

LATE NEWS BY WIRE

The Defense in the Summer Court-Martial.

A NAVAL CONSTRUCTOR TESTIFIES

Lieut. Commander Marix Speaks for the Prisoner.

ADJOURNED UNTIL MORNING

NAVY YARD, BROOKLYN, N. Y., September 6.—The court-martial which is trying Capt. George W. Sumner on charges of neglect of duty and culpable inefficiency on account of the injuries sustained by the United States Columbia while in dry dock at Southampton last July will probably finish its work this evening.

Lieutenant Commander Marix, who represents the accused captain, was early on hand this morning, and as soon as the court assembled he called Naval Constructor Francis T. Bowles.

The witness testified that he had docked the Columbia in the Brooklyn dry dock after the cruiser's return from Southampton. He examined her injuries and said that they were not serious. He described them as being generally local in nature and not structural.

"When the docking plans of a vessel and all other necessary information have been sent to the dockmaster, it is the duty of the vessel to have the result, who do you think is responsible?"

"After some hesitation the witness replied that the captain was liable to the docking plans and information I should hold myself responsible."

"As a civilian, sir," was the naval constructor's reply.

"In reply to another question as to the shoring after docking, the witness said that it would be useless, and to prevent further straining it would be necessary to have a sufficient quantity of shoring attached to that which is usually available at dry docks."

The witness further stated that, in his opinion the injuries to the Columbia were due to the failure of the dry dock, and that the information which was received about the matter was so contradictory that he could not find there must be some error in the reports.

As an expert constructor, Mr. Bowles described how a ship should be dry-docked, and that the information which was received about the matter was so contradictory that he could not find there must be some error in the reports.

"The defendant's counsel addressed the court in behalf of Capt. Sumner. He said that everything Capt. Sumner did was done with due care, and at no time did he exhibit the slightest negligence in the performance of his duty."

"The captain had assumed the responsibility of the firm owning this dock, and the capability of the men employed, and was not to be held responsible for the fact that everything would be all right. Capt. Sumner was aware that the safety of his ship at all times was his chief duty on shore, and he was not to be held responsible for the fact that everything would be all right."

It never reached the gravity of the first charge, and he was well known, and all his time and thought were devoted to the proper performance of this duty.

It now remained for every member of the court to decide whether he would, under the same circumstances, have done more in the premises than Capt. Sumner did.

Referring to the second charge, the specification, the defense claimed that there was no proof whatever to substantiate them. The captain's opinion as to the safety of his vessel was paramount to all of those under his command.

Capt. Sumner's Examination. His ship had settled in the dock; the accused commander made a thorough examination of the state of affairs, and was convinced that whatever damage then existed would not be increased. In this he was backed up by the dock master, and the testimonies of the navigator, chief engineer and senior gunner, all testifying that they were of the same opinion.

The trip across the Atlantic and the nature of the damage found when she reached here proved conclusively that the vessel herself had not been injuriously strained, although the outside skin had been injured. The court then adjourned until tomorrow morning.

WILL CUT DOWN PURSES. Reducing the Size of the St. Asaph Purses. It is officially announced, that commencing Monday, September 9, the purses in each race at St. Asaph will be reduced to $100. Owners and trainers do not look very much pleased with the news, and several say they will not race there.

The officials of Alexander Island say there will be no further reduction at their track. The race was a very good one. St. Asaph today was a very good one. It being to the heavy condition of the track it was somewhat reduced by scratches. This, however, did not interfere with the day's sport. Weather, rainy and warm. Attendance, small. Six boxes were on.

The McCarthy Man Awton. DUBLIN, September 6.—The parliamentary election in the south division of Kerry, where so much bitterness was caused by the nomination of a candidate by the Healyites in opposition to the candidate previously put forward by the followers of Mr. Justin McCarthy, has resulted in the choice of Farrell, the McCarthyite nominee, by 1,249 votes, against 614 votes cast for Murphy, the Healyite candidate.

Gold From Cape Colony. CAPE TOWN, September 6.—The amount of gold exported from Cape Colony during the month of August was £389,623. Yesterday £96,000 in gold was shipped to London.

FOUND HIS DAUGHTER

End of the Relentless Search of T. M. Douglass.

Affecting Meeting in Frederick, Where the Wayward Girl Had Been Traced by Washington Authorities.

T. M. Douglass, a well-known citizen of Norfolk, Va., where he is engaged in business as a marine engineer, was made happy in Frederick, Md., yesterday by finding his wayward seven-year-old daughter, Bessie, who had run away from him three months ago, and whom he had been vainly searching for ever since.

ADJOURNED UNTIL MORNING

NAVY YARD, BROOKLYN, N. Y., September 6.—The court-martial which is trying Capt. George W. Sumner on charges of neglect of duty and culpable inefficiency on account of the injuries sustained by the United States Columbia while in dry dock at Southampton last July will probably finish its work this evening.

Lieutenant Commander Marix, who represents the accused captain, was early on hand this morning, and as soon as the court assembled he called Naval Constructor Francis T. Bowles.

The witness testified that he had docked the Columbia in the Brooklyn dry dock after the cruiser's return from Southampton. He examined her injuries and said that they were not serious. He described them as being generally local in nature and not structural.

"When the docking plans of a vessel and all other necessary information have been sent to the dockmaster, it is the duty of the vessel to have the result, who do you think is responsible?"

"After some hesitation the witness replied that the captain was liable to the docking plans and information I should hold myself responsible."

"As a civilian, sir," was the naval constructor's reply.

"In reply to another question as to the shoring after docking, the witness said that it would be useless, and to prevent further straining it would be necessary to have a sufficient quantity of shoring attached to that which is usually available at dry docks."

The witness further stated that, in his opinion the injuries to the Columbia were due to the failure of the dry dock, and that the information which was received about the matter was so contradictory that he could not find there must be some error in the reports.

As an expert constructor, Mr. Bowles described how a ship should be dry-docked, and that the information which was received about the matter was so contradictory that he could not find there must be some error in the reports.

"The defendant's counsel addressed the court in behalf of Capt. Sumner. He said that everything Capt. Sumner did was done with due care, and at no time did he exhibit the slightest negligence in the performance of his duty."

"The captain had assumed the responsibility of the firm owning this dock, and the capability of the men employed, and was not to be held responsible for the fact that everything would be all right. Capt. Sumner was aware that the safety of his ship at all times was his chief duty on shore, and he was not to be held responsible for the fact that everything would be all right."

It never reached the gravity of the first charge, and he was well known, and all his time and thought were devoted to the proper performance of this duty.

It now remained for every member of the court to decide whether he would, under the same circumstances, have done more in the premises than Capt. Sumner did.

Referring to the second charge, the specification, the defense claimed that there was no proof whatever to substantiate them. The captain's opinion as to the safety of his vessel was paramount to all of those under his command.

Capt. Sumner's Examination. His ship had settled in the dock; the accused commander made a thorough examination of the state of affairs, and was convinced that whatever damage then existed would not be increased. In this he was backed up by the dock master, and the testimonies of the navigator, chief engineer and senior gunner, all testifying that they were of the same opinion.

The trip across the Atlantic and the nature of the damage found when she reached here proved conclusively that the vessel herself had not been injuriously strained, although the outside skin had been injured. The court then adjourned until tomorrow morning.

WILL CUT DOWN PURSES. Reducing the Size of the St. Asaph Purses. It is officially announced, that commencing Monday, September 9, the purses in each race at St. Asaph will be reduced to $100. Owners and trainers do not look very much pleased with the news, and several say they will not race there.

The officials of Alexander Island say there will be no further reduction at their track. The race was a very good one. St. Asaph today was a very good one. It being to the heavy condition of the track it was somewhat reduced by scratches. This, however, did not interfere with the day's sport. Weather, rainy and warm. Attendance, small. Six boxes were on.

The McCarthy Man Awton. DUBLIN, September 6.—The parliamentary election in the south division of Kerry, where so much bitterness was caused by the nomination of a candidate by the Healyites in opposition to the candidate previously put forward by the followers of Mr. Justin McCarthy, has resulted in the choice of Farrell, the McCarthyite nominee, by 1,249 votes, against 614 votes cast for Murphy, the Healyite candidate.

Gold From Cape Colony. CAPE TOWN, September 6.—The amount of gold exported from Cape Colony during the month of August was £389,623. Yesterday £96,000 in gold was shipped to London.

PRIZES ARE WON

The Hilton Trophy Taken by District Riflemen.

ENGINEERS TAKE THE BRONZE HORSE

Features of This Year's Competition.

RECEPTION OF THE VICTORS

Special From a Staff Correspondent. STATE CAMP, SEA GIRL, N. J., Sept. 6. A more glorious victory than that won by the brigade team of the District National Guard in the Hilton trophy match yesterday has no known place in the annals of rifle shooting. Many times has the famous Hilton shield been shot for, and many times has the competition brought forth extraordinary scores, but never since man began to shoot at targets has there been such a score by a team of twelve as was put up at Sea Girl yesterday.

When Mrs. Ordway and Mrs. Mosher and Mrs. Henry had said their pleasant things to say and they said them. A remarkable feature of the affair, however, was the general lack of enthusiasm. The trophy which has been cheered and losing teams have been cheered, and everybody has hurrahed for everybody else, but this time there was comparative silence. General Wingate explained this by saying that everybody was stunned at the achievement; it was unexpected, even those who had hoped that whatever the District team would win.

Perhaps that was a good reason. It was the best one offered, and seemed to be concurred in by several others of the authorities.

The District Scores.

Table with columns for Name, Score, and Medal. Lists names like Scott, Wetmore, Dickey, Stewart, Appleby, Bell, Leisner, Carleton, Hutterly, and their respective scores and medals.

The other teams' totals are as follows: Yards, 200 500 600 gate. New York, 334 365 349 1,048. Pennsylvania, 338 364 345 1,047. Georgia, 342 361 321 1,024. New Jersey, 346 364 324 1,034.

Victory of the Engineers. One big victory, however, was not enough for the Washington contingent of the District National Guard, for the team of the engineer corps had won for the third time the bronze horse, which was captured in 1891 and 1892 by the first D. C. regiment, and since then by the engineer sharpshooters. The competition was developed this morning at the most elaborate of entertainments. He furnished his familiar callers not only with nightly suppers, but with breakfast and dinner as well, and the games were patronized by the best in the land who indulged in such amusements.

After remaining here several years he moved next door over what is now Loughrigan cigar store, and he stayed there until the authorities closed gambling in this city. The Congressional Club was then formed and used Mr. Parker's rooms as a club for the night.

When the National Capital Press Club came into existence it leased the premises, and purchased Mr. Parker's silverware, and he has been engaged in capitalistic ventures, and while some of them have been recently unfortunate, he leaves a considerable fortune to his family.

After remaining here several years he moved next door over what is now Loughrigan cigar store, and he stayed there until the authorities closed gambling in this city. The Congressional Club was then formed and used Mr. Parker's rooms as a club for the night.

When the National Capital Press Club came into existence it leased the premises, and purchased Mr. Parker's silverware, and he has been engaged in capitalistic ventures, and while some of them have been recently unfortunate, he leaves a considerable fortune to his family.

After remaining here several years he moved next door over what is now Loughrigan cigar store, and he stayed there until the authorities closed gambling in this city. The Congressional Club was then formed and used Mr. Parker's rooms as a club for the night.

When the National Capital Press Club came into existence it leased the premises, and purchased Mr. Parker's silverware, and he has been engaged in capitalistic ventures, and while some of them have been recently unfortunate, he leaves a considerable fortune to his family.

After remaining here several years he moved next door over what is now Loughrigan cigar store, and he stayed there until the authorities closed gambling in this city. The Congressional Club was then formed and used Mr. Parker's rooms as a club for the night.

When the National Capital Press Club came into existence it leased the premises, and purchased Mr. Parker's silverware, and he has been engaged in capitalistic ventures, and while some of them have been recently unfortunate, he leaves a considerable fortune to his family.

After remaining here several years he moved next door over what is now Loughrigan cigar store, and he stayed there until the authorities closed gambling in this city. The Congressional Club was then formed and used Mr. Parker's rooms as a club for the night.

When the National Capital Press Club came into existence it leased the premises, and purchased Mr. Parker's silverware, and he has been engaged in capitalistic ventures, and while some of them have been recently unfortunate, he leaves a considerable fortune to his family.

After remaining here several years he moved next door over what is now Loughrigan cigar store, and he stayed there until the authorities closed gambling in this city. The Congressional Club was then formed and used Mr. Parker's rooms as a club for the night.

When the National Capital Press Club came into existence it leased the premises, and purchased Mr. Parker's silverware, and he has been engaged in capitalistic ventures, and while some of them have been recently unfortunate, he leaves a considerable fortune to his family.

After remaining here several years he moved next door over what is now Loughrigan cigar store, and he stayed there until the authorities closed gambling in this city. The Congressional Club was then formed and used Mr. Parker's rooms as a club for the night.

The Welcome at Washington.

Just how much of festal display will be on exhibition on Monday night, no one at Sea Girl can possibly know, but that there will be an opportunity for the people of Washington to welcome the victors of the Hilton home is as nearly certain as anything human can be.

Gen. Ordway, who left here early this morning, last night instructed Adj. Gen. Marix, who leaves here tomorrow morning, to telegraph orders to Maj. Ross and Maj. Sues to turn out respectively the first and second battalions of the National Guard to be a part of the parade.

The District Scores.

Table with columns for Name, Score, and Medal. Lists names like Scott, Wetmore, Dickey, Stewart, Appleby, Bell, Leisner, Carleton, Hutterly, and their respective scores and medals.

The other teams' totals are as follows: Yards, 200 500 600 gate. New York, 334 365 349 1,048. Pennsylvania, 338 364 345 1,047. Georgia, 342 361 321 1,024. New Jersey, 346 364 324 1,034.

Victory of the Engineers. One big victory, however, was not enough for the Washington contingent of the District National Guard, for the team of the engineer corps had won for the third time the bronze horse, which was captured in 1891 and 1892 by the first D. C. regiment, and since then by the engineer sharpshooters.

The competition was developed this morning at the most elaborate of entertainments. He furnished his familiar callers not only with nightly suppers, but with breakfast and dinner as well, and the games were patronized by the best in the land who indulged in such amusements.

After remaining here several years he moved next door over what is now Loughrigan cigar store, and he stayed there until the authorities closed gambling in this city. The Congressional Club was then formed and used Mr. Parker's rooms as a club for the night.

When the National Capital Press Club came into existence it leased the premises, and purchased Mr. Parker's silverware, and he has been engaged in capitalistic ventures, and while some of them have been recently unfortunate, he leaves a considerable fortune to his family.

After remaining here several years he moved next door over what is now Loughrigan cigar store, and he stayed there until the authorities closed gambling in this city. The Congressional Club was then formed and used Mr. Parker's rooms as a club for the night.

When the National Capital Press Club came into existence it leased the premises, and purchased Mr. Parker's silverware, and he has been engaged in capitalistic ventures, and while some of them have been recently unfortunate, he leaves a considerable fortune to his family.

After remaining here several years he moved next door over what is now Loughrigan cigar store, and he stayed there until the authorities closed gambling in this city. The Congressional Club was then formed and used Mr. Parker's rooms as a club for the night.

When the National Capital Press Club came into existence it leased the premises, and purchased Mr. Parker's silverware, and he has been engaged in capitalistic ventures, and while some of them have been recently unfortunate, he leaves a considerable fortune to his family.

After remaining here several years he moved next door over what is now Loughrigan cigar store, and he stayed there until the authorities closed gambling in this city. The Congressional Club was then formed and used Mr. Parker's rooms as a club for the night.

When the National Capital Press Club came into existence it leased the premises, and purchased Mr. Parker's silverware, and he has been engaged in capitalistic ventures, and while some of them have been recently unfortunate, he leaves a considerable fortune to his family.

After remaining here several years he moved next door over what is now Loughrigan cigar store, and he stayed there until the authorities closed gambling in this city. The Congressional Club was then formed and used Mr. Parker's rooms as a club for the night.

When the National Capital Press Club came into existence it leased the premises, and purchased Mr. Parker's silverware, and he has been engaged in capitalistic ventures, and while some of them have been recently unfortunate, he leaves a considerable fortune to his family.

After remaining here several years he moved next door over what is now Loughrigan cigar store, and he stayed there until the authorities closed gambling in this city. The Congressional Club was then formed and used Mr. Parker's rooms as a club for the night.

When the National Capital Press Club came into existence it leased the premises, and purchased Mr. Parker's silverware, and he has been engaged in capitalistic ventures, and while some of them have been recently unfortunate, he leaves a considerable fortune to his family.

After remaining here several years he moved next door over what is now Loughrigan cigar store, and he stayed there until the authorities closed gambling in this city. The Congressional Club was then formed and used Mr. Parker's rooms as a club for the night.

When the National Capital Press Club came into existence it leased the premises, and purchased Mr. Parker's silverware, and he has been engaged in capitalistic ventures, and while some of them have been recently unfortunate, he leaves a considerable fortune to his family.

After remaining here several years he moved next door over what is now Loughrigan cigar store, and he stayed there until the authorities closed gambling in this city. The Congressional Club was then formed and used Mr. Parker's rooms as a club for the night.

When the National Capital Press Club came into existence it leased the premises, and purchased Mr. Parker's silverware, and he has been engaged in capitalistic ventures, and while some of them have been recently unfortunate, he leaves a considerable fortune to his family.

After remaining here several years he moved next door over what is now Loughrigan cigar store, and he stayed there until the authorities closed gambling in this city. The Congressional Club was then formed and used Mr. Parker's rooms as a club for the night.

When the National Capital Press Club came into existence it leased the premises, and purchased Mr. Parker's silverware, and he has been engaged in capitalistic ventures, and while some of them have been recently unfortunate, he leaves a considerable fortune to his family.

After remaining here several years he moved next door over what is now Loughrigan cigar store, and he stayed there until the authorities closed gambling in this city. The Congressional Club was then formed and used Mr. Parker's rooms as a club for the night.

When the National Capital Press Club came into existence it leased the premises, and purchased Mr. Parker's silverware, and he has been engaged in capitalistic ventures, and while some of them have been recently unfortunate, he leaves a considerable fortune to his family.

After remaining here several years he moved next door over what is now Loughrigan cigar store, and he stayed there until the authorities closed gambling in this city. The Congressional Club was then formed and used Mr. Parker's rooms as a club for the night.

When the National Capital Press Club came into existence it leased the premises, and purchased Mr. Parker's silverware, and he has been engaged in capitalistic ventures, and while some of them have been recently unfortunate, he leaves a considerable fortune to his family.

The Welcome at Washington.

Just how much of festal display will be on exhibition on Monday night, no one at Sea Girl can possibly know, but that there will be an opportunity for the people of Washington to welcome the victors of the Hilton home is as nearly certain as anything human can be.

Gen. Ordway, who left here early this morning, last night instructed Adj. Gen. Marix, who leaves here tomorrow morning, to telegraph orders to Maj. Ross and Maj. Sues to turn out respectively the first and second battalions of the National Guard to be a part of the parade.

The District Scores.

Table with columns for Name, Score, and Medal. Lists names like Scott, Wetmore, Dickey, Stewart, Appleby, Bell, Leisner, Carleton, Hutterly, and their respective scores and medals.

The other teams' totals are as follows: Yards, 200 500 600 gate. New York, 334 365 349 1,048. Pennsylvania, 338 364 345 1,047. Georgia, 342 361 321 1,024. New Jersey, 346 364 324 1,034.

Victory of the Engineers. One big victory, however, was not enough for the Washington contingent of the District National Guard, for the team of the engineer corps had won for the third time the bronze horse, which was captured in 1891 and 1892 by the first D. C. regiment, and since then by the engineer sharpshooters.

The competition was developed this morning at the most elaborate of entertainments. He furnished his familiar callers not only with nightly suppers, but with breakfast and dinner as well, and the games were patronized by the best in the land who indulged in such amusements.

After remaining here several years he moved next door over what is now Loughrigan cigar store, and he stayed there until the authorities closed gambling in this city. The Congressional Club was then formed and used Mr. Parker's rooms as a club for the night.

When the National Capital Press Club came into existence it leased the premises, and purchased Mr. Parker's silverware, and he has been engaged in capitalistic ventures, and while some of them have been recently unfortunate, he leaves a considerable fortune to his family.

After remaining here several years he moved next door over what is now Loughrigan cigar store, and he stayed there until the authorities closed gambling in this city. The Congressional Club was then formed and used Mr. Parker's rooms as a club for the night.

When the National Capital Press Club came into existence it leased the premises, and purchased Mr. Parker's silverware, and he has been engaged in capitalistic ventures, and while some of them have been recently unfortunate, he leaves a considerable fortune to his family.

After remaining here several years he moved next door over what is now Loughrigan cigar store, and he stayed there until the authorities closed gambling in this city. The Congressional Club was then formed and used Mr. Parker's rooms as a club for the night.

When the National Capital Press Club came into existence it leased the premises, and purchased Mr. Parker's silverware, and he has been engaged in capitalistic ventures, and while some of them have been recently unfortunate, he leaves a considerable fortune to his family.

After remaining here several years he moved next door over what is now Loughrigan cigar store, and he stayed there until the authorities closed gambling in this city. The Congressional Club was then formed and used Mr. Parker's rooms as a club for the night.

When the National Capital Press Club came into existence it leased the premises, and purchased Mr. Parker's silverware, and he has been engaged in capitalistic ventures, and while some of them have been recently unfortunate, he leaves a considerable fortune to his family.

After remaining here several years he moved next door over what is now Loughrigan cigar store, and he stayed there until the authorities closed gambling in this city. The Congressional Club was then formed and used Mr. Parker's rooms as a club for the night.

When the National Capital Press Club came into existence it leased the premises, and purchased Mr. Parker's silverware, and he has been engaged in capitalistic ventures, and while some of them have been recently unfortunate, he leaves a considerable fortune to his family.

After remaining here several years he moved next door over what is now Loughrigan cigar store, and he stayed there until the authorities closed gambling in this city. The Congressional Club was then formed and used Mr. Parker's rooms as a club for the night.

When the National Capital Press Club came into existence it leased the premises, and purchased Mr. Parker's silverware, and he has been engaged in capitalistic ventures, and while some of them have been recently unfortunate, he leaves a considerable fortune to his family.

After remaining here several years he moved next door over what is now Loughrigan cigar store, and he stayed there until the authorities closed gambling in this city. The Congressional Club was then formed and used Mr. Parker's rooms as a club for the night.

When the National Capital Press Club came into existence it leased the premises, and purchased Mr. Parker's silverware, and he has been engaged in capitalistic ventures, and while some of them have been recently unfortunate, he leaves a considerable fortune to his family.

After remaining here several years he moved next door over what is now Loughrigan cigar store, and he stayed there until the authorities closed gambling in this city. The Congressional Club was then formed and used Mr. Parker's rooms as a club for the night.

When the National Capital Press Club came into existence it leased the premises, and purchased Mr. Parker's silverware, and he has been engaged in capitalistic ventures, and while some of them have been recently unfortunate, he leaves a considerable fortune to his family.

After remaining here several years he moved next door over what is now Loughrigan cigar store, and he stayed there until the authorities closed gambling in this city. The Congressional Club was then formed and used Mr. Parker's rooms as a club for the night.

When the National Capital Press Club came into existence it leased the premises, and purchased Mr. Parker's silverware, and he has been engaged in capitalistic ventures, and while some of them have been recently unfortunate, he leaves a considerable fortune to his family.

After remaining here several years he moved next door over what is now Loughrigan cigar store, and he stayed there until the authorities closed gambling in this city. The Congressional Club was then formed and used Mr. Parker's rooms as a club for the night.

When the National Capital Press Club came into existence it leased the premises, and purchased Mr. Parker's silverware, and he has been engaged in capitalistic ventures, and while some of them have been recently unfortunate, he leaves a considerable fortune to his family.

After remaining here several years he moved next door over what is now Loughrigan cigar store, and he stayed there until the authorities closed gambling in this city. The Congressional Club was then formed and used Mr. Parker's rooms as a club for the night.

When the National Capital Press Club came into existence it leased the premises, and purchased Mr. Parker's silverware, and he has been engaged in capitalistic ventures, and while some of them have been recently unfortunate, he leaves a considerable fortune to his family.

DR. GODDING'S CHARGE

Condition of St. Elizabeth's Hospital for the Insane.

Report of the Visitors—Improvement Needed and Asked of Congress—The Hospital Farm.

The board of visitors to St. Elizabeth's Hospital for the Insane have filed their report with the Secretary of the Interior for the current year. The visitors are Dr. Toner, Surgeon F. M. Gunnell of the navy, Dr. Underland, Supervising Surgeon General Water Wymann, the marine hospital service, Mr. William A. Maury, Surgeon John Moore of the army and Mrs. Dr. Mary E. Fuller.

The District Scores.

Table with columns for Name, Score, and Medal. Lists names like Scott, Wetmore, Dickey, Stewart, Appleby, Bell, Leisner, Carleton, Hutterly, and their respective scores and medals.

The other teams' totals are as follows: Yards, 200 500 600 gate. New York, 334 365 349 1,048. Pennsylvania, 338 364 345 1,047. Georgia, 342 361 321 1,024. New Jersey, 346 364 324 1,034.

Victory of the Engineers. One big victory, however, was not enough for the Washington contingent of the District National Guard, for the team of the engineer corps had won for the third time the bronze horse, which was captured in 1891 and 1892 by the first D. C. regiment, and since then by the engineer sharpshooters.

The competition was developed this morning at the most elaborate of entertainments. He furnished his familiar callers not only with nightly suppers, but with breakfast and dinner as well, and the games were patronized by the best in the land who indulged in such amusements.

After remaining here several years he moved next door over what is now Loughrigan cigar store, and he stayed there until the authorities closed gambling in this city. The Congressional Club was then formed and used Mr. Parker's rooms as a club for the night.

When the National Capital Press Club came into existence it leased the premises, and purchased Mr. Parker's silverware, and he has been engaged in capitalistic ventures, and while some of them have been recently unfortunate, he leaves a considerable fortune to his family.

After remaining here several years he moved next door over what is now Loughrigan cigar store, and he stayed there until the authorities closed gambling in this city. The Congressional Club was then formed and used Mr. Parker's rooms as a club for the night.

When the National Capital Press Club came into existence it leased the premises, and purchased Mr. Parker's silverware, and he has been engaged in capitalistic ventures, and while some of them have been recently unfortunate, he leaves a considerable fortune to his family.

After remaining here several years he moved next door over what is now Loughrigan cigar store, and he stayed there until the authorities closed gambling in this city. The Congressional Club was then formed and used Mr. Parker's rooms as a club for the night.

When the National Capital Press Club came into existence it leased the premises, and purchased Mr. Parker's silverware, and he has been engaged in capitalistic ventures, and while some of them have been recently unfortunate, he leaves a considerable fortune to his family.