

TODAY'S WASHINGTON SOCIETY CHAT

DANCER IS PET OF ALL GRACES

Pavlova, 'the incomparable,' Delights Huge Audience at Poli's Theater.

HAS WONDER SUPPORT

Introduces New Premiere Danseuse in Person of Marie Oleneva.

Anna Pavlova, well termed "The incomparable," and her Ballet Russe appeared before an immense audience at Poli's Theater yesterday afternoon. This reappearance of Pavlova after an absence of several years was the occasion for rejoicing when the Russian premiere danseuse and her company gave a thoroughly finished performance.

Pavlova's entrancing qualities as a dancer are so well known to Washingtonians that little can be added by way of enlightenment as to her skill. She is a pantomimist, an emotional actress and an artist to the last degree in all of her work.

The performance served to introduce a new premiere danseuse, Marie Oleneva, who interpreted the title part in the ballet "Thais," which has never been given with the opera of the same name in this country.

Of the dances presented in this ballet, that done by the "Slaves of Thais," Stowitts, Barte and Allen, probably was enjoyed by the audience. "Thais" presented Oleneva, Volinine, Butsova, Courtney, Demoslavski, Stowitts, Barte and Allen.

By-Products and the Price of Meat

The price live animals will bring depends upon what the meat and by-products are worth. That in turn depends on the number of animals offered for sale compared with the quantity of meat and by-products that consumers will buy at current prices.

By-products have had an important effect upon cattle, sheep and lamb prices this year.

Hides went down from 43 to 24 cents; oleo oil from 28 to 13 1/2 cents; the decline in wool prices was even greater.

This made a difference in August 1920, compared with August 1919, of over $20.00 per head in the value of live cattle, and nearly $3.00 per head in sheep and lambs.

But we couldn't get more for the beef because by-products were low. All we could get was the market price. We also did the best we could on the by-products. Consequently cattle and lambs were worth much less to us and had to be bought at lower prices if we were to handle them at all.

No packer, of course, can remain in business long if he pays more for live animals than he can get for them in their final form—meat and by-products.

Swift & Company gets no particular benefit from lower prices paid for live animals. Our profit averages no higher when the price of beef, by-products or cattle is on a lower plane.

If the foregoing raises any question in the mind of the reader, we will endeavor to answer it, upon request.

CAPITAL FETES NEW BRIDES

Miss Agnes Trowbridge Weds Frank F. Nesbit At Parents' Home.

MUMS ENHANCE BEAUTY

Miss Ruth Gretchen Brandenburg and Jeremiah W. McCarty Married.

The interests of society were very much divided yesterday between three weddings of widespread interest. A simple but pretty wedding was that of Miss Agnes Trowbridge, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George T. Trowbridge, who was married to Frank F. Nesbit at 3:30 o'clock at the home of the bride's cousins, Maj. and Mrs. Guy T. Scott. The Rev. Dr. Wallace Radcliffe performed the ceremony which took place in the drawing room which was effectively decorated with palms, ferns and white chrysanthemums. The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was attended by her sister, Mrs. Walter Kuhlmeier of Chicago as matron of honor. Her small nephew, Walter Kuhlmeier, Jr., served as page. Mrs. Burnett Oimsted, Miss Agnes Scott were bridesmaids. Mr. Nesbit's father, Charles Nesbit, was his best man.

The bride wore a gown of ivory satin with a overdrapery of Georgette crepe and a long court train of satin fastened at the shoulders with a row of orange blossoms and edged with lovely duchess lace caught at the corners with clusters of orange blossoms. Her tulle veil was fastened to the hair with a Russian headress of the duchess lace and orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of bride roses.

Chrysanthemums Abundant.
Mrs. Kuhlmeier wore a charming costume of gold-colored velvet in brown tulle elaborately embroidered and trimmed with a wide sash of brown taffeta. The bridesmaids' frocks were of chiffon shading from a light yellow to deep orange, each trimmed with a brown tulle sash. They carried yellow chrysanthemums.

Mrs. Trowbridge wore a handsome gown of navy blue charmeuse and with it she wore a brown panne velvet costume trimmed with brown and a velvet hat of brown. A reception followed the ceremony, after which Mr. and Mrs. Nesbit left for their wedding journey. The bride wearing a dark brown duvetyne suit trimmed with beaver in a wide collar effect and a small feather hat of brown and tan. Upon their return they will reside at 2701 Connecticut avenue.

Miss Brandenburg Bride.
A very beautiful wedding was that of Miss Ruth Gretchen Brandenburg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Brandenburg, and Jeremiah William McCarty, of Danville, Ill., which took place last evening at the Washington Heights Episcopal Church, the Rev. John C. Fairmer officiating in the presence of a large and distinguished company. A reception followed the ceremony at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Brandenburg in Calvert street.

The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Dorothy Brandenburg, as maid of honor, and the bridesmaids were Miss Ethel Wolfe, Miss Marie Sweeney, Miss Eleanor Richardson, Miss Mary Ramsay Nevitt, Miss Fay Brandenburg, brother of the bride, was best man, and the ushers were Dr. Alfred L. Bou, of Porto Rico; Dr. J. Franklin Little, Robert Burkin and Herman Schultze of this city.

The church was elaborately decorated with autumn leaves, palms and white chrysanthemums. At the house a great abundance of autumn leaves, ferns and pink chrysanthemums formed beautiful decoration. The bride made a lovely picture in a gown of soft, white satin and old ivory lace and pearl embroidery. She carried a shower bouquet of bride roses, orchids and lilies of the valley.

Pink Taffeta Costume.
The maid of honor wore an imported creation of pink taffeta with a wired tunic, elaborately embroidered by hand in silver flowers. Silver lace adorned the bodice. The bridesmaids' dresses were all made alike, but were of different colors: Miss Wolfe wearing an orchid gown, Miss Sweeney turquoise blue, Miss Nevitt apricot and Miss Richardson deep pink. They all carried a shower of pink roses and delphinium.

At the reception Mrs. Brandenburg assisted the young couple in receiving, wearing a modish gown of cloth of gold. When the young couple left for their wedding journey, the bride wore a tailored suit of brown duvetyne, with collars and cuffs of Australian opossum and a hat of brown. The bride's gown was adorned with a cluster of flat duvetyne flowers in sand color. Upon their return Mr. and Mrs. McCarty will reside at the Gotham Apartment.

Wedding of Miss Moran.
The marriage of Miss Virginia Moran and Edmund Ornelas, of Mexico, took place last evening in St. Stephen's Episcopal Church, and was followed by an informal reception for the bridal party at the home of the bride, Mrs. M. P. Howard Howard Moran, in Northbrook Courts. The ceremony was performed at 8 o'clock by Rev. George Fliske Dudley, the bride being given away by her father. The bride was attended by Miss Gladys Crump as maid of honor, while the bridesmaids were Miss Pauline Hedian, Miss Aileen Moran, a cousin of the bride, Miss Edna Crump and Miss Gladys Middaugh.

Manual Ayon, of New York, was the best man, and the ushers were Alfred Moran, brother of the bride; Paul Moran, her cousin; T. Mortimer Latimer, Reginald J. S. Piggott, of Bridgeport, Conn.; Allan L. Clayton, of Milton, Pa., and Grange S. Coffin, of Charleston, S. C. The church was decorated with autumn leaves and white chrysanthemums, while pink roses formed the decorations at the house. The bride wore white satin with a court train. The veil was of lovely, old Spanish lace that has long been in the family, edged with narrow

3 ARE GRANTED THEIR DIVORCES

Three interlocutory decrees Signed Yesterday in District Supreme Court.

Three interlocutory decrees of absolute divorce were signed yesterday in the District Supreme Court. Mrs. Ella Trammel Beck was awarded an interlocutory decree of absolute divorce from Frank Beck. The couple were married in 1913. Edward G. Thornton was awarded an interlocutory decree of absolute divorce from Mrs. Ethel R. Thornton. The decree also gives the husband the custody of their two children. Mrs. Thornton was married at Annapolis, Md., in 1914. Mrs. Thornton filed counter charges against her husband, but he submitted a police record which she claimed showed that his wife had been placed on probation after she pleaded guilty to an indiscretion. The wife denied this charge.

William H. Sharp was awarded an interlocutory decree of absolute divorce from Mrs. Grace Sharp. Leland S. Poole, sued on April 1 for an absolute divorce by Mrs. Georgia S. Poole, was ordered to show cause why he should not be granted a temporary alimony. The couple were married in 1919 and have one child. Poole denied his wife's charges of unfaithfulness.

The maid of honor wore an orchid-colored taffeta. Colored taffeta veiled with pink chiffon, embroidered with iridescent beads. She carried pink roses with a shower of the Sweetheart roses. Her hat was an orchid-colored taffeta.

Miss Middaugh and Miss Edna Crump wore green taffeta frocks, while Miss Hedian and Miss Moran wore apricot taffeta gowns. They were all made alike in a dainty old-fashioned style. Their hats all matched their costumes; were of taffeta and were made just like that worn by the maid of honor. They carried pale yellow tea roses and delphinium.

Black and White Brocade.
The bride's mother wore a modish creation of black and white brocade. Her hat was a small black panne velvet creation, trimmed with ostrich plumes, and she wore a corsage bouquet of orchids. Mrs. Moran had as her guests for the wedding Mr. R. C. Fairland, of Philadelphia, and her daughter, Miss Helen Fairland. Mrs. Fairland wore black lace and sequins and a big black hat, while Miss Fairland's gown was of rose colored crepe meteor, made with iridescent trimming. Other guests from out-of-town were Miss Hazel Allan, of Richmond, who is staying with her cousin, Miss Gladys Crump; Alfred Moran, of New York, and Sam Ornelas, of Cornell University and Mexico.

The bridal couple left for a honeymoon trip, the bride wearing a tailored suit of brown duvetyne, a scarf of Australian opossum fur and a small hat to match. They will reside in Chihuahua, Mexico. The bridegroom is the son of Senator and Senora Gil Ornelas, of Mexico City.

Entirely New Way to Banish Superfluous Hair
(Really Removes Roots and All.)
Why should any woman continue to wear an ugly, humiliating growth of hair on her face, now that it is known this can be completely and quickly removed, roots and all, by the new electrolytic process? The process is not to be compared at all with the depilatory, electrical or shaving methods. It is non-painful, non-irritating, non-poisonous—so harmless it could be eaten without any bad effect. Best of all, the hair comes out entire, even the roots, before one's very eyes! The skin is left as smooth and hair-free as a child's.
