

POET LAUREATE PLANTS ONIONS Onetime Noted Montenegro Bard Now Toils in Garden. BLAMES POLITICIANS Follows Path of Ex-Kings Who Lost High Seats Through War.

(By Universal Service.) Tomo Josov Vukicевич lost his job when the kingdom of Montenegro was annexed to Yugoslavia, says a story from Podgoritzta, Montenegro. For years he was poet laureate of the little realm and bard-in-particular to King Nicolas himself. But when international politics lost him his royal job, his silver pen found him another, somewhat less magnificent, but very nearly as remunerative. The former poet laureate is now planting onions in the truck garden of the Junior Red Cross school colony here. At the same time he is working on an epic poem in Serbian blank verse eulogizing America and the relief work of America in Montenegro. In the Serbian tongue Vukicевич is easily the most proficient person in Montenegro, both in prose and in verse. His English, however, leaves much to be desired. The following is a copy of the eloquent letter, written in English, which got the hapless poet his present humble job: "Mees Benedict! "In the house of the poor children Podgoritzta: "I am much desire for the American people and the Great R. R. Cross if Podgoritzta for which I keep in my heart warm filling. I have the idea to write a few verses of poems in names of all poor children of this country. Also from my wishing desire I kindly please you if you will have me to work something for you. I would like to do it. Anywhere in the house of the poor children of whatever or anywhere you will have for me to do I will kindly come and do it! "Mees Benedict! I lift in hope that you will have some idea and give me to work for you. Anyplace anything that you will have for me to do for which I will be appreciated! "Tomo Josov Vukicевич from Podgoritzta."

Dog That Bites Boy Found Licking Face Of Hurt Playmate (Special to Washington Herald.) Clarkburg, W. Va., Aug. 30.—George Smith, 11-year-old son of Edward M. Smith of Washington, was bitten so badly in the face by his pet collie dog, Rover, yesterday that he is confined to a bed in Mason Hospital. The boy and dog were close friends at Mr. Smith's summer home. They were never seen apart, it is claimed. When farmhands, attracted by the boy's cries, came to the scene they found the collie, with a look of apparent sadness on his face, licking his playmate's wounds. The boy said that Rover had only bitten him in play. There was one hole clear through the boy's lip where the dog's teeth had penetrated.

TESTS SHOW JELLIES NEED LESS SUGAR One-fifth to one-quarter less sugar can be used in making jelly and jams, experiments made by household experts in the United States Department of Agriculture experimental kitchen indicate. Another sugar-saving wrinkle tested by the experiment kitchen is to add one-quarter teaspoon of salt to each cup of fruit juice for jelly or pulp for jam, marmalade, and conserve. In the case of nonacid fruit this makes the absence of the full amount of sugar less noticeable. Salt was used in England during the war, and the method suggested was based on reports of the process.

PRINCE GEORGES WHEAT PER ACRE RECORDS BROKEN Prince Georges County has something to show Montgomery County this year. Thirty-four bushels of wheat to the acre is the record established on the farm of Fred and Henry B. Johnson, "Silver Hill," opposite the Providence Hospital farm. This is a record for Prince Georges County, and is a figure any county in the State will be forced to recognize as "going some." Other farms in Prince Georges County yield about fifteen bushels to the acre, and occasionally reach as high as twenty-five to thirty. Neighbors of the successful wheat growers are seeking part of the Johnson crop for seed wheat.

WOMAN WHO PLANS SURPRISE ON FATHER SHOT FOR SQUIRREL Emlenton, Pa., Aug. 30.—Just as she was about to rush to the door of her old home in Pilech Pine, this county, after coming all the way from Oklahoma, unannounced, to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles McIntyre, Mrs. Olney Elliott received part of the load from a shotgun in her face and, with a scream, fell bleeding. McIntyre had seen a squirrel on the trunk of a tree in front of the house, and ignorant that his daughter was closeted by an Oklahoma friend at the animal. Mrs. Elliott appeared from behind the tree at the same instant. She had planned a surprise visit. It is believed Mrs. Elliott will be disfigured for life.

PRESIDENT DEFIES MINERS TO STRIKE ON WAGE AWARD (Continued from page one) for recognition of United Mine Workers of America as a party to a contract is granted, and the demand for a "closed shop" and "check off" is denied. Settlement Historic. By the provision of the award calling for the incorporation of the terms into a contract the anthracite settlement makes industrial history. It is the first instance of its kind. Secretary Wilson's prompt issuance of the call for the joint six committee "puts it up" to both sides to act quickly. President Wilson, acting upon a plea from Thomas M. Kennedy, chairman of the miners' scale committee, wrote a "minority report" of his own for the commission award. It gently scored the commission for presuming to dictate the manner in which back payments should be made. In a letter to Chairman W. O. Thompson and Commissioners W. L. Connell and Neal J. Ferry, President Wilson reminded them that under the call for the miners' action by the commission it was specified that the award should be retroactive. He ruled that the method of payment was "beyond the commission's jurisdiction." At the same time the President ruled against attaching transcripts of the evidence presented at the hearing. Members of the commission are not inclined to regard the Wilkes-Barre insurrection as anything "serious." They insist that with the officers of the United Mine Workers of America pledged to back the majority report it will be impossible for the miners in any district to organize an effective strike.

WAR FORESEEN IN ARMY CALL Toronto Soldier Expects Members of Imperials to Receive Messages. Canada's part in Europe's war with the Red army is yet to be played if a statement made by a Toronto military man indicates a general movement. The army officer stated that he had received a message asking if he was prepared to serve again. His explanation of the message was that conditions in Eastern Europe were agitating the military authorities in London and he expected similar messages would be received by other members of the imperial forces in Canada who had not yet been discharged from the service. If the call comes only to those members of the imperial forces who have not yet received their full discharge many of the Royal Air Force veterans would be among their number. A good many of these have not been discharged, the date upon which they receive their final release from the army coming in many cases on December 1. Imperial veterans, in most cases, are still on the reserve list with the exception of time-expired men. Canadian officers are not immediately affected. While they are not on the militia reserve, they could not be called upon to serve out of the country without sanction from the Dominion Parliament.
