

SUCCESSFUL MEN OF DISTRICT ARE SKETCHED IN BOOK

"Who's Who in Nation's Capital" Produces Biographies.

Replete with touches of human interest are the 4,000 odd sketches of prominent Washington men and women contained in "Who's Who in the Nation's Capital," a publication which made its appearance yesterday.

The book is the only purely local volume of its kind in Washington and will be of inestimable value as a reference book and encyclopedia of business information, giving in concise form facts concerning prominent persons of the Capital.

Guide Champion "Joiner."

The book reveals many queer facts, regarding persons of prominence in Washington. For instance, William F. Gude, florist and civic leader, has the distinction of being the champion "Joiner" of the District. He belongs to forty-six business, civic and fraternal organizations and has a merry time keeping track of dues.

A study of the publication also shows that the mothers of more than half of the prominent persons whose names appear in the book, bear the name of Mary.

Leaders in Versatility.

The gold medal for leading "Jack of all trades" probably goes to John J. Boobar, general manager of the Terminal Taxicab Company and the Yellow Cab Company. Boobar started life as a railroad engine wiper and then worked successfully as a brakeman, locomotive fireman, express manager, editor of a country newspaper bookkeeper, confidential clerk, member of the Minnesota State legislature, private secretary to a Congressman, and librarian of the House of Representatives.

At one time Boobar turned up his shingle as "Boobar, the Utility Man," specializing in abstracting, expert accounting, insurance underwriting, show window display, and billboard advertising. Mr. Boobar is just about as versatile with musical instruments as he is with job. He plays the slide trombone, the saxophone, and the bass drum. He organized the first bicycle band in the country.

Made Success in Hotel.

But for meteoric careers, few in Washington can surpass that of Gustav Buchholz, familiarly known as "Gus," proprietor of the Occidental Hotel and part owner of the Black and White Taxi Company. "Gus" came to the United States from Germany, the place of his birth, when he was seventeen. He started life as an insurance agent but later became a street car conductor. Not particularly liking street car life, he became an actor. But the stage did not appeal strongly to him and he tried hotel life, serving as maitre d'hotel in various New York hotels. In 1902 he came to Washington as head waiter of the New Willard Hotel. Just ten years later the head waiter became proprietor of a hotel of his own—the Occidental. Now he is a bank director and an influential citizen.

Senators' Career Varied.

William Henry Sears, a well-known lawyer, is another Washingtonian with an extremely varied career. He was a cowboy in Kansas and Colorado, later working successively as a teamster, coal miner, stone mason, farmer, teacher, and lawyer. He served as secretary to Clara Barton, founder of the American Red Cross.

IRELAND MUST STAY IN UNION, SAYS PREMIER

Sinn Fein, and it is believed here that De Valera and other republican leaders would go to London next week for a conference with Lloyd George.

Dispute as to what concessions on the part of Britain are to be offered and the basis for further negotiations could be obtained, it was pointed out here, by the Irish leaders simply going to Downing Street and talking matter over after they get there.

Discussion, or rejection of further discussion, and resumption of active warfare, was the only thing left to be done, it was agreed.

Among members of the Dail and the general public here, a feeling of optimism continued to be apparent. Its source could not be discovered, but its sincerity was undoubted. The Irish people hope for the best and trust their leaders to get the most possible for them.

This was the tone of the Irish press this afternoon. The Evening Telegram declared that the door to peace has been slammed but not bolted, while the Herald said that Ireland trusts her leaders to settle matters without further bloodshed.

Ulster Leaders Pleaded; Say Dail Won't Get Their Money

(Special Cable to The Washington Herald and Chicago Tribune.)
BELFAST, Aug. 27.—The Northern Unionists fully approve of the tone of Lloyd George's reply to De Valera's letter. Mr. Archdale, a member of the Northern cabinet declared that Dail refused to accept the terms because it is not that it "would not get Ulster into its hands to spend her hard-earned money as it wished" he declared Sir James Craig and the members of the cabinet had no idea of giving away even a pin's head of Ulster rights.

Word was received here from London that Sir James Craig arrived there this afternoon for a conference at the invitation of Lloyd George.

Dail Eireann Envoy Urges Friends in U. S. to "Carry on."

Expressing gratitude for the moral and financial assistance already given the Irish republic, Stephen M. O'Mara yesterday issued an appeal to the American people urging that they "carry on."

Birthday Bulletin

REP. JAMES W. OVERTREET, Popular Georgia Democrat, who is today celebrating his 75th birthday, Representative Overstreet was a delegate to the Democratic National Convention, Baltimore, in 1912, which nominated Woodrow Wilson. He is a member of the Rivers and Harbors Committee.

Born August 25, 1846, in Screven County, Ga., and spending his youth on his father's farm, Representative Overstreet received his early education in the Sylvania, Ga., public schools. He was graduated from Mercer University with high honors. He taught school for three years and in 1892 was admitted to the bar. Representative Overstreet also served in the lower house of the Georgia legislature. He was re-elected to the sixty-seventh Congress by a majority of 7,905 over his Republican opponent.

SCHOOL CHILDREN HAVE POOR TEETH

Health Officer Urges Four More Dental Clinics as Needed Remedy.

Ninety per cent of Washington school children are suffering from defective teeth, according to the annual report of the health department, submitted to the Commissioners yesterday by Dr. William C. Fowler, District health officer. Establishment of four additional dental clinics to remedy the situation was recommended by Dr. Fowler.

Dental inspectors examined teeth of 13,474 pupils and found only 1,369 free from defects. Medical inspectors made 6,456 visits to school buildings and 417 visits to homes of pupils. School nurses made 4,895 visits to schools, 10,025 visits to homes of pupils, 1,212 visits to dental clinics, and 438 visits to co-operative agencies.

Public bathing pools of Washington were tested and found free from impurities there in 1920. Influenza was still prevalent in Washington last year, 4,111 cases and 232 deaths being reported. The most common cause of death was pneumonia, 195 of every 100,000 deaths being attributed to that cause.

Births exceeded deaths by 2,425 during the year. There were 6,463 deaths, 91 more than in 1919, and 8,895 births, 667 more than in 1919.

A. F. of L. Challenges Open Shop Advantages

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Aug. 27.—A challenge to the "corporate interests" of America, was issued tonight by the American Federation of Labor through its executive council, representing 4,000,000 union workers.

The federation assailed the open shop drive, declaring that for a corporation to demand as a condition of employment that a wage earner shall agree not to join a labor union was a violation of the workers' constitutional rights. It asserted that the American Federation of Labor would thoroughly investigate the whole situation "so that the people may be fully and accurately apprised of the real situation of affairs."

Bomb Explosion Wrecks Part of Chicago Theater

CHICAGO, Ill., Aug. 27.—A bomb which exploded a few minutes after midnight partially wrecked the rear of the Columbia theater here. No one was hurt, but the explosion caused great excitement in the downtown district.

A section of the rear wall of the theater and the stage door entrance were reduced to ruins. Police said the bomb had been timed apparently to explode when persons would be leaving the theater by the stage door.

The international alliance of theatrical stage hands, it was reported, is having trouble with the Columbia, where a new show was to open September 4.

Asks Receiver for I. R. T.

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—A receivership has been asked for the Interborough Rapid Transit Company by the American Brake Shoe and Foundry Company, which has a claim of $57,000 against the Interboro.

mission here. His statement follows: "I desire to convey the gratitude of our government and nation to the good people of America for the peaceful assistance, moral and financial, which they have given to our country during the course of the inhuman warfare waged against it."

"I appeal to them now at this critical stage for an intensification of their efforts on our behalf."

"First, to safeguard the common interests of Ireland and America at the coming disarmament conference."

"Second, to obtain from their government recognition of our republic."

SCHOOL SURVIVES FORM TO COMBAT RULING BY BOARD

Sixteen Organizations Line Up to Fight Anti-Fraternity Edict.

Washington high school fraternities organized last night for a determined battle against the Board of Education's ruling prohibiting fraternity members from participation in school activities, at a meeting of representatives of sixteen societies at the chamber of commerce.

Purposes of the council are said to be "to unite the various organizations which can effectively combat the ruling of the Board of Education."

Practically every organization in the high schools was represented. Plans for an extensive publicity campaign against the action of the board were outlined.

Willis Kern was elected president of the council. G. A. Prevost was chosen recording secretary. Other officers will be elected at the next meeting.

The fraternities which joined the council were: Lambda Sigma, Sigma Delta, Alpha Delta Sigma, Epsilon Xi Sigma, Delta Sigma Nu, Phi Phi, Beta Phi Sigma, Delta Phi, Phi Sigma Phi, Sigma Beta Phi, Phi Alpha, Gamma Delta Psi, Sigma Kappa Delta, Gamma Sigma and Beta Sigma Sigma.

POLICE FIND RUM ON SPEEDER'S CAR

Autoist Arrested for Traffic Violation Faces Four Charges.

Five charges, including a violation of the Harrison narcotic and Volstead laws, were preferred against Frank Lee Young, 31 years old, of 1414 Park road northwest, by Tenth precinct police, when they arrested him for speeding.

Young, police assert, was speeding down Howard street northwest in the vicinity of the precinct station at twenty-five miles an hour. Following a short chase on motorcycles, Sgt. J. W. McCormick and Policeman W. W. Wheeler captured Young.

Upon investigation, police found fifty cents of liquor and a small quantity of heroin hidden in his automobile. He is charged with speeding, transporting intoxicating liquor, having a dead number on his auto, violating the Harrison narcotic act and illegal possession of dope. He was released on bond of $1,500.

John and Henry Foster, brothers, 46 and 48 years old, respectively, were arrested late yesterday afternoon when the Eighth precinct police raided the grocery store conducted by the two at 1826 Willbarger street northwest and seized four cases of peach extract. They were charged with illegal selling and were released on bond of $1,000 each.

Anza Koonin, 47 years old, and Dora Koonin, 19 years old, of 107 Pennsylvania avenue northwest were arrested yesterday afternoon by Precinct Detectives Thompson, Rome and Tucker of the Sixth precinct station and charged with selling intoxicating liquor.

F. W. Booth Is Dean Of "Y" Law School

The Educational Department of the Washington Young Men's Christian Association announces the appointment of Fenton W. Booth, associate judge of the United States Court of Claims, as dean of the Law School, to succeed Charles V. Imlay, local attorney, who resigned because of demands of his law practice. Mr. Imlay, however, will continue to give one of the courses which he has been teaching.

Plans for the opening of the school on September 20 are practically completed. The regular class period is 5:30 to 7:30 p. m. Additional classes will be offered this year from 7:30 to 9:30 p. m. to accommodate those who are unable to attend the earlier hour. Several new men have been added to the faculty, among them George P. Barse, assistant district corporation counsel; Stanley H. Udy, of the State Department; and formerly instructor of the School of the University of Missouri, and Capt. Edward Stafford, Robert Coffin Hilldale, and Clarence Miller, practicing attorneys. Other members of the faculty are William R. Vallance, assistant solicitor of the Department of State; Percival H. Marshall, William A. Coombe, practicing attorneys, and John A. Hanna, Department of State.

Restaurant Diner Sues Owner for $25,000

Blaming her injuries to alleged carelessness of a waiter, a restaurant and chairs in Harvey's restaurant on March 28 last, Margaret Elliott, a diner, filed suit for $25,000 damages yesterday in the District Supreme Court, against Charles F. Harvey, owner of the place.

Through Attorneys Archer, Smith and Hunter, the plaintiff claims the injuries undermined her health and nervous system, and she has been compelled to spend large sums for medical treatment.

Thieves Get Money, Sugar, Gems, Goods

Sugar, money, jewelry and clothing comprised the loot obtained by District thieves yesterday. Thieves broke into the Kenny's Tea Store, 634 Pennsylvania avenue northwest, early last evening and unnoticed by thousands of people walking along on the outside, ransacked the establishment and escaped with a quantity of sugar. They gained entrance by forcing a rear door. Sixth precinct police are investigating.

Middle West Sees Signs Pointing To Hard Winter

CHICAGO, Aug. 27.—All the signs point to the hard winter, say nature observers in the Midwest. Some of the indications are: lack martins have already begun their migration southward. Clouds of them may be seen flying along the shores of Lake Michigan at certain hours of the day.

Indiana at Birchwood, Wis. say that animal pelts are heavier than for many years.

Wild geese killed recently have unusually thick breast bones. Wisconsin farmers report corn husks to be very heavy.

JAIL POPULATION INCREASED BY 317

Number Committed for Serious Crimes Decreased, Says Superintendent.

Increased activity of the courts since mid-winter has put 317 more prisoners in the Washington jail than were there in 1920. W. L. Peak, superintendent of the District Jail, told the Commissioners yesterday in his annual report. There were 2,804 prisoners sent to the jail last year.

Decrease in commitment for serious crimes was noted in the report and attributed to the courts' stringency. There were fifty-seven less cases of carrying deadly weapons, seventy-four less cases of larceny, thirty less cases of grand larceny, and thirty-four less cases of joy-riding, the report shows. Forty-nine, ten more than in 1920, were committed to jail for murder. Four men await execution.

The second full year of prohibition finds 1,097, a gain of 256, or 34 per cent more than last year, committed to the jail for intoxication. Hair tonic, flavoring extracts, perfumes, medicines, and wood alcohol are some of the beverages which led to arrests.

HOPES PEACE WILL AID WELFARE OF GERMANY AND U.S.

and expansive face which, as he stepped from behind his desk with his hand extended in welcome, was lighted up by a broad expressive smile.

President Ebert, although a Majority Socialist, regards himself primarily as the representative of all groups of the German nation. He has felt that his most important task is to unite all the democratic elements which are ready to cooperate in the work of reconstruction and the restoration of peace and security.

Counted on Democracy.
With few preliminary comments and without reservation he answered simply and directly all the questions put to him. Outlining the growth and development of the democratic republican spirit he said: "Following our military breakdown, the German people, with comparatively few exceptions, counted on a democratic government as the only hope for a bearable peace and the possibility of saving Germany. The former governing system had gone bankrupt. This hope was no self-illusion, but was justified by all the expressions of entente war aims and the American slogan of democracy."

"We accepted the armistice on the basis of President Wilson's fourteen points, but the peace treaty following the armistice was a great disappointment to Germans of all classes and a blow to democracy. Reaction, which for a long time was afraid to raise its head, came into the open again, taking advantage of all the difficulties placed in the path of the young republic by the peace treaty."

Attacked by Reactionaries.
"The reactionaries are trying to make the present democratic government and the present democratic government responsible for all of Germany's difficulties. Nevertheless at the present time the great majority of people, from the workers to the middle classes, unquestionably favor the republic."

Replying to a question as to what was his estimate of the most valuable accomplishments of the German Republic, President Ebert said: "Democracy has been introduced into the state and into the counties down the whole line. The introduction to the Weimar constitution says: 'The united German people, animated by a desire to rebuild and to strengthen their country in freedom and justice and to preserve interior and foreign peace, and to support social progress, have given themselves this constitution.'"

Has Secured 8-Hour Day.
"In fact, the people have decided on all matters. Women are men's equals politically; they have the same rights and all professions are open to them."

"The greatest advantages secured by democracy have been in the field of social legislation. We have secured an eight-hour day for workers in all fields. The law for workmen's councils creates a sort of constitution for all plants. Other achievements in the same field are government relief for the unemployed, for young mothers and babies; settlements for city workers and government control for housing arrangements to meet the extra housing."

"Politically the greatest achievement has been the success of maintaining the unity of the German nation, which has been saved through the loyalty of the German workmen, who appreciate the value of the new democracy. This was especially seen in the plebiscite in North Schleswig, East Prussia, and Upper Silesia."

Released on Habeas Corpus.
Lewis Davidson, alleged by the Baltimore police to be the violator of the speed regulations there last May, was released yesterday on a writ of habeas corpus signed by Justice Hoehling in Circuit Court. Bond was fixed at $1,500, and was furnished by Frank A. O'Neil.

According to Martin McNamara, counsel for Davidson, the Baltimore police claim that he was arrested, but ran away. Davidson denies that he violated the speed regulations and attacks the validity of the requisition papers. The case will be heard September 7.
