DECLARES FAILURE LEADS TO SUCCESS

Head of Emerson Institute Tells of Part-Time Work Afforded Students.

"Why do we go to school?" asks Angus McD. Crawford, principal of the Emerson Institute. "In order to make quicker progress by drawing examples from the failures and experience of others. It takes failure to show us the way to success. Show me a man who says that he has never failed and I will show you either a bluffer or a man who has never taken a chance. The greatest gamblers of today are the men who take a chance wisely. When a man enters a course at a part time school he has had a working acquaintance with failure and desires to avoid further contact by bettering his time to future advantage. Wasted moments would make a fitting title to the grandest tragedy that mortal pen could inscribe.

"The Emerson Institute affords the part time and the whole time man or woman, a great chance to forge ahead and beat Father Time in the race to success. This school was founded in 1882, and since that time has increased a hundredfold in enrollment and character of service rendered.

"We supply the tools of education, and leave it to the student to grasp the salient points of the time offering encouragement and aid for the man or woman needing it.

"There is a woman's department in the Emerson Institute which teaches the identical subjects taught in the men's department, under the direction of Prof. E. A. Simpson. This branch meets evenings, on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays, but the instruction is not co-educational, there being separate classes for men and women."

PUPILS' POSTURE WILL BE SHOWN MORE ATTENTION

Improper Diet Ascribed As Chief Cause by Dr. Murphy.

Correction of poor posture among Washington's school children will be one of the tasks of the health department during the school year just started. Dr. Joseph A. Murphy, in charge of medical inspection, announced yesterday that thirty per cent of the pupils of the public schools do not sit or stand erect. Dr. Murphy estimated, but he declared that poor posture was due to fatigue instead of spine trouble in most cases. Lack of nourishment, caused by not enough food or faulty diet, causes fatigue, Dr. Murphy said.

Diet to Be Studied.
 Study of nourishment of drooping children was begun last year, but will be extended to include all such cases in the public schools, Dr. Murphy said. Teachers will report cases of poor posture to the medical inspectors, who visit the schools twice a week, and classes in nutrition will be conducted at the health department clinics.

Lack of equipment has handicapped the work, Dr. Murphy declared, as last year but six nutrition classes of twenty pupils each were conducted. Poverty was rarely the cause of lack of nourishment. The nutrition classes do not take the children from their homes, but are conducted on school grounds for approximately seven-weeks.

Weighting Is Emphasized.
 Weighting scales are needed in every school so that those children who are under or over weight can be reported in time and study of their cases made. Dr. Murphy said. He warmly commended some of the parent-teacher associations for their work along this line.
