ITALIAN CHEFS DISCUSS PLAN FOR COALITION

Fascisti May Gain Strong Representation in New Cabinet.

KING SAID TO FAVOR GIOLITTI CABINET

Martial Law Proclamation Revoked as Disorder Threats Subside.

ROME, Oct. 28.—King Victor Emmanuel late today asked former Prime Minister Salandra to form a new cabinet to take the place of the fallen Facta regime.

ROME, Oct. 28.—King Victor Emmanuel tonight requested Benito Mussolini, leader of the Fascisti, to come to Rome for a consultation on the political situation.

Mussolini announced that he would go by airplane from Milan to Rome on Sunday.

Pope Pius issued an appeal for peace, including an appeal by him for the pacification of the souls and hearts of the beloved people of Italy.

PARIS, Oct. 28.—The Fascisti were masters of the Italian political situation tonight, according to fragmentary dispatches from Rome.

Fascisti Fight Jugo-Slav Pacts

Party Insists Distasteful Treaties With Belgrade Be Disavowed.

PARIS, Oct. 28.—According to French official dispatches from Rome the Fascisti already are elaborating the following changes in the Italian foreign policy:

First—Disavowal of the treaties with Jugo-Slavia over the disposition of the Dalmatian coast, particularly Fiume.

Second—To amend the Washington navy treaty to allow Italy a much greater tonnage.

Third—To demand a much larger share of reparations and territorial peace settlements.

Fourth—To insist on Italy's possession of the Dodecanese Islands, which now are disputed by Great Britain, as well as Greece and Turkey.

Fifth—To delay the Near East peace conference until January to allow the Fascisti government a breathing spell.

Qual D'Orsay is genuinely alarmed today over the prospect of any coup against Fiume, which would throw all the Balkans into another uproar and might tip over the delicately adjusted balances there.

The French are skeptical of Italy making the "Mediterranean for Mediterranean," which is the Fascisti program, their reasons being the British navy and the naval bases.

BRITISH PREMIER AND LOYD GEORGE AVOID FINISH FIGHT

Unionist Papers in Arms Over Suggestion of Coalition.

LONDON, Oct. 28.—Great Britain, preparing for a general election, was all at sea tonight because neither Bonar Law nor Lloyd George showed inclination to come forward with a clean-cut program on which voters could base their decision.

Worse than this, from the point of view of party men who look forward to a political fight to a knockout, came official intimation that the leaders have arranged to withhold opposition to each other's candidates.

The Unionist party organization announced it would not oppose election of Liberal members of the late Lloyd George ministry, and Lloyd George, in turn, has not thrown his personality into the fight against Bonar Law.

Lloyd George, speaking at Glasgow, refused to attack his successor this afternoon, and Lord Birkenhead and Sir Robert Horne, former cabinet members confined their caustic remarks to telling how little they thought of the men chosen by Bonar Law for his new ministry.

Union papers are up in arms over the suggestion that another coalition may be formed. This is apparently what Lloyd George is driving at.

Lloyd George, in his speech at Glasgow, made no direct attacks upon Bonar Law's party. He kept harping upon the great services of the coalition and need for a similar form of government in the near future.

An important political conference will be held tomorrow at the country home of Lord Balfour, who is entertaining Lloyd George, Lord Birkenhead, Austen Chamberlain and Sir Robert Horne.

TOWNS WILL SEIZE COAL FOR SCHOOLS

SCRANTON, Pa., Oct. 28.—Borough officials of Glyphant near here tonight announced their determination to seize fuel necessary to heat schools of the town, if the coal is not received by Monday morning.

Efforts to get the coal during the past week were fruitless. The President of the United States was appealed to, as well as the State fuel administration at Harrisburg and the mine officials here, W. D. R. Alney, State fuel administrator, this afternoon promised to have the coal Monday morning. Health authorities have ordered all schools closed, and say they will remain closed until their demands for fuel are complied with.

WRIT ON MEXICAN CONSULATE LIFTED

Attachment of the property of the Mexican consulate in New York City, which brought about a protest from the Mexican government, will be lifted immediately, the State Department was advised yesterday.

Secretary of State Hughes received a reply from Gov. Miller of New York, saying the New York authorities had gotten in touch with the counsel of the Oliver Trading Company, which brought the attachment, and that it would be vacated immediately.

STILLMAN LOSES FIGHT FOR RETRIAL

MOTHER DOUBTS MRS. CARLETON KILLED PASTOR

Demands Inquest to Clear Up Story of Murder and Suicide.

HAVRE, Mont., Oct. 28.—Inquest over the bodies of Rev. Leonard Jacob Christler, "Bishop of all outdoors," and his "platonic friend," Mrs. Margaret Carleton, his alleged slayer, who committed suicide, opened here tonight.

Friends of the dead man and woman gathered in the little morgue for the investigation, demanded by Mrs. Don Davenport, mother of Mrs. Carleton, who says she does not believe that her daughter did the shooting.

Bishop William Frederick Fabre, of Montana, was present when the inquest opened.

Widow Sticks to Story.

Mrs. Christler clung to her original story that she believed Mrs. Carleton, known as the miniature beauty, and noted as the most beautiful woman in Montana, was demented as the result of hard work and loneliness. Mrs. Carleton has been separated from her husband, a former judge, for three years.

An investigation was conducted by ecclesiastical authorities recently into reports coupling the name of the Rev. Christler and the woman who murdered him. The report vindicated the minister.

Business of Havre was at a standstill today during the funeral services for the noted pastor. High tribute was paid to his work by Bishop Fabre of the Montana diocese in the funeral sermon.

Letters Indicate Jealousy.

Chief of Police James Moran announced tonight that charred bits of telegrams and letters found in the fireplace of the Christler home, which Mrs. Carleton was trying to burn when discovered by Mrs. Christler, showed unmistakable proof that the deed was caused by jealousy of Rev. Christler's happy life as compared with her own loneliness.

Mrs. Carleton had visited Rev. Christler many times in his study and that the two were closeted for long periods of time. They were not inclined to make further investigation until the demand was made by Mrs. Carleton's mother. Now, it is believed the whole question of the relations of the big two-fisted sky pilot and Mrs. Carleton will be reopened.

Bishop Fabre of Montana, who ordered the investigation into reports that improper relations existed between the two, exonerated both, announcing that only a close "platonic friendship" existed between them; that both were good workers in the church and that Rev. Christler's conduct in the periods of seclusion in his study with Mrs. Carleton were "only those proper to a pastor and parishoner."

Rev. Christler, big, curly-headed

Football Star Kills Bandit, Wounds Other

Snatches Pistol from One, Shooting Him; Beats Pal Off from $4,000.

CHICAGO, Oct. 28.—Herbert Elliott, ex-football star, tackled two bandits today, killing one and wounding the other when they tried to hold him up.

Elliott, a ticket agent at the Stock Yards district of the Western Indiana Railroad, outwitted the hold-up men when they stuck him up for a $4,000 pay roll which had been placed in the safe to pay off yard employees.

When one of the bandits stuck a gun in his ribs Elliott wrested the weapon from him and shot the bandit in the head, killing him instantly. The dead robber's pal jumped for Elliott, who struck him over the head with the butt of the gun. The man escaped after the beating.

MRS. ROSIER'S BABY COOS AT JURY BOX; STATE PROTESTS

Prosecutor Succeeds in Removing Infant From Stand.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 28.—The sensation of the trial of Mrs. Catherine Rosier came today when "Baby Richard," Mrs. Rosier's year-old child occupied the witness stand for a few minutes. He had been in the arms of his aunt, Mrs. Ralph Chapel, and when she was called as a witness for the defense she took him to the stand with her, before Assistant Attorney Spelzer, conducting the case for the court could stop her.

Spelzer could hardly restrain himself as he objected, and Judge Barcelet ordered the baby out at once. The golden-haired youngster cooed at the jury and spectators and smiled his way into the hearts of all present.

The defense called its witnesses to prove Mrs. Rosier was in good health, happy and contented up until the time "Baby Richard" came. It was then she learned of her husband's infidelity, it is said.

Mrs. Rosier, haggard and broken from suffering and ill health, sat in her cell tonight and nervously faced another week-end of suspense.

Mrs. Rosier, on trial for the murder of Miss Mildred Reckitt, whom she shot at the same time she did her husband in his offices in January, has broken down time after time during the trial and when court adjourned until Monday she had to be carried to her cell.

The police surgeon said she was suffering from heart trouble, and no matter what the outcome of the trial, probably would not live long anyway, as she is in a critical condition and the strain of the trial has almost finished her.

TROOPS GUARD DUAL MURDER CASE WITNESS

Mrs. Gibson, on Return, Protected on Ranch by State Officers.

Quantico last night experienced its most frenzied thrill and held the most joyous celebration that has been staged since the establishment of the Eastern Coast Expeditionary base on the banks of the Potomac.

In West Washington there was a corresponding gloom, depression and repression for the Marines yesterday reached the heights of their athletic aspirations by downing Georgetown, 9 to 6, at National Park, in probably the most momentous gridiron clash in which the corps has ever participated.

Heralded as one of the most formidable eleven in the country, undefeated and being given the most profound consideration in the ranking of the leading teams, Georgetown was trampled off her football throne by the Marines. Georgetown was deeply jolted and rudely jarred, but in the calmer moments of their aftermath their rational supporters could not deny to the Leathernecks the full need of the victory.

Stories had floated up the river that a galaxy of former football stars, now on the commissioned personnel of the Marines, had been gathered, but most of these were discounted as merely propaganda for the corps.

U.S. WILL SEND OBSERVERS TO ALIED PARLEY

Accepts Invitation to Join In Near East Peace Conference.

The United States government has informed the allied powers of Great Britain, France and Italy that it will be represented at the Near Eastern peace conference at Lausanne, Switzerland, on November 13, by official observers.

This was announced at the State Department last night, following the presentation to Secretary of State Hughes yesterday afternoon of a formal invitation from the three allied governments for the United States to attend or participate in the conference at Lausanne, which is hoped to be the means of bringing peace to the troubled Near East.

Russia Will Have Voice.

The important revelation was officially made in the allied invitation yesterday that Russia is to be given a voice on the subject of her important interests in the question of the future of the Dardanelles, and that Bulgaria is to be heard also.

The United States will not be represented by a plenipotentiary at the conference, because this country was not at war with Turkey.

The text of the allied invitation, as announced by the State Department last night, follows:

"The government of Great Britain, France and Italy are inviting the governments of Japan, Rumania, Greece and Turkey to send representatives to Lausanne on November 13 to conclude a treaty of peace to end the war in the Near East.

Strategic Conference Later.

They are also inviting the Russian, Rumanian, Greek and Turkish governments to send representatives to participate in the discussions which the conference will undertake, in the course of its proceedings, on the subject of the Straits.

"The three principal allied powers recall that a representative of the United States government was present at San Remo in the final stages of the proceedings of the supreme council which led to the drafting of the treaty of Sevres in 1920. They would welcome the presence of a United States representative at Lausanne in a similar capacity or in a more active capacity, especially in the discussion upon the question of the Straits."

The developments yesterday which made plain the attitude of the American government on the approach of the Lausanne conference, and showed that this country is going to be proved that this government is not going to participate actively and completely with plenipotentiaries in the parley.

Cables to Ambassadors.

Secretary of State Hughes dispatched cable instructions to American ambassadors at London, Paris and Rome to have those representatives acquaint the governments of the United States with the attitude of the United States on the Lausanne conference and as to how far this government wished to participate before he received the formal invitation of the allies yesterday afternoon.

These cable instructions pointed out that the United States is not directly concerned in the political and territorial aspects of the peace settlement in the Near East, because this country was not at war with Turkey. But it was declared that in view of important American interests in the proposed Near Eastern settlement, commercial, educational, religious and humanitarian interests the American government would send observers to the parley.

Possibly Three Observers.

Whether the term "observers" is used in a literal sense, State Department officials last night could not commit themselves. But it has been suggested that if more than one American observer attends the conference, it will be Joseph C. Grew, American Minister to Switzerland, or Richard Washburn Child, American Ambassador to Italy, both of whom are near to the conference, and Mrs. Child, who is the daughter of the late Rear Admiral Mark L. Bristol, the American high commissioner at Constantinople, who is probably the only American with any other official American with the recent developments that led up to the complete victory of Mustafa Kemal in Asia Minor, also would represent this government.

REDS WELCOMED IN VLADIVOSTOK

TOKYO, Oct. 28.—Vladivostok became a city of Reds immediately after the Japanese completed their evacuation. Practically every house and store displayed the red flag, while crowds carrying red banners lined the streets.

The Bolshevik cavalry appeared an hour later and was given a great ovation.

The Japanese commander sent a note to the commander of the Reds congratulating him on the attitude of the Chita army and thanking him for agreeing to the conditions under which the Japanese were not hampered in their final moves.

ATTY. B. E. BARLOW, WORRIED BY DEBTS, SHOTS HIMSELF

After Writing Letter to His Father, Sends Bullet Into Brain.

"I will be glad to see you, as I need some one to help me."

Two minutes after he had dictated this portion of a letter to his father, relative to the parent's visit to this city next week, Burt E. Barlow, 42 years old, a member of the law firm of Serven, Joyce and Barlow, was dead in his private office, on the fifth floor of the International Building, 1321 F street northwest, from a self-inflicted wound. The shooting occurred yesterday afternoon soon after 5 o'clock.

Barlow, a member of the law firm, was unable to meet the demands of a contract for the purchase of a residence, 2100 Sixteenth street northwest, and ill health, are ascribed as the reasons for the act.

Worried About Note.

According to Abraham E. Serven, senior member of the law firm, and father-in-law of the suicide, the inability to meet notes which would have been due December 1, had been preying upon the young attorney's mind for some time, and that he had mentioned it on several occasions during the day.

After completing the letter to his father, Attorney Henry H. Barlow, of Columbia, Mich., Barlow entered his private office, bleeding from the door and laying upon a couch fired the shot which caused his death.

The secretary, Daniel Campbell, upon hearing the report of the revolver, ran into the office, where he found his employer bleeding from a wound over his temple. The physician who responded to the call pronounced the man dead.

Coroner Nevitt issued a certificate of death due to suicide, and the body was removed to the morgue for the purpose of an autopsy.

Barlow is survived by his wife and five children, the eldest son being a student at George Washington University. The widow was contacted by news of the act. Arrangements for the funeral have not been completed.

Barlow came to Washington on February 1, 1919. His alertness won for him full recognition from the United States Supreme Court, when on numerous occasions he won noteworthy cases. Among the most prominent were the Maryland Casualty Company against the United States, involving the taxation laws, and the American Trading and Transportation Company against the government.

Had Nervous Breakdown.

Several years ago Barlow suffered a nervous breakdown complicated with influenza. Owing to his health he spent last winter in the Bermuda Islands. Returning early in the spring he attempted to resume his duties but his health failed him. In April he was advised by his physician to tour Europe. He returned during June.

Barlow was a member of the City Club, the Blue Lodge Chapter and commandery of Masons, American Bar Association and the International Brotherhood of Lawyers. He attended the Mount Pleasant Congregational Church.

He was twice married, his first wife dying fifteen years ago. Nine years ago he married Miss Ida S. Serven, of Washington. Besides his father, widow and five children he is survived by one brother, Maj. Nathan Barlow, of Coolwater, Md., temporarily connected with the Public Health Service in this city. Graduating from the University of Michigan, Attorney Barlow practiced law with his father before coming to Washington.

NEW INJUNCTION SOUGHT IN TEXAS

Lawyers Continue Fight to Keep Mayfield's Name Off Ballot.

DALLAS, Tex., Oct. 28.—Sensational developments tonight put the Texas political situation in the greatest turmoil this State has known in years.

Thousands of Democrats from all parts of the State attended a monster rally here tonight because the State Supreme Court, reversing the decision of a lower court, authorized the name of Earle B. Mayfield on the ballot as the Democratic candidate for the United States Senate.

While the celebration here was getting under way a new injunction, intended to keep Mayfield's name off the ballot, was being rushed at Fairfield, inasmuch as County Attorney E. Hank Williams, whose attorneys for action, attorneys here believed the order would conform with the principles laid down by the Supreme Court and be recognized as binding.

The new injunction would restrain the placing of Mayfield's name on the ballot and forbid the mailing of ballots bearing his name.
