

TRIES STRONG ARM METHODS ON HUSBAND

Husky Woman Lands with Force Upon Gay Bob Beak.

When an eighth of a ton of human flesh landed on Bob Beak, he decided it was time to call a halt. Bob has a tendency to Mormonism, his better half says, and the only way she could teach him a lesson was to fall on him with her 25 pounds. A long time ago Bob was divorced, so he says, from a slim little colored girl. The slim young thing showed up last Sunday and Bob was all eyes. It peevish his present wife, and her pleading was of no avail.

His wife, the big one, decided it was either her or the alleged former wife, and had it out with him, with the result that the affair was brought into court. Bob was such a little fellow and his wife, Roberta, such a big strong, husky woman, that the court thought it best to send them home to kiss and make up. Bob convinced the court that he loved his wife by proving that he got her some extra places to wash clothes.

Pacifist's Pugnacity Costs $10.

Pacifists are not supposed to fight. At least this is the interpretation the court puts upon the word. James Hudson saw two boys fighting in Jackson alley and endeavored to show them the error of their ways. He stopped them all right, but when a slayer of one of the boys came out and wanted to know why he slapped the boys to keep them from fighting, James pitched into her and almost made her take the count.

The paving gave the sister an awful bump, and she swore out a warrant for James. Being an ardent pacifist, James considered it proper to fight to keep others from fighting. Judge Pugh thought differently and pacified the sister by fining James $10.

Toothache Makes Him Fight.

Julius Beichert was traveling along Benning road yesterday noon, when he was approached by John Kalder, with whom he had a slight acquaintance. Kalder, apparently without reason, set upon Beichert and thrashed him. After Beichert and Kalder had played ring-around-rosy awhile, a policeman arrested Kalder.

Cocaine and whiskey, taken for a toothache, were the cause of the fight, Kalder told the court, explaining that he had a toothache and had taken a drink of whiskey to ease his tooth and had gone to a dentist who shot several doses of cocaine into it. The court fined Kalder $5.

Absent Lover Comes to Grief.

Two months was a long time to be kept away from the girl he loved. Robert Cotter the absent lover, went straight away to see her. He knew she had worked in a Chinese restaurant, but he didn't know she had married the proprietor. He found it out however, when he scrambled up the steps, and someone whispered it in his ear. Why he brought a pistol along, he didn't know. He threatened to shoot the pistol off the Chinaman's head, but the Chinaman didn't happen to have a pistol.

Gently but firmly Robert was pushed out of the place and a policeman was summoned. When Robert saw the policeman approaching he ran. In Police Court yesterday morning Judge Pugh fined him $50 for carrying concealed weapons.

Omaha Lawyer Named For Court of Appeals

President Wilson sent to the Senate yesterday the nomination of Constantine J. Smyth, well-known Omaha attorney, to succeed Chief Justice Shepherd, retired, of the District Court of Appeals. Chief Justice Shepherd retired last April, having reached the age of 73. The two other members of the District's highest tribunal are Justice Charles H. Robb and Justice Joseph Van Orsdell. Mr. Smyth was born at Cayin, Ireland, in 1868. He came to America when 11 years of age. He entered Creighton University at Omaha and was graduated from that institution. He was a delegate to the Democratic National Convention at St. Louis in 1904.

BLAMES RAILWAY FOR FAULTY REPORT

Andrew Sangster Says He Lacked Complete Co-operation.

Concluding his testimony yesterday, Andrew Sangster, accountant in charge of the historical report on the value of the Washington Railway and Electric properties, made the charge of incomplete co-operation against the Washington Railway and Electric Company when he stated that many of the defects in his report could have been avoided if he had been accorded the same assistance by the officials of that company as he had received from the Capital Traction officials.

In a cross-examination by the District corporation counsel, Conrad R. Syme, Sangster said the officials of the company had refused him information pertaining to certain properties under their control. Asked if he had any knowledge of any bias existing as regards the company or its officers, or the part of subordinates or himself, Mr. Sangster emphatically denied that he knew of any such feeling.

The cross-examination by Syme concluded the testimony of Sangster. Sangster said that when he had used the word "admit" in replying to questions asked by the attorney for the company he used the word only in the sense that he understood an existing circumstance and not that he was admitting anything that had been previously said by him.

The hearing on the valuation of the Potomac Electric Power Company's properties has been set for today at 10 o'clock.

Measles Have Decreased, Says City Health Report

The epidemic of measles in the District has been materially checked, according to a report of the health department.

The number of cases under treatment in this city June 15 exceeded the 500 mark, and at the conclusion of the week of June 23 these cases had diminished to about 350.

The figures show, however, a number of cases of tuberculosis under treatment. There are at present in the District alone more than 2,500 cases of the white plague. Whooping cough also has increased. There are more than 200 cases under treatment.

Suit Follows Arrest on Boat.

The Colonial Beach Company was made defendant in a suit to recover $20,000 damages for false arrest filed in the District Supreme Court yesterday by William R. Kelly.

Kelly avers that on the Fourth of July of last year he was a passenger on the steamer St. Johns on a trip to Colonial Beach, and when near the landing he was put under arrest for disorderly conduct and imprisoned falsely on the boat five hours.

Plant Garden in Lawn At Columbia Hospital

The front lawn of the Columbia Hospital is no more. Potatoes, cabbages, onions, peas and other vegetables are growing where the grass used to grow, and a high fence is being built around the lawn to keep out thieves.

The garden is in such excellent condition that this summer it will probably produce enough vegetables to feed all the persons at the hospital.

Denies Wife's Charges.

Robert Ambrose Thompson, formerly a baker and now employed as a chauffeur, being sued for limited divorce by his wife, Julia E. Thompson, yesterday filed answer.

Thompson denies he has any knowledge of his wife's attempt on her life with a pistol at her mother's home in Eighth street northwest March 30 last. He also denies spending his time in poolrooms or treating his wife cruelly. He avers she deserted him.

Corporal of Engineers Takes War Bride Here

"American soldiers are in France and the rest of us do not know when we will be given sealed orders," said Corporal Barnett M. Trev, of Company A, Sixth Regiment of Engineers, yesterday when he applied to Col. W. A. Kroll at the marriage license counter for license to wed Mrs. Nellie E. Gudger, a comely Kentucky widow.

"I am getting married while I have the opportunity," said the corporal. "French girls may be all right, but I prefer the girl from the blue grass State."

Rev. Edgar C. Powers will perform the ceremony. The bride and bridegroom are both 24 years old.

For That Tired Feeling in the Springtime, Take VINOL The Modern Tonic

$1.00 Per Bottle

WONDERFUL STUFF! GEE! YOU'LL LIKE IT!

Apply a Few Drops Then Lift Corns or Calluses Off with Fingers—No Pain.

No humbug! Any corn, whether hard, soft or between the toes, will loosen right up and lift out, without a particle of pain or soreness. This drug is called frezone and is a compound of ether discovered by a Cincinnati man.

Ask at any drug store for a quarter ounce of frezone, which will cost but a trifle, but is sufficient to rid one's feet of every corn or callus.

Put a few drops directly upon any tender, aching corn or callus. Instantly the soreness disappears and shortly the corn or callus will loosen and can be lifted off with the fingers.

This drug frezone doesn't eat out the corn or callus, but shrivels them without even irritating the surrounding skin.

Just think! No pain at all, no soreness or smarting when applying it afterwards. Try a little and see for yourself.—Adv.
