

BRITISH SPORTSMAN HERE TO OFFER CHALLENGE

AS PRETTY AS A PINK, Miss Mildred Durant, of 3600 New Hampshire avenue northwest, is regarded as one of the most attractive young women of the National Capital.

A SPORTING DUKE is His Grace of Leinster, who is in the United States to challenge William Washburn Nutting to a single-handed transatlantic race next summer. The duke and Mr. Nutting are photographed with H. B. Névin, at the Névin shipyard at City Island, looking over yachts for the winter.

KEEN-EYED Mrs. Myrtle Stringer, of Michigan, a passenger on the S. S. President Garfield, is responsible for the rescue last week of the schooner Rosa Forlita. Mrs. Stringer was the first to spy the disabled vessel.

STAR GAZERS see a new luminary in the musical heavens in the person of Miss Mary Keyes. Miss Keyes made her professional debut as a harpist in Baltimore earlier this month, appearing for the first time in Washington at the community concert Sunday evening.

THE MODERN YOUNGSTER doesn't have to depend upon makeshift thrills. Santa Claus left this youngster a real honest-to-goodness motor car in miniature, the exact copy of an expensive roadster. The little car is driven by gasoline and can make ten miles an hour when it is doing its best.

THE "TAXI SYMBOLIQUE," which was recently installed in the war museum of the Hotel des Invalides, Paris, in memory of the thousands of gasoline heroes that did their bit in the early days of the war to save France. The taxis, with the chauffeurs, were commandeered to rush soldiers to the front to check the flood of the German army toward their beloved Paris eight years ago.

READY IN APRIL, in time for the opening of the baseball season, the new Yankee stadium is to seat 80,000 fans. The photograph shows the copper frieze, the longest in the world, that will surmount the triple-deck grandstand.

YESTERDAY may have been Christmas for most folks, but it was just another day for one forlorn little pup, forgotten by Santa Claus. "Toddles" little mistress is trying to comfort him for Santa's neglect.

A RECENT PORTRAIT of Carter Field, newly elected president of the National Press Club. Mr. Field, who is a veteran in the newspaper game in Washington, is head of the local bureau of the New York Tribune.

BACK IN WASHINGTON, V. W. O'Hara, former United States consul general at Barcelona, Spain, is ready for his next assignment in Uncle Sam's service. Mr. O'Hara arrived in New York last week on board the S. S. President Garfield.

SHOOTING THE SPOTS off their rivals, the Northwestern University Co-ed Rifle Team is gaining laurels throughout the Middle West. The fair marksmen use sixties in their out-of-door gallery and find the novel combination of two sports extremely popular.
