1920 REVENUE TOTAL PASSES FIVE BILLIONS

Collections of Previous Year Exceeded By $1,557,925,389, U. S. Report.

PASS ALL ESTIMATES Taxes on Theater Seats and Club Dues Total $81,931,780.60.

(By Universal Service.) Total collections of internal revenue from all sources for the fiscal year 1920 amounted to the unprecedented figure of $5,488,075,468, according to a statement made yesterday by William M. Williams, Collector of Internal Revenue.

The sum collected is by far the greatest in the history of the country, and exceeded collections for 1919 by $1,557,925,389.44.

Collections from income and excess profits taxes alone totaled $2,957,701,374.72, as compared with $2,600,783,902.70, an increase of $1,356,917,472.02.

Taxes on theater seats and club dues provided the stupendous sum of $81,931,780.60. The receipts for 1920 include payments of the third and fourth installments of the 1918 taxes and of the first and second installments of the 1919 taxes.

Official Estimates Exceeded. The Secretary of the Treasury in his annual report for the fiscal year of 1919 estimated that $2,750,000,000 would be received from income and excess profits taxes. The sum actually collected was greatly in excess of this estimate, largely due, according to Treasury officials, to additional assessments and collections made for taxes due on income prior to the calendar year 1919.

The collections in 1920 and 1919 from miscellaneous taxes, which include all sources of internal revenue except income and profits taxes, were as follows: 1920—$1,450,374,093.28; 1919—$1,249,366,175.85. The revenue derived in 1920 from distilled spirits was $97,907,195.46, from liquors, $41,963,542.09, and from tobacco, $285,842,377.02, a total of $455,718,449.57 from liquor and tobacco for the year. It is not worthy that for the first year 1920 total collections for liquor and tobacco were only $244,211,623.58.

INSULAR FIGURES INCLUDED

The miscellaneous taxes for 1920 include certain receipts from taxes on Philippine and Porto Rican products and from income tax assessed on the railroads of Alaska, which are required to be paid into the treasury of the Philippine Islands, Porto Rico and Alaska, respectively. The revenues are as follows: Philippine Islands, $1,425,283.67; Porto Rico, $1,823,622.54; Alaska, $1,500,000.00. Total, $3,250,410.23.

Harding and Wife Take 118-Mile Ride In Locomotive Cab

(Public Ledger Service.) St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 10.—Senator Harding's fondness for riding in engine cabs got the better of him today, so taking Mrs. Harding with him, he boarded a big Pacific type locomotive on the "Katy Flyer" and rode 118 miles, with a green cap pulled down over his shaggy eyebrows, and an unlit stogie in his mouth. Senator Harding sat on the engineer's seat, while Mrs. Harding watched the fireman shovel coal to keep the heavy train speeding at 50 miles an hour. "Don't this engine know the price of coal," asked Mrs. Harding, amazed at the amount of its consumption. "I guess this engine is nearly human," replied the fireman, "but it certainly doesn't know the price of coal."

WILSON'S PARIS RECORD SECRET

Peace Conference Notes in Carnegie Endowment Library Near White House. (By Universal Service.) With the official record of the eighth plenary session of the Peace Conference secreted in the Carnegie Endowment library within a stone's throw of the White House, President Wilson today will base his statement denying the charges made by Senator Spencer on the unofficial notes of an assistant stenographer, it was learned here yesterday.

In advance of the alleged refutation of the Senator's declaration that the President promised military and naval aid to Rumania in case of trouble, former Representative C. E. Miller, secretary of the Republican national committee, last night denounced any such unofficial record as "either a deliberate fake or distortion of the true record." Fred A. Carlston, the assistant stenographer, is now a court reporter with offices in the Ashland Block, Chicago. He was employed by the American delegation in Paris. Copies of his letter to an official of the White House containing his notes of the plenary session will be released to the public this afternoon.

STENOGRAPHER BACKS PRESIDENT'S STAND

(By Universal Service.) Chicago, Oct. 10.—President Wilson did not make a definite pledge to send military and naval aid to Europe "if the world finds itself troubled anew," according to Fred A. Carlston, a Chicago court reporter who took shorthand notes of the eighth plenary session of the Peace Conference. "It was a secret conference," he said. "I was reporters to the English speakers. Two of them were Englishmen. One was A. J. Sylvester, secretary to Sir Maurice Hankey, and the other was Sylvester's English assistant. Then there were C. E. Leedy, of Platte City, Mo., and myself.

HAVE NEW PLAN OF HARNESSING DISTRICT FALLS

U. S. Engineers Consider Flooding 40,000 Acres Of Farming Land. TWO STATES INVOLVED Project Promises Ample Power Both for Capital And Baltimore.

United States engineers are working on a plan to harness Great Falls, which, if accepted by Congress following its submission January 1, will mean the flooding of approximately 40,000 acres of farmland in Clark County, Va., and Jefferson County, Va. A personal inspection of the land was made by government engineers last week.

The project under consideration is known as the Lee plan and is one of several which the engineer's office is considering. The plan involves the erection of four dams—two on the upper Potomac, one on the Shenandoah and one on the south branch of the Potomac—the construction of which would, by present rough estimates, cost from $20,000,000 to $40,000,000. It is planned to harness Great Falls so completely that Washington, Baltimore and the vicinity country will not only be supplied with cheaper electricity, but that electrification of steam railroads within a wide radius of Washington will provide cheaper-than-coal operation.

Much Power Wasted Now. In plants now operating in Washington, developing current by steam, not more than 15 per cent of the plant capacity is utilized in the periods when demand is at a minimum. In other words, the plant, in order to provide power during the "peak" periods, is 85 per cent idle during hours of low demand.

This wastage of plant, according to engineers, is due to limited distribution. With the gigantic power plant the Great Falls development

(By Universal Service.) Berlin, Oct. 10.—Former Empress Auguste Victoria, wife of the former Kaiser, Wilhelm II, was so close to death recently that a coffin for her was ordered in Berlin and an export license to ship it to Holland had been issued.

The information has just filtered into Germany from Holland that Count von Platen, former lord high chamberlain of the Kaiser's court, who still looks after the former Kaiser's personal affairs here, had procured a casket.

But instead of receiving a message directing the shipment he received a telegram saying that the former Empress had experienced a turn for the better and has been improving ever since.

CHINESE FEAR IRISH MILITARY MORGAN'S LOAN PARTY HELD UP

(By Universal Service.) So stringent are the terms upon which groups of bankers from France, England, Japan and the United States, known as the China consortium, propose to make a loan to China, that they are viewed with considerable apprehension and suspicion by that government, it was learned in official circles last night.

At a meeting in New York today the bankers, headed by Frederick W. Stevens, of J. P. Morgan & Co., will complete details which will be submitted to Peking for approval. It is proposed that the initial payment of $25,000,000 shall be made only after certain demands are met by China. These are: That the entire Chinese standing army be disbanded; that the north and south of China be reunited; that a part of the loan be assigned to the south Chinese provinces.

Fifth, that a portion of the customs duties and the tax on salt be set aside as a guarantee of repayment. The clause which provides for disbandment of the army is viewed with particular suspicion by officials in China, who feel that it cannot help but put them at the mercy of Japan.

COAL SQUEEZE BARRED BY U. S. INVESTIGATION

Shortages Created at Will By Manipulation of Cars, Is Charge. BLAME EASTERN GROUP Specific Details of Profiteering in Hands of Department of Justice.

(Public Ledger Service.) Evidence in the hands of the Department of Justice, it was learned yesterday, include specific details of how the coal market was manipulated all during the year by a group of speculators in the East so that they were able not only to tie up the available car supply, but create a shortage wherever they pleased at almost a moment's notice.

This phase of the investigation, which may eventually be the most important that the government will tackle, deals with the policy of reconignment as it was practiced in the entire region from the Lakes to the Gulf and from the Mississippi east. Developments that are likely to follow in addition to prosecutions are orders from the Interstate Commerce Commission designed to make the demurrage charges on coal so heavy that it will be impossible for wholesalers and other dealers to hold the commodity on cars without incurring penalties that will rob them of their profits.

Coal Left in Yards. It has been common practice in the past year, Department of Justice agents have learned, for coal dealers to have coal consigned to them merely at a specified time without making any arrangements or agreements for unloading. When the coal arrived, if the market at the time was too shaky to permit of what the consignment was sufficient profit, they allowed the coal to sit in the yards, and when they were notified by the railroads

Vehicles approaching a crossing and stopping to permit traffic to cross their front are required to stop back of the building line.

London, Oct. 10.—Former Premier Asquith, in commenting on the speech of Premier Lloyd George at Carnarvon, Wales, yesterday gave the head of the British government the severest condemnation that his Irish policy as yet brought forth. Asquith said: "The only Irish policy the premier has to offer is a repudiation, not a branch, of dominion Home Rule and a condonation of the hellish policy of reprisals. The attempt to answer murder outrage by terrorism is not government but anarchy."

INDIANS WIN 8-1 GAME SMASHING 2 BIG RECORDS

Thrilling Plays Make Fifth Game Heaven for Fans Triple Play, Unassisted, Thrills Fans

Cleveland made the fifth game of the 1920 world series the most amazing ball game in history by the two record-breaking plays. In the fifth inning, after Kilduff and Miller singled, William (Billy) Wambagans, Indians' second baseman, made a triple play unassisted, the first in major league games since 1905, by catching a wicked liner off Mitchell, touching second base behind Kilduff, and then tagging Miller, who was sprinting from first, thus putting three men out. It was on May 9, 1909, that Neil Ball, also a Cleveland player, made a similar play in a game against Boston. "Cy" Young, who witnessed the 1905 play, was probably the only witness at yesterday's game who had ever seen such a spectacle.

The second record play was the hitting of a home run with the bases full. Elmer Smith, a former Washington player, accomplished this feat, scoring behind Jamieson, Wamby and Speaker, the ball going over the right-field fence. The Dodgers ran up fourteen hits for a total of sixteen bases off Bagby, who was sprinting for Dodger swats yielded precisely one hit tally. The Dodgers outbatted the Indians by 14 hits to 12. One of Brooklyn's hits being unofficially credited, yet the same set of Dodgers were beaten 5 to 1. If this isn't another record will inhale the score card. The Dodgers hammered out 13 hits with lowest scoring a tally. The fourth safe blow was needed to produce the lone run. In the third inning the Dodgers laced out three clean hits while getting a man as far as third base. In the fourth inning with Johnston on base, Grimes walked O'Neill to get a whack at Bagby. The professional pitcher, by a fortunate accident, was hit by a bunt. After the second home run the ancient Bard was vindicated. He knew something after all. "Old Grimes is dead—that good old man. We never shall see him more. Since Smith and Bagby hit him that let those seven score."

GIRLS' DEATH FAZES POLICE

Philadelphia, Oct. 10.—Mystery surrounds the death this afternoon of pretty 17-year-old Arline May Stout, whose parents found her dead in the second-floor living room of their home at 5239 Webster street. A bullet wound through the breast caused her death. Her father's revolver was near her body. Police can't explain how the housewife was with her in the house at 7:15 p. m., when the shot was supposed to have been fired. Little more than an hour before neighbors believe they heard a shot, a young caller left the house. Neighbors say he was seen entering the home at 3 o'clock and that he left at 6. Arline's mother visited friends in another section of the city Saturday night, and returned home at 10:30 p. m. Her father, John Stout, visited the friends' house at noon today and returned with his wife at 9 o'clock tonight. They discovered the body at that time.

IRISH CHIEF DENIES GERMAN AID CHARGES

President Eamon DeValera, of the Irish republic, yesterday reiterated his demand that the British "army of occupation" be withdrawn from Ireland in response to the speech of Premier Lloyd George in which the latter said England intended to restore order in Ireland by force. "English atrocities in Ireland would not be justified even by a state of war," said DeValera. "If it is war Irish prisoners should be treated as prisoners of war. If it is war British troops should not be allowed to run riot through a defenseless civil population, committing atrocities that would shame the discipline of savages." The statement that the Irish coast was used as a submarine base for German submarines is an utter falsehood, he said. The authenticity of Lloyd George's lies have long ceased to cause wonder in Ireland.
