

LOVE AND POLITICS

Cupid Aided by the Mutations of Public Life.

THE STORY OF WILLIAM AND TILLY

How Appointment to Office Won Him His Wife.

POP HAD TO GIVE IN THEN

Y CUPID HAS been trying with the god of politics, whatever his name.

It is not often that the winged little chap with the dimples and the arrows and the unerring aim gets mixed up in the hurly-burly of wire pulleys and gears.

Like one of Gabriel's novels, this story must be sent whizzing back a dozen years, in order to lead up properly to the climax.

The scene opens in a quiet county in North Carolina, back from the carping struggles of the coast and an effete civilization, back in the pine woods, where the odor of tar and balsam mingles with the ozone of the mountains.

Under such circumstances, then, did a certain young man and young woman fall to loving each other some years ago.

They met by moonlight. The adjoining counties made himself as popular as he could with the brothers, and even made a friend of the mother, who saw in his attentions the chance of an excellent match for the daughter.

But Pop was obtuse, and, as his influence in the household was paramount, pop had his way.

Sometimes fathers are opposed to sentimental young men because they do not like the swains. Sometimes they have bad habits, and sometimes they are too early in their matrimonial inclinations.

Mentioning candidates brings a narrative down to the real objection that Pop had against the claimant. It was purely one of politics.

Pop Concluded to Relent. In the heavens or not, was still his in her heart and still held out to him a mute hope that she would some day be his in fact.

Orion Still Maintaining His Leadership of the Winter.

ABOUT THE GREAT CONSTELLATIONS

The Stars Which Form Them and How to Locate Them.

THE SIGNS OF THE ZODIAC

Written for The Evening Star.

ORION STILL MAINTAINS a lead in the splendid array of winter constellations, although by 9 o'clock in the evening he is now well over toward the west.

As has been the case with many others of the constellations, chart makers have drawn the lineaments of Orion with a free hand, and have imposed upon us a figure quite unlike anything which we can detect among the stars.

The Arabic name of this asterism was El Djebbar (the giant). The two brighter stars still bear the names given them by the Arabian astronomers—Betelgeuse, in the right shoulder, and Rigel, in the left foot.

The three stars which form the belt are sometimes regarded as forming an asterism in themselves. They are the Three Kings or the Three Stars.

Thousands of Years Hence. What will be the effect of these changes upon the appearance of the starry heavens? It will be this: The whole sphere will appear to have been shifted and placed upon new pivots.

The Planets. Mercury will be in inferior conjunction with the sun on the 14th. This planet will therefore be an evening star during the first half of the month, but too near the sun to be visible.

Mars is a morning star, rising at about 3 o'clock, near the Pleiades, is still a splendid evening star, remaining above the horizon until near midnight.

MRS. LEASE OF KANSAS

The Success of a Remarkable Western Woman.

Her Advent in Politics—Says She Has Never Failed, for She Has Always Been in the Right.

Correspondence of The Evening Star.

TOPEKA, Kansas, February 25, 1894. The Maconic Grand Lodge of Kansas has been in session in Topeka recently, and of course, there was much speculation as to how Mrs. Lease obtained the secrets of Masonry.

The story of Mrs. Lease's advent into politics is interesting. With her husband and children she lived on a claim in Kingman county. One day she was in Wichita and leisurely strolled into a union labor convention.

Soon after this the Lease family moved to Wichita, where the husband became a drug clerk, and from the modest salary he received in that capacity supported his family.

He was thrown out employment, since which time he has been a gentleman of leisure. About a year ago Mrs. Lease purchased a handsome home in a fashionable residence part of the city and turned it over to the management of her husband.

Interested in Hypnotism. About a year ago Mrs. Lease became interested in the subject of hypnotism. She made a study of the science, her ambition being to acquire hypnotic power.

People in Kansas have ceased to wonder at anything Mrs. Lease says or does. Her political career has been a series of triumphs.

Mrs. Lease Talks of Heract. Mrs. Lease delights to talk of herself and her achievements. She says that if she were a man she would easily be the acknowledged intellectual giant of the people's party.

On the question of religion Mrs. Lease expressed herself as follows: "I think my belief was in favor of my political creed, for they are one and the same thing."

Physicians Helpless—A Remarkable and Interesting Narrative.

(From the Toledo, O., Blade.)

During the past few months there have appeared in the newspapers a number of accounts of marvelous cures from the use of a medicine discovered by Dr. David Kennedy of London, N. Y.

These cases, many of them held by the medical profession as incredible, have been so frequently discussed in the newspapers that it has led to many people using this preparation, and they invariably have had favorable results.
