REDS LOSE TO CHICAGO, SCORE 5-4

Kerr Defeats Reuther and Ring in Sloppy Game Which Is Decided in 10th Inning; Weaver's Hit Starts Rally.

CINCY FANS PREPARED FOR BIG CELEBRATION

White Sox Come from Behind in Sixth Inning, Scoring Three Runs Off Shoots of Reuther Who Held Them in First.

By DAMON RUNYON.

Redland Field, Cincinnati, Oct. 7.—Little "Dicky" Kerr, the mite of a man who is Chicago's last hope in the world series of 1919, again pitched the White Sox to victory over the Cincinnati Reds this afternoon.

At one time the Reds had a four-run lead and the club behind him seemed fading away, but the wee Texan never gave up.

Extra Innings. The game went into ten innings, and the final score was 5 to 4 in favor of the Sox. It was the 5th game they have taken in the series.

Walter Reuther, the star of the first game, and potential hero of the series, suddenly failed. Pat Moran, manager of the Reds, made a desperate effort to hold the Sox by putting out in Jimmy Ring, who had shut them out in one game with three hits.

Buck Weaver, the game third baseman of the Sox, dropped a two bagger into left field. "Sholess Joe" Jackson bunted under instructions from "Kid" Gleason, leader of the Sox.

"Wal Bill" Harden, the Hoosier backstop of the Reds, ripped off his mask and leaped for the ball. Harden gathered up the ball all right, but apparently juggled it for an instant, as he glanced at it as if to make sure he had it in his hand.

It was too late to get Weaver, who was already sliding into third, so Harden threw to first in an effort to get Jackson. The long legs of the Carolinian were straddling out beyond the bag a yard ahead of the throw.

The 32,000 Cincinnati fans who had come to the ball yard expecting to celebrate the formal transfer of the world championship and who had been jeering the White Sox only a short time before grew very silent as "Happy" Felsch stepped to the plate.

Felsch has been dubbed "Suicide Happy" by satirical critics because Gleason has used him in a sacrifice role so frequently during this series. Now he had a chance to break up the game, but Ring struck him out with the count two balls and two strikes on him.

Then came Chic Gandil, the big first baseman of the Sox who has done very little of note in the series. Gandil smashed a single to center, the ball clearing second very sharply and Weaver scored. Jackson went to second, he had started for third and was doubled up before he could regain second.

WAR MOTHERS MERGER URGED

Mothers of Democracy Is In Lead as Name for Organization.

Baltimore, Md., Oct. 7.—The proposal that all war mothers' organizations throughout the United States amalgamate into one national body provoked animated discussion among delegates when the second annual convention of the War Mothers of America convened at the Emerson Hotel this afternoon.

Represented by the largest number of delegates and foremost in the debates over the proposed change in status of the organization, is the Mothers of Democracy of Pennsylvania, numerically the strongest of the several bodies and the only one which has received official recognition from Congress.

In the preliminary meetings held among officials of the various bodies the delegates were far apart on the proposal for a new name, but were expected to get together finally, in the succeeding meetings.

A cool east wind, which banished the excessive heat of the past three days, came out of the ocean and helped the President in his process of progress.

HEAR PERSHING SECRETLY WEDS

Philadelphia All Excited Over Report About The General.

Philadelphia has scooped Washington. The Quaker City heard yesterday that Gen. Pershing was secretly married.

"There were unconfirmed rumors this afternoon in Philadelphia and Washington that Gen. John J. Pershing was on his honeymoon.

"No one could be found to substantiate this report, but at the office of the A. E. F. commander in Washington it was said there was no information as to his movements, engagements or whereabouts.

"When the general returned to Washington a report was published that he was to marry Mrs. Annie Peoples Boyd, widow of Col. Carl Boyd, who was an old personal friend of the general's and on his staff in France.

Mr. Thompson was the original advocate of a strong law to protect the public from bogus stocks. He made this recommendation while a member of the Capital Issues Committee.

USELESS RHETORIC BRIDLED

Rules of the Industrial Conference Squelch Long Talks by Any Radicals Who May Be Members And Also Simplify the Methods of Procedure.

By WILLIAM ALLEN WHITE.

The industrial conference at its afternoon session yesterday showed plainly that it stands for the middle majority against the lunatic fringe of the radicals and the reactionary group of the conservatives.

Curiously enough, the organization of the conference follows closely the lines of the Russian Soviet and is as far as possible in its organization from the American Congress or the American idea of a political convention.

That every resolution or plan to be considered by the conference shall be introduced from a group "with the assent of the majority of the group," which does not mean group approval.

Second—That the resolution or plan proposed shall be read to the conference and submitted without debate to the general committee of fifteen made up of five from each group.

Third—That every resolution submitted to the general committee shall be considered and reported out of the general committee to the conference, either favorably or unfavorably, and

Fourth—That a minority of five in the general committee may make a minority report, explaining why they differed with the majority vote.

Group committees of five may also explain their reasons for differing from their group, but may not record their votes.

Thus one sees that the reactionary or radical minority of any group has little show for making a disturbance. They can have their views recorded but not voted, and thus the opinion of the middle majority will find easy expression.

The address of Secretary Lane and the report of the Committee on Rules and Order of Business indicate that the conference is beginning with a determination to do something.

Mr. Lane's speech denounced the ignorance and arrogance of reaction in industry, comparing it to the ignorance and arrogance in Prussianism, and the Committee on Rules and Order of Business, in its report, trimmed down to a skeleton the business to be transacted upon the floor of the convention.

Mr. Lane's speech was a liberal speech; it advocated the "step at a time," which is the slogan of the evolutionary Socialists, and the report of the Committee on Rules—while it adopted the method of corporation organization—provided for an effective machinery for results.

The provisions of the report are of greatest interest. No one may introduce a subject for consideration without the consent of a majority of the group to which he belongs.

JOHNSON CALLS LEAGUE FRAUD

Portland, Oregon, Oct. 7.—"If the assembly of the league of nations is a mere debating society, a powerless body, as it has been described by the President, then there has been practiced on the world the most egregious fraud in all the annals of time," declared Senator Hiram W. Johnson, of California, in an address before a monster mass meeting at the auditorium here this evening.

WOMEN MEMBERS OF THE GREAT LABOR CONFERENCE

Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt (upper), Miss Ida M. Tarbell (center), Miss Gertrude Barnum (lower).

Three women's names are added at the last minute to the list of representatives at the industrial conference.

They are to represent the general public and are: Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, president of the National American Woman Suffrage Association; Miss Ida M. Tarbell, well-known writer on economic and industrial subjects; Miss Gertrude Barnum, of Chicago, who during the war was assistant to the director of the bureau of investigation and inspection of the Department of Labor.

DENOUNCES SINN FEIN EFFORT TO FREE IRELAND

Senator Robinson Tells City Club Present Workers for Nation's Liberty are Practicing Fraud.

Propaganda in the United States designed to foster insurrection in Ireland was vehemently denounced by Senator Joseph T. Robinson of Arkansas in an address on "The League of Nations" at the smoker and social evening given by the City Club last night at the New Willard Hotel.

The large ball room was crowded, and the remarks of the Senator in denunciation of the Sinn Fein movement and in defense of the league were loudly applauded.

COURT-MARTIAL TRIES WILLIAMS

Marine Officer to Be Tried on Three Charges.

Baltimore, Md., Oct. 7.—On charges of drunkenness, reckless driving of an automobile and conduct prejudicial to good order and discipline, Lieut. Col. Richard Williams, of the Marine Corps, and Commander D. W. Owens, of the navy, both at Washington, were placed on trial before a general court-martial at the Naval Academy, Annapolis, today.

The case against the officers is the outgrowth of an automobile crash on September 8, on the Annapolis-Baltimore Boulevard. Williams was given a hearing before Police Justice Welch, of Annapolis, at the time and fined $200 and costs.

Rear Admiral Richard H. Jackson is president of the court, and Lieut. Col. Charles B. Taylor is the judge advocate.

The trial of Col. Williams has been taken up first, and in connection with the case a bench warrant was issued in Baltimore today for Edwin P. Baugh, a prominent society man, living near Annapolis. It is claimed that the two officers visited Mr. Baugh's home on the night of their escapade and drank some liquor. Mr. Baugh was entertaining some guests at the time. He claims that if the officers drank while at his home, they did so at their own volition.

Crowder Made Lieutenant General. By a vote of 49 to 10 the Senate yesterday approved appointment of Judge Advocate General Crowder to permanent rank as a lieutenant general upon his retirement from active service.

MOVIE TAX MUST STAND; REPEAL GETS DEAF EAR

Removal Would Mean Loss of $66,000,000 Year to U. S.; Representative Tells Film Men.

War-time taxes on motion pictures will remain in force indefinitely. This was made plain yesterday when representatives of the film industry appeared before the House Ways and Means Committee to plead for relief.

Members of the committee turned a deaf ear to the contention of the picture men that their business is being discriminated against, in that it is required to pay three taxes, a burden placed on no other line of endeavor. Questions propounded to the witnesses left little doubt that there is a unanimity of opinion in the committee that the taxes shall be continued.

In explaining his opposition to the repeal plea, Representative Fordney, Republican of Michigan, chairman of the committee, declared such action would result in a loss of $66,000,000 in taxes annually, in face of the indications of a deficit in the Treasury this year of more than $2,000,000,000.

The case of the film interests was presented by Charles C. Pettjohn, chairman of the legislative committee of the National Association of the Moving Picture Industry, and Charles Hesse, of Jersey City. Attendance at picture theaters, they asserted, has fallen off to such an extent that hundreds of thousands of dollars have been lost during the past few months. This loss, in their opinion, was due to the admission tax.

MARTIAL LAW IN GARY, IND.

4,000 World War Heroes Prevent Outbreaks in Great Steel District.

Chicago, Oct. 7.—Officers of the intelligence department of the United States army seized more than a ton of "radical" literature and a quantity of arms and ammunition in raids on the steel city of Gary today, while 4,000 regulars, veterans of the world war, were enforcing martial law.

The Federal troops were equipped with machine guns and field pieces mounted on motor trucks and fast cars, trench mortars, hand grenades and rifles.

When martial law became effective at 9:30 this morning Col. W. S. Mapes, commanding the Federal troops, announced that anyone arrested thereafter would be subject to trial by court-martial and amenable to imprisonment in the Federal Penitentiary at Leavenworth. The presence of the Federal troops quieted the rioters and no arrests were made.

Indiana State troops were still on duty tonight at Indiana Harbor and East Chicago, Ind., where the plants of the Inland Steel Company are located, but they are expected to be relieved by Federal troops tomorrow.

While parades and meetings of strikers were banned in Gary, because of martial law, 10,000 strikers paraded today at East Chicago. There was no disorder.

RAILROAD RATES REMAIN TO JAN. 1

No Steps Toward Increase Can Be Taken Before That Time Says Hines.

No steps toward increasing railroad rates prior to January 1 can be taken by the government, so Director General Hines says in a letter yesterday to T. DeWitt Cuyler, chairman of the Association of Railway Executives, New York.

Mr. Hines says that railroad corporations must take the initiative by preparing and filing tariffs with the Interstate Commerce Commission. He offers the railroads the benefit of all information in the hands of the Railroad Administration as well as the aid of the traffic

CONFERENCE MOBILIZES IN 3 GROUPS

Industrial Council Formulates Program for Considering Propositions Submitted; Each of Bodies To Get One Vote.

COMMITTEE OF 15 IS CENTRAL MEDIUM

Eutopian Solutions to Issues To Be Sidetracked for Plans of Merit; Substitute Delegates Are Disapproved.

The Industrial Conference put on its working clothes today, but had to adjourn for its tools.

There was a mighty mobilization of the latter in the late afternoon when the three groups—capital, labor and the public—sought individual sanctions in the Pan American Building, and today the conference is expected to get into full swing with enough material to keep it busy for months, if needs be.

Under the chairmanship of Franklin K. Lane, Secretary of the Interior, who was chosen for the office by unanimous vote, the delegates spent all of the day in formulating a program of operations, and it was a long and tedious task.

Evolve Program. A working program was evolved, however, and its central medium will be a committee of fifteen. Some sharp currents of antagonism developed in the "public group" over the discussion of the rules, but everything was apparently on a satisfactory basis later in the day. Here, in brief, is the way the conference will function:

Any plan or resolution may be presented by any delegate in the conference to his respective group, which is one-third of the general committee of fifteen.

If the five members of the group approve of a plan, after hearing it explained, they may give their assent to its submission to the full conference. A majority assent will be necessary. Upon its submission it will be referred to the committee of fifteen, and it will have to wrestle over it until it either rejects, approves or arrives at a compromise. When the proposition is finally brought to the entire conference it will be voted up or down by the three groups.

Substitutes Not Favored. The sentiment of the majority of the conference favors consideration of only those plans which contain merit, and feels that if the bars were down altogether the assembly would be flooded with Eutopian plans and schemes. Under present arrangements each of the three groups of five that make up the committee of fifteen can
