ONLY ONE WEEK REMAINS FOR "MISS WASHINGTON" CANDIDATES TO ENTER

WOMAN SELECTED WILL HOLD HONOR FOR A LONG TIME

Number of Candidates Guarantees Choice Will Be Final. EXPERTS TO DECIDE Seal of Approval Sure to Be Accepted Generally as Authoritative.

CONTINUED FROM PAGE ONE. It was originally announced that the judges would make a final selection on August 23, but this seems doubtful now. They will be given all the photographs on August 26, the day after the last are to be accepted by The Herald. But the number of candidates is so greatly in excess of those anticipated that it will probably require more time to reach a fair decision.

Crawford and Carter, the motion picture producers, who have been filming some of the candidates, will resume work today after two days spent in the laboratory developing and printing pictures already taken. These will be shown Sunday at Loew's Palace and the Cosmos theaters.

"Miss Washington" and her companions, representing other cities in the Atlantic City fall pageant on September 7 and 8, are to be guests of the millionaire amusement men of Atlantic City for the entire evening before the opening of the pageant. The American Men's Association, headed by President William F. Fennan, have requested that they be allowed to entertain on the evening of the arrival of the visiting women, who are to take possession of their quarters in beachfront hotels on the afternoon of September 6.

According to the tentative program proposed by the amusement men, the visiting women will be guests at a dinner affair to be given in one of the fine hotels and afterward will occupy boxes at the leading seashore attractions. A dance on one of the piers or in one of the ballrooms of a prominent hotel will follow the theatrical program and will be attended by the notables, who will have arrived to be present at the opening of the big two-day celebration.

The greatest evening outdoor celebration ever held in Atlantic City will take place on the evening of September 8, preceding the opening of the governors' ball on the Steel Pier. The wonderful night carnival will last for hours and during its progress bands will furnish music for every form of outdoor dancing and frolic. Immense searchlights secured from government navy yards will flash the pageant members in and out there will be an electrical and fireworks display transcending in extent anything ever before attempted on the Atlantic Coast.

Planes to Do Stunts. Airplanes will do daring stunts, including a terrific bombing of targets, out at sea. During the evening there will be a contest at every important corner in the resort. At a score of points along the streets and on the wide beach there will be outdoor stages and circus rings erected, and every actor and actress and other performer in the resort will furnish his or her part in the pageant. Promises have been made that even companies playing real plays on the regular stages during the carnival will move their scenery outdoors, and among the special events will be several spectacles by experts of pageantry who will be at the resort, will be made during the "pageant of prizes" which will take place at the ball when the governors, the officials of the city and of the pageant, and the special delegations who follow the awarding of the prizes, and congratulate the women who are entitled to bear the honors of the occasion. The Golden Mermaid, which is to go to the most beautiful bathing girl, also will be awarded along with the long list of cups and other trophies.

Everybody in It. Pageant plans are becoming more ambitious with each passing day. The Chamber of Commerce, Rotary and Kiwanis clubs and practically every civic and fraternal organization in Atlantic City have pledged hearty support.

SCORE OF OFFICERS RAID COFFEE HOUSE

"Best Cup in Town" Comes To Grief When Revenue Men Winks.

The "best coffee in the town" was being sold at the restaurant at 708 Fourteenth street northeast by the proprietor, William A. Cole, colored, 38 years old, and a number of sales were being made, but as each customer paid for his drink, the cash register rang up 50 cents. Ninth precinct police became suspicious last night and surrounded the place while an agent of the internal revenue office stepped inside and winking to Cole, said, "Let me have a cup of coffee." As far as appearances were concerned, the officer got what he wanted, but his wink had caused the proprietor to substitute liquor for coffee.

Cole was grabbed as he ran from the rear door, after smashing several bottles on the floor. The coffee pot, containing nearly two quarts of liquor, besides seven bottles of gin was confiscated. Cole was held at the station house, charged with illegal possession, selling and attempting to destroy evidence.

The raid was conducted by Det. Guy E. Burlingame, Internal Revenue Officers Rose and Fitzgerald, Precinct Detectives Murphy and Loman, Sgt. Burke and a score of bluecoats.

One Man Shot, Nine Taken in Crap Game

Forced to draw their guns when they raided a crap game in the motorhome of the carnival at Thirty-fifth and Wisconsin avenue northwest early yesterday morning, policeman A. H. Poole and W. F. Fager of the Seventh precinct arrested nine alleged dice rollers, all attached to the carnival. Those arrested are Walter Roland Phelkett, 23 years old, Oklahoma; George Watson, 25 years old, Dallas, Tex.; George Lee, 25 years old, York, Neb.; William Rich Prefer, 18 years old, Brooklyn, Mass.; Fred Swing, 21 years old, Brooklyn, all white; and John A. Williams, 26 years old, 726 New York avenue; Jesse Clark, 23 years old, Richmond, Va.; Arthur Smith, 25 years old, Memphis, Tenn.; and William Mines, 22 years old, Akron, S. C., all colored.

As the officers approached, one of the men fired a shot which struck Lewis Baldon, colored, 19 years old, Baketown, Ga., inflicting a slight wound in the right side. He was rushed to the Georgetown hospital and is in a serious condition.

Awaiting "Miss Washington"

Here in brief are the details for the selection of "Miss Washington."

Any woman in Washington or the suburbs is eligible. Submit a photograph to the Art Editor of The Herald, or see the Art Editor and arrange to have one taken. Photographs will be accepted until August 25. They will be submitted to the Board of Judges August 26. The artists will ask the ten most attractive of the young women to appear in person and will select the one most suited for the role of "Miss Washington."

The decision will be made as shortly thereafter as possible, about August 29. The judges are: Dr. Mitchell Carroll, vice president of the Washington Arts Club and editor of Art and Archaeology; Henry W. Bush-Brown, of the Washington Arts Club, a well-known artist and sculptor; Dr. Thomas A. Williams, of the Washington Arts Club, an authority on art; Cuno H. Rudolph, District Commissioner and Sachsch, photographer, an expert in artistic portraiture.

"Miss Washington" will receive a trip to Atlantic City, with all expenses paid to a magnificent celebration, at which she will be an honor guest.

Cocktail Costs Two Months in Jail and $35 Fine

One cocktail of the "lumber yard" variety cost George W. Moulshy, a mechanic, 2016 Fourteenth street southeast, a $35 fine and a jail sentence of two months yesterday in Police Court on charges of assault, drunkenness and disorderly conduct. The cocktail also cost Roland Lee, of 2126 Thirteenth street southeast, a broken nose, although Lee was the innocent party. The fight occurred on an Anacoastia car near Providence-Hospital, Wednesday.

Lee came to the rescue of a woman passenger, who, he says, was being annoyed by Moulshy. Resentful of his interference, Moulshy struck him in the face and broke his nose and then attempted to chase him off the car.

SECRETARY WEEKS VISITS CAMP MEADE

General Harbord Attends Head of Service in Cadet Review.

Secretary of War Weeks and Maj. Gen. James G. Harbord reviewed the members of the citizens' military training corps at Camp Meade late yesterday afternoon. President Harding and Gen. John J. Pershing had hoped to be present. They were detained at the last moment.

Following the review, Secretary Weeks made a brief address. He praised the men highly for their work and predicted that in five years there would be 100,000 boys attending the citizens' military training camps.

Company M, "Washington's Own," acted as color guard during the review yesterday. The Third Cavalry from Fort Myer gave a demonstration of open and close order drill.

Embezzlement Laid Against Auto Man

John Pierpont Martone, sales manager of the Gary Auto Sales Company, was arrested yesterday by Detectives Darnell and Pratt, charged with the embezzlement of funds from his company. The exact amount is not known but police declare it will total several hundred dollars when a final check is made.

Martone, who is 37, was appointed an official of the company on its organization in the early spring. John O'Neil, a former local bondsman, is president of the company, and Martin McNamara, a local attorney, is the treasurer. Offices are in the Columbian Building. According to officials of the company, Martone sold automobiles and trucks at comparatively low prices, accepted a deposit on each sale and appropriated the funds.

URGES NAVY HIRE ONLY AMERICAN LABOR AT YARDS

Chairman of Wage Board Says Aliens Should Go Hungry First.

FAVORITISM CHARGE

Naval Officers Provide High-Paid and Easy Jobs for Friends, Union Says.

Elimination of high-salaried employees who hold their positions "solely because of friendship with naval officers," and the employment of only American workmen in the Washington Navy Yard and other navy yards throughout the country, was cited before the Navy Department Wage Board as a solution of the navy economy program instead of the proposed reduction in salaries, at a hearing yesterday in the Munitions Building.

Luther G. Steward, president of the National Federation of Federal Employees, charged that there is a practice among navy officers of providing easy positions for their personal friends, who in many cases were former naval reservists. "These men," he declared, are brought into the yard and rated with fancy titles and receive salaries ranging from $10 to $12 a day.

"Americans First." "There is a dearth of employment for Americans in this country today," said Capt. James K. Robison, chairman of the wage board, "and I think that the plan should be Americans first. I would require every employee of the navy yard to take the oath of allegiance, and if there are any there today who are not Americans, I personally want to lose them. If anyone is to go hungry this winter, I would rather that it was not an American."

J. J. Murray, representing the Philadelphia Navy Yard, responded to Capt. Robison, saying that the only way to man the navy yards with Americans is to increase salaries. "Under the present scale," he said, "few other than foreigners would have the jobs, which are paying less than the schedule prevailing in privately-owned plants." He pointed out that there were many foreigners employed at the Philadelphia yard, and that all notices were printed in twenty-two languages.

L. G. Major, representing Federal Employees' Union No. 10, of the Norfolk Navy Yard, and national President Steward voiced vigorous protests against the proposed salary reductions.

"Reduction Unfair." Reduction of the pay of many of the clerks of the department is unfair, Steward contended, because the dismissal of a large number of employees in the past has placed upon those remaining a greater volume of work.

The clerical forces of the navy yards, Steward said, were compelled to stay "on their underpaid jobs" during the war under penalty of blacklisting by the Navy Department. He said, did not receive employment in other departments until September, 1920, and the amount of the increase then granted did not equal the cost of living.

OPPOSES WAGE CUT OF FEDERAL FORCES

For the United States government to add to the present industrial depression by wage cuts at this time, having already added hundreds of thousands of men and women to the unemployed, is indefensible economically and politically, was a statement made yesterday to the Navy Department wage board by Luther C. Steward, president of the National Federation of Federal Employees.

"The clerical forces of the navy yards were actually compelled to stay on their underpaid jobs during the war on penalty of blacklisting by the Navy Department on grounds of patriotism," said Steward. "Not until September, 1920, did they receive the same consideration that had been granted to other employees of the government, and this was far less than the increased cost of living. To reduce them now, which would mean putting the standard below the cost of living, as shown by the Labor Department statistics, would be a disgraceful act on the part of the government, instead of using sound economic theory and ethics, to put itself in the class of the grasping employers governed only by greed and not scrupled by the workers' life necessities. Surely the least this government should do is to apply the American standard of living to its own employees."

Police Baseball Game Tickets Moving Fast

First precinct police lead in the sale of tickets for the Police Department-Home Defense League ball game to be played on Labor Day at American League Park, according to a bulletin issued yesterday by Maj. Gessford, which shows that cash sales amounting to $2,400 have been made by the department and that the first precinct turned in $1,400 more than one-fifth of the total. The bureau stands second, having sold $952 worth of tickets, and the Tenth and Second precincts are close contestants for third place, having reported sales amounting to $637 and $600 respectively.

FLORIST SAYS MODERN BRIDE CARRIES SMALLER BOUQUET

Declares Work of Dressmaker in Past Was Hidden by Size of Flowers.

The modern bride walks up the aisle of the church "beflowered" not after the wont of her mother, Max Schling, noted Fifth avenue, New York, florist told the convention of the Society of American Florists yesterday afternoon. "The bride of the past had a bouquet that fairly covered her with flowers. The dressmaker was in a rage because her handiwork was obscured by the florist, but the bride of today had a smaller bouquet," he said.

KIWANIANS LEAVE EARLY TOMORROW

Hagerstown Jaunt in Autos Will Be Taken, Rain Or Shine.

Eighty-seven automobiles, flying pennants of the Washington Kiwanis Club, will carry 312 local Kiwanians, members of their families and other guests, to Hagerstown, Md., tomorrow for an old-fashioned barbecue and picnic. The next convention of the florists will be held in Kansas City.

Dr. George Baker, chairman of the committee in charge of the outing, outlined the plans at a luncheon by luncheon of the local club on the Washington Hotel roof yesterday. "Rain or shine," according to Dr. Baker, the Kiwanis cars will gather on Vermont avenue, north of Thomas Circle, tomorrow morning between 8 and 9:30 o'clock. No automobiles in the procession will be permitted to pass the pilot car, under penalty of a fine. Steve Ford, a member of the club, will carry extra tires in event of trouble. The Kiwanis spirit of reciprocal hospitality and goodwill in business, he said, will be the keynote of the trip.

Eugene Adams, former president of the club, related the history of the club, which is five years old. He said it is difficult to define the Kiwanis spirit of reciprocal hospitality and goodwill in business, he said, but high tribute to Claude Woodward, president of the club, for the manner in which he had administered the affairs of the organization.

Guests of the club were welcomed by T. Lincoln Townsend, Marion Wise, chairman of the educational committee, initiated two new members, Victor Deyber and George Cornwell.
