heart disease was the cause of his death. Mr. Johnson had been ill only two days. He was 75 years old and was the legal head of the Sugar trust, United States Steel Corporation, Pennsylvania Railroad, Standard Oil, Tobacco trust, and other corporations. He seldom appeared in court, except in Supreme Court cases. He was identified with the recent Standard Oil vs. United States government case. Johnson was known to be not only one of the world's greatest, but one of the world's most modest lawyers. Despite the fact that he has been called into consultation in many of the most important pieces of litigation which have been argued during the past forty years, few persons outside of Philadelphia, other than lawyers, have knowledge of his work. Two Presidents of the United States asked Johnson to sit on the Supreme bench, and one asked him to become a member of his Cabinet as Attorney General. But the Philadelphia lawyer's modesty would not permit him to accept a portfolio which would bring him into the eye of the general public.

Cruiser Mystery Suspect Exonerated by Owner

Robert L. Gillies, of Philadelphia, the inventor whose cruiser was cut from her moorings early yesterday morning, presumably by alien enemies, deprecated the suspicion that an employe, Jacob W. Janon, 26, and also of Philadelphia, was in any way implicated in the alleged plot to sink the little cruiser. Mr. Gillies has just completed several government-tested "war" inventions, and the plans and specifications of them were concealed on his boat, which was moored at the Cumberland wharf at the foot of F street northwest. Detective Sergeant Springman and Haight, of police headquarters, are now in Philadelphia on an investigation of the circumstances connected with the case.

Wood Garrison No. 55, Army and Navy union will hold a dance the evening of April 25 at Marine Barracks to assist the mother of Chief Gunner's Mate Epopoluci, the American seaman who lost his life when the steamer Artee was torpedoed off the coast of France by a German submarine. Epopoluci was the sole support of his mother and his death has left her in destitute circumstances. The services of the Marine Band and the use of the hall have been contributed by the government.

FRENCH TARS HAILED AS BROTHERS IN ARMS

Crowds Sing "Marseillaise" and Cheer Sailors of Sister Republic. A feverish patriotic demonstration was staged at Fourteenth street and New York avenue northwest late yesterday when several score French sailors visiting here, were preparing to board a Washington, Baltimore and Annapolis car. Attracted by the uniforms of the sailors decorated with American flags, hundreds of people quickly gathered about the strangers. These numbers were increased to thousands, and for a time there was a solid block of humanity from building line to building line, completely blocking all traffic. When it was generally learned that the sailors were from a French armored cruiser, continuous cheers were given for France, as an ally to the United States in the present war. The crowds surged to and fro in an effort to get closer to the sailors. Every person wanted to shake their hands. Those who could not get close enough for such an intimate greeting, shouted words of cheer and well wishes. For a moment the French sailors were literally mobbed by the demonstration of enthusiasm and good will of Washingtonians. As the sailors boarded the cars they started to sing the "Marseillaise," the martial air of the French national hymn inflamed the demonstration to the highest pitch. The crowd took up the strain of the "Marseillaise" and were still singing it after the cars had left. The sailors were from the cruiser Jeanne d'Arc, which is docked at Annapolis, Md. They are the first foreign sailors seen on the streets of Washington since men from the undersize freighter Deutschland visited here after their trip across the Atlantic. Squads of the French sailors were sprinkled about the dense shopping crowds along Pennsylvania avenue, in Seventeenth and other streets yesterday afternoon. Pedestrians in the business sections yesterday afternoon were perhaps more forcibly impressed with the actuality of war than they have been since the United States declared war upon Germany. The strangers came here to see the sights and do some shopping, but they were very much interrupted in their mission. Thick and inquiring crowds often gathered about them, and the French sailors had no sooner started on their way when they were again surrounded. The Jeanne d'Arc arrived at Annapolis on Wednesday night, coming from the Bermuda Islands. The ship is of the cruiser class with a crew of 600 men. It has been on duty as a submarine chaser since the outbreak of the war, and has a number of sub-scaps to its credit. CHINA DECIDES TUESDAY. Peking, April 14.—China's attitude in the European war will be definitely decided at a conference of the provincial and military governors, called by the cabinet for next Tuesday.

COURAGE OF PASTOR FILTERS UNDER SEAT

He Mistakes Plumber's Kit for Bomb in Street Car. The fact that a minister of the gospel has a "goat" also a "number," which are in no way associated with ordinary goats or Biblical numbers, was demonstrated by a Washington clergyman to an appreciative Fourteenth street car audience yesterday afternoon. A plumber, armed with his tool-kit and pipe-wrenches, boarded the car and seated himself in a prominent place well forward. A few moments later a young pastor entered and took a seat directly in front of the "gas-pipe fender." Enter, the "goat!" A small copper ball became detached from his moorings and, describing a few circles, moved eccentrically between the clergyman's ministerial supports. A glance at the deadly looking object, threw the minister into what appeared to be the first stages of a subdued fit, and before the eyes of delighted strap clingers he sought a remote corner. The facts were established later by the conductor that everything that roils is not of necessity a bomb.

DISAPPOINTMENTS JOB HUNTERS.

Job hunters who have descended upon the War Department for special positions for civilians created by the war were disappointed by an announcement made by Secretary of War Baker yesterday, who said there are no positions except for those who are on the classified civil service list. The department will require for clerks and employes as fast as they are needed, but none will be accepted save those who have passed civil service examination and are registered with the United States Civil Service Commission.
