

DRY CONCLAVE PLANS PAGEANT War Against Alcoholism to Be Shown at International Meeting Here. BRYAN TO BE SPEAKER World-Famous Prohibitionists to Attend Gathering September 21-26.

Pageantry portraying America's progress in the world battle against alcoholism, to be presented on the east steps of the Capitol, will be one of the features of interest to the public on the six-day program of the Fifteenth International Congress Against Alcoholism, meeting here September 21-26. Exhibits displaying the materials and methods used throughout the world in the campaign against alcoholism will also be shown at the Pan American building, the meeting place of the world delegates. A number of national and international organizations and societies, such as the World League Against Alcoholism, the World Prohibition Federation, the International Order of Good Templars, the Women's Christian Temperance Union, the Catholic Total Abstinence Union, The Anti-Saloon League of America, The Scientific Temperance Federation, The Priests' Total Abstinence League, The Inter-Collegiate Prohibition Association, the National Temperance Council, The National Legislative Conference and many others, will hold meetings and conferences.

Have You Ever Thought Of a Life Guard's Duty?

This is the twelfth of a series of pictures of those who protect hundreds of lives at the Tidal Basin each summer.

No. 12—F. A. SWANK.

Swimming across the Tidal Basin and back in twenty-nine minutes is pretty good time. In fact, it's the best time known here, according to F. A. Swank, the man who made it. Swank gets down to the Basin only in the late afternoons and on holidays. He's one of the older men there, being 32 years old and married. Apple, chief life guard, saw Swank swim across the Basin last summer and put him on the list of guards. Swank is a carpenter. He played football with Eastern High School in 1906. Swank says there is more work for the guards on the days when there are few people in the Basin. He remembers one time when a girl ventured beyond the life lines. She couldn't swim, and Swank had told her to keep inside. A friend, who was holding her while she floated, let go, and there was work for Swank to do. After pulling out the girl, he spoke to her a little impatiently. Since then she has been to the beach often, but has never gone beyond the ropes. Swank lives at 1510 Gales street northeast, and has several little swimmers in his own home pool.

"Will Fight to Last Breath," Wrangel Says in Message to Entente, Predicting Reds' Fall

By POLONIES. (Washington Herald—Cross Atlantic Service—Special Cable Dispatch) Copenhagen, Aug. 22.—The first direct message from Gen. Wrangel to the outside world since he and his South Russian government have become international issues, threatening to split the close harmony of France and England, has been sent to Copenhagen by Dr. Henry Krebs, a Danish physician who achieved fame when he was sent to the assistance of the Dowager Empress of Russia at Livadia, in the midst of the revolution, when the crew of her yacht were defending her from the Bolsheviks besieging her castle. Dr. Krebs is now serving in the medical corps of Gen. Wrangel's armies. The message is contained in a report from the doctor, and is transmitted through him because it could reach Copenhagen, and so America and the entente world. It was not sent through French sources because of their open sympathy for the general's cause. Warning to Entente. "The powers of the entente," said the general, "are on the point of making another very serious mistake. Sooner or later, most likely only when it is too late, they will find out that the word of men like Lenin and Trotsky is not to be trusted. "Traitors against their country, they entered Russia as paid agents of the Kaiser, and succeeded in bringing about the total collapse of Russia at a time when she was about to strike a blow which Germany would have been fatal to and would have forced her to sue for peace in 1917. "As rulers of Russia they have created a veritable reign of terror, and drenched the soil of our country with the blood of her best and noblest sons. The two main pillars of their rule are the most aggressive despotism and the most aggressive and virulent militarism. Conference Impossible. "With men of this stamp it is impossible to sit down to a conference table and I for one am never going to do so, or I should brand myself a traitor to my country. As long as there is a breath in my body I shall fight Bolshevism whether I get any assistance from the outside or not. "Let England and France compel the Bolsheviks to respect the frontiers of the new Poland as laid down in the treaty of Versailles; let them resume trade relations with Russia if they see fit, but they must permit Russia to arrange her own domestic affairs, and before another year is passed the downfall of Bolshevism is certain and Lenin and Trotsky will meet the fate they deserve." Alexandria.

THE HERALD BUREAU, Alexandria, Va., Aug. 22.—One hundred members of the Harrisonburg Fire Company are expected to arrive in Alexandria tomorrow night for the annual convention of the Virginia State Firemen, which will convene Wednesday morning in the auditorium of the Elk's Home. Thursday is the day of the big parade, which will be started promptly at 4:30 o'clock. Friday will be given over to competitive fire drills. The members of the Harrisonburg company will pitch tents on the Lee School grounds.

Bounced by Girl He Charged Wore His Underwear

Harrisburg, Pa., Aug. 22.—Pela Muravich was today charged by Juvv Vigue with throwing him out of doors because he accused her of wearing his undergarments. Juve is a boarder and his accusation started a row which stirred up a whole neighborhood in Steelton.

Prince Georges County

Tournament Planned. Upper Marlboro, Aug. 22.—Preparations are progressing for the annual tournament for the benefit of St. John's Church, Clinton, Prince Georges County, on September 5. Ladies of the Methodist Episcopal Church at Forestville, this county, will give a fete on the lawn of C. E. Entwistle, that place, Tuesday evening, beginning at 7.

Dog, Chasing Cat, Stuck 3 Days In Hollow Tree

Alphano Provost, of Middleboro, Mass., had missed his dog Pido for three days when Chester Amson stopped to inform him that his pet was stuck in a hollow tree near the John B. Savage farm. Pido had presumably chased a cat, not wisely, but too utterly regardless of consequences, and caught wedged in, with a knothole sufficiently large to admit sticking his head out and barking for aid. An axe enlarged the knothole and Pido was liberated, little the worse for his experience except being a bit hungry.

MANNIX TO BEG MAYOR TO EAT

Archbishop Will Urge Imprisoned Official to Break Hunger Strike.

(By Universal Service.) London, Aug. 22.—Archbishop Daniel J. Mannix, of Australia, will tomorrow see Terence McSwenny, Lord Mayor of Cork, who is now hunger striking in British prison. The prelate, it is understood, will urge McSwenny to give up his strike. McSwenny has professed his willingness to die rather than yield. The last word from the British government made it plain that the government is determined not to yield. The situation is taking on a tenacious as yet chiefly beneath the surface. Several members of the council of Viscount French, lord lieutenant for Ireland, have protested to Sir Hamar Greenwood, chief Irish secretary, against the imprisonment of McSwenny. They declare it will precipitate trouble. Terence McSwenny, Lord Mayor of Cork, was sentenced to two years in prison after he had been arrested by the English military forces and tried, without a jury, on the charge of sedition. He declared to the court he did not recognize it as having authority. He is reported to be so weak from want of food that he fainted twice while writing a letter.

BAKER TO CALL CONGRESS' HAND

War Secretary to Continue Recruiting Despite Lack Of Funds.

(By Universal Service.) Secretary Baker stated yesterday that the War Department is prepared to make an issue with the Republican Congress over its right to increase the army to 250,000 officers and men, when provision is made for only 175,000 men in the army appropriation bill. The campaign to obtain the additional 100,000 recruits will, he said, be pressed with all possible vigor. It will cause a deficit of $1,000,000 per year in the appropriation and a Congressional inquiry appears inevitable. Secretary Baker said: "By the army appropriation act, the Congress itself fixed the 250,000 maximum for the army. That was equivalent to an agreement that the War Department should go ahead and recruit an army of that size if possible. "But didn't the fact that Congress only appropriated for 175,000 constitute a limitation below the authorized maximum?" he was asked. "Not at all," he stated. "Their appropriation for 175,000 merely expressed their judgment upon the number of men we would be able to recruit during the fiscal year."

DUBLIN MOB WRECKS CATHOLICS' HOMES

Dublin, Aug. 22.—A Unionist mob at Lisburn has wrecked the houses and shops of Catholics. The town is now held by the police and soldiers. At Galway the police and soldiers shot up the town and set fire to three saloons. At Dundalk one Catholic was shot and killed and two others were wounded.

Learns New Ways For Indian Women

(By Universal Service.) New York, Aug. 22.—Prince Carol, of Rumania, comes to New York in the hope that the sight of Gotham beauties will woo him from his infatuation for a girl of the people in his native land. According to report, the prince, who was the heir-apparent of Rumania, renounced his right to the throne to marry Mile. Lambrino, daughter of a major of the Rumanian army, stationed at Odessa. The girl, who was not of noble station, is said to have been offered an equivalent of $4,000,000 to give up the crown prince, but refused. Since the arrival of Prince Carol at San Francisco, some ten days ago, an official denial has been issued in the United States, that the published stories of his morganatic marriage, The "Prince of Romance" intends to stay a week in New York, leaving next Saturday on the Aquitain for Europe. He will arrive here this afternoon and throughout his stay will preserve a strict incognito. The only formal event which has so far been announced is a dinner in his honor at the Ritz-Carlton tomorrow evening, when Former Ambassador James W. Gerard will be his host.

ANGRY BULL DOG TEARS MAN'S NECK

Whiting, N. J., Aug. 22.—Robert Wheeler was attacked by a bulldog that he was correcting for snapping at a child, and the animal tore his neck so badly he had to have eight stitches to close the wounds. He shot the dog at once.

MRS. DIP SINGH.

The leading feminist among the millions of women of India, the first Hindoo "co-ed," first Indian woman to drive an auto, to fly an aeroplane, or to ride a bicycle—these are some of the distinctions that mark Mrs. Dip N. Singh as the most remarkable woman of her native land. Mrs. Singh, whose husband is known as "the Rockefeller of India," and whose father, Sir T. N. Pail, endowed the University of Calcutta with his fortune of $2,000,000, believes in the education of women and is on her way home after a tour of the world, to arrange for endowing a number of scholarships in American colleges for young Hindoo girls.

Noted Beauty Must Choose Between Love and Church While Nuptial Fete Waits

California Woman Confronted With Extraordinary Complication.

Love and religion, the deepest emotions a woman may know, have brought bitter conflict in the heart of Mile. Abercrombie, noted American beauty and divorcée, wife of Wilhelm von Brincken, interned as an enemy alien during the war. At the threshold of her proposed marriage with Lieut. L. Knute Swenson of the United States navy, circumstances reaching out of the past apparently will compel her to choose between the two—the religion she has recently adopted, and the man she has promised to wed. My Renounce Love. And if the tenets of her religion and the dictates of her heart are irreconcilable, after decision by an ecclesiastical court, she has declared that she will renounce the man. Complications involving the status in the Catholic church of her marriage to the former German officer, the latter's first marriage, and the sacrament of baptism, halted the nuptials for the last moment. Since the Catholic church doesn't recognize divorce the woman's marriage with Lieut. Swenson depends on her ability to prove that her first husband, Brincken, was not married and his separation consequently not divorce, in the eyes of the church. Seek Baptismal Proofs. The crux of that proof rests with facts concerning the baptism of Von Brincken and his first wife, Alice Knodel, who divorced him. If Alice Knodel, in fact, was baptized then, according to the church, his subsequent union with Mile Abercrombie wasn't marriage and she is free to wed Lieut. Swenson. But—Von Brincken asserts that he himself wasn't baptized until just before he married Miss Abercrombie, thus making his first marriage null and his second binding. A Catholic court is now sitting in determination of these tangled moral and legal problems, while frantic effort is being made to ascertain the facts in dispute.

Yank Who Made Ice Cream in Paris Fights with Partner and Knocks Out Fifteen Employes Who Attacked Him

(Special Cable to Washington Herald.) Paris, Aug. 22.—The Stars and Stripes float bravely from the handle of an ice pick at the Dixie factory today, while Gerald ("Jed") Kiley, one-time reporter, later Yank of the A. E. F. and still more recently Parisian Ice Cream King, sits in the doorway, with battered head, but triumphant. Meanwhile Paris had to go without its Sunday ice cream, and the 1,000,000 franc Dixie company is all smashed. Right after the armistice Kiley opened a chain of dance halls. They were against the law, at the time, but before the police closed them up Jed had cleaned up 500,000 francs. For a while after that he amused himself keeping tailors busy and buying new automobiles. Then, forming a partnership with Harold Fitch, of St. Paul, Minn., another former Yank, he formed the Dixie Company, bought up all the machinery of the Y. M. C. A. and proceeded to corner the ice cream market. Business Starts Booming. All was lovely at 23 Rue de Chaillon where he located his factory, and the business was doing a turnover of some 13,000 francs weekly, when Jed took a trip to London when he came back a few days ago, he wasn't satisfied with the profit sheets. There was an argument, which ended with Jed hiring a couple of trucks and starting to carry off the plant. On his second trip he was met by fifteen French employes of the plant, all pro-Fitch, and armed with big clubs used in the ice crushers. There was also a gendarme, with Fitch standing in the background. Jed says Fitch told the Frenchmen to "go get him," and they did. They knocked him cold. Hard Lines for Jed. When Jed stopped seeing stars, he appealed to the gendarme, but that person told him he couldn't interfere unless he was called by the janitor—and the janitor was looking the other way. So Jed sat, and rubbed his head a while. Then he got up and thoughtfully proceeded to clean up the whole bunch. It took twelve gendarmes to pinch him. At the station house he proved he was the one attacked and now he has filed suit against his erstwhile partner charging him with "cooking the books," which, being translated, means converting profits into something losses. He also has filed formal complaint at the American Embassy against the gendarme who refused to aid him when he got cracked on the bean. That will be looked into. But meanwhile Paris sighs for ice cream—and sighs in vain.

PRINCE EYEING PARISH OPENS YANK BEAUTIES BAPTISM FONT

Carol May Be Freed of Rumanian Love Memories By Gotham Stay. St. Patrick's Conducts Special Service at Dedication.

A baptismal font, constructed of stones from St. Patrick's Cathedral in Dublin, Ireland, was dedicated yesterday afternoon at St. Patrick's Episcopal Chapel, Foxhall and New Cut roads northwest. The Rev. William W. Shearer, vicar of St. Columba's Chapel, St. Alban's parish, in the dedicatory sermon, touched upon the singular sacredness of the font's construction and upon the sacred nature of baptism. Music was furnished by a vested choir, under direction of Miss Ella Bradt. Other speakers were the Rev. John L. Saunders, vicar of the chapel, the Rev. Edward Deane, and the Rev. C. T. Warner, rector of St. Alban's parish. The first children baptized at the new font were Dorothy Wilshire, Haywood Ince, Doris Clements and Audrey Hickson. "ANTIS" TO STAY AWAY TILL ISSUE IS AT END. Nashville, Tenn., Aug. 22.—Factions in the Tennessee legislature, split over the suffrage question, marked time today. Both houses will reconvene tomorrow afternoon. It was reported tonight that members of the house who returned to their homes for the week-end will not return to Nashville until assured a "quorum will be present." Twenty-five representatives who went to Decatur, Ala., sent word that they would not return until given assurance that no further action will be taken on the suffrage question. Suffrage leaders contend the suffrage amendment has been legally adopted and that any motion to reconsider would be out of order and illegal. Judge E. F. Langford, who issued an order restraining State officials from certifying the resolution, was urged to grant an early hearing on the injunction. It was expected he would call it up in a few days.

CAPTAIN QUILTS NAVY; SALARY TOO SMALL

Capt. Leigh Palmer, who during the European war served as chief of the Bureau of Navigation, with rank of rear admiral, has resigned from the navy to take effect September 20. It was due to Capt. Palmer's great genius that the enlisted personnel attained such surprising numerical strength. It is understood that he is unable to remain in the navy because of the small pay. He will enter private business. More than 2,000 other highly trained officers have left the service for the same reason.

LABOR REBELS LIQUOR FLOWS LOSE BENEFITS IN GYPSY RITES

Railroad Men Who Defied Unions Denied Interest In $10,000,000. Two Brothers United With Sisters in "Preliminary Marriage."

YARDMEN BRING SUIT Doak Believes Courts Will Not Uphold Claim of Ousted Workers. No Interference With Purely Sacramental Observance In Romy Camp.

(By Universal Service.) Railroad workers who participated in the recent "outlaw" strikes in defiance of their unions now find themselves cut off from the benefits of union funds that aggregate nearly $100,000,000. This statement was made yesterday by W. N. Doak, vice president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen. The Yardmen's Association, an outlaw organization headed by John Grunau, of Chicago, is now suing in a Federal court to recover the interest in a fund of $10,000,000 belonging to the trainmen. Three Kinds of Funds. The funds are of three kinds, insurance, strike benefit funds, and general union assets. Doak expressed the opinion that the "outlaws" stood practically no chance of recovering their interest in these funds, in view of decisions rendered by the courts in similar cases. Never More Than 30,000. "In the first place," said Doak, "they are not going into court with clean hands. They claim that the outlaw strikers numbered 145,000. On the contrary they never numbered more than 30,000, and of these 25,000 were expelled from their unions. "It has always been held that men who refuse to submit to union discipline, who will not obey their leaders and imperil the service by unauthorized strikes, and in consequence are expelled from their organizations, automatically lose their interest in union funds. The action of the Yardmen's Association to recover the money I regard as a bluff. Certainly it will not be successful."

Man Knocked Cold To Keep Him Away From Big Explosion

West Conshohocken, Pa., Aug. 22.—First-aid is now given in many forms, but a rather novel method was employed to save a man from endangering himself from a blast about to be set off at the new Schuylkill River bridge here. Superintendent of Construction Samuel Ashton had a blast ready to set off at one of the river piers. He ordered all traffic over the temporary bridge suspended and placed men at both approaches to keep people off until the blast had exploded. A local resident, apparently under the influence of liquor, insisted upon crossing at one of the approaches. Ashton warned the man to remain out of the danger zone, when he became so insistent that force was necessary to protect him, so the superintendent gave him a ringing blow which knocked him out long enough to allow the blast to explode, after which he crossed over the bridge. Bloodhounds Set On Trail of Slayer. Danville, Va., Aug. 22.—Bloodhounds were sent from Danville today to Walnut Cove, N. C., just over the State line, to trail a negro who shot and killed Chief of Police Mathews and a young man named Walter Martin at a dance last night. The police chief, it is claimed, accused the negro of insulting a white woman. The colored man, it is claimed, drew a revolver and killed Martin, after which he disappeared in the woods. Girls Dive in Vain To Rescue Escort Who Rocked Boat. (Special to Washington Herald.) Philadelphia, Aug. 22.—Rocking a boat resulted in the death of drowning of Edward H. Bacon, 24 year old, Camden, in Aerial Lake in the vicinity of Clement Heights. The body was recovered and taken to the home of his parents yesterday. Three girls in the boat at the time escaped drowning. An investigation by County Physician Stem showed that Bacon was a special officer at the lake, invited the girls to take a ride. The girls had been in bathing and accepted the invitation. They had gone but a short distance when, according to witnesses, Bacon started to rock the boat. Suddenly the boat capsized. The girls managed to swim to places of safety, but Bacon sank. His body failed to appear and the girls made unsuccessful efforts to save the man by diving.
