

Secretary of Commerce Returns From Vacation in New England

Secretary of Labor and Miss Wilson Returning from Pennsylvania—Dean of Diplomatic Corps to Give Dinner for Lord and Lady Reading—Secretary of Treasury and Secretary of War Return from Week-End Trips.

The Secretary of Commerce and Mrs. Redfield returned to their Washington home last evening after an absence of several weeks. They visited Brookline and Boston, where their son, Mr. Humphrey Redfield, is stationed, and Pittsfield, Mr. Redfield's old home, where his sisters, who spend the winters in Washington, spent part of their trip was made by motor.

The French Ambassador and Mme. Jusseland will entertain the Lord and Lady Reading at dinner at the embassy tonight, and the Secretary of State and Mrs. Lansing will be among the guests.

The Secretary of Labor and Miss Agnes Hart Wilson will come to Washington today after a visit at the Wilson farm near Bloomsburg, Pa., where Mrs. Wilson and the younger members of the family spent the summer and will spend the early autumn. They left the Capital for Bloomsburg on Saturday.

The Secretary of War, Mr. Newton D. Baker, returned to the Capital yesterday from Camp Mills, Garden City, L. I., where on Sunday he and Maj. Gen. Bliss reviewed the "rain-bow division" for more than an hour.

Mrs. Franklin K. Lane, wife of the Secretary of the Interior, has returned from a week-end visit to her daughter, Miss Nancy Lane, at Sweetbrier College, Va. Mr. Franklin K. Lane, Jr., who came to Washington from Newport News with her for some time, will remain here for some time.

The Secretary of the Treasury and Mrs. Mr. Adoo, who returned to Washington last evening, could not attend the marriage of the Secretary's niece, Miss Mary McAdoo, and Mr. Lawrence Otis Wilson, of Chicago, which will be celebrated at the residence of the Secretary of the Treasury Department.

The Second Russian Secretary and Mrs. Mchrenschelidze also returned to go to New England for the wedding.

The Chief Justice and Mrs. Edward Douglas White have returned to their home in Rhode Island after spending the summer at New London, Conn.

Count Macchi di Cellere, the Ambassador of Italy, will return to Washington this evening from Blue Ridge Summit, Pa., where he and his wife and children, who are spending the summer at the Pennsylvania resort until about the first of October.

Miss Natalie Dulles, niece of Mrs. Robert Lansing, has arrived in Washington from her home at Auburn, N. Y., to make her a visit of some length. Miss Dulles will visit Mrs. Lansing in her war relief work, and will also make life better for her dependents, Gen. and Mrs. John W. Foster, the general being more or less of an invalid.

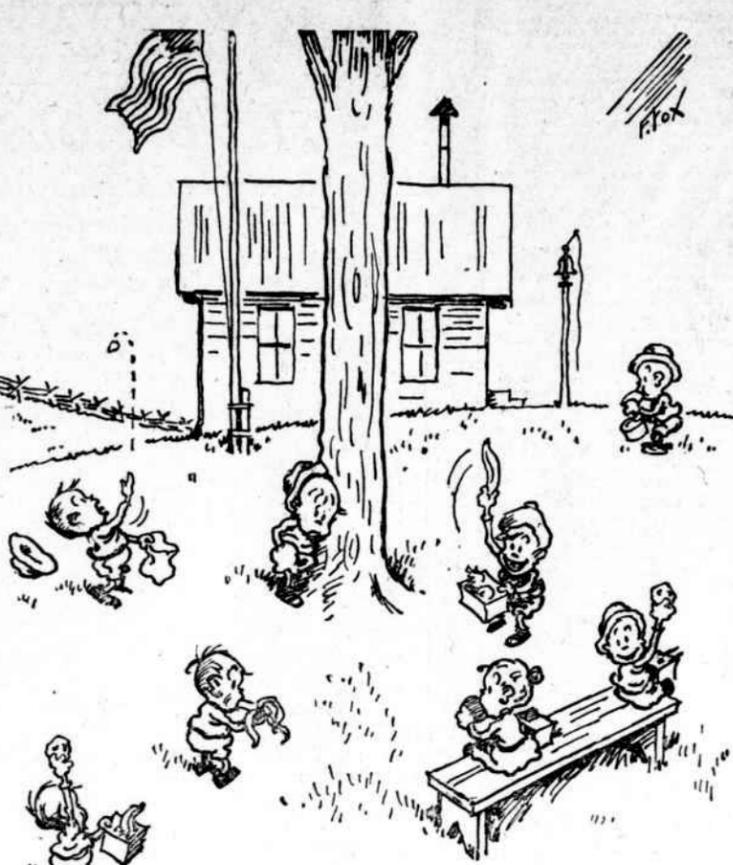

Mrs. Adelaide Worth Bagley, the mother of Mrs. Josephus Daniels, has gone to Atlantic City, where she has been the guest of Mrs. E. Robinson at her estate. Miss Belle Bagley has joined her mother at Atlantic City.

Dr. Samuel S. Adams and family have returned home earlier than usual because of the approaching marriage of their daughter, Dorothy, to Capt. William Ayres Borden, U. S. Coast Artillery, October 5.

Lieut. and Mrs. Edgar B. Howard, formerly of the First Cavalry, returned to Washington, where they have leased the house of Rear Admiral Frederic Robert Harris, U. S. N., and Mrs. Harris, who are spending the summer with the First City Troop on the Mexican border, is stationed at Camp Meade. He was graduated from Yale in 1909.

Wife, Losing Patience After Two Divorce Suits, Asks for Final Papers

Twice her husband promised to reform, states Mrs. Eleanor Hanrahan in her petition for limited divorce, filed yesterday in the District Supreme Court, and twice he failed to keep his word. Each time she filed suit and had it dismissed on his promise to do better. She filed suit a third time yesterday against John P. Hanrahan, an employe of the District government, charging him with cruelty and non-support. The Hanrahan were married in December, 1911, and have six children living.

WAR BILL CONFEREES FAR APART AS EVER

"We are just as far apart as ever," said Claude Kitchin as he left the conference on the $250,000,000 war revenue bill yesterday. Mr. Kitchin is the chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee and Democratic leader of the House.

RED CROSS SOCIETY IN NEED OF FUNDS

The Red Cross finance committee hopes for large gifts this week. The Red Cross War Service Fund from some of the many citizens who have not contributed. The committee believes that every one in Washington wants to have a part in this service of patriotism and humanity, but many have put off taking advantage of the splendid work being done by the Red Cross at home and abroad serve as reminders of the needs and possibilities. The committee hopes that no one will wait either for a personal appeal, or for the next Red Cross week.

NEW LAW MAY OUTLAW PRESS

Senators Declare Legislation Gives Burleson Arbitrary Power of Newspapers. What some Senators construe as a law by which Postmaster General Burleson may put newspapers out of business at his will was passed by the Senate yesterday afternoon. The vote was 45 to 6. Cummins of Iowa; France of Maryland; Johnson of California; Kirby, of Arkansas; Norris of Nebraska, and Watson of Indiana, voted in the negative.

The law is a section of the trading-with-the-enemy bill. It provides that any publication which is declared nonmailable under the espionage act can be barred from any other mode of transportation or circulation. This section was framed in an attempt to strike at the pro-German press. But Senators declared it went too far. Norris said it was a "desperate attempt" to put the newspaper out of business. Cummins said it was "vicious."

The section has yet to be passed on by the House. The chief point made by Senators opposing the section was that the Postmaster General decided what should be nonmailable. And this section then hinged upon that decision. Appeal from his decision was difficult, they said, and might result in absolute destruction to the publisher.

"This section may make an innocent man a criminal," said Senator Cummins. "Surely you would not execute a criminal before his trial? Yet there is no chance for a trial here."

"A newspaper proprietor might say something unpleasant about the administration," said Senator Norris, "and the Postmaster General could suppress the publication. And the proprietor might have no intention of doing anything wrong."

Objections to Bill. The chief objection to the section by the Postmaster General had already been "made censor by statute" under the espionage act, to which he had also objected. Postmaster of Washington, who spoke for the section, said:

"I do not doubt that funds for pay for distribution of disloyal literature has come from German sources, probably from the Norman government." "The whole question is," said Senator Cummins, "who is to determine whether the publications are treasonable and seditious. The effort in this section is to restrict the right of the individual case of The Messes, lately excluded from the mails. Senator Fletcher, in charge of the report, denied this."

Historic Commands to Remain Intact. Tradition Will Be Observed in Building Up Army. The War Department is going to make every effort to preserve the faithful records of the military and naval commands, in carrying out the reorganization made imperative by the new war, to use such historic units as the "Richmond Blues," the Sixty-ninth of New York and other famous commands as the bases of the new and larger units to be formed.

"I was greatly impressed at Camp Mills yesterday," the secretary said. "To find two National Guard regiments, one from the North and one from the South, the only units of the history of these regiments go back before the civil war, but at the battle of Cold Harbor they fought one another. Now they are members of the same brigade."

It will be absolutely necessary, the secretary explained, to break up many regiments in forming the new army. But wherever a regiment's age and traditions make its disbanding a valuable factor it will be preserved and enlarged.

Scores of protests have reached the office of the Secretary of War asking for the preservation of the units. They have invariably been turned over to the departmental commanders, who are responsible for the formation of the new army, with the request that every consideration of continuity with military necessity be given them by the War Department.

Sons of Confederates Hold Annual Election. Sons of Confederate Veterans, Camp No. 265, of Washington, selected officers for the next year of the organization at a convention held in the hall of Confederate Memorial Home, 1122 Vermont avenue. After the annual election, appreciation for the efficient and highly successful work of the retiring officers of the camp.

Those elected are as follows: William H. Stamer, commander; N. B. Sothern, first lieutenant; A. L. Reese, second lieutenant; A. S. Parry, adjutant; L. Marchant, treasurer; E. H. Ewing, historian; A. S. Jackman, quartermaster; James I. White, color bearer; Dr. C. Clark, surgeon; Rev. A. R. Bird, chaplain.

Dermatologist Gives Complexion Secret. The great secret of keeping the face young is to keep off the dead cuticle," says Dr. J. Mortimer Mitchell. It is well known that the surface skin is constantly dropping off in imperceptible particles, except in some diseased conditions, when the skin sheds like a snake's skin. The particles do not all drop off immediately they die, being held for a while by the live skin.

To have the dermatological surgeon peel off the entire outer skin at one time is a painful and expensive process. The same result is obtained by applying ordinary mercurized wax, as you would cold cream, allowing this to remain on over night, then taking it off with warm water. One ounce usually suffices. The process is both painless and inexpensive. The wax, which is procurable at your drug store, hastens the natural shedding process. It gradually absorbs the dead and half-dead skin, revealing the new, healthy, youthful-looking skin underneath.—Adv.

CITY SHADOW FALLS ON 50,000 SOLDIERS

Entire Division to Be Quartered Within Thirty Miles of Capital. Altogether, about 50,000 soldiers will be encamped within a radius of thirty miles of Washington within a week, while probably 200,000 can be quickly mobilized at the Nation's Capital within a few hours, as the national army headquarters at Fort Detrick, Pa., and Wrightstown, N. J., house about 50,000 troops each.

The largest number of troops, approximately 40,000, will be encamped at Camp Meade, where the draft men from the District are to be sent. At Fort Myer, there are now 1,600 student officers, 800 Guardsmen, 500 regular United States cavalrymen, and a regiment of field artillery. At American University there are now quartered the members of a forestry regiment, 400 engineer student officers, and a "camouflage" company.

At St. Asaph, not far from Alexandria, there is encamped a regiment of field artillerymen of the regular army. At Quantico, Va., a little farther down the river, there is encamped a large body of marines in training. Probably an entire regiment of coast artillerymen is stationed in the forts on the Potomac below Washington.

At the War and Navy Department building there are probably less than 100 officers of the army on duty.

WHY SOCIETY WOMEN WASH THEIR OWN HAIR

They do, not because it is a fad, but because they wish to obtain the greatest possible hair beauty and be sure they are not using anything harmful. They have found that in washing the hair it is never wise to use a makeshift but is always advisable to use a preparation made for shampooing only. Many of our friends say they get the best results from a simple home-made catnip mixture. You can use this at a cost of about three cents a shampoo by getting some catnip from your druggist, and dissolving a teaspoonful in a cup of hot water. This makes enough shampoo liquid to apply to all the hair instead of just the top of the head, as with most preparations. Dandruff, excess oil and dirt are dissolved and entirely disappear in the rinsing water. Your hair will be so fluffy that it will look much heavier than it is. Its lustre and softness will also delight you.—Adv.

THE GROWING GIRL.

A girl when in her teens is passing through a critical period of her life. The transition from childhood to maturity is not always easy, consequently, in many cases health breaks down entirely and the girl goes into a decline and dies young. If she escapes this fate, she may fall into a state of permanent ill-health. It is of the utmost importance, in order to insure normal and healthy development, that proper precautions be taken, and nothing be proved more beneficial than the faithful use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, the great women's medicine and tonic.—Adv.
