PAGES VOICE VIEWS AT MARSHALL DINNER

Eloquence and wisdom at the Capitol last night to Congressmen. Senate pages gathered about a luxurious Christmas dinner given them by Vice President Marshall and gave vent to their views. Henry McKinley, star speaker, made at the turkey feast, in the Capitol cafe, ripped into Mexico in a manner that might have done justice to a Congressman. "Why Pages Go to Night School" was the subject propounded by John McInerney, of Nevada. Perry Miller, of this city, spoke on "Why Cloture is Desired in the Senate," and Louis Ludlow, another Washington lad, told "Why the Congressional Library is a Better Place to Go Than the Movies at Night."

Wan's Trial as Slayer Will Reopen Tomorrow

Trial of Ziang Sun Wan, charged with murder in connection with the slaying of three officials of the Chinese Educational Mission, last January 23, will be resumed tomorrow in Criminal Court, Division No. 1, Judge Gould presiding. The trial was suspended last Tuesday because of an injury suffered by William Bradshaw, juror. Mr. Bradshaw, whose back was hurt by a fall on an icy pavement, and who suffered also an attack of neuritis, was declared last night by his physician, Dr. Frederick H. Morhart, to be recovered sufficiently to attend the trial tomorrow.

SENATE TO ACT ON PACKER BILL

Action of Attorney General Does Not Affect Legislation, Says Kenyon.

Senators Kenyon and Kendrick, following a conference yesterday, announced that plans for regulating legislation for the conduct of the packing industry would be complete when Congress meets on January 5.

"The action of the Attorney General does not take the place of legislation," Senator Kendrick said. Senator Kenyon said the elimination of the stock yards from the ownership and supervision of the packers was the one feature which the action of the Attorney General "has provided for."

The Senators will push for passage of the provisions of the bills which they have introduced and those which will be added when the Senate meets.

The provisions are: Divorce of the packers from all unrelated businesses. Elimination of the packer-owned refrigerator cars. Publicity for the operation of the packing industry.

Government control of the packing industry. Freedom of the stock raisers and retailers from the influence of the packers, if such influence is proven.

UNION BOYCOTTS AMERICAN LEGION

Detroit, Mich., Dec. 27.—Under penalty of fine of $100, members of local No. 127, Automobile, Aircraft and Vehicle Workers of America today, were forbidden to become members of the American Legion. The order was to be enforced under an amendment to by-laws adopted recently.

The amendment was adopted after it had been alleged the legion had been used to break strikes in several cities and "because legion posts had taken action that violated the constitutional right of free speech and assembly." L. Paul Taylor, secretary of the union, said adoption of the amendment was not taken in opposition to the American Legion as an organization, but because of the uses to which the legion was being put by certain factions.

Alumni of Michigan U. Cabinet Club's Guests

University of Michigan alumni and students in Washington for the holidays were guests at the Christmas dance of the Cabinet Club last night in the ballroom of the Raleigh Hotel. A feature was the unfolding in a breeze of the "yellow and blue" flag, Michigan's emblem. The room was decorated with a searchlight blazed on the colors.
