Richmond, Virginia.

BEFORE THE CLOSE OF THE PRESENT 'ONTH, the subscriber will issue the first number of a news-oper which he proposes to publish in Daily and Semi-weekly litions, and which he intends to devote to the service of a South, the interests of the State, and to the support of a south, the interests of the State, and to the support of te principles of the Democratic Party. But the paper will at be so exclusively political, that its columns will only in-rest the politician; nor so subservient to party as to spare e misconduct of bad men; to betray principle for the sake i power, or to disguise its convictions at the suggestion of

I shall endeavor to commend it to intelligent persons of Il classes, by diligence in the collection of news, by im-Il classes, by diligence in the collection of news, by im-irting something of agricultural, commercial and literary iterest to its columns, and by venturing an outspoken and nphatic opinion on the topics of the day, no matter what is hazard of conflict with prejudice or of offence to the self-opoir ted leaders of party. The organ of no clique, in the iterest of no faction, and with no partial purpose to serve, is paper will address itself to the honest judgment of the eople, and for support will rely upon their appreciation of nergy and enterprise, and their love of plain talk and in-ependent opinion. There may be particular individuals to show this sort of discussion will not be very acceptable, out if I can conciliate the favor of the masses, I may sur-ve the opposition of ignorant or interested critics. No Aut if I can concluste the favor of the masses, I may sur-ve the opposition of ignorant or interested critics. No oubt service spirits will be shocked at my zeal in the de-uce of the South; still I have the consolatory assurance at there are plenty of brave and true men in Virginia, pon whose sympathy and support I may rely with abso-ite security. And so believing, I embark upon the enter-rise with no missiving as to the result.

Invariably in advance. No subscription received for a less time than six months. The Congressional campaign is opening, and now is the time to circulate the documents. The Standard will, for the future, as it has done in the past, pursue the straight track of Democratic principles, contending for an economical ad-ministration of the government, a strict construction of the Constitution, the rights of the individual States, and of each and every section of the Union; and will oppose the vile and functical isms of the day, whether they come in the chrysalis form of Know Nothingism, or the full fledged and mattree condition of abolitionism. We regard the slavery question, involving the righ s of the South, as the paramount question of the States and the hopes of republi-canism.
