

SUGAR BARONS TO BUY FARMS

$33,000,000 Investment in Cuba Plan of American Refineries.

American sugar refiners are preparing to invest $33,000,000 in Cuban plantations to grow their own raw product within the next two years, the Justice Department learned yesterday.

"We view this move with favor," said Howard E. Figg, in charge of the department's campaign to reduce living costs. "It will prevent future shortages of sugar in the United States. Sugar grown on United States owned plantations will not be for sale in the open market. It probably will be a year before the United States begins to feel the effects of the move."

Figg predicted lower sugar prices soon when candy manufacturers begin putting their surplus stocks on the market.

"Many manufacturers bought heavily several months ago," said Figg. "The demand for candy, however, dropped off. Now the manufacturers are applying to us for licenses to sell their surplus sugar. We're glad to issue these licenses."

NEUTRAL BERLIN STOPS ALLY TO POLE ARMIES

Aside from being a violation of neutrality it would be an offense against the fundamental principle of the league of nations, international law experts point out.

French View Changes.

Despite Premier Millerand's assertion that "France will back up Poland to the limit," seasoned diplomatic observers are inclined to believe the French official viewpoint as regards Soviet Russia, in connection with the maintenance of the British government.

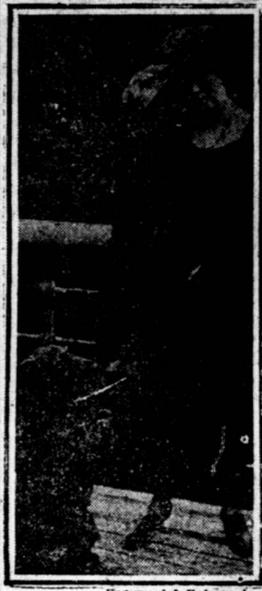

In the inclusion of Ambassador Jusseland in the mission to Warsaw observers see France's wish to be present at the diplomatic pourparlers with the Soviets which are likely to ensue in the Polish capital.

Allied statesmen fully realize that the fate of Poland is secondary in importance today to the prospects of the gigantic struggle the Western powers have to face once the Soviet armies were to sweep across the frontiers of Germany. Official opinion here is that the Russian army must be prevented at any cost from reaching the German border.

Abor Opposes War.

Yet official France is extremely reluctant to take military measures, chiefly because of the difficult labor situation in this country and the bitter opposition of the working masses to an anti-Soviet war. The French Socialist leaders are repeating again and again that their party will not allow a single man or cent to be used in such a war. Consequently it would surprise no one if France, choosing the line of least resistance, would yet agree to recognition of the Soviets even if payment of the Czarist debts is not guaranteed.

REPUBLICANS HERE LAUD ACCEPTANCE SPEECH OF HARDING

fred at Marion yesterday that the Republican party is equally prepared to wage the contest on the issue of "Wilsonism."

Lodge's Chord at Chicago.

Senator Lodge harped insistently on that chord at Chicago, and, although Senator Harding, with conspicuous tact, avoids direct criticism of the President, it is known that he is prepared, when necessary, to turn a full broadside on the White House and all its works.

Senator Harding's views on industrial relations were awaited with lively interest. Nothing startling is discovered in them. They are diagnosed as conforming rigidly to platform language. Republican leaders say that there is nothing in them to justify the Democratic claim, which is supported by Samuel Gompers, that the platform on which Harding is running is unfavorable to American labor.

Franklin D. Roosevelt is going to sleep over Senator Harding's speech and said last night that he would issue a statement of his views upon it today.

WILD CHIMPANZEE TEARS GIRL'S FACE

Boston, July 22.—"Teddy," a 60-pound chimpanzee, former mascot of the U. S. S. destroyer, Kenley, chewed his way out of his cage in a West End store window this afternoon, and, after running over a tenement house, throwing many women in panic, darted into an open window of the Salvation Army Day Nursery.

He sprang at a 2-year-old girl, tearing her face, forehead and ears. He was finally clubbed to death, two shots failing to kill him.

Calgary, Alberta.—Canada's methods of putting returned soldiers on the land are being studied at first hand by Sir Richard Winfred M. P., of Peterborough, England, former parliamentary under-secretary to the British Board of Agriculture, and newspaper proprietor. Sir Richard is credited with being responsible for more idle land being thrown open to agriculture in Britain during the war than any other individual. He is an ardent exponent of mixed farming and a warm supporter of the World Brotherhood Federation Movement, and is giving addresses on this campaign while in Canada.

BRYAN WON'T RUN, SAYS COX MANAGER

Columbus, Ohio, July 22.—Acceptance by W. J. Bryan, of the Prohibition party's nomination was outside of the realm of possibility, Ed H. Moore, close adviser of Gov. Cox, stated here this afternoon.

He indicated he had assurances from sources close to Bryan. The Bryan nomination was discussed by Cox and Moore today.

STRIKING UTTERANCES IN HARDING'S ADDRESS

"I believe in party government as distinguished from personal government, individual government."

"The league of nations covenant was conceived for world super-government, negotiated in misunderstanding, and intolerantly urged and demanded by its administrative sponsors, who resisted every effort to safeguard America."

"I can hear in the call of conscience an insistent voice for the largely reduced armaments throughout the world."

"Humanity is in revolution. America must not only save herself, but ours must be the appealing voice to sober the world."

"I wish the higher wage to abide, on one condition—that the wage-earner give full return for the wage received."

"The radical movement is not to be halted in throttled liberalism. We must not abridge the freedom of speech, or the freedom of the press, or the freedom of assembly."

"We do not oppose, but approve collective bargaining, because that is an outstanding right, but we the unalterably insist that its exercise must not destroy the equally sacred right of the individual."

"The government might well stamp railway employment with the sanction of public service. We emphasize anew our opposition to government ownership."

"We promise the prevention of unreasonable profits, we challenge profiteering with all the moral force and the legal power of the government."

"I believe in a small army, but the best in the world."

"It is my earnest hope that the one needed State vote be quickly recorded in the affirmation of the right of equal suffrage."

2 FEDERAL EXPERTS FIRED ON IN SOUTH

Washington, N. C., July 22.—Following a warning that certain residents of this section planned to drive them from the neighborhood, Dr. E. Heiny, a veterinary inspector of the Department of Agriculture, and Lewis A. Ennis, agricultural agent for the eradication of cattle tick in this county, narrowly escaped being killed when they were fired on in Bethel township at a spot known as Lewis dipping vat, about seven miles from the town of Bethel.

The men, who were spraying cattle at the vat, were about to take a drink of water when they were attacked from ambush, the marauder using a shot gun. Ennis was struck in the face, back and stomach with twenty-seven shot, while Heiny was struck in the face and body. Neither was fatally injured.

BLACKMAILERS HAUNT MILLIONAIRE WIDOW

Providence, R. I., July 22.—Mrs. Frank A. Sayles, millionaire widow, has been threatened, the menace of kidnapping her grandson, Paul Coe Nicholson, held over her, and it is stated that she has already paid out to the blackmailers $50,000.

Rumors are afoot of a moth-eaten skeleton in the Sayles closet recently discovered by some unscrupulous persons. Not long ago the trustees of the Sayles estate made large settlement out of court rather than fight proceedings which might bring to light certain disagreeable facts. It is the theory that someone is using such information in order to extort money from the rich woman.

HARDING SPEECH CALLED INAUGURAL PRELUDE

The Republican Publicity Association through its president, former Senator Jonathan Bourne, in a statement issued yesterday on Senator Harding's speech of acceptance, declared it to be but "the prelude to his inaugural address." The statement adds:

"No rhetorical design which that craftsman of fine phrases, Mr. Wilson, may weave upon his typewriter can curb the appeal which Harding's words make to the American heart. After all that has been said and done, the vast majority of us are Americans first."

"Harding's speech gives to the Republicans the assurance that they have done far more than to clinch a party victory by nominating such an exemplar of American thought. It convinces them that they have named the man who will save the nation from entanglement from without and disruption within, for there is nothing in Harding's career as a statesman which has ever given the lie to the sentiments he has uttered. As he promises, so will he perform, and the promises to be read in his acceptance speech are the performances which will meet with the approval of the people."

What is said to be the most expensive apartment house in the world is at Fifth avenue and Sixty-third street, New York.

Opportunity in Plank

"The suffrage plank is the only one in the platform which Senator Harding and his party have the power to carry out without waiting until elected to national office because of the fact that their party is already in control in several legislatures which have not yet acted on suffrage. If Senator Harding refuses to live up to the suffrage plank and contents himself merely with 'earnestly hoping' and 'sincerely desiring,' how can he expect the country to take seriously the other planks in his platform?"

"The national women's party will continue to demand that Senator Harding carry out his platform by securing a unanimous vote in support of ratification from the Republican delegation in the Tennessee legislature when it meets next month. If Senator Harding will use his full power, as leader of his party, in behalf of the enfranchisement of women he can secure such a Republican vote in favor of ratification in Tennessee. Only by action and not by the expression of polite interest will women be satisfied."

SAILS ALONE IN YAWL FROM COAST TO HAWAII

Honolulu, T. H., July 22.—At what age should a man settle down to roam no more?

Thirty, forty or fifty?

Harry Pidgeon, of Wilmington and San Pedro, Cal., is 51 years old and yet for a pleasure cruise he sailed a 34-foot yawl across the Pacific Ocean from Los Angeles to Honolulu in 26 days and did it all alone.

This modern Ulysses had no particular motive in coming other than that which actuates most tourists.

"Say, I heard so much about the island that I thought I'd come and take a look-see. I found the ocean a little rougher than I expected. My plan was to sail all day, shorten sail at night, lash the rudder and go to sleep." On the east coast of Maui he saw his first ship in 25 days.

FRIENDLY CARD GAME HELD NOT GAMBLING

New York, July 22.—"A friendly game of poker," does not constitute a gambling violation, Magistrate Robert C. Ten Eyck, in West Side Court, held today, dismissing the complaint against Bertha Rendigs, 35 years old, of 235 West Seventy-first street, arrested last night in an apartment where it was alleged a card party was in progress.

The detectives who arrested the woman charged her with using the apartment for gambling purposes, but the magistrate said there was no evidence to sustain such a charge.

Hungarians Offer Aid

Paris, July 22.—The Hungarian government has offered to extend military aid to the entente against the Russian Bolshevik government, according to a dispatch from Budapest today.

BOLSHEVIST ONRUSH TO GERMAN BORDER ALARMS OFFICIALS

pursuing the retreating Poles at a rate of 25 kilometers daily. After outfitting the Poles at Grodno one Red column reached Bialystok, which is within the Polish frontier as fixed by the allies, according to one dispatch.

With the fear of an imminent Soviet sweep across the German border spreading like wildfire, the clamor for creating a German army of defense is growing louder every hour, while at the same time activity among the radical elements in East Prussia looking toward co-operation with the Bolsheviks is being intensified.

Spa Terms Forgotten.

The German people, forgetting the agreement dictated at Spa, today is turning its eyes toward the East to an extent not witnessed since Hindenburg's armies crushed the Czar's steam roller.

The belief prevails in military quarters here that the allies cannot possibly send aid to Poland in time to check the Bolshevik drive.

General Ludendorff writes to me in a personal letter:

"The situation is exactly as I have been telling you for months that it would be. At times I was like the preacher in the wilderness but my prediction has come true."

Last February he predicted the Polish army would be unable to put up serious resistance once the Bolshevik forces had swung into real action.

Detachments Ready.

The German government is about to ask the Entente powers whether they still insist upon reduction of the Reichswehr and the disarming of the security police. Permission will be asked to organize special defense corps.

The minister of defense is already placing detachments of Reichswehr troops at exposed points in East Prussia.

Thoughtful observers here do not believe that Lenine and Trotzky contemplate attacking Germany at this time. However, it is feared that fragments of the defeated Polish army might flee across the East Prussian border and that the Soviet forces would push the pursuit into Germany unless the Germans have sufficient forces at hand to disarm the fugitive Poles.

Once arses has been captured the German radicals all over Germany are expected to intensify their activities to the utmost.

Highor Kopp, Soviet representative in Berlin told me emphatically in an interview today that the Bolsheviks have no intention of invading Germany.

Three Options Offered.

"Only three ways remain open to Germany," said a prominent official of the foreign office to me today.

"1. War on Soviet Russia, which the allies have now made impossible."

"2. An understanding between Russia and Germany which the Allies still oppose."

"3. Calling the help of the Allies in defending Germany which they are not likely to be capable of doing inasmuch as they could not save Poland."

My informant hinted that the second course will in the end have to be chosen.
