

HOUSE TO TAKE NO CHANCES ON UPSHAW PROOF

Hill's Demand for Evidence of Liquor Violations by Members Will Be Pigeonholed

BLANTON LEAPS INTO FRAY

Ridicules Maryland Wet, and Says He Took Up Statement to Gain Newspaper Notoriety

By Universal Service.

No chances are going to be taken by the House on the production of proof by Representative Upshaw, "dry" champion from Georgia, of his recent charges that members of the House and Senate, governors of States and other high Federal and State officials practice violations of the prohibition laws.

RESOLUTION TO DIE.

The resolution being prepared by Representative Hill, of Maryland, "wet" leader, asking to have the House demand that Upshaw submit to the Judiciary Committee for investigation his evidence of drinking by officials and members of Congress, will get nowhere. This was learned authoritatively yesterday.

The Hill resolution, instead of going to the Judiciary Committee, of which Representative Volstead, father of the "dry" law, is chairman, will be referred to the House Committee. There it will be poked into a pigeonhole that Chairman Campbell keeps for taboos measures, and forgotten.

Nevertheless some House members fear Upshaw may be goaded into "spilling the beans" by introduction of the resolution and subsequent comment in the press and on the floor of the House. He has asserted flatly that if anybody "calls his hand on" him in an officialdom, he will produce the proof.

BLANTON AND HILL CLASH.

The Upshaw charges came yesterday in a clash between Hill and Representative Blanton of Texas, during debate on the Interior Department appropriation bill. Blanton was discussing an item carrying $25,000 for suppression of the use of alcohol and deleterious drugs, including peyote, among the Indians in the United States. While Blanton was talking, Hill walked into the chamber, turning toward the Maryland Representative, the Texan said:

"There are men today who still believe they have the right to continue the use of intoxicating liquors in the form of light wine and beer, and they are even so near to the city of Washington as the city of Baltimore. Because they believe in it, they may even go so far as to believe that it is a religious rite in their exercise of it."

RIDICULES UPSHAW CHARGE.

"We still repress intoxicating liquors, even though some of its advocates are prominent members of Congress, who are here on a fifty-fifty vote of Democrats and Republicans."

Hill, whose vote in the November 7 election equaled the total Republican and half of the Democratic registration in his district, inquired:

"Does the gentleman indorse the charges made by his colleague, the Representative from Georgia, Mr. Upshaw, as to the wholesale violations of the Volstead act by members of Congress?"

"Oh, that is ridiculous," Blanton replied.

SAYS HILL APPLAUDED.

"I was present on the floor," Blanton continued, "when Mr. Upshaw made that speech, and I witnessed the distinguished rider of the great white charger from Baltimore (Hill) applaud the statements of Mr. Upshaw more than did any other member. And the gentleman will not deny it."

"No," said Hill, "and I applauded because if any member of this House is violating the law he should stop it. But I do not believe any member is violating the law, and I believe those charges are incorrect."

Blanton went on:

"He applauded the gentleman at that time and then waits for the gentleman to go back to Georgia, and in order to get a little newspaper notoriety he calls on him for proof."

WOULD NOT BETRAY THEM.

"Oh, if I wanted newspaper notoriety," Hill retorted, "I would try to learn from the gentleman from Texas."

Blanton answered:

"And the gentleman would be a good one, if he did. But that is all poppycock to ask that evidence from the gentleman from Georgia. The gentleman from Maryland knows that the distinguished gentleman from Georgia is not going to give away any of his colleagues, even if he knew of their violations."

"But I do not believe he had any evidence," Hill asserted.

"And I," concluded Blanton, "would not give away my colleagues on that proposition if I knew of such evidence."

Red Doctrines Failed Hungary, Lawyer Claims

NEW YORK, Dec. 29.—"BOLSHEVISM was tried out in Hungary and dismissed as a complete failure."

Dr. Oliver Jacobi, one of the best known lawyers of Budapest, Hungary, made that statement here, adding:

"For four months we had an experiment with the soviet government. It was a very bitter experience. Bolshevism is far from producing the Arcadia which it is claimed to be by those who are feathering their own nests through Bolshevik activities. It means the rule of the greedy, stupid and unintelligent over those who are fitted by training and intellect to make the laws of the country."

Colored Catholics Will Hold Carnival

Plans for a carnival to be held from January 8 to 12, for the benefit of the Cardinal Gibbons Institute, a national school for colored youths to be erected at Ridge, St. Mary's county, Md., are being made by the Federated Colored Catholics of Washington.

Benson, of the United States Shipping Board, is first vice president; William A. Aumen, State deputy of the Knights of Columbus, Baltimore, second vice president; Senator David L. Walsh, of Massachusetts, chairman of the finance committee and these with Robert H. Terrell, of the District Municipal Court, members of the board.
