

LOCAL MENTION.

THE WEATHER.

Forecast Till 3 p.m. Sunday. For the District of Columbia, Maryland and Virginia, generally cloudy, probably rainy; Sunday, decidedly rainy, tonight, warmer Sunday; southerly wind; Condition of the Water. Temperature and condition of water at 8 a.m.: Great Falls, temperature, 34; condition at Rock Creek, temperature, 36; condition at north connection, 14; condition at south connection, 21; distributing reservoir, temperature, 36; condition at inlet gate house, 7; outlet gate house, 19.

Sugar Is Down and Our Coffees Are Java and Mocha Blends... $35, $35c, and 35c per cask. Conditions: temperature, 36; condition at north connection, 14; condition at south connection, 21; distributing reservoir, temperature, 36; condition at inlet gate house, 7; outlet gate house, 19.

BEAUTIFUL PIECES OF FURNITURE. MUST BE SOLD AT A SACRIFICE. Including Ladies' Writing Desks, all styles of Artistic Tables, Easy and Ornamental Chairs, Sideboards, as well as Lace and Silk Curtains, Wall Papers, Draperies and all kinds of Interior Decoration. Hats, all sorts, 50c. up. A. T. LEWIS, 435 7th street. Call early Monday for choice of bargains.

Among the many grades of Whiskies, Brandy, Sherries, &c., in Chr. Xander's stock, the patient finds those mellowed by age and blended with the finest of the physician means when prescribing them at 607 7th street.

Left at our store, 811 14th st. n.w., two articles of value, which the owners can recover by paying for advertising. M. A. HARDCASTLE & Co.

Fine Portraits. Kets Kennedy's, 1109 Pa. Ave. Men's Derby Hats, $1, $1.50 and $2.00. Ladies' styles in Derby hats, all sizes, 50c. up. A. T. LEWIS, 435 7th street.

Foundry's Cough Cure Caramels, 815 10th st. Pure Aluminum Cooking Utensils at E.H. MORSELLER, sole agent for Washington, D.C.

HEMPLEER, Optician, removed to 9th & Ave.

CITY AND DISTRICT.

AMUSEMENTS TONIGHT.

Albough's Grand Opera House.—Mr. Henry Irving, Miss Ellen Terry and the London Lyceum Theatre Company in "Louis XI." New National Theatre.—"Lady Windermere's Fan." Academy of Music.—Evans and Hoey in "A Parlor Match."

Harris' Bijou Theatre.—Chas. A. Loder in "The Captive." Kean's Lyceum Theatre.—Sam T. Jack's Crook Company.

Metzerot Music Hall.—Annual convention of the National American Woman's Suffrage Association.

Washington Light Infantry Army.—George Town Cycle Club's grand fair and cycle show.

EXCURSIONS TOMORROW.

Mr. Vernon.—By Pennsylvania railroad every hour during the day.

GAME AND GAME LAWS.

Western Quail in Montgomery County.—The Gun Clubs.

At a recent meeting of the Rockville Rod and Gun Club, as before stated in The Star, the following resolution was adopted: "That the members of the club be requested to scatter their quail through Montgomery county, so that the sport, which has been almost killed out, might be revived."

Mr. James P. De Veers, as delegated by the club, bought up the first invoice of quail in Kansas and is ready to import a quantity of quail in the county. To make the move a success, however, it is necessary to prevent any shooting of the birds in this county. Mr. Hart, and the club accordingly will work to that end through the legislature preventing their shooting for a certain time entirely. It would probably take some time, however, to give the birds a chance, and it would be well-nigh impossible to strictly enforce the law.

Woodmont Rod and Gun Club of this county, of course, interested in the scheme. The Woodmont Club, although it is more of a fishing club, is interested in the scheme, and is interested in anything that is for the good of hunting. The Capers and the Woodmont Club are interested in the matter, and has already in favor of a law preventing the sale of quail in this county. The season, holding that the temptation to defy the game laws would be removed if no quail were to be found in the district when shot and shipped in from around here, when the club has long desired, and may ward for the District.

California Organize. Last evening at the Metropolitan Hotel California resident here organized the California State Association by the election of the following officers: President, M. F. O'Donoghue; vice president, J. J. Taylor; secretary, Charles W. Otis. A meeting of the association will be held at 59 I street northwest on the 22d instant.

The Statistician Adjourns. After designating the standing committees and completing other routine business the American Statistical Association adjourned yesterday until the 13th of next month, when A. S. Spross, Jr., Rev. Dr. Lawrence will address the association on statistical data at the rooms of the board of trade in this city.

Contract for Grading Awarded. The contract for grading the whole of the Washington and Chesapeake railroad, twenty-seven miles, has been taken by a New York contractor, who has sublet it to divisions of other firms. Mr. L. H. Hyer, chief engineer of the road, is superintending the work.

Senator Peffer in the Pulpit. Tomorrow evening, 7:30 o'clock, Rev. Dr. Brown of the Foundry M. E. Church, will address the young people of the church. Mr. F. E. Wilson, the preacher of the church, will lead the congregational singing.

The Great Sale of European Antiques. Do not fail to be on hand at Dowling & Co.'s art galleries, 612 E street, on Monday afternoon, 2 o'clock, a. m. and 3 p. m., when the most important and valuable pieces of the most important big thing for the purchaser, many of the rich pieces being very fine, is being held on Wednesday afternoon, at 11 a. m. and 3 p. m.—Adv.

Trustee's Sale of Improved Property. Dowling & Co. will improve property. F. Fox & Sons and P. Shoemaker, Montgomery, February 19, at 4:30 o'clock, a. m. street north of 14th—Adv.

Works of Art. At Sloan's exhibition, 1407 G st., there will be on exhibition Monday and Tuesday a fine collection of oil paintings; some by J. C. Frisch from the world's fair, the balance by the Rev. Wm. B. Brewster, and other important pieces from Andrew's Gallery, 5th ave. New York, which he will sell on Wednesday and following days, at 11 a. m. and 3 p. m.—Adv.

Mr. J. A. Roman, who, for a long time, has been the Washington representative of Green & Co. of Baltimore, is now associated with the firm of Chas. E. Co., 1290 to 1291 F street north, and is pleased to be pleased to see his many friends and patrons.—Adv.

Geo. H. Gray & Co., printers, Atlantic Coast Line building, 9th and avenue.—Adv.

"A Trip to Rome and Venice," by the Rev. Wm. B. Brewster, in the basement hall of St. August's church, on Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock. Beautiful collection of views. Admission, 25 cents.—Adv.

Trustee's sale of frame dwelling, 1232 31st street, West. Sale on Friday at 4:30 o'clock p. m. See advertisement.

THE CURE FOR SIN.

Mr. Moody Tells the Story of the Brazen Serpent.

MEN WITH INTELLECTUAL DIFFICULTIES.

The Great Audience Responsive to the Two Evangelists.

MANY IMPRESSIVE SCENES.

Seven o'clock saw Convention Hall completely filled last evening, and the usual sign displayed, "Full Hall," with the customary thousands falling back from the portals, some to the overflow meeting, some to their homes, disappointed.

The great evangelists had not lost their hold on the public of Washington in the least, as they closed the second week of their remarkable series of meetings in the capital city.

Miss Carrie Kidwell opened the real services of the evening by singing No. 43, "The Pearly Gates," as a solo, with Prof. Foster's accompaniment. A small boy in the front row cast a strong odor of peanuts over the space near the platform, and his munching caused considerable disturbance during the singing. Unconcerned as a clam, however, he chewed and chewed until the last peanut had disappeared. When he folded up the shells in the bag every one in his neighborhood sighed in relief.

When Miss Kidwell had concluded, Mr. Moody asked the audience to rise and sing "Rock of Ages," and they did sing, with a spirit and volume that shook the arches of the hall.

Prayer was offered by Dr. Scott Hersey, the pastor of the "Hall of the Holy Spirit," that has now become a regular feature of the services.

Silent Prayer. Mr. Sankey next sang No. 146, "When the Mist Has Rolled Away." When the last chorus had been sung by the choir, Mr. Moody asked for a few moments of silent prayer, which was broken only by a petition uttered by Rev. Dr. Stakely. Mr. Sankey followed with the 78th hymn, "My Mother's Prayer." He asked for special attention to the words, "This little song," and he hoped that its simple but beautiful lesson might sink into the hearts of all who were singing. After this song Mr. Moody left for the overflow meeting.

Mr. Sankey next sang No. 146, "When the Mist Has Rolled Away." When the last chorus had been sung by the choir, Mr. Moody asked for a few moments of silent prayer, which was broken only by a petition uttered by Rev. Dr. Stakely. Mr. Sankey followed with the 78th hymn, "My Mother's Prayer." He asked for special attention to the words, "This little song," and he hoped that its simple but beautiful lesson might sink into the hearts of all who were singing. After this song Mr. Moody left for the overflow meeting.

Mr. Sankey next sang No. 146, "When the Mist Has Rolled Away." When the last chorus had been sung by the choir, Mr. Moody asked for a few moments of silent prayer, which was broken only by a petition uttered by Rev. Dr. Stakely. Mr. Sankey followed with the 78th hymn, "My Mother's Prayer." He asked for special attention to the words, "This little song," and he hoped that its simple but beautiful lesson might sink into the hearts of all who were singing. After this song Mr. Moody left for the overflow meeting.

Mr. Sankey next sang No. 146, "When the Mist Has Rolled Away." When the last chorus had been sung by the choir, Mr. Moody asked for a few moments of silent prayer, which was broken only by a petition uttered by Rev. Dr. Stakely. Mr. Sankey followed with the 78th hymn, "My Mother's Prayer." He asked for special attention to the words, "This little song," and he hoped that its simple but beautiful lesson might sink into the hearts of all who were singing. After this song Mr. Moody left for the overflow meeting.

Mr. Sankey next sang No. 146, "When the Mist Has Rolled Away." When the last chorus had been sung by the choir, Mr. Moody asked for a few moments of silent prayer, which was broken only by a petition uttered by Rev. Dr. Stakely. Mr. Sankey followed with the 78th hymn, "My Mother's Prayer." He asked for special attention to the words, "This little song," and he hoped that its simple but beautiful lesson might sink into the hearts of all who were singing. After this song Mr. Moody left for the overflow meeting.

Mr. Sankey next sang No. 146, "When the Mist Has Rolled Away." When the last chorus had been sung by the choir, Mr. Moody asked for a few moments of silent prayer, which was broken only by a petition uttered by Rev. Dr. Stakely. Mr. Sankey followed with the 78th hymn, "My Mother's Prayer." He asked for special attention to the words, "This little song," and he hoped that its simple but beautiful lesson might sink into the hearts of all who were singing. After this song Mr. Moody left for the overflow meeting.

Mr. Sankey next sang No. 146, "When the Mist Has Rolled Away." When the last chorus had been sung by the choir, Mr. Moody asked for a few moments of silent prayer, which was broken only by a petition uttered by Rev. Dr. Stakely. Mr. Sankey followed with the 78th hymn, "My Mother's Prayer." He asked for special attention to the words, "This little song," and he hoped that its simple but beautiful lesson might sink into the hearts of all who were singing. After this song Mr. Moody left for the overflow meeting.

Mr. Sankey next sang No. 146, "When the Mist Has Rolled Away." When the last chorus had been sung by the choir, Mr. Moody asked for a few moments of silent prayer, which was broken only by a petition uttered by Rev. Dr. Stakely. Mr. Sankey followed with the 78th hymn, "My Mother's Prayer." He asked for special attention to the words, "This little song," and he hoped that its simple but beautiful lesson might sink into the hearts of all who were singing. After this song Mr. Moody left for the overflow meeting.

Mr. Sankey next sang No. 146, "When the Mist Has Rolled Away." When the last chorus had been sung by the choir, Mr. Moody asked for a few moments of silent prayer, which was broken only by a petition uttered by Rev. Dr. Stakely. Mr. Sankey followed with the 78th hymn, "My Mother's Prayer." He asked for special attention to the words, "This little song," and he hoped that its simple but beautiful lesson might sink into the hearts of all who were singing. After this song Mr. Moody left for the overflow meeting.

Mr. Sankey next sang No. 146, "When the Mist Has Rolled Away." When the last chorus had been sung by the choir, Mr. Moody asked for a few moments of silent prayer, which was broken only by a petition uttered by Rev. Dr. Stakely. Mr. Sankey followed with the 78th hymn, "My Mother's Prayer." He asked for special attention to the words, "This little song," and he hoped that its simple but beautiful lesson might sink into the hearts of all who were singing. After this song Mr. Moody left for the overflow meeting.

Mr. Sankey next sang No. 146, "When the Mist Has Rolled Away." When the last chorus had been sung by the choir, Mr. Moody asked for a few moments of silent prayer, which was broken only by a petition uttered by Rev. Dr. Stakely. Mr. Sankey followed with the 78th hymn, "My Mother's Prayer." He asked for special attention to the words, "This little song," and he hoped that its simple but beautiful lesson might sink into the hearts of all who were singing. After this song Mr. Moody left for the overflow meeting.

Mr. Sankey next sang No. 146, "When the Mist Has Rolled Away." When the last chorus had been sung by the choir, Mr. Moody asked for a few moments of silent prayer, which was broken only by a petition uttered by Rev. Dr. Stakely. Mr. Sankey followed with the 78th hymn, "My Mother's Prayer." He asked for special attention to the words, "This little song," and he hoped that its simple but beautiful lesson might sink into the hearts of all who were singing. After this song Mr. Moody left for the overflow meeting.

Mr. Sankey next sang No. 146, "When the Mist Has Rolled Away." When the last chorus had been sung by the choir, Mr. Moody asked for a few moments of silent prayer, which was broken only by a petition uttered by Rev. Dr. Stakely. Mr. Sankey followed with the 78th hymn, "My Mother's Prayer." He asked for special attention to the words, "This little song," and he hoped that its simple but beautiful lesson might sink into the hearts of all who were singing. After this song Mr. Moody left for the overflow meeting.

Mr. Sankey next sang No. 146, "When the Mist Has Rolled Away." When the last chorus had been sung by the choir, Mr. Moody asked for a few moments of silent prayer, which was broken only by a petition uttered by Rev. Dr. Stakely. Mr. Sankey followed with the 78th hymn, "My Mother's Prayer." He asked for special attention to the words, "This little song," and he hoped that its simple but beautiful lesson might sink into the hearts of all who were singing. After this song Mr. Moody left for the overflow meeting.

Mr. Sankey next sang No. 146, "When the Mist Has Rolled Away." When the last chorus had been sung by the choir, Mr. Moody asked for a few moments of silent prayer, which was broken only by a petition uttered by Rev. Dr. Stakely. Mr. Sankey followed with the 78th hymn, "My Mother's Prayer." He asked for special attention to the words, "This little song," and he hoped that its simple but beautiful lesson might sink into the hearts of all who were singing. After this song Mr. Moody left for the overflow meeting.

Mr. Sankey next sang No. 146, "When the Mist Has Rolled Away." When the last chorus had been sung by the choir, Mr. Moody asked for a few moments of silent prayer, which was broken only by a petition uttered by Rev. Dr. Stakely. Mr. Sankey followed with the 78th hymn, "My Mother's Prayer." He asked for special attention to the words, "This little song," and he hoped that its simple but beautiful lesson might sink into the hearts of all who were singing. After this song Mr. Moody left for the overflow meeting.

Mr. Sankey next sang No. 146, "When the Mist Has Rolled Away." When the last chorus had been sung by the choir, Mr. Moody asked for a few moments of silent prayer, which was broken only by a petition uttered by Rev. Dr. Stakely. Mr. Sankey followed with the 78th hymn, "My Mother's Prayer." He asked for special attention to the words, "This little song," and he hoped that its simple but beautiful lesson might sink into the hearts of all who were singing. After this song Mr. Moody left for the overflow meeting.

Mr. Sankey next sang No. 146, "When the Mist Has Rolled Away." When the last chorus had been sung by the choir, Mr. Moody asked for a few moments of silent prayer, which was broken only by a petition uttered by Rev. Dr. Stakely. Mr. Sankey followed with the 78th hymn, "My Mother's Prayer." He asked for special attention to the words, "This little song," and he hoped that its simple but beautiful lesson might sink into the hearts of all who were singing. After this song Mr. Moody left for the overflow meeting.

Mr. Sankey next sang No. 146, "When the Mist Has Rolled Away." When the last chorus had been sung by the choir, Mr. Moody asked for a few moments of silent prayer, which was broken only by a petition uttered by Rev. Dr. Stakely. Mr. Sankey followed with the 78th hymn, "My Mother's Prayer." He asked for special attention to the words, "This little song," and he hoped that its simple but beautiful lesson might sink into the hearts of all who were singing. After this song Mr. Moody left for the overflow meeting.

Mr. Sankey next sang No. 146, "When the Mist Has Rolled Away." When the last chorus had been sung by the choir, Mr. Moody asked for a few moments of silent prayer, which was broken only by a petition uttered by Rev. Dr. Stakely. Mr. Sankey followed with the 78th hymn, "My Mother's Prayer." He asked for special attention to the words, "This little song," and he hoped that its simple but beautiful lesson might sink into the hearts of all who were singing. After this song Mr. Moody left for the overflow meeting.

Mr. Sankey next sang No. 146, "When the Mist Has Rolled Away." When the last chorus had been sung by the choir, Mr. Moody asked for a few moments of silent prayer, which was broken only by a petition uttered by Rev. Dr. Stakely. Mr. Sankey followed with the 78th hymn, "My Mother's Prayer." He asked for special attention to the words, "This little song," and he hoped that its simple but beautiful lesson might sink into the hearts of all who were singing. After this song Mr. Moody left for the overflow meeting.

Mr. Sankey next sang No. 146, "When the Mist Has Rolled Away." When the last chorus had been sung by the choir, Mr. Moody asked for a few moments of silent prayer, which was broken only by a petition uttered by Rev. Dr. Stakely. Mr. Sankey followed with the 78th hymn, "My Mother's Prayer." He asked for special attention to the words, "This little song," and he hoped that its simple but beautiful lesson might sink into the hearts of all who were singing. After this song Mr. Moody left for the overflow meeting.

Mr. Sankey next sang No. 146, "When the Mist Has Rolled Away." When the last chorus had been sung by the choir, Mr. Moody asked for a few moments of silent prayer, which was broken only by a petition uttered by Rev. Dr. Stakely. Mr. Sankey followed with the 78th hymn, "My Mother's Prayer." He asked for special attention to the words, "This little song," and he hoped that its simple but beautiful lesson might sink into the hearts of all who were singing. After this song Mr. Moody left for the overflow meeting.

Mr. Sankey next sang No. 146, "When the Mist Has Rolled Away." When the last chorus had been sung by the choir, Mr. Moody asked for a few moments of silent prayer, which was broken only by a petition uttered by Rev. Dr. Stakely. Mr. Sankey followed with the 78th hymn, "My Mother's Prayer." He asked for special attention to the words, "This little song," and he hoped that its simple but beautiful lesson might sink into the hearts of all who were singing. After this song Mr. Moody left for the overflow meeting.

Mr. Sankey next sang No. 146, "When the Mist Has Rolled Away." When the last chorus had been sung by the choir, Mr. Moody asked for a few moments of silent prayer, which was broken only by a petition uttered by Rev. Dr. Stakely. Mr. Sankey followed with the 78th hymn, "My Mother's Prayer." He asked for special attention to the words, "This little song," and he hoped that its simple but beautiful lesson might sink into the hearts of all who were singing. After this song Mr. Moody left for the overflow meeting.

IN MUSICAL CIRCLES.

The Choral Society Preparing to Present the "Creation."

The Juvenile "Pinafore" and "The Three Dukes" May Be Repeated—Other Matters of Interest.

The ladies of the National Homeopathic Hospital, under whose auspices the recent juvenile performance of "Pinafore" was given, feel well disposed to give their work, for with the returns now in their count up a profit of over $1,100, which will be a welcome addition to the hospital fund. Many requests for a repetition of the performance, and in view of the fact that over seven hundred were turned away from the National Theater who went there in a delecting train, it is likely that the request will be granted, if a theater can be secured for a regular matinee performance. There are many, however, who have urged that the opera be presented at night.

It is understood that there will be an effort to repeat the juvenile "Pinafore," and run the "Three Dukes" for it is believed by those interested that it would prove sufficiently attractive to pull good crowds from the National Theater. Whether this belief is well founded can only be determined by making the experiment, but it is safe to predict that it could pay the expenses of the production.

The M. Vernon Choral Society, under the direction of Prof. Geo. W. Lawrence, is already preparing to give a concert for the benefit of the poor of the District, in the Church of the Holy Spirit, on Wednesday evening, February 22d, at 7:30 o'clock. The society will be heard in an excellent performance. The rehearsals for this concert are being held at the residence of Mrs. Vernon Place, M. E. Church, and an invitation is extended to all singers in the city to join the society in the coming concert.

The Choral Society has issued a circular letter addressed to the singers of Washington, inviting their active co-operation in the enterprise. It is a circular of the foremost of oratorio societies. The circular states that the society is not a religious organization, and that its interest is in the art of music, and that in whatever it is or whatever it achieves is intended to be representative of the best of the art of music, and that it is our local musical population that is giving some attention to the art of singing. The society is not a religious organization, and that its interest is in the art of music, and that in whatever it is or whatever it achieves is intended to be representative of the best of the art of music, and that it is our local musical population that is giving some attention to the art of singing.

The society is not a religious organization, and that its interest is in the art of music, and that in whatever it is or whatever it achieves is intended to be representative of the best of the art of music, and that it is our local musical population that is giving some attention to the art of singing. The society is not a religious organization, and that its interest is in the art of music, and that in whatever it is or whatever it achieves is intended to be representative of the best of the art of music, and that it is our local musical population that is giving some attention to the art of singing.

The society is not a religious organization, and that its interest is in the art of music, and that in whatever it is or whatever it achieves is intended to be representative of the best of the art of music, and that it is our local musical population that is giving some attention to the art of singing. The society is not a religious organization, and that its interest is in the art of music, and that in whatever it is or whatever it achieves is intended to be representative of the best of the art of music, and that it is our local musical population that is giving some attention to the art of singing.

The society is not a religious organization, and that its interest is in the art of music, and that in whatever it is or whatever it achieves is intended to be representative of the best of the art of music, and that it is our local musical population that is giving some attention to the art of singing. The society is not a religious organization, and that its interest is in the art of music, and that in whatever it is or whatever it achieves is intended to be representative of the best of the art of music, and that it is our local musical population that is giving some attention to the art of singing.

The society is not a religious organization, and that its interest is in the art of music, and that in whatever it is or whatever it achieves is intended to be representative of the best of the art of music, and that it is our local musical population that is giving some attention to the art of singing. The society is not a religious organization, and that its interest is in the art of music, and that in whatever it is or whatever it achieves is intended to be representative of the best of the art of music, and that it is our local musical population that is giving some attention to the art of singing.

The society is not a religious organization, and that its interest is in the art of music, and that in whatever it is or whatever it achieves is intended to be representative of the best of the art of music, and that it is our local musical population that is giving some attention to the art of singing. The society is not a religious organization, and that its interest is in the art of music, and that in whatever it is or whatever it achieves is intended to be representative of the best of the art of music, and that it is our local musical population that is giving some attention to the art of singing.

The society is not a religious organization, and that its interest is in the art of music, and that in whatever it is or whatever it achieves is intended to be representative of the best of the art of music, and that it is our local musical population that is giving some attention to the art of singing. The society is not a religious organization, and that its interest is in the art of music, and that in whatever it is or whatever it achieves is intended to be representative of the best of the art of music, and that it is our local musical population that is giving some attention to the art of singing.

The society is not a religious organization, and that its interest is in the art of music, and that in whatever it is or whatever it achieves is intended to be representative of the best of the art of music, and that it is our local musical population that is giving some attention to the art of singing. The society is not a religious organization, and that its interest is in the art of music, and that in whatever it is or whatever it achieves is intended to be representative of the best of the art of music, and that it is our local musical population that is giving some attention to the art of singing.

The society is not a religious organization, and that its interest is in the art of music, and that in whatever it is or whatever it achieves is intended to be representative of the best of the art of music, and that it is our local musical population that is giving some attention to the art of singing. The society is not a religious organization, and that its interest is in the art of music, and that in whatever it is or whatever it achieves is intended to be representative of the best of the art of music, and that it is our local musical population that is giving some attention to the art of singing.

The society is not a religious organization, and that its interest is in the art of music, and that in whatever it is or whatever it achieves is intended to be representative of the best of the art of music, and that it is our local musical population that is giving some attention to the art of singing. The society is not a religious organization, and that its interest is in the art of music, and that in whatever it is or whatever it achieves is intended to be representative of the best of the art of music, and that it is our local musical population that is giving some attention to the art of singing.

The society is not a religious organization, and that its interest is in the art of music, and that in whatever it is or whatever it achieves is intended to be representative of the best of the art of music, and that it is our local musical population that is giving some attention to the art of singing. The society is not a religious organization, and that its interest is in the art of music, and that in whatever it is or whatever it achieves is intended to be representative of the best of the art of music, and that it is our local musical population that is giving some attention to the art of singing.

The society is not a religious organization, and that its interest is in the art of music, and that in whatever it is or whatever it achieves is intended to be representative of the best of the art of music, and that it is our local musical population that is giving some attention to the art of singing. The society is not a religious organization, and that its interest is in the art of music, and that in whatever it is or whatever it achieves is intended to be representative of the best of the art of music, and that it is our local musical population that is giving some attention to the art of singing.

The society is not a religious organization, and that its interest is in the art of music, and that in whatever it is or whatever it achieves is intended to be representative of the best of the art of music, and that it is our local musical population that is giving some attention to the art of singing. The society is not a religious organization, and that its interest is in the art of music, and that in whatever it is or whatever it achieves is intended to be representative of the best of the art of music, and that it is our local musical population that is giving some attention to the art of singing.

The society is not a religious organization, and that its interest is in the art of music, and that in whatever it is or whatever it achieves is intended to be representative of the best of the art of music, and that it is our local musical population that is giving some attention to the art of singing. The society is not a religious organization, and that its interest is in the art of music, and that in whatever it is or whatever it achieves is intended to be representative of the best of the art of music, and that it is our local musical population that is giving some attention to the art of singing.

The society is not a religious organization, and that its interest is in the art of music, and that in whatever it is or whatever it achieves is intended to be representative of the best of the art of music, and that it is our local musical population that is giving some attention to the art of singing. The society is not a religious organization, and that its interest is in the art of music, and that in whatever it is or whatever it achieves is intended to be representative of the best of the art of music, and that it is our local musical population that is giving some attention to the art of singing.

The society is not a religious organization, and that its interest is in the art of music, and that in whatever it is or whatever it achieves is intended to be representative of the best of the art of music, and that it is our local musical population that is giving some attention to the art of singing. The society is not a religious organization, and that its interest is in the art of music, and that in whatever it is or whatever it achieves is intended to be representative of the best of the art of music, and that it is our local musical population that is giving some attention to the art of singing.

The society is not a religious organization, and that its interest is in the art of music, and that in whatever it is or whatever it achieves is intended to be representative of the best of the art of music, and that it is our local musical population that is giving some attention to the art of singing. The society is not a religious organization, and that its interest is in the art of music, and that in whatever it is or whatever it achieves is intended to be representative of the best of the art of music, and that it is our local musical population that is giving some attention to the art of singing.

The society is not a religious organization, and that its interest is in the art of music, and that in whatever it is or whatever it achieves is intended to be representative of the best of the art of music, and that it is our local musical population that is giving some attention to the art of singing. The society is not a religious organization, and that its interest is in the art of music, and that in whatever it is or whatever it achieves is intended to be representative of the best of the art of music, and that it is our local musical population that is giving some attention to the art of singing.

The society is not a religious organization, and that its interest is in the art of music, and that in whatever it is or whatever it achieves is intended to be representative of the best of the art of music, and that it is our local musical population that is giving some attention to the art of singing. The society is not a religious organization, and that its interest is in the art of music, and that in whatever it is or whatever it achieves is intended to be representative of the best of the art of music, and that it is our local musical population that is giving some attention to the art of singing.

The society is not a religious organization, and that its interest is in the art of music, and that in whatever it is or whatever it achieves is intended to be representative of the best of the art of music, and that it is our local musical population that is giving some attention to the art of singing. The society is not a religious organization, and that its interest is in the art of music, and that in whatever it is or whatever it achieves is intended to be representative of the best of the art of music, and that it is our local musical population that is giving some attention to the art of singing.

The society is not a religious organization, and that its interest is in the art of music, and that in whatever it is or whatever it achieves is intended to be representative of the best of the art of music, and that it is our local musical population that is giving some attention to the art of singing. The society is not a religious organization, and that its interest is in the art of music, and that in whatever it is or whatever it achieves is intended to be representative of the best of the art of music, and that it is our local musical population that is giving some attention to the art of singing.

The society is not a religious organization, and that its interest is in the art of music, and that in whatever it is or whatever it achieves is intended to be representative of the best of the art of music, and that it is our local musical population that is giving some attention to the art of singing. The society is not a religious organization, and that its interest is in the art of music, and that in whatever it is or whatever it achieves is intended to be representative of the best of the art of music, and that it is our local musical population that is giving some attention to the art of singing.

The society is not a religious organization, and that its interest is in the art of music, and that in whatever it is or whatever it achieves is intended to be representative of the best of the art of music, and that it is our local musical population that is giving some attention to the art of singing. The society is not a religious organization, and that its interest is in the art of music, and that in whatever it is or whatever it achieves is intended to be representative of the best of the art of music, and that it is our local musical population that is giving some attention to the art of singing.

The society is not a religious organization, and that its interest is in the art of music, and that in whatever it is or whatever it achieves is intended to be representative of the best of the art of music, and that it is our local musical population that is giving some attention to the art of singing. The society is not a religious organization, and that its interest is in the art of music, and that in whatever it is or whatever it achieves is intended to be representative of the best of the art of music, and that it is our local musical population that is giving some attention to the art of singing.

The society is not a religious organization, and that its interest is in the art of music, and that in whatever it is or whatever it achieves is intended to be representative of the best of the art of music, and that it is our local musical population that is giving some attention to the art of singing. The society is not a religious organization, and that its interest is in the art of music, and that in whatever it is or whatever it achieves is intended to be representative of the best of the art of music, and that it is our local musical population that is giving some attention to the art of singing.

The society is not a religious organization, and that its interest is in the art of music, and that in whatever it is or whatever it achieves is intended to be representative of the best of the art of music, and that it is our local musical population that is giving some attention to the art of singing. The society is not a religious organization, and that its interest is in the art of music, and that in whatever it is or whatever it achieves is intended to be representative of the best of the art of music, and that it is our local musical population that is giving some attention to the art of singing.

The society is not a religious organization, and that its interest is in the art of music, and that in whatever it is or whatever it achieves is intended to be representative of the best of the art of music, and that it is our local musical population that is giving some attention to the art of singing. The society is not a religious organization, and that its interest is in the art of music, and that in whatever it is or whatever it achieves is intended to be representative of the best of the art of